Include Higher Sales Tax in Program

(Special to The Dally Worker) PARIS. March 22.-With the franc at low ebb, France restarted the battle for financial stabilization today. Finance Minister Peret laid his pro posed financial project before the cabinet and it was unanimously approved. It will go to the chamber of deputies this afternoon.

The new attempt to balance the budget opens the way for patriotic action by wealthy Frenchmen to come to the aid of the nation, for the Peret project authorizes the government to accept all voluntary contributions for the amortization of short term debts.

Sales Tax Increase.

M. Peret, undaunted by the experience of his predecessors, also proooses a two per cent sales tax, an increase over the present tax. It was the increased sales tax proposed by M. Doumer which contributed largely to his defeat and the downfall of the, ast cabinet.

The budget makes no specific provision for the payment of the debt to the United States, but Finance Minister Peret explained that he anticpates Ambassador Berenger will shortly be able to report progress in the debt negotiations.

A Gamble.

The fate of the program in the chamber is a gamble. Technically, Briand has no majority. If he is able to drive the program to success it will be for the simple reason that deputies are beginning to realize the nation is wearying of political bickering and wants a budget enacted.

PASSAIC STRIKERS PRESENT

PRELIMINARY INVESTIGATION OF PASSAIC TEXTILE STRIKE IS GRANTED BY THE U. S. SENATE

By LAURENCE TODD.

WASHINGTON, March 22—(FP)—Preliminary investigation of the Passaic textile strike by the senate committee on manufactures was granted, and the way opened for a thoro probe of the causes and incidents of the struggle, when Senator LaFollette introduced a resolution calling for the inquiry.

This resolution set forth the charges made by the 16,000 strikers against the mill owners and police and other officials responsible for their grievances. It also set forth the bosses' claim that the strike is unjustified and is promoted by Communists for propaganda purposes. It cites the fact that both sides have asked for a congressional investigation. It proposes that the committee on manufactures be empowered to make a thoro investigation, taking testimony in Washington and in New Jersey or elsewhere, and to report its findings to the senate.

To Investigate Strikers. In the list of charges made by the strikers are included the starvation wage, long hours of work, insanitary conditions dangerous to the health of the employes, degraded standards of living due to low wages, failure of state and local officials to protect life, limb and the homes of the strikers, abuse of federal immigration laws thru threats of deportation of citizen strikers, denial of rights of free speech and assemblage, arbitrary refusal of peace officers to enforce the laws, destruction of private property by violent acts of the police, and denial of the right of habeas corpus to citizens arrested, jailed and held incommunicado without proper warrant.

From the mill owners' side, there is recited the claim that the wage and conditions in the mills are made necessary by competition from New England and other textile districts. Also that a prolonged strike will force them to raise the price of wool and silk fabrics. And finally, that

SIXTY BOSSES GRANT DEMANDS OF FUR WORKERS

Strike Ranks Solid; Employers Split

(Special to The Daily Worker) NEW YORK, March 22-The fur manufacturers' opposition to a 40-hour week and equal distribution of work in the shop is rapidly breaking down, according to officials at the Furriers' Union, which for the past five weeks has been conducting a strike in the industry in the city. These two important demands of the fur workers have been most bitterly fought by the manufacturers; but with the beginning of the busy season in the trade, applications for settlement on the union's terms are coming in from hundreds of manufacturers. The settlement committee has opened special headquarters to handle this work.

Sixty Shops Resume Work. Altho all relations between the union and the Association of Fur Manufacturers are completely severed because the association refused to entertain the demands of the works ers, individual members of this asso ciation have already settled with the union, and this morning opened under the new agreement. This makes a total of 60 shops now operating and new ones will be added daily from among those who have already signifled their desire to sign the new agreement.

In addition to the 40-hour week and equal distribution of work the new contract grants the furriers their first wage increase since 1917-an advance of 25 per cent over the present wage scale. There is also to be no overtime work, and the employer agrees to pay 3 per cent of his weekly salary budget for an unemployment insurance fund.

Mass Picket Demonstration.

In protest against the heavy fines and jail sentences imposed upon strikers arrested for peaceful picketing during this past week the union officials have called upon the 12,000 fur strikers to appear on the picket line this morning for a mass picket draw up the agenda for the gathering demonstration. The union in this way will assert once again its legal right division of near eastern affairs of the to picket in an orderly fashion the shops which are on strike. The union claims that peaceful picketing has been repeatedly interferred with and that arrests have been made and fines imposed without cause. The strikers gathered in the fur manufacturing district at 7:30 and walked thru the streets from 30th street to 23rd street, between Sixth and Seventh avenues, and then down to their meeting halls on the east side.

