AMALGAMATED STRIKE TIGHTENS GRIP; OPEN SHOPPERS USE THE A. F. OF L. TO COVER SCABBING

Yesterday was the end of the second week of the Amalgamated Clothing Workers strike against the International Tailoring company and the J. L. Taylor Co., which tried to run open shop with the aid of the scabs sent by the United Garment Workers' "Union."

AS WE SEE IT.

By T. J. O'FLAHERTY

DID you ever experience the discomfort of riding a lazy camel thru the Sahara desert, with your tongue amalgamated to the roof of your mouth with thirst, and wondering how long you could bear your agony when suddenly a little clump of trees catches your eye? "Ho" you say to yourself "there is an oasis, and unless I run into a hostile sheik, I can slake my thirst without having to open up my camel's belly and tap his reservoir."

AND if on nearing the oasis you saw approaching on a prancing steed, a person who might be the bearer of good or ill tidings. Thirsty travelers always prepare for the worst, I understand, and you might probably predict that an Arabian javelin might be twanging in your gizzard as soon as the horseman got near enuf to do his dirty work. What would be your emotions—provided you weren't too thirsty to have any—if the rider instead of inserting his dagger between your ribs, bowed and said to you: "Lo, weary and parched stranger, my leader the chieft, has heard of your coming and bids me welcome you, and he commands you to make yourself at home."

TRANSPORT yourself from the sandy wastes of Africa to the great open spaces of Montana and transport yourself into this mortal if you want to reach an approximation of the feelings that would be experienced by a normal traveler in the predicament described in the preceding paragraphs. The camel in this case will be capably represented by the Great Northern Railway; the oasis by Plentywood and the sheik by the Farmer-Labor Party of Sheridan County, of which Plentywood is the county seat.

I WAS scheduled to speak in Plentywood on the Fourth of July. The Great Northern Railway gave me more than my money's worth of transportation. It carried me beyond my stop. What that means in Montana can only be understood by native sons. Young men grow old between stops out there—on express trains. Locals never seem to leave their steps. However, I finally managed to get to town somewhere in the vicinity of the place I should have gotten off at. The conductor left the train to go on a hunting trip, and while he was away a man entered the coach and asked for me. On admitting my identity he ordered me to come along and get into his car. He was the sheriff of Sheridan County.

"MORE bail money!" you will say. The last time I had the privilege of riding in a car provided by a sheriff (Continued on page 6.)

ROUMANIAN TORTURES AND MURDERS OF WORKERS BY HANGMEN APPROVED BY TRAITOROUS SOCIAL-DEMOCRATS

BUCHAREST, Roumania.—(By Mail)—"A prominent Swiss journalist, editor of the 'Journal of Geneva', Shapluza, visited Bucharest recently in response to an official invitation from government circles. "According to the offer extended by the Attorney Kastafory, general secretary of the Human and Civic Rights Defense League, Mr. Shapluza visited those accused in the trial of the Roumanian Communists.

"This visit made such a heavy impression upon Mr. Shapluza that while leaving Bucharest he stated to the 'journalists': 'I am leaving your beautiful country with a feeling of a person who was bereaved of his last faith in respect for human dignity.'—(From the newspapers.) (Continued on page 3)

NEW ATTACK OF RIFFIANS DRAWS CLOSE TO FEZ

Americans Enlist On Imperialists' Side

PARIS, France, July 9.—Fez, the capital of Morocco, is again threatened by a new attack of the Riffians. Ten thousand natives have been thrown against the French invaders. The French communique admits that the situation of the French imperialists is alarming. "The enemy plans an intensive offensive against Fez," it states, "by a direct attack from the north. The eastern sector is still menaced and we had to disarm some tribes around Taza today." "Evacuate Civilians at Taza." The evacuation of civilians from Taza was ordered, it has now been learned, because the native population was growing continually more hostile to the French. The natives in the Taza region have joined the Riffians in large numbers, and the remainder have been prevented from doing so. (Continued on page 2)

GOVERNOR SMITH'S ARBITRATION BODY DENIES WAGE RAISE

(Special to The Daily Worker.) NEW YORK CITY, July 9.—The chairman of the governor's commission which is arbitrating the conflict between the International Ladies' Garment Workers' Union and the manufacturers, today denounced as "inaccurate and misleading" the reports in the New York press that the commission has granted a wage increase of two dollars on the minimum weekly wage.

