BENTALL HELD IN PASSAIC MILL STRIKE

Daily Worker Reporter Arrested

(Special to The Daily Worker)

PASSAIC, N. J., Feb. 17-J. O. Bentall, DAILY WORKER reporter and speaker at the strike meetings held by the textile workers, was summoned to court today as he stepped down from the platform at Bellmont Hall where he addressed a mass meeting of strikers.

This together with the arrest of two pickets this morning at the gates of the Forstmann & Huffmann mill is taken as a signal that the bosses have decided to go the limit in breaking the strike that is now in its fourth week and in a more healthy condition than at any time since its inception. Jack Rubenstein and Bela Varga are the two pickets dragged to jail this morning when they insisted on their right to picket before the gate of the mill instead of moving down to the cemetery gate two blocks away as ordered by the cops.

Advise Picketing Cemetery.

"We are not trying to picket the dead, we are here to picket the living so they will not join the dead too soon by starving to death," was their reply to the police and this sounded entirely too intelligent to be allowed to spread in the town that is shipping its mill slaves via the hearse to the potters' field very frequently as their bodies give in under the strain of hard work and low wages and little food.

Bentall has not been on the picket line but he has explained very plainly the tactics of the bosses and shown the workers that they must organize, and it is understood that this is a crime in the three towns that are now in a life and death struggle. The new tactics of the bosses seem to be to hound all progressive workers and they have thus far netted over half

The two arrested this morning have been very active and have had much influence upon the workers. It is possible, that the bosses think that there are none to take their places. The strikers claim they have 10,000 good and husky men and women to step right in as soon as the police take any to the bull pen.

"You are to picket at the gates." said Weisbord giving special instruc tion to the pickets not to be afraid to do their duty. "Picket the gates," he repeated. "Never mind the cemetery. The dead need no picketing. We want the living to know that we are not going to give in to the bosses. Show that you are alive. Let the bosses picket the cemetery if they

A statement by the mayor Passaic offered his good offices to the bosses to help settle the strike. He wants the strikers to go back to the jobs and after they are back he suggests that their grievances be taken up and settled in a peaceful way.

Organizer Weisbord, in behalf of the United Front Committee of Textile Workers, made the following

"The attempt of the Eastside Busi ness Men's Association to terminate the strike can have but one meaning, and that is that the mill owners are beginning to weaken before the mighty blows of the strikers' organization, the United Front Committee of Textile Workers.

'The strikers are well aware of the fact that many strikes that have been won due to the strong organization of the workers have been lost by the workers falling for the spurious maneuvers of the bosses and they consider (Continued on page 2)

More Strikes Coming.

The triumph of the operators thru their good friend Lewis and his machine in the union appears to be overwhelming to many. But the five-year contract is not worth the paper it is written on as soon as the miners see that to observe it means to sacrifice The history of the anthracite is the history of thousands of strikes in the various localities, and the same will occur during the coming five years in spite of the contract.

This victory of the operators does not end the fight of the miners against their operators. On the contrary, it will become an incentive to greater struggles as the implications of the new contract are put into effect.

Two "Black Fridays."

The day of the signing of the agreement has been labeled "Black Friday" quite correctly. It is just as much a defeat for the American miners as "Black Friday" in 1921 was for the British miners when the triple alliance of miners, railroad men and transport workers was smashed thru the betrayal of Thomas, Hodges and Williams in refusing to call a general strike to aid the miners. At that time the bosses in Britain gleefully predicted that this defeat meant the end of trouble in the mine fields. The labor fakers hailed the dawning of "peace in industry" and Hodges, secretary of the miners' union, actually proposed a ten-year truce between labor and capital. "Black Friday" seemed to be a decisive defeat for the miners and

But the further development of the class struggle in Britain smashed these predictions. The miners learned the lesson of "Black Friday" and saw the necessity of removing Hodges from official position in their union to prevent a recurrence of this defeat with the result that A. J. Pinchot Was Invited to Speak to Coal Miners at Scranton Convention

By J. LOUIS ENGDAHL.

DERHAPS John L. Lewis will not find it very easy going over the backs of the coal miners to a seat in Coolidge's cabinet.

