Stop Shipments of Scabs to New York!

Chicago newspapers are carrying advertisements for scabs to break the strike of Interborough subway workers in New York.

The Chicago Federation of Labor and the Amalgamated Association of Street and Electric Railway Employes' Union here should picket the employment offices and prevent these scab shipments. Aid the men who have quit a company union and are trying to build a real union!

SACCO-VANZETTI CASE STIRS ALL GERMANY

NEW YORK SUBWAY WORKERS GO ON STRIKE AGAINST COMPANY UNION AND FOR WAGE INCREASE

NEW YORK, July 6 .- New York City was today in the throes of a great subway strike.

At 12:01 this morning motormen and switchmen of the Interborough Rapid Transit, one of New York's two big subway lines, went on strike for higher wages.

By 9 o'clock, peak hour of the morning rush, service on the Interborough, which operates from the city limits of New York to the limits of Brooklyn, was seriously crippled. Some trains were running-at half speed, and manned by strikebreakers imported from Chicago, Cleveland and other points west.

Police guarded all subway stations. More than 2,000 policemen were assigned to duty at stations and on the trains guarding the strikebreakers.

Several arrests were made up to 9 o'clock, but no violence was reported.

Indianapolis Men Walk Out in Protest

(Special to The Daily Worker) INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., July 6.-In the face of a federal injunction issued Saturday, between four and five hundred street railway employes went on strike here today, according to figures announced by officials of the Indianapolis Street Railway Company.

The holiday schedule, they said, made it difficult to determine the extent of the strike at present. The officials estimate 95 per cent of the schedules are being maintained.

Although the president of the company claimed that he never received any demands from the employes, it was stated the cause of the trouble arose over the discharge of several men recently. No violence has been reported.

The trial itself was an indication of the influence which the steel trust exercises thruout the western part of the state. Troopers, the state cossacks, bootleggers, spies in unions whom Papcun had helped to expose, crooked officials, a well-oiled legal machine and local politicians combined to "send up" Papcun. The fact that no overt act was committed, and practically none was charged against Papcun, does ont seem to have swayed the jury very much. The meeting was arranged as a free speech protest meeting. For the last few months the city authorities refused to grant permits to the United Front Committee to hold open air meetings in the city. No reasons were given for their action. The real reason for it is this: The mill owners have inaugurated a movement to restore the fifty-four-hour as a means to increase "prosperity."

The conditions of the workers are very bad. The United Front Committee of Textile Workers is urging the workers to organize and fight the onslaught of the mill owners and the city authorities who, as true servants of the mill owners, refuse to grant permits for this sort of protest.

That is just another reason, however, why workers and farmers thruout the land should realize that they have had another batch of hostile legislation put over

From what I can learn here the Coolidge-Hoover-Jardine outfit does not fear for its present power. It feels safe and secure. By all indications Coolidge is again to be a candidate for re-election in 1928. The republican machine is satisfied that it can put him over once more.

One of big facts that gives the republicans faith in their own continuity in governmental power is the lack of unity in the democratic party. The divisions as between the East, South and West, that tore the democratic convention to shreds in Madison Square Garden, in New York City, in 1924, still continue. The forces of McAdoo and Al Smith are still at each other's throats. The New York governor didn't help his presidential aspiration very much when he crouched before the papal legate Bonzano, to the recent Eucharistic Congress and kissed the ring that felt the lips of so many of the faithful. This will only aggravate the religious schism that plays havoc with democratic unity. Lacking unity the democrats also lack an outstanding leader of the kind they had in Woodrow Wilson in 1912.

On the other hand there is no considerable revolt within the republican party. Coolidge got practically everything he wanted out of the congressional session that just died. While the democrats lack leadership so do the so-called "progressive" republicans. LaFollette is dead. Borah is really not one of them. The small fry have, on the other hand, spent this congressional session trying to make peace with the regulars. The so-called "farm bloc" has no real virility. It is a loose coalition that falls to pieces on sufficient pretext, which does not need to be very great.