This indicates that no wage increases will be granted. The commission's report will be made public Friday at the Bar Association. Louis Boudin, attorney for the suspended executives, is suing the yellow socialist daily Forward for criminal libel, asking damages of $100,000 because the Forward stated that he attempted once to secure an injunction for a boss in time of a strike.

Polish Atrocities

The Soviet Minister M. Wolkoff, has protested to the Polish government, following the burning of a Soviet border post. The above map shows Volhynia, where the Polish troops entered Soviet territory and burned the Soviet post. The border country, shown in the map, has become restive as a result of the Polish raids.

UNITED STATES TELLS BRITAIN IT WILL LET CHINA WAIT; BOTH NATIONS FENCE FOR ADVANTAGE

Caution is the supreme note in imperialist diplomacy these days as rival powers jockey for advantageous positions in the great world war now looming over the horizon.

The United States, announcing in Washington Wednesday that it was "going ahead" with plans for a conference of powers on the abolition of extra-territoriality in China, on the next morning, yesterday, announces in London that it is in no hurry whatever and that it is quite proper for Britain and Japan, being interested in China, to object, that America is not losing sleep shedding tears over the injustices being done the Chinese people and has no suspicions about British secret conferences with Japan.

Britain, for her part, states that she has not the slightest objection to giving up her extra-territorial privileges in China, but that the Chinese themselves insist upon British courts trying them, and British troops remain in China only to shoot those who may wish to be shot.

The crisis between the two imperialist powers has added a sobering effect to the British conservatives wish to make war on the Soviet Union. But deeper than all is the whirlwind of fury rising in the ranks of British labor unions against the very mention of breaking off relations with Soviet Russia. It has forced a denial of such action out of the lips of Foreign Secretary Austen Chamberlain.

Big Fencing Match Between U. S.—Great Britain Still Rages

(Special to The Daily Worker) LONDON, July 9.—The diplomatic fencing match between British imperialism and American imperialism goes merrily on.

The United States wishes to bring no pressure for an immediate conference seeking abolition of extra-territorial rights in China. Nor is the United States worried over the fact that Great Britain and Japan are exchanging notes over policy in China.

These are the chief points in a statement issued today by the American embassy in London. At the same time, it was understood, it was formally announced that William Perkins, representative of the American state department in London, was satisfied with the British policy in China and saw no possibility of Great Britain differing with the United States regarding action of the imperialist powers in China.

EVOLUTION NOW TAUGHT IN U. OF TENNESSEE, NEAL

DAYTON, Tenn., July 9.—John R. Neal, chief counsel for the defense of John Scopes, who goes on trial here Friday for violating the Tennessee anti-evolution law, has first hand knowledge of the attempts of the conservative southern politicians and business men to stamp out the teaching of the truths of science in the public school system.

Neal was dismissed from his position as professor in the University of Tennessee for sympathizing with Prof. J. W. Sprowls, who was dismissed from the university two years ago because he taught evolution "too openly." Several other professors were dropped from their classes at that time.

Neal will show in the trial which commences tomorrow, that at the present time, also some of the university professors admit they teach evolution "guardedly and cautiously," that as long as science is taught, evolution will necessarily be a part of the course, or else the truth will have to be suppressed.

Professors from the University of Tennessee are to be called as witnesses. Neal said, and they will show that biology, physiology, botany and other sciences cannot be taught if the theory of evolution is ignored, and at the present time, these professors are violating the recently passed state law. If Scopes is convicted, it is planned to indict also the University of Tennessee science professors.

Judge Raulston to Preside Judge John T. Raulston has arrived to preside over the trial. Raulston declared the hours of the trial will be from 9 a. m. to 12 noon, and from 2 p. m. until dark.

Bryan, who has made a steady stream of speeches here against the teaching of evolution, has established himself as an evangelist. He will speak in the court house Sunday (Continued on page 2)

England Fears Break With Soviet Union; Diplomats Confess

(Special to The Daily Worker) LONDON, July 9.—"Anybody that tells you that England is intending to break off relations with Soviet Russia is half-witted, and you can tell them I say so," remarked a high government official in answer to the persistent reports that Britain is threatening to make war on Soviet Russia and means to begin it by breaking off present relations.

