Gangsters Make Mistake of Shooting Cops

(Special to The Daily Worker) Last Saturday's shooting affray between gunmen from the detective bureau and members of an alleged bootlegging gang, in which two policemen and one gangster bit the dust, has created another one of those fake drives on crime which has been such a montonous feature of Chicago life ever since Police Chief Morgan Collins assumed his present job. Before the advent of prohibition there was no money in the liquor business except what could be made openly. In those days the gangsters were employed by rival politicians in the democratic and republican parties and by their agents in the labor movement. Gunmen were a necessary adjunct to the equipment of a crooked labor faker who traded the confidence of the members of his union to the employers for money. Those rival grafters often shot it out with each other. Owing to their usefulness to the politicians they led a charmed life as far as jails were concerned and the of their necks never gave them any uneasiness. But let a striker utter a SEATTLE, June 15-William H. word of warning to a scab and the Jones, business agent of Painters, police authorities would act and no influence was exerted to save him from the heavy hand of the law.

Capitalists Now Hunting for Plan to Put Over the Morgan-Dawes Plan

By J. LOUIS ENGDAHL.

TODAY, Washington reports that the stream of gold pouring into the United States is greater than ever in volume. More than a billion dollars for the 11 months ended June 1!

This is shown in America's balance of trade totalling $1,038,000,000 for this period, establishing a record for postwar commerce with exports of $4,540,941,000 and imports of $3,502,114,000, or a total foreign trade of more than $8,000,000,000.

This compares with the much smaller excess of exports over imports for the same period in 1923-24 of $724,600,000, which was made up of $3,200,000,000 incoming commerce and $4,004,000,000 outgoing. America still sells more than

This means, for instance, that Western European capitalism is incapacitated still more in its efforts to pay the war debts owing to the United States; that the Dawes Plan is still further crippled in its futile attempt to stave off capitalist chaos, not only in Germany, but in those countries depending on Germany for reparations gold.

This situation will occupy the principal discussions at the meeting of the International Chamber of Commerce this week at Brussels, Belgium. It is this aggregation of the world's big business interests that claims credit for launching the Dawes Plan. But even its best financial wizards admit they are still at a loss how to carry it out successfully.

Sir Josiah Stamp, of the Noble Industries, Ltd., of England, is going to read a paper to his fellow business bandits at Brussels, but all that he has to offer is to urge more "cordial American co-operation," which means pouring more loans and credits into Western Europe, even into Germany, especially to buttress the now tottering industrial structures parading under the name of "Stinnes" and "Krupp." After a year of the Dawes Plan, during the first six months of which German exports increased 72.7 per cent, compared to the same period in the previous year, German capitalism is so anaemic that it needs an injection of Wall Street bullion.

Whatever success Germany has had in meeting her obligations under the Dawes Plan have been at the expense or the nations she is supposed to benefit. Germany either sells to the countries to which she owes reparations, thus paralyzing industry in these nations; or Germany sells to other countries, thus stealing the markets as necessary to her creditors, as they are to her. The famous Sir Stamp offers no escape. He merely confesses that:

"The way Germany can pay is in manufactured goods from electrical, iron, steel and miscellaneous industries. The peoples who must receive reparations also manufacture these. If they were countries like Brazil and Argentina the problem would be fairly easy. But because they are so like Germany in economic structure is how the difficulty arises. If they receive all the German products in their own markets, manufacturers will be aggrieved. If they keep them out so they are sent to neutral markets and the neutral countries send food and raw materials to the Allies the edge of the difficulty will be gone.

"BUT THE EXPORT INDUSTRIES OF THE ALLIES TO NEUTRALS WOULD THEN BE AFFECTED."

The task of the meeting of the International Chamber of Commerce is to find a plan to make the Dawes plan work. If such a plan is offered it will be about as successful as the capitalist promise that the last "war was to end all wars". Capitalism marches to its doom in western Europe as erywhere else. Communism comes quickly on its heels.

Money In Booze. Since the death of Dean O'Bannion, several policemen and gangsters have been laid low and no doubt the death harvest will continue to be reaped after the present flurry blows over. There is money in peddling booze and it will be peddled. The capitalists need the gangsters and they will dodge the rope, except when they shoot policemen. And even then as long as they have money, there is very little danger. Only a few colored unfortunates have passed away on the scaffold in Chicago in recent years for the crime of taking life illegally. The capitalists need the gangsters in labor struggles. But the gangsters must be taught that they cannot take Baer, international president of the the lives of the capitalist's police Fire Fighters, announces that state with impunity. Cramer Shifts Blame for Defeat on Van Lear

(Special to The Daily Worker)

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., June 15 .-The official report of the canvassing board to the Minneapolis city council shows the election of Theodore Jenson, the labor candidate from the 12th ward, elected by sixty votes. The unofficial returns showed his defeat by one vote.

His capitalist opponent has filed notice that a recount will be instituted immediately. If the recount fails. the election of Jenson will give the socialist-labor combination nine votes in the council to seventeen for the open shop" gang. The after election statements of the local papers give some interesting sidelights on the cause for labor's defeat.