The Butler-Mellon-Coolidge-Longworth outfit can therefore feel secure as it witnesses cringing "progressives" in its own ranks and chaos playing havoc with any opposition the democrats might offer. It is with this outlook that the regular republicans feel that they can right now again raise the slogan of "Four Years More of Coolidge."

But if there is the slightest indication that "Silent Cal" won't do, that "the dear people" are tired of him, then there are other candidates just as serviceable in the interests of great business. The most likely substitute for Coolidge is Nicholas an endorsement of its crimes from those it has looted and plundered. The democrats will be no less reactionary. It is the democratic vote in congress that has stood loyally by Cal Coolidge, especially in securing endorsement of the world court to protect Wall Street's investments in Europe, and the passage of legislation reducing taxes against the great rich. The "farm bloc" will continue trying to play its "non-partisan" politics within these two old parties.

Longworth, the speaker of the house of representatives, the son-in-law of the late Theodore Roosevelt. Longworth hails from Cincinnati, which is located in Ohio, where Wall Street goes hunting for presidents when it cannot find them further east. That is where Mark Hanna found William McKinley to turn back the Bryan wave during the close of the last century, and who sat in the White house during the Spanish-American war when this country entered upon its era of world imperialist adventures, A score of years later the same state provided Wall Street with Warren G. Harding and if necessary in 1928 it will furnish the American plunderbund with Longworth, of Cincinnati, who has been one of its best henchmen in the present congressional session. It was Longworth who murdered the Haugen Farm Relief Bill, stuck the knife of death into the Longshoremen's Accident Compensation Bill intended to safeguard the lives of tens of thousands of workers, slaughtered the movement for fact finding into profiteering in the coal industry, put to sleep the move for old age pensions and minimum salaries for federal employes, to cite only a few measures he led as headsman to the executive block. Longworth led the assault against all labor and farm measures and this makes him good timber for the republican presidential nomination. The Wall Street looters of the people won't even go as far west as Illinois to pick up a Colonel Frank O. Lowden as a candidate to fool a few farmers. It feels that it doesn't have to.

The year 1928 is therefore destined to see brazen reaction seeking

The conviction of Papcun follows closely after a similar conviction in the cases of the Pittsburgh Communists, headed by Edward Horacek. All of these cases were defended by International Labor Defense which initiated the conference held a short time ago, in which organized labor expressed its determination to proceed in an organized manner against the antilabor Anti-Sedition act.

Altho the Horacek conviction was based on mere membership in the Workers Party, and Papcun was found not guilty on that charge, the appeal in the Horacek case will to a certain extent influence the final disposition of the Papcun case.

JOHN D. HEADS DONORS TO DRY SLUSH BARREL

Committee Fights Over Name Publication

WASHINGTON, July 6.-After a ectic session, in which the senate slush fund committee reversed itself several times about, making public the names of the Anti-Saloon League's 'angels" and the amounts of their contributions, a compromise was finally reached this afternoon to make public a partial list of the dry donors since 1925.

John D. Leads.

The largest contributiors to the Anti-Saloon League, in the list made pubic, were the John D. Rockefellers, father and son. They were credited with $20,000 since 1925, altho it is known that their contributions prior to that year were considerably larger. The list originally furnished by Wayne B. Wheeler had included all gifts since 1917 and dozens of names were thus held secret by the commit-

Gen. Andrews Resigns.

NEW YORK, July 6. - The New York Evening Post this afternoon carried a dispatch from a staff correspondent at Washington stating that Gen. Lincoln C. Andrews resigned today as assistant secretary in charge of prohibition enforcement.

"At the urging of Secretary Mellon, nowever, General Andrews agreed to remain in office until about Septemper 11," the dispatch stated.

MEETING BRANDS BOSTON MAYOR

BOSTON, July 6. - Denouncing layor Malcolm Nichols of Boston as "greater tyrant than George III," speakers at a free speech meeting in the Old South Meeting House opened war on the mayor's policy of banning speakers and "drawing the line in Boston regarding free speech."