It is no secret that any severance of relations would infuriate hundreds of thousands of British workers who are in no very tractable mood as it is, and the loss of trade for British industry would be an insufferable loss to British industry at present, while there is 1,250,000 unemployed registered and more being added.

Yesterday, answering a stormy bombardment of questions from members of the house of commons, Austen Chamberlain, foreign minister, flatly stated that the British cabinet was not considering breaking off relations with Soviet Russia. However, the crafty diplomat asserted that the government was "watching the course of events closely, and as before, would insist on liberty of action without consulting the 'commons.'"

Norse Communists Busy

OSLO, Norway, July 9.—The arrival today of a British fleet for a visit to Oslo was marked by intensive demonstrations by Norwegian Communists. Appeals were made to the British bluejackets and marines. "Rise in revolt rather than to obey your government if you are ordered to make war on Russia," was one leaflet handed the British tars by local Communists.

The young Communist League of Norway placarded the city with posters, printed in English and addressed to the English visitors, criticizing the part the British government is playing in China and denouncing the present propaganda in London against Soviet Russia.

"Great Britain plans war against Russia," Communist orators and editors told the visiting Englishmen. "If a war broke out, you will be ordered to go, but you must not fight your brothers. Give them all your assistance. Start a mutiny and insurrection before you agree to this new war."

British Communists Reply to Slanders Against Communism

MOSCOW.—Gallagher, MacManus, Pollitt, and Stewart who represent the British Communist Party upon the executive committee of the Communist International, issued a statement to the press some time ago with reference to the world-wide campaign started against Communism. Refuting the allegations that the Comintern stands for individual terror, they point out that the anti-Communist campaign is in fact but a preparation for an onslaught against the Union of Soviet Republics.

Where Is That Magic "Anti-Injunction" Bill The Labor Lobby Won?

DATE OF PARTY CONVENTION FIXED

STATEMENT BY THE PARITY COMMISSION

TO THE MEMBERSHIP OF THE WORKERS PARTY:

Comrades: The date for the coming national convention of the party is herewith set for August 9. The convention call, including the agenda, basis of representation, and drafts of resolutions for the convention, will be published shortly.

The parity commission will review and liquidate all matters of an organizational nature that have caused friction in the party. Thus the parity commission intends to clear the ground and the atmosphere for an intelligent pre-convention discussion of the political and organizational problems confronting the party at the present time.

The party membership should bear in mind that the work of the parity commission will in no way interfere with or infringe upon the normal functioning of the party apparatus. All leading party committees, from the Central Executive Committee down, will continue their work in the regular manner, according to the party constitution, and party discipline will have to be rigidly observed.

The big task of the coming party convention is to liquidate factionalism and to establish unity on the basis of the policies and tactics of the Communist International. To achieve this end the party must have a thoro discussion of its problems, free from factional bitterness and personal discrimination.

THE PARITY COMMITTEE.

TELLS RICH STORY OF LIFE BEHIND SWINGING DOORS OF "POLLY" TEA ROOM WORKERS

By WORKER CORRESPONDENT

"Our employees are well paid; they do not expect tips." This high-sounding declaration appears conspicuously on all menus at the "Polly" tea rooms, four restaurants in Chicago's loop district, where many of the white-collared class eat.

Just how true it is could best be told perhaps by Mrs. "Suze" Palmer, owner of the "Polly" cagles along with her lesser partners, Raymond Friedman and Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Dixon. Mrs. Palmer has recently returned from her annual vacation, consisting of a brief half-year's sail around the world.

Every year, however, she somehow manages to get six or eight months off from her strenuous duties as chef-cook-and-bottle-washer at the Polly places to take a jaunt to Palm Beach or California, at least,—if not across the pond.

She Ought to Know.

Thus, her wide travels and worldly experience qualify her especially well to testify concerning the wages of her employees. And she demonstrates quite conclusively that, from her own cosmopolitan point of view, they are sufficiently "well-paid" to allow her such slight extravagances as globe-trotting, beach lounging and costume-plunging.

The employees, however, due to the fact that their experiences have been limited mostly to the four walls of such prisons as "Polly" tea rooms, have a somewhat different view-point. They might say, "What d'y mean, well-paid?" and go on to explain that $6.00 and $8.00 a week are the beginning wages for all short-hour girls; that most of the employees are hired only for the "rush" hour shifts; and that in two or three hours of work, they are so speeded up that as much as eight hours worth of energy is expended.