When Lewis joined the other officials of the Miners' Union and the heads of the three anthracite districts in an invitation to address the Scranton convention, it could not have helped him with the reigning regime in the republican

It would have been interesting to listen in on the discussion that surely must have taken place incidental to the drawing up of the fulsome letter of praise, dripping honeyed words of adulation.

Chris J. Golden, president of District No. 9, and Thomas J. Kennedy, who has become secretary of the miners' international union, have differed before. President Lewis at one time rejected a report they had drawn up for the nationalization of the coal mines.

Now they clash again, for the ambitions of John L. Lewis can only be realized by trailing with the most reactionary wing of the republican party.

Pinchot has a reputation as a "progressive" that should not delude the workers. Pinchot is safely on the side of the ruling class in one of the most corporation-ridden states in the whole nation.

He first came into the limelight thru his campaign to preserve the national forests. There was no class issue

He quit the republican party with the Roosevelt revolt in 1912. The split, however, did not take place over any economic issue of importance. Pinchot easily found his way back into the republican party. As governor of Pennsylvania he has put the wet and dry issue ahead of all the others. He is dry. But there are no indications that the state is any more arid because of his efforts. It is certain that the power of the steel and coal czars have not been clipped in the least.

The power of the infamous Pennsylvania cossacks is as great as ever. Governor Pinchot kept Jacob Dolla in prison long after the steel strike had come to an end. The latest sedition trial against labor has taken place in Pinchot's own

Yet the class collaboration schemes of some officials of the miners' union fit in with the political ambitions of this charlatan, while John L. Lewis must look to Secretary of Labor "Jim" Davis, who comes from Pittsburgh and is Pinchot's rival in politics.

To be sure, the coal miners must meet the situation by declaring a plague upon both their houses. The labor party movement in Pennsylvania is showing big signs of development. That way the energies of the miners must be directed. Bitter war must be declared and developed against those trade union officials who use the labor movement as a footstool to climb high in the old political parties. In this there is no difference between all the present miners' officials in the anthracite district. The fight for the labor party must be made over their hostility.

STRIKERS REFUSE TO FALL INTO ARBITRATION TRAP SET BY THE MAYOR AND OTHERS IN PASSAIC

Feb. 17.—Hoots and jeers by the strikers the crime of membership in that orgreeted the announcement that the mayor would ask the striking ganization—has appealed to the hightextile workers to return to their jobs pending a settlement of the strike by the bosses and the chamber of commerce with the mayor as the tool and go-between, at meetings that jammed the halls here yesterday. 'Shall we go back before the bosses settle?" asked Organizer Weisbord, and the surging mass of strikers cried with one voice that shook the building, "Never!"

That word "Never" pointed with its business end right toward the bosses and the whole crew of officials, both of the mills and of the city and of the chamber of commerce and the merchants' association.

Mayor Wakes Up.

The strikers are asking how the mayor has gotten so wise as all that since he knew practically nothing before the strike about the poverty and distress in the hovels of workers with families of five to ten children and the head of the family getting $12, $15, $18 a week. This unexpected inflow of knowledge into the mayor's noodle appears a bit belated, and somebody is surely to blame. Who has been so wicked as to withhold this wonderful knowledge from the otherwise quite wide awake mayor? No one will be sinful enough to blame the members of the picket line. These individuals are doing their best to spread knowledge and they seem to be highly successful, since even the mayor himself is hit by bits of it.

President Weinberg of the Eastside Merchants' Association is also seeing new light and having new feelings and his heart is bubbling over with sympathy for the strikers. "Already the workers have lost a great

SOLIDARITY OF WORKERS MAKES JUDGE SQUIRM

Dismisses Striker with Patriotic Bunk

(Special to The Daily Worker) PASSAIC, N. J., Feb. 17 - Joseph Lesa, striker and charged with blasphemy and the use of bad language had his day before Judge Baker in the Garfield police court this morning, and declared guilty of the offense as charged but dismissed after the judge had gotten a nice little speech on patriotism mixed with sob stuff about 'law and order," off his chest.

Lesa, who denies that he ever uttered the words charged to him, was held to the court by the police who said that he had called one of the immaculates a "goddam cop." Only the word of the cop was used in supporting the charge, and tho Lesa had three good witnesses who were close to him at the time testifying that he did not call the cop a thing the judge still this remark. There is no doubt about

Judge is Bailed Up.

Yet this same judge set the defendant free and told him he could not punish him for the crime he was so sure he was guilty of.