Dr. Samuel M. Crothers, pastor of First Church the mayor with "bulldozing." Dean Roscoe Pound of the Harvard Law School scored city officials for "administrative lawlessness." James P. Monroe, manufacturer and educator, said that "a greater tyrant than George III is in the city hall today."

The controversy goes back to the barring of Anthony Bimba, Lithuanian editor charged with blasphemy and convicted of sedition in Brockton. Mass., from speaking in Boston halls in February and March. A protest signed by a group of Massachusetts citizens, including John S. Codman, Richard W. Hale, Samuel Crothers and Lawrence G. Brooks was ignored by the mayor. In a later exchange of letters between Mr. Hale and the mayor the latter declared that "a certain amount of repression was the only course possible for any self-respecting government" and that "upon the whole the enemies within our gates suffered little and were treated far better than they deserved."

MANY HUNDREDS IMPRISONED IN BRITISH JAILS

Even Strike Bulletins Called "Seditious"

LONDON, July 6.-In addition to the 1,000 striking miners the secre tary of the union announces are in prison under the "E. P. A." (emergency protective act), hundreds of other workers, some of them members of other unions, sympathizers, and large numbers of Communists, are in jail or awaiting sentence under this act, similar to the infamous "espionage law" of the United States.

Thomas Alfred Jackson, editor of the Communist "Workers' Weekly," is serving two months' sentence at Marylebone prison for a charge made against him under Clause 20 of the E. P. A., for -"having in his possession and under his control documents likely to cause disaffection." These were nothing but strike bulletins, containing some of the reports current during the general strike about a mutiny of the Welsh Guards, and articles or scab transport, etc.

Jailed For Criticizing Bad Leaders.

One of the most glaring examples of persecution is that of a worker named Birkhead at Pontefract, who was jailed under E. P. A., under a charge of "attacking trade union leaders" when he criticised the treachery of the Trade Union Council for calling off the general strike. He was released on bail only on condition that he refrain from such criticism and now sentenced to three months in prison at hard labor.

David Evans, a steel worker of Gorseinon, was charged under the E. P. A. with having in his possession seditious books "likely to cause disaffection among the civil population." Fifty dollars and costs.

Railwayman Fined.

Alfred Walter Wood, a railwayman, who playfully drew a picture of a tombstone on the mess-room wall at Clapham Junction station, inscribed as "Sacred to the memory of Claude Gaster and Reginald Andrews who worked to dealth scabbing on their mates in the national strike," got $20 and costs, with the judge remarking that this was "lenient."

England is full of such cases of which the above are examples given to illustrate the workings of E. P. A. against the workers.

HAITIAN TELLS STORY OF HIS NATION'S SUBJECTION TO U. S. IMPERIALISM: BORNO DISLIKED

By HENRY CH. ROSEMOND.

(First Advisor of the Haitian Patriotic Union of New York and Secretary of the Haitian Society of National Welfare.)

We will use the opportunity while Louis Borno, so-called president of Haiti, is parading the streets of the United States, to expose a few facts of the misery suffered by the Haitian people from American occupation, protected by him as a destroyer of Haiti.

Haitian newspapers have several times published the fact that Mr. Borno is not a Haitian at all, but a miserable French subject, and a tool in the hands of General John Russell, o-called "high commisioner" of the

WU SUPPRESSES UNION OF CHINESE RAILMEN AT BRITISH REQUEST

PEKING, July 6.—(FP)—General Wu-Pei-Fu, British favorite in the Chinese military leaders' struggle for control of the country, has ordered the suppression of the employes' unions on the Peking-Hankow railway. The labor union movement in China was encouraged by General Feng Yu Hsiang, leader of the national armies, who was looked upon as a friend of Russia.