Intl. Harvester Co. Increases Dividends

The past year's business of the International Harvester, which has reflected the generally good business of 1925, coupled with intense exploitation of the workers in its plants and high prices to farmers for agricultural equipment has made it possible for the board of the directors of the firm to increase dividends to stockholders.

The company had been paying $1.25 a share quarterly. This was raised to $1.50. Holders of International Harvester stock now get $6 a share annually.

PARIS COMMUNE COMMEMORATION ATTRACTS CROWD

at Carmen's Hall

From all over the country come reports of good Paris Commune celebrations. Chicago itself led off with a crowd of several thousand at the boulevard last Saturday night.

The splendid program was heartily enjoyed. The Lettish orchestra opened the affair with several selections, after which Bishop William Montgomery Brown addressed the gathering. He received quite an ovation, a tribute to his courage in facing the ostracism of his class to advocate the workers cause as he understands it.

A unique feature was the presentation of the short one act play of that revolutionary period entitled Last Day of the Commune." Here the workers saw what barricade fighting in a civil war actually means. of local Communist artists and the of the spirit of the Commune. Proletarian Dictatorship Necessary.

From the experiences of Paris the militant workers had earned that it was only thru a prole. arian dictatorship that power could be retained and the will of labor enforced. They had come also to recognize that the peasants must be considered and that every effort should be exerted to secure them as allies of the industrial workers. GARVEY HOLDS Mussolini's $100,000,000 CHICAGO ADDS TO AID PASSAIC TEXTILE WORKERS U.N.I.A. CONTROL; Bond Issue Not Selling Very Well in the U.S. A.

By J. LOUIS ENGDAHL.

CLOUDS are beginning to gather in the heavens for the "Napoleonic Year" that was to usher in brilliant glories for the Mussolini dictatorship in Italy. After four months the House of Morgan reports that the gullible public has not yet gobbled up the $100,000,000 loan that was put on the market last November. Without money it is impossible to carry on war, especially wars of aggression, in which it is difficult to develop enthusiasm among the workers.

Mussolini's fascist rule has no money of its own. This was shown by the steadily falling lire, which would have gone the way of the German mark if it had not been for the timely bolstering aid of $50,000,000 credits to act as a gold reserve. America's financiers have accepted Mussolini as a protege. His terror rule over the Italian workers and farmers must be tenderly nursed with ceaseless injections of gold. King Midas could not digest the treasured metal. But the fascist dictatorship can. It cries for it.

It should be remembered that the Wall Street financiers do not hand their own gold over to Mussolini's government. Not at all. That would be very foolish. If the worker and peasant masses of Italy should kick Mussolini and his outfit into the Adriatic and repudiate the fascist debts, that would be bad. But not so bad for the bankers. For they merely hand over to Mussolini what they collect thru the sale of the fascist bonds to the innocent American investing public. To be sure, the bankers take a handsome discount in payment for their strenuous labors, which consists of watching their clerks catch the money as it comes in over the transom.

But the "innocent investing public" is backward about biting on the Mussolini bait. The loan was floated last November. It remains unsold. An extension of 60 days has just been announced. What is to be done at the end of the 60 days will be left to "the discretion of the bankers." That doesn't look so good for the "Napoleonic Year."

The floating of the $100,000,000 Italian loan was no little affair. The job was in the hands of a nation-wide syndicate headed auspiciously by J. P. Morgan & Co. It was the biggest piece of international financing attempted last year.

The House of Morgan was supported by the largest banking and investment concerns in the country. Included among them were the First National Bank, the National City Bank, the Guaranty Company, the Bankers' Trust Company, Forbes & Co., Lee, Higginson & Co., Kidder, Peabody & Co., and Brown Brothers & Co. It is well for the workers to remember the names of these great financial institutions. Some one of them will be found giving financial aid to the drive for the "open shop" in the next great anti-union campaign in some industry that boasts of its high profits and then announces a wage cut against its workers. Mussolini has destroyed all semblance of trade union organization in Italy. This has won the hearty applause of these international money lenders. So they joined in oversubscribing the loan. Each one of them took big chunks of it and divided the bonds among their dealers for sale to "the public." But the public didn't buy. A large part of that loan still remains unsold.

