"As a member of the arrangements committee I wish to make the following answer: The St. Paul June 17 convention will proceed just as tho LaFollette had made no statement. The St. Paul convention is not called to crown a king, but to found a party, rooted in the economic organization of the exploited workers of the city and the country. The progressives of the northwest are not ignorant of the tremendous pressure that has been brought to bear not only on LaFollette, but also on other progressives, to force them to make statements in opposition to the St. Paul convention, by officials of international unions who fear the passing of their power into the hands of the rank and file.

ous blunder. More workers are being sent into unemployment every day, more farmers, are likewise being dispossessed. These severely exploited elements will be the backbone of the St. Paul convention. They are not afraid of the radicals. They have suffered too long at the hands of the corrupt Republican and Democratic parties."

Cramer's statement was given to the capitalist press. They all suppressed it, along with other statements supporting the June 17 convention. On the other hand, any obscure ward politician or faker, never heard of before, can now get his name in the headlines of these prostituted sheets by joining in denunciation of the St. Paul gathering. The responsible progressives are standing stronger and more militant than ever for the pushing of the convention thru to success.

WITH THE HELP OF LAFOLLETTE

"I had just started to obtain signatures to the LaFollette presidential petition, but when I read his statement against the June 17th Convention in the Cincinnati Post, I quit."

This is the opening sentence in a letter written by Max C. Zange, of Cincinnati, Ohio, member of no political party, but one of the millions in America in revolt against the capitalist parties, and hoping for an effective rebellion against the dictatorship of Wall Street.

Zange's reaction is typical of that going on thruout the United States among the oppressed workers and farmers. La Follette's treacherous stab in the back to the organized farmer-labor movement has destroved their illusions. They are thru with LaFollette.

"I'm sorry that a man like LaFollette has joined the wolves," says Zange in his letter. LaFollette's repudiation of the Communists, "because they believe in force," he says, "is a repudiation of the most important forward step in American history. Was the revolutionary war, that established the independence of the United States fought by speeches? In the WORKER. He showed this very clearly in his recent statement issued attacking the June 17th Convention of all class Farmer-Labor forces in the United States. He quoted extensively from the columns of the DAILY WORKER, only to misrepresent its position.

LaFollette's attack brought to the attention of millions of workers, for the first time, that the DAILY WORKER is being published in Chicago.

Millions Learn of "The Daily"

Millions of workers have heard of the DAILY WORKER because the capitalist press generally over the land, that circulates tens of millions of copies daily, published LaFollette's attack in full; in many cases with favorable comment.

But these same yellow dailies, almost without exception, refused to publish the reply of the Workers Party. They refused to give space to the answer that the Communists made to LaFollette's attack. There was only one daily that printed that reply in full, and the reply of the Arrangements Committee of the June 17th Convention. That publication is the expression of the exploited workers and farmers,-THE DAILY WORKER! * * * *

We Fight for Winning Cause

In this struggle it is the DAILY WORKER against all the capitalist dailies. It may be a one-sided fight but it is not a hopeless struggle. The DAILY WORKER has the far-reaching power of truth on its side. The DAILY WORKER is the champion of the oppressed workers and farmers. It stands four-square for their interests and their interests alone. The kept dailies of the capitalist class waddle about in the quicksands of misrepresentation. They are fighting for a lost cause-the cause of decaying capitalism. The workers and farmers are ceasing to believe in them.

Get Truth in "The Daily"

This situation offers a tremendous opportunity for the DAILY WORKER.

LaFollette's attack has resulted in millions of workers hearing about the DAILY WORKER.

The yellow press does not give these millions the other side. They can only get the truth thru the columns of the DAILY WORKER itself.

But they can only get the truth thru subscribing for the DAILY WORKER; by getting and reading it daily. That is the next step.

Throwing It Back Into The Teeth of LaFollette His only positive language is the His bitter words against the Commun. The same kind of stuff. It met his present attempt to shirk the VICTORIOUS RANK AND FILE MINERS WILL HOLD GAINS

Determined to Bring Back Powers to Union

(Special to The Daily Worker) By THOMAS MYERSCOUGH. PEORIA, III., June 1.- Altho the convention of District 12, U. M. W. of A., ended its sessions here last night, many miners' delegates are still viewing the sights in the convention city.

This because there is nothing to command a hurried return home, for the mines are nearly all closed down. This subject was brought to the attention of the convention repeatedly. most forcibly when an attempt was made to secure some measure of relief for the hungry children. "Shutdown" seemed to be a password among the delegates, with no section of the state being an exception to the rule. The causes were many and varied, according to the stated reasons, with "Failure to meet the pay roll" holding its own for honors.

Farrington Had No Remedy.