Labor leaders blame the British chamber of commerce in Hankow—the the city which is at once the interior stronghold of British capital and the nothing stronger than tea at the political stronghold of Wu, for his anti-labor activities. The British Cigarette Co. arranged a $4,000,000 loan for Wu, and the chamber openly offered him its support.

In return, it is anticipated that Wu will undertake to deliver a more docile quality of cheap labor to British industrial concerns in central and

MELLON DENIES DEAL MADE WITH CAILLAUX ON FRENCH DEBT PACT

PARIS, July 6. - An astonishing cablegram signed by Andrew Melion, secretary of the treasury of the United States was received by Joseph Caillaux, finance minister of France last night. In the cable Melion promises "unofficially" that the United States will never apply Article No. 7 of the Mellon-Berenger debt agreement.

Article No. 7 provides for the mobilization of France's debt and issuance of bonds for public sale at America's discretion. It is something approaching the Dawes' plan of Wall Street control of Germany.

The franc fell almost a full point against the dollar yesterday, closing at about 36. An expert's committee appointed a month ago, yesterday recommended that the franc "be stabilized at between 35 and 40 to the dollar." How this is to be done is not disclosed.

CALLING FOR EIGHT-HOUR LAW'S ADOPTION, AMSTERDAM DECLARES NEAR DISILLUSION IN THE I. L. O

GENEVA, July 6.—The Amsterdam International Federation of Trade Inions is arranging in all national trade union centers a special agitation, between September 13th and 18th, during the celebration of the I. F. T. U.'s 25th anniversary, for the eight-hour work day statute which has been generally ignored by the members of the league of nations, altho agreed to by them thru its International Labor Office convention at Washington in 1919. What little standing the I. L. O.

has had remaining from the flaunting tion since 1922 shows that wage reof its timid suggestions by the great powers, seems likely to be lost by Mussolini's recent decree, which not workdays be continued, but that against the Philadelphia magistrate where there is now an eight hour day it shall be increased at least to

Strong Unions Labor's Main Power. Hinting sorrowfully that after all the workers must rely on the strength of their trade unions rather than on legislation, Peter Grassman, vicepresident of the German Federation of Trade Unions remarks as follows in a statement issued officially by Amsterdam:

"The position of the workers in every country is less dependent on the general level of political liberty than on the amount of influence they can bring to bear on conditions in the industrial world. Valuable as the franchise may be, in that it enables the workers to vote in favor of social progress, dasting results, in the application of this advanced legislation, are only obtained where the trade unions are strong factors con. pay equal to that of Boston city latinually able to exert pressure on the ductions and longer hours are inseparably bound up with the evils of currency depreciation, with the dislocation of markets, with divisions in the ranks of the workers, etc. It also shows that the best laws are in the long run ineffective, if the power of the workers is insufficient to enforce their strict application.

"It is therefore not a destructive criticism of international agreements of the existence of these, the position certain extent an indication of the position of the trade union movement. If this is granted, it cannot then be denied that the international trade union movement has lost ground in recent years—ground that it must re- 1924 to 25,000 in 1925. The turnover cover."

Pennsylvania Supreme Court Backs Operators Against Striking Miners

PHILADELPHIA - (FP) - July 6. Pennsylvania's supreme court up held the Jefferson county court injunction against union miners of District 2 who are striking against the Rochester & Pittsburgh Coal & Iron Co. mine at Adrian, Pa. The supreme court struck out the word "peaceful" before picketing but otherwise suctained the ban on the miners' parading on highways as "intimidation." The union workers are fighting to enforce the 1924 wage scale which the company violated.

A Survey of Party Work in a Big Plant

The following article appeals to us as one of the best we have seen dealing with the field of preparatory work in a fairly large-sized shop. We have eliminated the name of the concern for obvious reasons.

We believe that comrades preparing to engage in nucleus work can read this article with considerable benefit to themselves and the party as an example of the care necessary to secure the proper approach to the practical problems which confront every nucleus. (Editor's Note.)