Reactionaries Praised.

The Minneapolis Tribune editorially says: "When the more sober and representative element of local labor mobilized its strength and reconstructed the central deliberative body so as to make it conform more to the standards and ideals advocated by the late Samuel Gompers, that action was a fortokening of what was to happen at the municipal election Monday."

The Minneapolis Labor Review. edited by Robley D. Cramer, has the following editorial comment: "The most disgusting feature of the campaign was the betrayal of the work ers by a newspaper (the Minneapolis Daily Star.—Insert ours) which the workers and farmers had put hundreds of thousands of dollars into that their ideas and ideals might be given broad expression. They found in this election that instead of founding a newspaper for their advancement they had bought whips which in treacherous hands were laid over the backs of the workers in the attempt to bring advantage to their opponents.... "Men and newspapers can only be used in such an unworthy adventure once. Thereafter they are despised by those who have used them and discredited with those they have attempted to betray."

The capitalist press thus publicly acknowledges its debt to Robley D. Cramer and the labor right wing for their aid in destroying the unity of the local labor movement and Cramer in turn attempts to clear himself by pointing to Van Lear who for the time being appears the blackest.

One of the primary objects of the conference called by the Labor Defense Council, to be held in Chicago on the 28th of this month is to devise ways and means of rendering material and financial aid and comfort to the families of industrial and political prisoners of which there are 128 in the various prisons of the country.

With their husbands in jail for their working class activities these families, with few exceptions are finding the struggle for subsistance very difficult. A leter from Mrs. Fannie Coombs, the wife of an industriar prisoner in Moundsville West Virginia, Elgar Combs, who was framed up by the coal operators during a strike several years ago, tells a story that appears to make this object of the conference very worth while.

The committee pays no salaries or overhead expenses and all funds collected outside of the outlay for printing, circularization, postage and organized expense goes for relief. The statement follows:

The amount collected is considerably less than our expectations. The comparatively poor response made to the appeal for funds is due to the scepticism created in the minds of the American workers and peasants, by the propaganda of the Free State Government, regarding the situation in the famine stricken region. At a time when the Free State Government was appropriating money to relieve the distress officials stated that there was no famine.

WELL ORGANIZED

Stick Like Glue with All Out for 6 Weeks

By MAX MARIASH

(Worker Correspondent) NEW YORK, June 15 .- The strike of the workers of the B. W. S. shoe shop, 233 Powell St., Brooklyn, started about 5 weeks ago, still shows great strength. The strikers are picketing in full force and show no signs of weakening, in spite of the rumors that the bosses are negotiating for the sale of the shop.

On the contrary, the men know that this is only a ruse to discourage them and force them to seek other jobs. The men are showing a splendid spirit of solidarity with the Shoe Workers' Protective Union which called the strike upon the arbitrary refusal of the bosses to live up to their agreement with the union.

At a conference held two weeks ago between the strike committee and the bosses, the bosses refused to sign an agreement for the security for the workers in the shop. However the strike committee informed them that it is only thru such an agreement that the welfare, wages and particularly the solidarity of the workers will be secure. They further took the position that they will not place the hiring and firing of workers in the hands of bosses, nor will they agree to any other agreement that the bosses may ask for, except one that is based on these demands.

In spite of police interference which prohibits mass picketing, the picket committee has organized itself in such a way that every striking worker is on the picket line every day for several hours. .

Soviet Statistical Reports Show Big Economic Gains

WASHINGTON, D. C., June 15 .-Statistical reports on Russian industry and commerce for the first half of the current Soviet fiscal year, October 1 to April 1, received by the Russian Information Bureau here, show marked economic gains. The bureau summarizes the reports as follows:

"The gross industrial output increased 44 per cent over the previous half year and 55 per cent over the first half of the fiscal year 1923-24. Among the heavy industries the metal industry showed the greatest gain.

"The domestic trade turnover increased 58 per cent as compared with the preceding half year. Foreign trade increased by $25,000,000 over the same period last year, despite the fact that grain exports, which normally constitute 60 per cent of the export trade, fell from $70,000,000 to $7,500,-000 as a result of the poor harvest of last year. The foreign trade turnover Another ten years had elapsed. John amounted to $238,500,000, with an adwas lying in his shanty with a broken | verse trade halance of about $1,000.

Threatening Mexico

In his note to the Mexican government which is to all intents favor of war was afraid of the rise and purposes an ultimatum, the secretary of state intimates that an- sult, and opposed it for that reason. other revolution is brewing in Mexico and threatens intervention in TT is essential to keep in mind that the event of its occurrence. He speaks further of the intention of the 1 between the United States and "American government to support the government in Mexico ONLY Japan a struggle was going on all the so long as it protects American lives and rights and lives up to its international engagements and obligation." (Emphasis ours.)