And they could point out that the longer hours a girl works, the less money she gets. Six and eight-hour waitresses get at the highest $13.00, many as low as $10. Behind the kitchen doors are girls not over fourteen years old,—on their feet from 8 in the morning until 6 at night,—except for a brief rest on a high stool for lunch,—and they get no more than $12.00 a week.

But then, "our employees" get their meals free, Mrs. "Suze" Palmer might inform you,—a regular fifty-cent dinner. Yes, it is a "regular" dinner all right, the girls retort,—so regular that its component parts can be figured out a year ahead, if one but knows the combination. If ignorant, guess mickle-berry sausage or spare ribs and sauer-kraut or creamed cod-fish and you will have exhausted the possibilities, except the possibility of there being no left-overs.

Every system of exploitation has its leakages, tho, and this was especially true last winter at Polly No. 3, at 17 North Wabash. This is the place where Mrs. "Suze" Palmer is to be

HOLD CHINA AND SOVIET PROTEST IN PHILADELPHIA

Meeting Saturday and Picnic on Sunday

By R. BAKER.

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., July 9.—Philadelphia Workers Party and the Young Workers' League have arranged a huge open air demonstration to protest against the American and other imperialist nations' intervention in the great Chinese strike and the threat of war on Soviet Russia.

Local Kuo Min Tsag has been invited to participate in the demonstration. The demonstration will be held Saturday evening, July 11 at Marshall street and Girard avenue.

John Williamson, H. M. Wicks, and R. Baker, will be the speakers at this meeting. All workers of Philadelphia are invited to attend this meeting and express their class solidarity to the striking workers of China.

A Labor Defense and Communist Press picnic has been arranged by the Russian branch of the Workers Party and approved by the City Executive Committee, for Sunday, July 12, at Bradley Farm, 92nd street and A'Vnce avenue. Workers Party members and sympathizers are urged to attend this picnic in full force.

Music and dancing will be furnished by a Russian orchestra, plenty of games, amusements and refreshments will be served to all comers. Bradley's Farm is one of the few cool isolated spots where the workers can forget their factories for a few hours and escape the heat among the many shade trees beneath which will be found a well-equipped refreshment bar with ice cold drinks and fancy Russian sandwiches.

Directions: Take Chester No. 37 car, get off at 37th street and you will meet a committee there. From down town take Jackson street car, get off at 90th street; walk two blocks south and two west.

Our Readers' Views

Socialists Beat Up Workers.

To the DAILY WORKER: As a delegate representing my union at the Socialist-Labor-Fusion convention in this city, I had the opportunity to witness another descending stunt of the socialist party's vote-catching remnant.

Preparatory to this fusion farce, Meyer London, "socialist" lawyer delivered a venomous speech in which he bitterly attacked the Workers (Communist) Party, and the International Workers' World. Employing bush rounding tricks, he denounced labor action by using a putrid phrase: "turk methods" while at the same time the socialist gangsters polluted the air in the hall; and only a few hours later beat down bona-fide delegates who voiced their indignation against fake fusions.

Militant Delegates Unseated. No action could have proved their hypocrisy better than his disruptive oration against assertive labor. Then as a verification sequence of the fusion lie many of the delegates were unseated on the charge that they were too militant.

After the unseated delegates had left, taking their seats in the gallery as visitors to his socialist mockery proceeded with its farcical comedy.

By the time the resolutions were being read, to the disillusioned delegates who hoped for a real fusion convention which would unite labor's forces for the next election campaign in this city, it became obvious that nothing of the kind was taking place. Having no other alternative the delegates demanded that another convention be called in which all labor organizations should participate.

This request was presented to the resolutions committee in the form of a resolution drawn up by the delegates. This, however, (tending to actually unveil the socialist fraud) was snuff to arouse the ire of the "remnant"—and to signal their gang to act.

In answer to indignant labor representatives the thugs jumped to their feet throwing themselves like blood-thirsty beasts upon men and women; thus using gorilla methods, instead of "Turk methods" which Meyer London had previously attributed to the Communists.

When the thugs had completed their job, I found myself being treated by an ambulance doctor who on being informed about the incident, gave me friendly advice: "that it didn't pay to fight against a majority."