- plant of the pany in Chicago is employing at the present time around 3,400 workers. The plant is operating at the present time at full capacity fulfilling orders for agricultural machinery for the coming season, and, significantly, an order for Australia.

Plant in Bad Condition. The plant is divided into 37 depart ments covering practically every department necessary for the production of a finished product, and, being the original plant, is old, unsanitary, and in a dilapidated condition. Its appearance is in strange contrast with the up to date and efficient condition of more modern institutions, as for instance, electrical plants. Nevertheless it has functioned sufficiently well to produce a part of the total net profits of $64,357,938 the company has reaped since its organization, this after all dividends paid have been deducted.

Company Union Exists.

TN 1919, after much resistance upon I the part of the men, a company union was installed. This proceeds upon the usual basis of such bodies and acts as a servile and helpless gobetween for the company. It is at the same time tragic and amusing to read the minutes of the monthly meeting of the Works Council, the committee appointed by the workers and the management for the purpose of running the bluff. Some attempts are plainly seen, especially in the minutes of the May meeting by some of the men's representatives, to get somewhere.

At this meeting a question was asked by one of the latter relating to an increase in wages. He stated that there were murmers upon the part of the men objecting to their low wages, while the company was able to coin $19,000,000 gross profits in 1925. A lengthy and sauve reply was forthcoming from a company official that side-tracked the question. The apparent functions of the council is to listen to educational talks by the so again. management, act as inspectors of the sanitary and productive conditions of efficiency of the works all around. Majority of Workers Foreign-Born.

THE majority of the men, including of a sensational character. the petty foremen, are foreign-born workers. The regulations governing election to the Works Council are such that many are barred from active participation in its work, and only those employes of lengthy service, and, generally, thoroughly reactionary make-up are eligible for election. These regulations include the possession of American citizenship. and at least a year's employment with the company. Nevertheless a great amount of keen interest is felt in the doings of the council by many of the men and elections are generally entered into in a real campaign spirit. This is in spite of a feeling of sullen skepticism as to the efficiency of the Company Union, and rather seems to evince a desire, as yet not fully ex-being placed upon a piece-work basis. This seems to be favorably received by the employes, for most new hands demand to be placed upon a piecework basis immediately. This can be explained in two ways:

1. Because the day work rates are too low to admit of the earning of a decent wage.

2. Because a respectable percentage of the employes are "floaters," that is, composed of men who work there for a few days in order to relieve their economic position temporarily, and who can stand for this short time the tremendous strain of piece-work.

As it is, the plant, particularly three departments of it, are working two hours a day, in addition to the regular nine, and oftimes work at full capacity Saturdays and Sundays. THE men have to conform to this demand for increased production while the same man-power is mainwhile the same man-power is maintained, otherwise discrimination takes place. While working the 64 hour place. While working the 64-hour overtime week, the men make fairly high wages, comparable to that of a skilled worker. But, as in every other piece-work case, immediately a fast worker is able to exceed the average earnings of previous workers, the rates are retimed and cut.

Militant Record There. The company union is the most important feature in the plant for our party as it offers a basis for work. The paid "watchers," the purchase of votes, the purchase of support by political appointments ranging all the way from dog catcher to cabinet secretary, the raising of enormous "slush" funds to "win public opinion," the trading in municipal contracts, the "bread and butter" pressure on city employes-all these are familiar features of every machine and of every machine election.

Democrats Seek Issue. The only difference that the Pennsylvania election presents from the normal machine election is that there were two powerful rival machines competing for control of the state, and that the democrats, looking for an issue to differentiate themselves from the republicans in the forthcoming congressional elections—after they had voted with them on every measure of interest to big business—now seized upon this dispute between the Vare and Mellon machines as a good chance to raise such an issue.