Yet on every occasion that a rank nothing of a remedial nature was done or even advocated-in fact. the frankest kind of confessions of bankruptcy were made by Farrington in his report and in his numerous "back to the wall" fights with the delegates. In this he was not alone, for Lewis, Murray and Green, as well as many of the other speakers who wrought the sweat from the delegates with their pitable stories of inability to remedy the existing conditions. This is bad indeed when men whose duty it is to look after the welfare of the workers, do and say as these men did.

Couldn't Down Rank and File.

Yet on eevry occasion that a rank way out the 'machine got busy and prevented discussion. On each occasion they would be branded as men bent on venting their feelings against Farrington, but in spite of this opposition the men from the picks displayed an unsurmountable courage and pro ceeded with their denunciation of the system and all who supported it.

Federated Farmer-Labor Party. The "threatening" letter by Senator LaFollette, in which he "threatens" private monopoly and bitterly denounces the Communists, is no surprise to those of us whose memory reaches back to the days of 1912 and of 1917.

LaFollette owes much of his present popularity not alone to his record previous to, but more especially during the world war when with his sham pacifism he made capital out of the real anti-war sentiment that existed. And he is still living on his undeserved laurels. When the present crisis, much more serious than the one that formerly faced the Republican party 1912, endangers internal coin hesion, LaFollette, in view of his latest statement, is liable to repeat his role of 1912 and stay on the inside of the old reactionary machine thereby saving it again from destruction. He has for years posed as a progressive Republican fight-ing against the old guard and many have felt that his careful and "progressive" criticism has helped to keep many workers and farmers chained to the old Republican juggernaut, whose adherents would otherwise long ago have given up the hopeless fight and cast in their lot with the growing num-ber of real progressives and mili-tants who even * before the Teapot Dome Republican exposure said that the Republican party was hopeless. In this latest statement by LaFollette his old uncertainty and vacillation again come to the surface by his refusal to positively state that he will be even run as an independent presidential candidate.

ists for daring to participate in the Farmer-Labor movement.

Following the panic of 1907 and the tremendous strides made by the trusts in consolidating their strength much discontent arose in the presidential campaign of 1912, when trust busting was the common slogan. In that contest at the primaries three Republican candidates made the race: Taft, Roosevelt and LaFollette. In Wisconsin and North Dakota LaFollette won the nomination. The Republican voters of North Dakota gave a majority of 15,000 to LaFollette. A total of 50,000 votes were cast and the real contest was between Roosevelt, the "trust buster," and LaFollette, the "trust regulator." Taft succeeded in getting only 2,000 votes. And on the eve of the 1912 Republican national convention LaFollette said: "The Republican party is facing a crisis in its history. The rank and file of the party, organized to restore human rights and preserve free institutions, will tolerate no further temporizing with existing conditions.... For twenty years I have pursued an uncompromising course whose goal was liberty and equality; an even chance for every man, woman and child-the right to buy, the right to sell our labor and the products of our labor in a free. open American market . . . I do not now abandon that course, and today as well as at the Chicago convention, and always I shall struggle for those practical reforms which as I see it, will achieve social justice and human welfare."

The language in the foregoing statement clearly shows LaFol-lette's middle class ideology, and his program which he introduced with a flourish at the subse-quent convention was filled with the old guard in control. The hard boiled attitude of the old guard led to the bolt by Roosevelt. His program tho not any more advanced than that of LaFollette, at least, was backed up with all kinds of bluster and positive statements, which if confused, were nevertheless framed in radical language and consequently made a wide appeal. Roosevelt conducted a spectacular campaign as the nominee of the Progressive party, rolled up a vote of four millions, while LaFollette remained "regular" within the Republican party cheek by jowl with the old guard he so often denounced. The progressive movement went to smash because of its weak and meaningless program. But even that meaningless movement was too "radical" for LaFollette.

The hue and cry by the kept press against LaFollette gained its height in 1917. He made a speech before the Nonpartisan League, at St. Paul on Sept. 20, 1917. The Associated Press in reporting the speech quoted him as having said: "We have no grievances" (against Germany). This sentence was published in all capitalist paper thruout the country, leading to much indignation on the part of Chambers of Commerce and other capitalist organizations. Resolutions were passed demanding the expulsion of LaFollette from the senate. But he was quick to disprove the Associated Press story, his claim being that he said: had serious grievances" (against Germany). The Associated Press retracted their first report and LaFollette was freed from the charge of "disloyalty." And com-menting upon the A. P. "retraction" LaFollette's paper said: "The fight Senator LaFollette was making was for a fairer system of taxation to renewed that fight which has become largely submerged thru the efforts of wealth to escape just taxation." This last is the heart of LaFollette's program, not alone for the conduct of the war but of industry and business.