The judge tried to hide behind a technicality of the law which Attorney Joseph Feder of the defense presented very clearly, but it was evident all thru the hearing that the picket line of 3,000 and the strikers' power that is backed by 10,000 put the fear of somebody into the patriotic bosom of the judge. Fact is that the entire Attorney Walter H. Pollak of New policy of the government, superimposed by the bosses, has been changed in face of the solidarity and the striking textile workers of New Jersey won a signal victory today when they abolished the police cordon the textile barons had placed around Clifton. Yesterday, from the scene of battle on the Garfield-Clifton boundary line, hundreds of men, women and children were clubbed, stunned, and then clubbed again as they lay in the gutter. The strike headquarters filled quickly with wounded strikers. Many were taken to the hospitals.

Today the textile czars know that sentiment in Passaic, Clifton, Gar-assault and battery, but the cop testifying against him weakened as soon as he heard that he was not a striker said, "You are guilty of having made and admitted that he may have stumbled and been pushed from behind and that he may have meant merely to keep from falling instead of swinging out his arm to pummel the cop into pulp. So the judge apologized profusely and was overwhelmingly pleased to set free so fine a citizen as this one seemed to be who was not out on strike, but was law abiding and willing to produce profits for the bosses and be loyal and all that.

Fooled the Judge. In the seats behind some girls were subduing to the limit of their strength fits of laughter, the cause of which I did not dare to ferret out till cour had adjourned. "Wasn't that a corker?" they all burst out. "That man is working in a shop where there is a union and he gets good wages, but his wife is out on strike and he was in the picket line helping her and is more anxious to win the strike than most of the strikers."

Victoria Lebida was held together with Frank Lasek and George Sventko and bound over to the grand jury on a charge of assault and battery. Victoria was accused of having tossed a loose snowball at one of the cops. He was not sure that she did it but someone out of the two thousand pickets did toss snow at him, he testified. Police Are Sued.

The bosses having realized what a blunder they made in ordering the joint police force of Passaic, Clifton and Garfield to attack the pickets, several suits being started by nonstrikers against the city of Clifton for split heads and broken backs and other injuries inflicted by the cops, caused a very scathing editorial to be printed in the Passaic Daily News condemning the police for their interference and in a chesty manner delaring that the people have a right to walk on the streets if and when they want to. The News is said to belong to the

Today again, fearless and with a determination to back up their right to peacefully picket, the almost endless picket line again moved against the police line guarding the boundary line, but in reality guarding the big Forstam Hoffman mill, where 4,500 workers are still on the job, having momentarilv given heed to the false promises of their employers.

Strange as it may seem, the police line opened up at the advance of the picket line and the strikers were "permitted" to carry the message of solidarity and organization to the Fostman Hoffman workers. This is a strikers' victory, won by them in battle.

Many in Need.

The third week of the strike finds many families without a morsel of food in the house. Strikers are reporting the most needy cases daily. An investigation committee visits the homes and renders a report to the relief committee. Today a family of eight children were discovered, lilvng in one room, all huddled around a luk-ewarm stove, trying to get warm. The children were without shoes or stockings. The mother was down at the dump, picking up coke out of the ashes dumped there.

This is no exceptional case Dozens of families with six and more children have been reported in need. The low wages of the strikers, $6 to $18 a week, kept all workers underfed and babies without milk even when they had full time work. Today they strike. Today they need help. Unionizing Party Members

By H. D. WENDELL.

The following is fundamental: The task of bringing members of the Workers (Communist) Party into the Enroll Now! Course to the general task of organizing all unorganized workers. Put another way: The business of unionizing members of the party not in the unions involves an understanding of the deterrents to unionization that operate on the mass of unorganized workers.

What are these deterrents? What are the forces and conditions that militate against unionization?

1. Lack of class-consciousness; petit-bourgeois aspirations and pre judices.

2. The propaganda and terrorism of the bosses. 3. Dual unionism.

4. Failure of the unions to take the initiative and deficiencies of craft organization.

These are the causes mainly responsible for the difficulty in organizing the unorganized. They act and inter-act one upon the other. They are cross-sectional characteristics of the class struggle that can be con- gle, the trade unions, are to a large sidered separately only for the purpose of studying them.