The trial of Matteoti's murderers has revealed how Mussolini himself personally encourages assassination as one method of maintaining fascism in power. It has bared the tight-rope walking career of a terror that lives a hectic career from day to day.

American investors who put their money into Mussolini's Italy today cannot complain if the workers, when they come to power, erase the obligation and refuse to pay. That is what the Russian workers and peasants did. Others will follow this excellent example. Mussolini's "Napoleonic Year" may yet be the year of his Waterloo.

VOICE IN AID OF FOREIGN-BORN

There is developing within the Chiago labor movement an ever broader organized protest against the bills now pending before congress which propose fingerprinting and photographing the foreign-born workers in the United States.

Particularly, the foreign-born workers themselves are taking the action thru their various organizations to create mass sentiment and bring mass pressure to bear, fully recognizing, however, that it is not only they themselves who are threatened by these bills, but the American working class as a whole.

Several mass meetings are being planned by the various language groups and also one under the auspices of the Workers (Communist) Party, to be held Wednesday March 24th at the Shoenhoffen Hall, corner shland and Milwaukee avenues. Robert Minor and Arne Swabeck, with others, will speak.

Unions Opposed.

Unions have gone on record protesting against the passage of the bills and for the organization of a movement in opposition. When it is remembered that these bills propose not only finger-printing and registering foreign-born workers, but also to give the record of present and previous employers, and to give the record of any arrest or penal servitude which workers may at one time or another have been subject to, either for strike activities or otherwise, the intent of these bills becomes clear. In case they become law each worker will be supplied with a certificate of identification which he will be compelled to show upon demand any time at any place, this certificate containing complete record of said worker. showing whether he ever participated in a strike or belonged to a union. In other words a blacklist system of the most effective kind.

Conferences Planned.

One conference will take place on March 30th, consisting of various Ukrainian organizations of which twenty already have signified their readiness to participate. Branches of the Jewish Workmen's Circle, and various South Slavic fraternal societies have likewise taken the initiative to call conferences. The same methods are being followed among other national groups, the purpose being to give organized expression to the opposition of the bills against the foreign-born workers. The details as to the real character of the bills pending will be brought out at the meeting at Schoenhoffen Hall, Milwaukee and Ashland Avenue, March 24th.

Expose Alliance With Bosses' Tools. Ition campaign which is now being The expose of the alliance of Fitz- carried on by the rank and file compatrick and Nockels with the unionsmashing Daily Forward followed the reading of a letter sent by these two federation officials to the Chicago joint board of the International Ladies' Garment Workers' Union in an attempt to terrorize the membership of the garment workers' union into supporting the reactionary candidates in the election of three business agents of the Chicago joint board. The letter ftself sounded as tho it had been written by one of the most rabid open shoppers in the citizen's committee.

These two heads of the federation took it upon themselves, after hearing pleas made by supporters of the right wing policy in the International Ladies' Garment Workers' Union, to address a letter to the joint board telling them in veiled phraseology that a candidate for business agent, Harry Zeff, could not go on the ballot.

The attempt on the part of the reactionaries to bar this left-winger failed, pointed out Davidson, one of the dele gates from the ladies' garment workers. He also made it known that Zeff was elected by a large majority.

Two charges are made against Zeff by Fitzpatrick and Nockels, who today are supporting Frank L. Smith for the United States senate on the union-smashing Robert E. Crowe-Barrett-Thompson slate in the republican party primaries. One is that Harry Zeff was sentenced to jail for manslaughter and the other is that he is a Communist. A Communist to these two supporters of union-smashing candidates is like a red flag to a bull.

Arrested for Union Activity. On the charge of Zeff being a murderer and a convict. Delegate Davidson of the International Ladies' Garment Workers pointed out that Zeff was framed up during the course of a strike, as many union men have been by the bosses and their lackeys, and that he was released after one year in prison because the charges against him were so flimsy. Yet the federa tion heads used this as one of their arguments against Zeff being a candi-

Delegate Davidson then went on to show that the objection to Zeff because he is a Communist was not a matter for the federation to discuss. as this had been settled in the union after a fight that lasted for three days between the left-wing and the rightwing. He further pointed out that Zeff is not a member of the Communist Party or any Communist or ganization, but that he is a left-winger who opposed the expulsion policy of the reactionaries against the Communists.

Threaten Sabotage.