LaFollette has always been noted for flamboyant language and extravagant claims. At home in Wisconsin in 1918, he wrote an article under the caption of "Democracy at Home," in which he appeals to the voters on the basis of past political struggles, and says: "We won on every issue. The government of Wisconsin was reconstructed and given back to the people." To those of us who know Wisconsin this is plain unadulterated bunk. Even in "Socialist" Milwaukee, the writer fared ill trying to unionize the slaves who work for the various Wisconsin bridge companies on the Walter Drew-steel trust-open shop plan for these many long years. Labor unionism comparatively speaking had little strength in La-Follette's own baliwick, even in the past before recent persecution and today most of the trusts are "operating freely" in Wisconsin.

LaFollette's present program, recently issued, is filled with the same old empty criticism of the trusts and their interference with the "free opinion of America's democratic institutions." His whole program is an ineffectual wail. For, instance, he recites in detail many grievances of the farmers and suggests not a single constructive measure for these some exploited farmers.

In his latest letter he certainly lines up with strange company. He may in the past have been able to survive in the popular eye as a responsibility that goes with a genuine popular progressive-of becoming the popular leader of the greatest and most basic political revolt that America has yet witnessed, is a betrayal even of that mild tho high-sounding progressivism — of which he claims to be the champion.

LaFollette on the contrary now denounces the very men who have gone forth not against mere threats, but actual savage persecution by the government that LaFollette in his vascillating wail admits is controlled by the "money power."

In the name of the Federated Farmer-Labor party to which LaFollette refers, we throw his false words back in his teeth. We do stand for and propose political action in this crisis that faces the workers and farmers of America. We are attempting to unite the workers and farmers on the basis of common economic issues. We have succeeded beyond the reach of La-Follette or his Washington admirers.

The June 17 convention is not called to form a party based upon the philosophy or political ambitions of any single individual. It arises from the economic chaos and misery that oppresses the working and farming masses. Its program will be a real foundation on which to build a class Farmer-Labor party that will serve the rank and file rather than the political expediency of some presidential candidate who is more anxious to win than help the struggling masses to found an organization that will hasten the day when we shall have in America the only remedy for the increasing misery-a workers' and farmers' progressive while still remaining a government

Profitable Politics

A noteworthy object lesson in American democracy and in capitalist politics can be learned from one of the points just brought home by the Brook- Labor Party during campaigns. In this instance hart committee investigating the Department of MacDonald did not do so. Obviously Ferguson Justice.

It has been disclosed that the indictments brought against the United Gas Improvement enemies of his own party to score a victory. Company of Pennsylvania for violations of the Sherman Anti-Trust Act were quashed because of on one side and a capitalist coalition on the other, the corporation having contributed handsomely to Mr. MacDonald chose the reactionary-liberal althe Republican party campaign funds. The capi-liance. It is apparent that MacDonald feared that talists running the gas company were particular the election, on the Labor Party platform, of a friends of Daugherty and spent substantial sums communist in so strong an industrial center as of money on his campaign. Attorney Lewis, who Glasgow might tend to give the Communists too he had been engaged by the United Gas Improvement rather than by the department."

This is certainly profitable politics for the employing class. The United Gas Improvement Company has as its leading spirit, E. T. Stotesbury, of J. P. Morgan & Co. It is a hundred million dollar corporation controlling nearly thirty-five gas, electricity, power and railway companies in Pennslyvania, Minnesota, New Jersey, South Dakota, Florida and other states. This giant concern is one of the most powerful political forces in Pennto prosecute it.

This revelation which bears out once more the pleted. cardinal truth of the Communist viewpoint that the government is a strikebreaking agency in the hands of the employing class. To the liberals and others who are still engaged in a useless attempt over the system of campaign contributions. These the Republic of Cuba.

AS WE SEE IT By T. J. O'FLAHERTY

The Ku Klux Klan is clean mad because its headquarters on the South side of this city was bombed recently. Catholics are suspected of being the culprits. The Kluxers are quite handy with the bomb, torch and bullet in sections of the country where they can commit acts of violence against their enemies with impunity, but where their opponents take the biblical law of an "eye for an eye and a tooth for a tooth" seriously, the gallant knights of the pillow case cry to heaven.

An Englishman by the name of Mathews, claims to have invented a deadly ray capable of killing human beings at a distance of eight miles. No doubt Mathews is a patriot; the fact that he is interested in deathdealing machinery is prime facie eyidence. Yet he is not willing that "his" country should have the benefit of his brain-child unless he is well compensated for his invention. He is now offering it to the highest bidder. France, England, the United States and several other countries are competing for the deadly ray. Thus, almost six years after the end of the 'war to end war" the capitalist governments are using the energies of other war, thousands of times more cruel and savage than the great carnage of 1914-1918. This is civilization under capitalism and only the victory of the working-class and the organization of society on a Communist basis will end the perpetual dread of