Lack of Class-Consciousness The comparative low level of classconsciousness of the American workers is explained by a number of reasons. (1) The existence, until recently of a western frontier that offered an "escape" for the more courageous and spirited elements in the working class, sapping it of its strength and robbing it of a tradition. (2) The great wave of immigration from Europe interfered with the normal development of a labor movement and put countless difficulties of race and language in the way of cumulative growth. (3) The bonanza growth of American industry created illusions of "opportunity" and fostered petit-bourgeois aspirations. (4) In the present period of capitalist monopoly imperialism finds it profitand strategically placed workers by sharing a part of its colonial spoils thus creating a "labor-aristocracy" whose influence on the rest of the

Boss Terrorism

Nowhere else in the world is propaganda and terrorism so vigorously country of monster industrial spy systraditional American capitalist pracorganization in many industries possible only when the workers are exploited to an intensive enough degree to stiffen them to the effort. Company unions, insurance plans, "co-operative and agencies constitute methods of persuasion and propaganda that make organization very difficult. This capitalist double-offensive breaks the spirit of many workers.

Dual Unionism.

Dual unionism, which rationalizes into a philosophy dissatisfaction with trade union methods and leaders, has taken a heavy toll upon the labor movement of this country by stealing the best workers from the trade unions and dissipating their energies in less useful directions. Thousands of the best rebels in America, whose influence on the trade unions would trade unions cannot be separated from have made for militancy and aggressiveness, have become discouraged and seceded to spend their energies and talents in building "industrial unions" that have wasted away thru sheer inability to fit into the conditions affecting the labor movement as whole. This process is still going on, altho to a much less degree than formerly, and has taken its pound of flesh from over the heart of the labor movement. Even today there are many rebels workers who will not ioin the trade union movement because of their dissatisfaction with it.

Union Weakness.

a dissatisfaction, that, as we said, ex presses itself in a philosophy and therefore multiplies the harm.

Many workers could, without question, be organized if the existing trade unions would vigorously apply them selves to the task. The deficiencies of the organs of working class strugdegree responsible for the unorganized conditions of large sections of the working class. Craft jealousy, job trusting, the domination of a hopelessly reactionary bureaucracy, ineffective tructure and a meek philosophy of protection account for the neglect of the dominant union's in organization work. Especially in the case of the unskilled this weakness takes its toll The failure of the established unions to take the initiative dampens the ardor of many unorganized workers.

These then are the principle reasons for the slow progress being made in organizing the unorganized workers in this country. There are members of the Workers Party eligible to join trade unions who are not members. The question comes: To what extent are members of the party influenced by the forces that militate against organizing the workers at able to bribe large sections of skilled large. The forces that weaken the workers in general?

No Excuse for Communist.

A Communist should be immune to labor movement is depressing. HIBBEN DEMANDS U. S. RECOGNIZE SOVIET RUSSIA

Backward Policy

The policy of Calvin Coolidge and the United States department refusng to recognize the Soviet Union was severely criticized at the Chicago forum by Captain Paxton Hibben. Hibben in his speech pointed out the need for America to recognize the Soviet Union.

Coolidge administration that the old Russian debts must be paid before granting recognition was an unjusclaim. He declared Russia was willing to pay the debt unjust as it was, but that she demanded the right to sit in a conference and decide wha claims America had to make. "Russia refuses to put this money that is claimed into an envelope and slip it under the state department doors as he price for recognition," declared Hibben, "She asks that she be allowed to sit in a conference and decide what claims there are.'

Russian Counter Claims.

He went on to point out that Russia had counter-claims to make and that these counter-claims were for damages done by American soldiers and American warships in Russia and hat she insisted that these claims be neard. He also pointed out that the American government the claiming to be at peace with the Soviets, had sent over steamers loaded with arms, ammunition and food and other materials for Denikin, who was leading the counter-revolutionary forces in Rus

He pointed out that in a number of cases where England had backet foes of America in their wars against is well worth considering. He was of the United States, Amenica had collected for the damages done and that was what Russia wanted to do. He also showed that the main reason why the state department refused to recog nize the Soviet Union was because to arise and explain the entire lesson, they were a workers' government and were putting into practice a new ideal which was against the wishes of those now in power.