The federation in its letter declared that if the organization drive was in the hands of the Communists little support could be expected from the "bona fide trade unions in the Chicago Federation of Labor."

The garment workers in Chicago are mostly unorganized. As the union is now carrying on an organization campaign and the reactionaries in the union, who had been drawing down high salaries for doing nothing, feared that left-wing candidates who insisted on the organization of these great masses of unorganized workers would be elected and they be ousted, they appealed to the federation to terrorize the membership of the International Ladies' Garment Workers with threats dorsed the appeal of the scabby Uniof sabotage. OPERATORS CUT WAGES IN MINES TO SUIT SELVES

Union Coaldiggers See Need for Militant Fight

PITTSBURGH- (FP)- Unofficial wage reductions by some union operators are making still more critical the situation of the miners union in the important western Pennsylvania or Pittsburgh district. The 1924 scale for tonnage mining and for day men continues but changes in working conlitions have reduced actual income considerably. Most mines are on part

The reduction comes by compelling to more than 6%. the piece worker—the coal digger—to lo much of the work once allotted to lay men. For example, where a timperman used to tend to the timber ing in a miner's "room" the miner now, in many pits, has to do this himself. He may be paid a small sum per prop or timber but the total amounts to far less than the value of his time digging coal. And the boss saves the wages of the timberman. The same holds true of other dead work as the miners term the extra tasks.

Danger to Life Increases

Health and safety conditions have been affected at the same time. In some mines the number of pumpmen has been greatly reduced-from three to one in one particular case-so that men work in water, with lowering of vitality and tendency to rheumatic and other afflictions. The danger of rockfalls increases as less attention is paid to timbering.

An aggressive local union allows the boss to get away with less and sometimes succeeds in holding him to oldtime conditions. The Pennsylvania companies are making little use of the injunction but depending on thugs and hunger. But the pressure is constant. and the employer is continually point ing to conditions in the nonunion coksouth in Fayette and Green counties, and to the example of the Pittsburgh Coal company and the Bethlehem Mines Corp. which have abrogated their signed agreements right in the heart of the district.

Strike Against 1917 Scale

Strikes are on against the Bethlehem group and against those Pitts burgh Coal mines that are attempting to operate on the 1917 scale. But the great majority of the 54 mines of the latter concern are completely idle in a lockout that is intended to starve out the more militant union members. Many Pittsburgh district miners believe that their chance for a comeback may come when the Jacksonville pact expires March 31, 1927, and of the market. the general walkout of the bituminous coal industry, that is being talked of,

These layoffs were largely attributable to seasonal reduction in the maintenance of way forces. There were still 16,509 more workers on railroad payrolls than in December, 1924. Comparison with December 1923 is more significant. This shows fewer employes in every group except maintenance of way. The total railroad employes in December 1925 were 40,571 less than at the end of 1923. "PROSPERITY" BOOM LIKELY TO DISAPPEAR IN PRESENT YEAR

NEW YORK, March 22-The recent collapse of the stock market has caused financial experts to issue the slogan, "Caution," to the business world. Over-production in many fields is already being felt and a continuation of the present spirit of over-confidence for a very long period will result in a disastrous glut of the market. Credits are still plentiful and cheap, it is true, but are beginning to show a decided tendency towards restriction thru fear of over-shooting the capacity Company Union Agrees to Textile Baron's Terms

Building Prospects Weak. The building boom is showing signs of approaching the end of the feverish operations which were necessary to make up the war-time shortage. Real estate speculation which is dependent upon building has received a definite set-back. The Florida boom is over. The building contract award figures show a decrease.

Steel production has started a decline. The textile industries are hard hit. The present "prosperity" period is based almost entirely on the purchasing ability of the home market due largely to the building boom. This is beginning to draw to a close and over-production threatens a calamitous time when the boom stops.

Watch for Wage-Cuts. On the whole, the prospects for 1926 cannot be said to be of the best. A marked recession can be looked for toward the end of the year and with t unemployment and wage-cuts.

Wages and Compensation.

PHOENIX, Ariz.—(FP)—While the workman and his family coming under the Arizona workman compensation law receives the most liberal compensation allowed by any state in case of accident, an immediate effect of its passage was the doubling of liability insurance rates by private companies. It is believed that in many industries, such as cotton ginning and the manufacture of cottonseed oil, where the workmen are unorganized, this addiional cost will be met by lowering vages.