In the throes of severe pain, I thought it wiser not to argue with the doctor, but as I'm in a better condition now, I feel it is urgent to ask the men and women who toll: who are in the majority; the workers, or the handful of charlatans? What could be more convincing reason for us to turn our backs on the socialist fakers, than their fusion bluff in New ork's mayoralty election campaign?

Such tactics as the "socialists" apply in their last, futile attempts to regain power are certainly hastening their complete extinction. But let labor not bemoan this historical fact. For labor is gradually coming into its own. The Workers (Communist) Party, supported by a majority of working men and women can eliminate all fakers and make the world safe for labor.

The British Trade Union Delegation to Soviet Russia in a unanimous report has told the story of the Russian Revolution in language that trade unionists can understand.

It is wonderful in its dignified British fashion unhurried, careful, restrained, documented and beautifully dispassionate...

It is a great story, told in matter-of-fact language, the story of millions of workers and peasants marching towards Communism over all obstacles; it is history hot with the breath of the struggle in the style of a contention report...

Revolutionary Russian and stubborn, Slow-moving Briton both call to the American worker from the pages of the British delegation's report.

Farmers' Point of View. To the DAILY WORKER—At present when capitalism is directing more and more attention to the exploitation of agriculture, it is worth while to observe what measures the farmers will take to meet his ever increasing difficulties.

After World War. Undoubtedly the world war presented a good opportunity to finance capital to extend and strengthen its stranglehold on the farmer.

During the past few years over 2,000,000 farmers have lost their belongings and life time savings as a result of this ruthless exploitation.

Must Wipe Out Small Farmer. The farmer is still following the bankers' advice to produce big crops as the only way out.

In political intelligence the farmer is yet the most backward of all the producing class. He still continues to uphold the existing system, the system of his exploiters.

RAILWAY MEN OF INDIA ON STRIKE MEET REPRESSION

British Bosses Send Lying Telegrams

LONDON, July 9.—The telegrams from India last week announcing the collapse of the great North-Western railway strike, in which over 20,000 workers are involved, was apparently of a propagandist character.

The strike is, in fact, not over. On the contrary, the following telegram from Mr. Mukundalal Sirkar, secretary of the Indian Railwaymen's Federation, to the secretary of the Workers' Welfare League of India, at Featherstone buildings, High Holborn, W. C., appeals for British assistance.

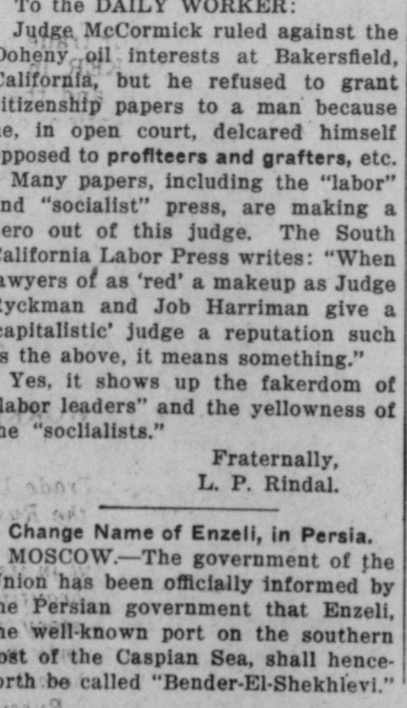

The words master and slave are not strong enough. The class war cannot be waged with reign or polite diction. Drugged and hypnotized sleepers cannot be roused to action by a gentle suggestion that their house may be on fire and perhaps it would be well to remonstrate with the incendiaries who are robbing and murdering directly and indirectly for no purpose but to glut their cruelty and to make themselves the unchallenged masters of the entire working class.

SOVIET TRADE WITH ITALY IS ON INCREASE

Fascist Newspapers Admit Good Results

MOSCOW (By Mail).—Favorable economic consequences of the Italo-Soviet treaty are revealed thru the increase of Italian exports to the U. S. S. R. of a number of goods, machinery and especially automobiles taking a prominent place among them—according to the Popolo d' Italia, an organ closely associated with Mussolini's party.

The Agencia di Roma, an important news agency, thus comments, in part on Italo-Soviet relations: "It is not the expectation of immediate brilliant results that prompted Italy to conclude a treaty with the Union of Soviet Socialist Republics. It was rather her wish to occupy such economic positions as would in future prove of great value to Italy."