Why Have Revolution? In discussing the Russian debts and the cancellation of these debts by the Bolsheviki, he declared: "Revolutions do cancel debts of the government revoluted against. Otherwise why have a revolution, unless it so happens?"

This is a Communist organization, having ian Alliance): Keep up the ra- among its members also some Jewish workcial propaganda, comrades, it ers, but it is not concerned with any Jewish workers' problems, economic, political, or cultural. Their only concern is how to quickly Americanize the young Jewish worker. In other words what they want is to assimilate the young Jewish worker and make him desert the Jewish laboring masses. That is why they no longer even have separate organizations for the young Jewish workers.

"Surely, no self-respecting young Jewish worker, who does not want to desert the Jewish labor movement can belong to this organization."

Thus we see that the Yugent levels three charges against the Young Workers (Communist) League: 1) That it neglects the Jewish workers' problems. *2) That its only concern is to Americanize the young Jewish worker. 3) That it induces the young Jewish workers to desert the Jewish laboring masses.

Neglect Jewish Youth?

Upon what evidence and reasoning does the Yugent base these accusations? Solely upon the fact that in some districts where the league has reorganized upon the nuclei and working area basis, the Jewish (and for that matter all language branches, regardless of nationality) have been liquidated. To anyone even slightly familiar with the aims and tactics of the Communist movement, these charges of the Yugent must seem to spring out of the deepest ignorance-or the deepest hypocrisy.

Surely, the pseudo-young revolutionists of the Young Jewish Marxian Alliance must have read or heard about the thorogoing campaigns of reordeclared: "The trouble with the Unit- ganization and Bolshevization which the Communists and young Communists in this country (and all over the world) are carrying on. Surely, they must have read, if they read our literature at all, that the language, territorial branch form of organization has been proven archaic and unfitted to the needs of the revolutionary struggles of the workers, and that a new form, the shop nucleus, rooted in the mills and factories, has risen to take its place.

Forget Class Struggle.

They would know that the Young Workers League and the Workers (Communist) Party are reorganizing on the shop nucleus basis, because years of Communist activity have demonstrated its efficacy in the daily struggles weeks' drive for a $10,000 fund to with Hibben on the recognition of the of the workers and in the fight for the proletarian dictatorship.

But the "Marxists" of the Young Jewish Marxian Alliance, engrossed in their cultural pursuits, forget about the class struggle, except most famous dramatic stars, the for- es' clubs, The Chicago Association of provides an interesting topic of discussion. Because, the shop nuclei form of organization disturbs their serene absorption in the difficult problems of promoting Jewish proletarian culture and art, they forthwith condemn it. Such is the extent of their revolutionary realism and devotion!

However, the Young Workers League in reorganizing, as the Yugent and boasted of his socialist party con- implies, is not overlooking the important task of winning the masses of young Mile. Leunne, Russian ballet danc- nections insisted that he wanted to Jewish speaking workers to its standard. Towards this end it is setting up auxiliary organizations, Freiheit clubs, whose special function it is to propagandize among the young Jewish workers and prepare them for active membership in the Young Workers League.

In this way the league begins to assume a homogeneous, compact form, adapted to the conditions of the class struggle in America. But at the same time, thru the instrumentality of the Freiheit clubs, it reaches into the mass of young Jewish speaking workers, with its propaganda program and demands, develops their class (not national) consciousness, and ultimately enrolls them in the shop and factory nuclei, the basic units of the league.

Hide Behind "Culture."

These units, being organized and functioning right on the job, enable the league to participate most effectively in the everyday struggles of the young workers, to influence them most directly and to win them for the revolution-

But according to the Jewish Marxian Alliance, it is more important for the Jewish youth to speak and read Jewish, to discuss Jewish culture and art. than to win shorter hours of work and to carry on the struggle against the bosses. And this from an organization which sails under the flag of Marxism!

Class Divisions Not Racial.

To any class conscious young worker it must be apparent that the posiings as he was silenced by the chair- tion taken by the Young Jewish Marxian Alliance is nationalistic, antiman who told him if he wanted to working class. The divisions in modern society are not racial or national ask a question to do so from the floor in their nature, but class. Antiquated Machinery Cripples Many

By Worker Correspondent.

HAMTRAMCK, Mich., Feb. 17-At the beginning of this month the time of severest unemployment, the Murray Body corporation did its share for the poor unemployed. In two of its plants it lengthened the regular straight-time working hours from 50 to 54. That means: those inside the gates sweat longer to make those outside the gates freeze longer.

