GERMANS BALK AT ARTICLE 16 OF LEAGUE PACT

Locarno Conference Seems Near Crash

(Special to The Daily Worker) LOCARNO, Switzerland, Oct. 9 .-Aristide Briand, French foreign minister and Austin Chamberlain, British foreign minister, are hopeful that Germany will accept a compromise offered on her entry into the League of Nations.

Germany balks at entry into the league because of Article 16 of the covenant which provides for the marching of troops over the territory of another member in case of war with a third power. While the entente powers cannot exempt Germany from the terms of this article, the British and French have promised to of re-election in the coming camwork toward a modification that might paign.

The pro-In order to persuade Germany to sent permanent seats in the council include only four powers, Great Britain, France, Italy and Japan. A fifth seat is kept in reserve for Germany and one is always held for the United States in case it enters. The nonpermanent seats are filled by Belgium, Spain, Sweden, Czecho-Slovakia, Brazil and Uruguay. These nations constitute the present council of the League of Nations.

Germany is Wary. The German foreign minister

Stresemann, is wary of accepting the promises of Briand and Chamberlain to work toward modification of the article, as the nations holding nonpermanent seats are mere pawns of Garment Workers' Union locals, the large imperialist powers and the representatives at the league council cently approved by the shop chairmere vassals of great banking houses of Europe. Near Breaking Point. The dealock over the eastern frontiers of Germany relating to Poland and Czecho-Slovakia continues and altho the French issue optimistic statements wherein they express themselves as hopeful of the outcome there is deep gloom elsewhere and their optimism is plainly not shared by other delegates.

A day or two longer will either produce a compromise or a break that will wreck the conference. The latter is the probable outcome.

SENATORS INSIST THAT PROHIBITION OFFICIALS AID IN RE-ELECTION

WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 9 .-The close connection between prohibition enforcement and politics received emphasis today when United States Senator John W. Harreld, republican, of Oklahoma, in a letter to General Lincoln C. Andrews, insisted that no steps be taken by enforcement officials that would endanger his chances of reelection to the senate. No political question was raised—simply a plain question of holding his job.

Senator Harreld demanded that Andrews make no appointment in his state that would injure his standing before the voters. The letter followed dismissal of a meddlesome pulpit pounder by Director White of the Fort Worth district.

In demanding the reinstatement of the clergyman, Harreld said: "I insist that neither you (Andrews) nor he (White) should do anything which will injure my standing in the state or endanger my chances

NEW YORK CITY, Oct. 9-The Courageous Christian Dared to Lie

> CHICAGO, Oct. 9. - (FP) - Newspaper men reading the Associated Press eulogy of the late Victor F. Lawson adopted by its directors find in it a key to the peculiar appraisal of news values established by it.

Lawson, who helped to found the Associated Press is described by its present directors as a true American, a Christian gentleman, a courageous newspaperman and a tower of wisdom and strength.

It is recalled however that as owner of the Chicago Daily News this true American opposed a bond issue for Chicago schools at the same time favoring a huge issue for a new municinal monkey house and zoo.

As a Christian gentleman he has left millions of dollars to the Chicago Congregational Missionary and Extension Society, a holding company that has over 40 churches sewed up so that they cannot choose their own ministers.

One after another of the big left wing unions of the city have indorsed the Workers Party candidates and their fight for the united labor ticket and are sending delegates to the big conference of organized labor to be held Sunday, Oct. 11, at 2 p. m., in Manhattan Lyceum, 66 East 4th St., New York City.

Council No. 2, and the militant locals of the International Ladies' Garment Workers are among the latest to endorse the Workers Party candidates and to elect two delegates each to the meeting of Oct. 11.

Great Enthusiasm.

Another interesting development, which shows the enthusiasm which is being awakened among the workers of the city of New York, for the Workers Party campaign, is the fact that in many shops the workers are spontaneously forming Workers Party campaign committees. During the last few days, news has come in from all of the important shoe factories of the Brownsville district that they have formed committees, are co lecting funds and have already elected their delegates to the conference on Oct. 11. These shop organizations represent a new feature in Communist campaigning and show that even in the question of political campaigns for which the old social-democratic form of organization is supposed to be peculiarly adapted, the shop nucleus basis is more desirable for a truly proletarian party.

WORKERS' SCHOOL OPENS ENGLISH CLASSES IN N. Y.