Practically every mining company of the state accepts the state liability insurance. The business of the mining companies will represent between 75 and 80 per cent of the state insurance business.

Demand Higher Scales.

HAVERHILL, Mass .-- (FP) -- Shoe finishers in their local of the Shoe Workers Protective union are demanding 35% higher wage rates. The local is withdrawing from the Haverhill shoe board established under the peace pact between the Shoe Workers Protective and the employer association. The finishers local is requesting investigation of its demand for wage increases by the state board of arbitration, which gave the Lynn shoe workers a 30% to 40% wage reduction lately.

MANCHESTER, N. H., March 22-Amoskeag Workers' Congress, the company union of this huge cotton and worstead mill, voted to continue their present agreement for six months. The congress accepted wage cuts averaging 10 per cent last year, which remains effective. Company agent W. Parker Straw told the 250 delegates that the Amoskeag products were good and the market seemed to be picking up but he would not promise nor predict how much work there would be during the year. Amoskeag is going in heavily for rayon, artificial silk, goods and combinations of rayon and cotton.

Workers (Communist) Party

How Party Can Help the Youth in the Chicago District

(Editor's Note.-The following article is taken from the report of Comrade John Harvey to the district organization conference of the party held in Chicago re-

In making this report I am going to confine myself to certain main tasks before the league which the party is especially able to help us accomplish.

First a few words about the league in Chicago and thruout the district. Our membership at the present time is very small, and the social composition of the league remains very poor. However, we are reorganized on a good basis and our new units are not so isolated as the party street nuclei since our most active members are combined into concentration groups which carry on intensive activities around a shop near their place of work and which bring us much closer to the work of organizing nu-

Reorganized on a good basis, the league also has its face towards the masses and has before it much mass work. The party can do much to help us accomplish the important tasks before us, and since a weak league is a reflection on the party and handicaps its work it is necessary that the party give more support in building a strong league in this district in the future. And so I will name certain of those most important tasks before the league which the party can do much to help us accomplish.

1. Organization of Nuclei.

The party can help us especially in the organization of shop nuclei. We have made some changes in our concentration groups so that now every member is in a group which concentrates on a shop where he can actually carry on work. But we are still faced with the problem of getting connections within the shops. To solve this on large shops-preferably in basic industries-if we have no league comrade within the shop we have tried to choose one where there is a party nucleus, or at least party members. When there is a party nucleus within a shop where we have a concentration group there must be a regular exchange of delegates between the two units and the party nucleus must do all within its means to help the concentration group to form a league shop nucleus there.

Also where we have one league member in a shop where there is a party nucleus, but no league nucleus, this league comrade must not be merely absorbed into the party nucleus, but must work with the party nucleus and get the help of every member in organizing a league nucleus there. The party nucleus must realize that a shop nucleus of four or five young workers supporting the party nucleus is much better for them than to absorb the league member and only gain one new member for the party nucleus. Wherever there is a party nucleus and no league unit, the organization of a league nucleus should be one of the first considerations, and a member of the party nucleus should be assigned especially to this work and be connected with and partly responsible to the section executive committee of the league so that they can help in his work-utilize his experience and sometmes call conferences of these comrades, etc.

Also when there are one or two party members working in a shop where the league is trying to organize a shop nucleus, they should do all they can to help us to accomplish this

2. Reaching the Masses. In starting our mass activities, one was to find forms for our mass work, article.) One of the means for reaching the masses of young workers is thru our movement which will combine existfor working class sports-into which many young workers and adult workers can be recruited. Some of the party members are al ready helping us individually to organize such a broad sport movement in this district, but the whole party must co-operate in this work—and especially the language fractions, which have connections with many sport organization, can help.

Also in the near future the league will organize a mass campaign against militarism which will and up with an anti-militarism conference. The party must co-operate with us in helping us to extend this campaign as far as possible among the masses.

A few words about the importance of such campaigns and the experience of the league in this relation since our reorganization. We have learned by experience that we cannot confine ourselves only to our individual shop activity and the detailed everyday work, but that mass campaigns, polit ical and industrial campaigns on the basis of issues which are confronting the working masses are absolutely necessary to make the organization live. However, in order that such campaigns be a complete success they not only must be arranged for technically and calls issued but there must be a thoro discussion of the campaign in all the basic units, and a discussion of all the issues involved, so that every member will not only be familiar with the reasons for the campaign, the issues, etc., but every member will know what his definite work all section committees of the party in the campaign will be, and in this and league must not only be a paper way we will mobilize the entire mem- rule but an actuality. bership for the campaign. I think the party has had the same experience in the organization of campaigns. For problem, while always concentrating instance, in the Lenin memorial there was discussion in every unit, and every member was mobilized and the and league co-operate in establishing campaign was a real success. The same must be done in the campaign for the foreign-born workers at the

The party members who do not themselves young workers are faced with often take the attitude that there are no differences between the conditions of the young workers and the adult workers in the industry. But the party fractions and party members must overcome this attitude and consider the problems of the youth in the industry when the league fractions or members put the facts of these onditions before them.

