

Communist Party Comments On Differing Convention Estimates

The National Administrative Committee of the Communist Party yesterday issued the following statement in connection with varying estimates of its National Convention:

“Recently, expressions of divergent estimates of the 16th National Convention of the Communist Party appeared in the columns of the Daily Worker. We wish to call the attention of the readers of the Daily Worker to an editorial on the convention which appeared in the April issue of Political Affairs, and which has also been reprinted in the official Convention Proceedings. The viewpoint expressed in this editorial corresponds with the unanimous collective judgment of the National Administrative Committee on the convention, and we suggest that it be reprinted in the Daily Worker.”