To Aid Foreign-Born in Party

(Special to The Daily Worker)

NEW YORK, Oct. 8 .- The English courses that the Workers' School offers this year assume special political importance because of the reorganization of the party. Party re-organization means that every party member must be able to speak, read and write English. The abolition of the foreign speaking comrades in shop nuclei and international branches where English will be the official language and where Russian, Lithuanian, Jewish, Scandinavian, Italian and other foreign speaking members will find themselves together with American workers who speak only English, means that the entire party must learn English or great numbers of its members will be lost to the party and to the class struggle in America.

To meet this need, the Workers' School has prepared to offer any number of English courses on any and all nights of the week in order to accomodate all those who should and must be studying English during the next

To Aid Comrades.

There will be courses in elementary, intermediate and advanced English as well as courses in composition and workers correspondence. The elementary English will be two nights a week and other courses will be one night a week. But to specially accomodate the active, leading workers of the foreign federations who are so occupied with party work, that they cannot spare more than one night a week and yet need improvement in English, there will be one night a week of our elementary English course with a distince political tone to its vocabulary, exercises, dictation, etc., that is to say, that the subject the subject matter which is necessary for party life to be conducted in the English language. A group of courses will begin the week of Oct. 19, including elementary, intermediate and advanced English. A staff of twenty teachers has been prepared and as many courses will be started as the registration warrants. The fee for these courses, where they are given one night a week will be $2.50 for a three months course and where two night a week $3.50 for a three months course. Registration is now going on in Room 34 of the Workers' School at 108 East 14th St., N. Y. City. Further information can be secured by writing to Bert Wolfe, director of the Workers' School at the above address.

Every foreign-born worker who takes seriously the Bolshevization and re-organization of the party, must improve his knowledge of English. Now is the time to begin before re-organization has been completed.

'Japanese Delegates, "Interpaliamentary Union Congress, Washington, D. C.

"Exclusion of Saklatvala, Communist-member of parliament of England from your congress, because of revolutionary statements in behalf of enslaved Hindus, is nothing but a display of dirty capitalistic policy.

"Time after time the people England endorsed the Communistic views of Saklatvala thereby he enjoys the privileges in the glorious English parliament.

"However, there is a tendency among some English representatives to willingly and shamelessly dishonor the English empire by accepting the exclusion handed down. Incidentally they brand themselves as the staunch supporters of capitalist class whether consciously or unconsciously.

"As one of the Asiatic nations. Japan, especially the Japanese working class, has nothing in common with the English ruling class policy of enslaving India. On the contrary, she is predestined to stand by the Hindus' cry for justice and self-determination.

'The Saklatvala case is the acid test of your political views-whether you are with the ever aggrandizing international capitalistic plunderers or have you the heart to side with the down-trodden people of Asia.

"Your honor as the representatives of the Japanese people demands you pay profound attention to the Shapurji Saklatvala case. Please, remember you are sitting in the very place christened after the avowed revolutionist against English imperialism.

Incensed at the growing opposition to the fascist regime in Italy, Mussolini's blackshirt hordes that waded to power thru rivers of blood are demonstrating their determination to retain that by the German reichstag. The conpower by a veritable saturnalia of murder, rapine, incendiarism and looting.

Dispatches from London reveal the fact that the outbreak against the free masons in Florence over the week-end, meager reports of which were received by telegraph at the time, was a piece of vandalism seldom surpassed even by that government of assassi- all its points, while the German bournation.

In the punitive expedition lously low customs duty. This was against this class in Florence their houses were entered and leaders of the society murdered in cold blood, stores large and small were pillaged and burned to the ground, while fascist bands held off the firemen that tried to stop the conflagrations.

Simultaneously with this outbreak, the grand council of the fascisti, meeting in secret session in Rome, framed "constitutional changes" giving the government complete control over every phase of economic and political life. If carried into effect this change ing less than a catastrophe. Politicalmeans the death knell of the labor movement in Italy. Under its ly these vine-growers have up to now terms only fascist unions are recognized and the shop committees that have arisen in heavy industry-to a considerable extent under Communist influence-are to be disbanded and replaced by fascist hooligans.

In an effort forcibly to conscript the working class of the nation under the banner of fascism a provision of the new code creates a compulsory arbitration board for industry and labor, to be selected ( by the fascist government, and makes striking a crime punishable by death.

This attack upon both the proletariat and certain elements of the petty bourgeoisie will react favorably for the revolutionary terms; on the contrary, with regard movement. Thus arises a situation in Italy that conjures up the words of

There is but one reply possible to a threat to punish striking by death and that is insurrection. At one blow the fascist government has placed that question on the order of the day.