Also in our work among the masses of the unorganized young workers, in our participation in youth strikes, our campaign to organize the unorganized workers, the party, which has many more members in the union than we, should give us all possible co-opera-

Also the league members must do their part, participate more in the party fractions and in the T. U. E. L., and at the same time each fraction executive should make sure to include at least one Y. W. L. member.

3. Organization of the Sections. It is important that the section exexecutive committees become the leading forces in each section, and with closer co-operation between the league and party section committees much can be done to strengthen the leadership in the section. That there be a regular exchange of delegates between

Section headquarters are of utmost importance in order to consolidate the work of the section, and can be obtained with even less expense than is involved thru paying rent, if the party joint headquarters.

4. Other Important Work. The party can give the Pioneers present time. (It is necessary to deal much help in this district in building sub-committee.

At the end of my report I want to make some recommendations for party help so that we can quicker put some of the suggestions for party cooperation into effect.

Gooding sponsored a resolution authorizing the investigation not only into the railroad's finances but especially into the effort of "Kuhn, Loeb and company of New York, to reorganize the road." He charged there was evidence of "collusion" in the oppointment of the receivership.

The road's receivership appeared to have resulted from "collusion between the Kinkley Coal company, a creditor, and the officers and directors of the railroad." The receivership was forced when the Binkley concern filed a petiion against the railroad.

"It further appears," according to he resolution. "from testimony before the interstate commerce commission that collusion existed between said creditor company and the officers and directors of the said railroad company as a result of which the latter was judged insolvent by the court of receivers appointed, all to the grave prejudice and loss to the stockholders and bond holders thereof, and contra ry to the public interests."

Gooding said that H. E. Bryan president of the St. Paul, testified that he road's insolvency was caused by $48,000,000 bond issue which matured in June, 1924. He charges that Bryan gave the stock and bondhold ers no opportunity to contribute the 3. As the Pioneers marched in singing into the hall to give the play for the second time they were received with cheering by the strikers. There was continuous cheering, shouting and apreceiver in March, 1923, is proposed plause thruout the play. Why? Because this play very well presented to the strikers the life of the working class children in the capitalist schools and the struggle of the Pioneers, especially during the textile strike.

The parts in the play that showed the work and purpose of the capitalist schools were liked most by the strikers. In one part the teacher asked one boy (who was a Pioneer) whether he loved his country's flag. To this he answered: "I love my country's people, the working people, who make up this country. When I grow up I am going to teach the workers how to stick together and carry out successful strikes." Many other parts were received gith great enthusiasm.

The work of the Pioneers in the textile strike is of great importance, as there are many children under the the mills in spite of the child labor law in New Jersey. It is up to the Pioneers to organize these children into a strong Pioneer section.

Pioneers, are we ready? Let us answer in chorus-Always ready!

Child Labor 'Legal' in One-Fourth of Country

By AUGUST VALENTINE.

N interesting report comes from Washington, D. C., issued by the federal children's bureau on child labor. On this report it is revealed that indentured child labor is legalized in one-fourth of the country. States that legalize child labor are: Arkansas, Kansas, Pennsylvania, Virginia, Indiana, Nevada, Illinois, Maryland, Rhode Island, West Virginia, Michigan and Wisconsin.

In the above states the 'indenture for Soviet Recognition homes" hire out the young workers for a number of years. The "rent" of the human life is cheaper than anything else that is "for rent." A farmer can obtain from the "indenture home" cheap help by supplying board and room for the children. At the ages of 18 or 21, according to how long they are sold, they are turned loose with $50 or less and a suit of clothes. In the state of Pennsylvania some are contracted for until 1940.