If the democrats in congress, how ever, chose to turn the spotlight a little and focus it on democratic New York City or on the democratic machine in Boston, or in other cities where their party is dominant, they would reveal exactly the same phenomena in more or less the same pro

Jenk's summary of foreign control of Cuba, concentrated in the hands of half a dozen bankers, brokers and refiners in New York and Boston, is:

Strong Imperialist Grip. "Seventy-five per cent of Cuba's sugar, which amounts to 90 per cent of her entire exports, is produced in mills which are American-owned, or which are controlled on mortgage or operating agreement by American and Canadian banks.

"The public utilities in the cities are all controlled by the American & Foreign Power Co., which was until recently a subsidiary of the General Electric Co., and is still closely identified with it.

"Of the two principal railway systems, one is controlled by a voting trust sponsored by the National City Bank, the other is a British concern operated from London

"The banking of Cuba, foreign and domestic, is 90 per cent in the hands of three American and three Canadian banks, of which the National City bank and the Royal Bank of Canada are most widely extended. The Federal Reserve Banks of Boston and Atlanta have branch agencies in Havana for the issue and retirement of currency. Thus Cuba is part of our federal reserve banking system.

What Is There Left? "Subsidiaries of the American Tobacco Co. own the largest factories manufacturing Havana cigars.

"The only producing mines in Cuba are owned by Americans, the fron by the Bethlehem Steel Co., the copper by the American Metals Co.

"Docks and shipping facilities are largely in American hands.

COMPANY UNION IS INDISPENSABLE TO OPEN-SHOPPERS IN THEIR DRIVE

By ROBERT DUNN, Federated Press.

The company union is an indispensable weapon in any open shop campaign, according to opinions expressed by numerous employers' associations and local associated industries groups thruout the country A review of current periodicals issued by these bodies as well as by nationally known employers' alliances reveals the company union, variously known as "employe representation," "works council," "industrial democracy plan," and 'shop committee," as the veritable white hope of the open shop associations.

WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE.

J. Arnold Ross, oil operator, formerly Jim Ross, teamster, drives with his thirteen-year-old son, Bunny, to Beach City to sign a lease for a new oil field. Meeting his "Lease Hound," Ben Skutt, in a hotel he goes to meet a group of small property owners whose land he wants for drilling. But other oil concerns small property owners whose land he wants for drilling. But other oil concerns have been intriguing and the meeting breaks up in a row. Bunny meet Paul Watkins, son of a Holy Roller, who has run away from home. They become friends but Paul leaves for other parts before their acquaintance is very old. Dad begins to drill in Prospect Hill near Beach City. He needs the roads fixed and smooths the palm of a city official. In short order his first well, "Ross-Bankside No. 1," is begun. Dad spends busy days in his little office and Bunny is always with him—learning about oil. Bertie, Bunny's sister, comes home from finishing school on a vacation. She is very snobbish. Her Aunt Emma has been trying to make a lady of her. Bunny tells Bertie about Paul. Bertie doesn't like Bunny to know such "Horrid Fellows." They meet Mrs. Groarty, Paul's aunt, whose land has been taken over much to her sorrow by questionable oil promoters. able oil promoters.

Yes, that was all; but the news affected Beach City as if an angel had appeared in a shining cloud and scattered twenty-dollar gold pieces over the streets. You see, Ross-Bankside No. 1 'proved up" the whole north slope; to tens of thousands of investors, big and little, it meant that a hope was turned into glorious certainty. You couldn't keep such news quiet, it just didn't lie in the possibility of human nature not to tell; the newspapers bulletined the details—Ross-Bankside was flowing sixteen thousand barrels a day, and the gravity was 32, and as soon as the pipe line was completed—which would be by the end of the week its owner would be in possession of an income of something over twenty thousand dollars every twenty-four. Would you need to be told that the crowds stared at Dad and at Bunny, everywhere they went about the streets of the city? There goes the great J. Arnold Ross, owner of the new well! And that little chap is his son! Say, he's got thirteen dollars coming to him every minute of the day or night, whether he's awake or asleep. By God, a fellow would feel he could afford to order his lunch, if he was to have an income like that!