Cut Piece Rates. At the same time they equipped the men with new badges, keeping back a $2.00 security for each badge. That means thousands of dollars of easy money. Lengthening of hours go hand in hand nicely with cuts in piece rates.

The Murray corporation does not blame the many injuries on the low piece rates, whipping the men on to frantic speed for the sake of a living. It does not blame them on antiquated machinery, crowded together for want of floor space or on lack of modern safety devices.

Instead the Murray Body corporation blames all this on its foremen, the underlings who are employed to speed up, economize in machinery and material.

As a matter of fact the report shows the exact opposite. The report says that the miners were justified in resisting the wage reduction in the year 1922. But it was exactly in that year that the miners put up an effective fight by striking on the job and finally calling their first to $12 a week. Very few make $16 or hundred per cent strike. By these tactics they raised their wage by over eighty cents per day. The Commission also says that the Corporation would have been justified in reducing the wages in the year 1923. But in that year Dan Livingstone and the men who believed in any method of warfare that brought results to the miners were in office and Besco knew that a cut'in that year with these men exploitation. TOILERS PROTEST AGAINST TERROR RULE IN POLAND

Chicago to Have Mass Meeting Feb. 28

The prosecutions, mass arrests and orutal assaults on the national minorties in Poland are growing greater and greater. Thousands of workers and peasants are in jail. The Polish secret police torture them during the "investigations." Many workers and peasants die two or three days after these "investigations."

In some cases, when the hangmen of the Polish government are not able o frame up some arrested worker or peasant because of lack of evidence, they do "away with him" by shooting him under some pretext.

Jan. 18 a worker, Gardzinski, was arrested in Grodno. He was suspected to be a Communist and a member of the Central Committee of Polish Communist Party. No evidence to this effect could be found by the secret police. The authorities of Grodno decided to send him to Warsaw "for further investigations." On his way from the prison to the railroad station, he was killed.

This incident is not the only one. Hundreds of such incidents could be cited. Every worker or peasant that is arrested never knows whether he will see his family again. When relainstance the standard of wages is to tives try to visit them in jails, they are arrested and beaten. Union headquarters are raided and closed. Officers of workers' organizations are ar-

The Next Step in the Anthracite

As we predicted when we first commented on the outcome of "Black Friday" at Philadelphia, the Lewis machine was able to so maneuver as to crush all opposition at the hastily-called Scranton tri-district convention. The steam roller technique operated flawlessly. The first act was to cut down representation so that instead 1925, provides "for the registration of for our exploiting class government. of one delegate for each hundred members the proportion was one to aliens, and for other purposes." Unions Carry on Cultural Work. Tomsky pointed to the important successes won by the cultural work of the trade unions. The trade unionclubs had increased their number inside two years by 120 per cent and their libraries by 300 per cent.

Tomsky stressed once again the neessity for the realization of a workers' democracy inside the trade unions, for a close and constant raising of the activity and the securing of the possibility of free criticism for all trade union members. Tomsky then proceeded to describe the inter-World Trade Union Unity.

In face of the opposition of the trade unions and the new tendencies in their movement. British capitalism adopts the tactic prophesied by Marx: It attacks the right of the trade unions to take a part in political struggles, and this is the first attempt of English capitalism to follow up an economic offensive against the working class with a political one. These are the reasons for the leftward movement of the British working class which is becoming the leader in the struggle for international trade union unity and which is seeking to establish a center of action which could regulate on a wide scale the wage conditions and the whole economic working class movement. The strugnational work of the Russian unions. gles of the Russian unions for trade union unity is the logical consequence Tomsky pointed to the success won of the previous united front campaign

The correspondence of the Russian Unions with Amsterdam has limited itself to the formal question: Shall a conference take place with or without conditions?

Want Conference With Amsterdam. We demand a meeting with Amsterdam to consider the question of the establishment of unity in the international trade union movement, without any limiting conditions in order. to retain the right of presenting the question of unity in all its details. The justness of our demand that the representatives of the two opposing camps in the working class movement should meet without any conditions in order to clear up all misunderstandings in an objective manner, is so clear that our demand received the sympathy of practically the whole British working class movement. (Concluded tomorrow)