In Wisconsin (the "grand" old state of LaFollette and Vic Berger) children just recovering from sickness of the worst kind are forced to go to work before they are well. A girl 12 the Russian Communists will be able milk five cows, work in the field, and DETROIT, Mich., March. 21.-The need of a camp for the working class children has been felt here for many summers. There are camps, but not any that Communist children care to attend. The order of the day at these camps is capitalist militarism. Last summer the need of a camp was particularly acute. This year the Pioneers and the Young Workers' League began the campaign. The parents' council, the federation of working women's organizations, the Workers' Party and several close sympathizers came to their support.

The camp itself will be at Loon lake, an acre of the land owned by the local Finnish organization. One large building with one large room will be put up this year, which will be used for sleeping, dining and assembly. For sleeping there will be bunks which can be folded against the wall. making the room large during the day. The following year a separate building for sleeping will be erected and a fireplace will be built in the first building, which will then only he age of fourteen who are working in used for an assembly and dining room. The second year the playground will also be enlarged.

Elaborate plans have been made to finance this camp. Donation lists will be circulated among individuals and organizations. Membership cards can be purchased for $1. Entertainments will be given by the Pioneer groups themselves. The various language workers' clubs will be asked to participate in affairs. Finally a Lenin Pioneer camp carnival will be held on Sunday, May 9, from 2 to 12 p. m. The entire House of the Masses has been secured for this day. All halls will be used and the attractions will be many. This will be the affair of the year and everyone should look forward and plan to attend it if they would enjoy themselves. Admission is 25c. What Does Norman Thomas Mean?

Norman Thomas, socialist, spoke at a strike meeting of the Furriers' Union last Friday. The chairman introduced him as a representative of the socialist party and as late candidate for governor on the socialist ticket. He also stated that in a strike the union was glad to have all who are interested in the success of the strike come and help along.

To this Norman Thomas responded and said, "No honest socialist can work against the strike. In a strike political differences must be set aside and the common cause of the workers considered above all else."

What did Norman Thomas mean? Does he not know that the Jewish Daily Forward which is run by the socialists is fighting the Furriers' Union and this strike? Would he then say that the Forward and the socialists responsible for it are not honest?

Maybe Dr. Norman Thomas can explain. It seems that either Abraham Cahan, editor of the Forward, is not an honest socialist or that Thomas was wrong about the attitude of socialists in case of a strike.

Or is Thomas breaking away from Cahan?

As a friend of labor Berger would qualify as an excellent court jester for the Coolidge cabinet.

An old editor said to a cub breaking into the game: "If a dog of these United States. bites a man that is not news, but if a man bites a dog that is news." In Passaic the thing can be put this way: "If a horse kicks a woman that is not news, but if a woman kicks a horse that is indeed news." The other day a woman was arrested by the cossacks of that hellhole, charged with kicking one of the horses used to ride down and knows the problems of the mill women and children. We do not know whether the horse appeared slaves. The mill owners claim they in the court as the complaining witness or not.

THE DAILY WORKER Pepper Speaks on the American Problems

International Press Correspondence. MOSCOW, March 21.-U. S. S. R., By Mail.)-Feb. 24.-The sixth session of the enlarged executive of the Communist International was opened today under the chairmanship of Comrade Geschke with the speech of Comrade Pepper who declared: "The previous discussion has been rather limited to the internal party situation. The analysis of Bor-Here is Soviet Russia, there is the rest of the world, is extremely schematic and false, and from it comes a false tactic.

The all-embracing slogan of the theses upon the basis of an analysis of the world situation is: The United States of Socialist Europe. Many comrades are skeptical of this slogan, they remember the argument of Lenin in 1915. At that time, however, both the meaning of the slogan as well as the world situation were different. At that time the slo gan meant: A unification of the European state upon a bourgeois-republican basis thru the overthrow of the monarchy, today it means a socialist unification. The economic dominance of America and the growing contradiction between her and Europe characterize the present situation.

Under the guidance of Frank P. Walsh, who knows his way about the labyrinths of the senate building and who has had varied experiences as joint chairman with former President Taft on the war labor board and who was chairman of the committee on in dustrial relations that submitted the famous report of a decade ago, the committee of Passaic strikers was taken to the offices of Senator William E. Borah, who listened to their grievances and expressed amazement that industries of such a character were permitted to operate in this country. He was particularly interested in the conditions of the workers in the whole industry because of the high protective features of the Fordney-McCumber tariff. Since he is the ranking member of the committee on labor and education he suggested that Senator Lawrence C. Phipps, of Colorado, who is chairman of that committee, be visited.