Thruout the years of black reaction the vanguard of the working class-the Communist Party of Italy-has slowly and painfully struggled to maintain its existence. ### Five Months of China's Struggle

The manner in which the Chinese people have united to discredit completely the fake international conference to consider the shooting of Shanghai students and strikers is further proof of the ability of the Chinese for concerted action.

The press is practically a unit against the conference, the unions the students and the smaller Chinese commercial elements, General Feng and the well-known legislator Tang Shoayi, all have issued statements denouncing it. A huge demonstration in front of the hall where the conference is in session has taken place and the correspondents of the American capitalist press take a very gloomy dustries for the purpose of launching nual convention assembled does hereview of the situation.

The strategy of Great Britain was to give the conference an international character and thus conceal the leading part played by shall cover an industry." British interests in the Shanghai outrages. Her pressure for joint action was so strong that the American government yielded and, much to the joy of the advanced section of the Chinese liberation movement, has practically destroyed the myth that it was a friend of the people. The correspondent of the New York Times cables as follows:

My opinion is that the inquiry was a mistake, especially from the viewpoint of American policy and may possibly cause embarrassment later. It is believed here that Washington was drawn in by Downing Street, which, it is said, is trying to improve the British position in China by relieving pressure against them exclusively by giving all moves the color of international action,

This statement is all the more significant as the Times is the bearer of the "mother country" tradition in the United States.

The Shanghai strike and the rise of the national liberation movement that followed it has thus accomplished two highly important things:

1. It has made a definite cleavage between Britain and the United States in China.

2. It has resulted in American imperialism being exposed as another one of the robber groups.

There are remarkable advances in the period from May to October. In addition, the Chinese labor movement has established itself firmly, the national liberation movement is more than ever based on the workers and peasants and the membership of the Chinese Communist Party has tripled.

The wave of revolution in the Far East has not subsided but has changed into a powerful ground swell which will sweep imperialism on to the rocks with a force that will shatter it.

There are in Germany some hundreds of thousands of small vine-growers, especially in Wurttemburg and on the Rhine, who gain their precarious living under very difficult circumstances. For vine-growers the wholesale imbelonged to the right parties almost without exception: to the German national party and the right wing of the center. By the Spanish trade agreement, the German bourgeoisie has now sacrificed these vine-growers in order to drive a good industrial bargain.

In this situation, the Communist Party of Germany had no alternative as to the attitude it should take. The C. P. of Germany violently opposes every customs duty which increases the price of goods for the consumption of the masses. Wine however is in Germany no staple article of food of ing class which, with the exception of only a few districts in Germany drinks no wine at all, has no direct interest as to how the price of wine are determined. For this reason it was a selfunderstood duty of the C. P. of Germany to stand up for the poor vinegrowers who are about to be ruined by the Spanish trade agreement. Another reason why the C. P. of Germany felt compelled to reject the Spanish trade agreement, was that it whole economic system which is based on high protective tariffs, undercutting and increasing the price of goods for the German consumers.

The Spanish trade agreement was a cause of great embarrassment to the ruling parties of the right in Germany. This also will contribute to a clearing up of the estuation.

The German-Spanish trade agreegent has once more given the Communist Party the opportunity of fighting on the side of the poor peasantry against the coalition of the capitalists and the leaders of the Socialist Party of Germany, in a question of great significance for the small peasantry of Germany. In spite of all stabilization of the currency, presentday Germany is pregnant with so many difficulties for the ruling class, with so many possibilities of a crisis, that a clever, clear-sighted and energetic Communist policy might be suc

Means to Aid Family in Class Struggle

(By Worker Correspondent)

NEW YORK CITY, Oct. 9 .- The women of New York are helping their husbands picket when they are on strike and intercepting scabs at their homes and raising hell with them. But what's the use of getting their husbands a raise in wages when the cost of living skyrockets immediately afterwards?

So they hit upon a good scheme to keep prices down. Up to last week the price of eggs was so high that a upon a fresh egg, let alone eat one. So the wives of the workers up in the Bronx and in Lower Manhattan got together thru their organizations and decided to boycott all eggs until the prices come down within reach of their pocketbooks so that the workers' families would not have to eat continually morgue eggs.

According to an official statement from the United States bureau of agriculture, there were in cold storage on September 25, 1925, 8,947,000 cases of eggs. Yet these eggs are selling in this city at prices that range from 80c per dozen to $1.10 per dozen. Many dealers are selling cold storage eggs at $1.25 per dozen.