This can mean nothing else than a last warning to the Calles on April 12: regime that it must carry out the orders of Wall Street without reservations, that its work of smashing unions and evicting peasants must be carried on more energetically. Undoubtedly the intention is also to intensify the warfare on the Communists whose influence is especially strong in the Tampico oil region and among great masses of the agrarians.

It requires only a few organizational measures to make of Mexico an actual protectorate if the Calles government accepts the dictum of the state department.

For those of the Mexican workers and peasants who believed honestly that the policy of compromise and attempted conciliation of Wall Street followed by Calles would give them a breathing spell in which to build up their organizations, the Kellogg note brings bitter disillusionment. The unions of the workers and peasants have been weakened systematically by the bureaucracy of the Mexican Federation of Labor in line with the policy handed them by the A. F. of L. officialdom at El Paso. Mexico faces a crisis and unless this threat of armed intervention unites the populace in resistance to the demands of Wall Street, she will cease to exist as a nation.

It may be that the sharp tone of the note, brutal in disre- tic relations with Britain. gard of even the polite usages of capitalist diplomacy, will awaken not only Mexico but the republics to the south to the danger of the imperialist avalanche that is now moving steadily toward the equa-

Here is a new issue for the All-American Anti-Imperialist League and its sections in the Latin-American countries.

The German Situation

It is hard to say how much of the bankruptcy of great firms like the Stinnes concern, which is now shaking Germany, is due to the failure of the Dawes plan and how much to the manipulation by American financiers with the end in view of extending their control of German industry.

For the workers, however, who are thrown jobless into the street in a country where jobs are at a premium, these speculations matter little. With them it is a question of living.

The social-democrats had their day of power; they bowed to the allied imperialists, rejected an alliance with the workers' and peasants' government of Russia and made war on the working class. So servile were they that the masses preferred the monarchist Hindenburg in the election following the death of Ebert.

It is now apparent to thousands of workers that monarchists and republicans, social-democrats and industrialists, have nothing thorities have decided that they will and is far-in spite of its words- So detested have the mercenaries for the workers except misery added to misery. The Communists alone have fought uncompromisingly for a workers' and farmers' government-for working class power.

That there is much hopelessness among the German working costing $3,000,000 a day at the very class is obvious. Nothing else accounts for the desertion of the unions least. and the rise of fascism. This hopelessness must be overcome and the rebuilding of the organizations of the workers carried on with the British Saturday, has died of his new energy and determination. This sounds like a platitude, but wounds. This makes the total at it is a simple statement of the elementary necessities of the German Hankow, nine killed.

German capitalism has created the conditions for its overthrow Peking in Huge Strike Demonstration but unless the workers have the will to fight and conquer first their own apathy and next their class enemies, the breakdown of German students, merchants, shopkeepers and capitalism means only greater suffering for them.

This is the present role of the German Communist Party-reorganizing and inspiring the German workers and peasantry for new fice and demanded that the Chinese efforts and to new struggles.

time to secure a predominating influence in China A correspondent of the New York Tribune put it this way

It is understood that the principal question confronting the Pekin govrenment at this moment is not whether China should enter the war, as this virtually has been decided, but whether China should continue to align herself with the United States and follow this country's lead, or should join the entente alliance under the leadership and direction of Japan. If a decision following the latter course is made it is believed here that Japan will obtain control of China's army and military resources, and estbalish a semi-protectorate over China that I would make it difficult for either China or the other nowers to induce Japan to surrender after the war.

After carfeul study I come to the conclusion that it would be disastrous to both countries should China break her neutrality. For China is yet an infant republic and as a nation she may be likened to a sick man just entering the hospital of constitutionalism. Unable to look after herself at this stage, she needs careful nursing and support. Therefore China cannot be regarded as an organized country. She is held intact only by custom and sentiment of a peace-loving people. But at once, should there arise discord, Should China enter the war, it would prove dangerous to her national life and injurious to the prestige of England in the Far East. Millard, Page 131.) THE budding Chinese republic was I blighted, civil war stirred up, Chinese territory given to Japan, and China once more reduced to the status of a dependency.

The forbodings of Sun Yat Sen had been fulfilled. All promises that China would have an equal place at the peace table, the promise of financial assistance, the promise that Chinese territory should remain inviolate, all were forgotten.

Each great power now began to look around for some Chinese "general" who could be bought to fight for their share of the natural resources of the Chinese nation.

The allied governments browbeat and humilated the Chinese in every possible manner while the land was seething with civil war and the history of this period is of importance as showing the long series of insults endured by the Chinese and which are now remembered as grievances which still exist as long as foreigners enjoy extra-territorial rights in China.

These incidents will be treated in

Japanese Halt Law Which Would Wipe Out Schools

HONOLULU, Hawaii, June 15-Counsel for 146 Japanese language schools have entered suit against the governor, attorney general, and superintendent of public instruction, charging that the enforcement of the territorial law is contrary to the constitution of the United States and the treaty between Japan and America.

A temporary restraining order against the enforcing of the law, which taxes the schools to such an extent that they would be forced to disband, was granted, and further arguments will be heard.