Bunny couldn't help but get a sense of importance, and think that he was something special and wonderful. Little thrills Missouri, Colorado, Nevada and Cali- ran over him; he felt as if he could run up into the air and fly. And then Dad would say: "Take it easy, son! Keep your mouth shut, and don't go a-gettin' your head swelled. Remember, you didn't make this here money, and you can lose it in no time, if you're a light-weight." Dad was a sensible fellow, you see; he had been through all this before, first at Antelope, and then at Reports that the committee planned Lobos River. He had felt the temptation of grandeur, and knew an immediate inquiry into the North what it must be to a boy. It was pleasant to have a lot of money; but you must set up a skeleton at the feast, and while you quaffed the wine of success, you must hear a voice behind you whispering, "Memento mori!"

CHAPTER IV THE RANCH

Soon after this it was time for Bunny to visit his mother.

Bunny's mother did not bear Dad's name, as other boys's and mothers do; she was called Mrs. Lang, and lived in a bungalow on the outskirts of Angel City. There was an arrangement whereby she had a right to have Bunny with her one week in every six months; Bunny always knew when this time was approaching. and looked forward to it with mixed emotions. His mother and was sweet, and gave him the petting which he missed at other to times; "pretty little Mamma," was her name for herself. But in other ways the visit was embarrassing, because there were matters supposed to be kept hidden from Bunny, but which he could not help guessing. Mamma would question him about Dad's af-100 fairs, and Bunny knew that Dad did not wish his affairs talked the about. Then too, Mamma complained that she never had enough money; Dad allowed her only two hundred dollars a month, and how could a young and charming grass-widow exist on such a ass sum? Her garage bill was always unpaid, and she would tel Bunny about it, and expect him to tell Dad—but Dad would evade hearing. And next time, Mamma would cry, and say that Jim was a tyrant and a miser. The situation was especially difficult just now, because Mamma had read about the new well in the papers, and knew just how much money Dad had; she unfolded to Bunny a plan, that he should try to persuade Dad to increase her allowance, but without having Dad suspect that she had suggested it. And this, right after Bunny had renounced the luxury of small lies!

Also there was the mystery about Mamma's friends. There were always gentlemen friends who came to see her while that state against former Gov. L. B. Bunny was there, and who might or might not be agreeable to Bunny. When he came home, Aunt Emma would ask him questions, from which it was evident that she wanted to know about these gentlemen friends, but didn't want Bunny to know that she wanted to know. Bunny noticed that Dad never referred to such matters; he never asked any questions about Mamma, and Aunt Emma always did her asking out of Dad's presence.

All this had a peculiar effect upon Bunny. Just as Dad kept. a safe-deposit box at the bank, into which nobody ever looked but himself, so Bunny kept a secret place in his own mind. Outwardly, he was a cheerful and frank little fellow, if somewhat too mature for his years; but all the time he was leading a dual life, picking up ideas here and there, and carrying them off and hding them, as a squirrel does nuts, so that he may come back at a later season and crack them open and nibble them. Some nuts Federation of Labor was yesterday were good and some were bad, and Bunny learned to judge them, devoted principally to resolutions pay- and to throw away the bad ones.

One thing was plain: there was something which men and women did, which they were all in a conspiracy to keep you from knowing that they did. It was a dark corner of life, mysterious and rather hateful. In the beginning, Bunny was loyal to torney for the rail unions who shared his father, not trying to find out what his father didn't want him n the eulogy directed at this accom- to know. But this could not continue indefinitely, for the mind automatically seeks understanding. It was not merely that the birds and the chickens and the dogs in the street gave you hints; given to William H. Johnston of the it was not merely that every street-boy knew, and was eager to explain; it was that the stupid grown-ups themselves persisted in saying things which you couldn't help getting. It was Aunt Emma's fixed conviction that every lady was after Dad; "setting laudatory resolution for his services her cap at him," or "making sheep's eyes at him"—she had many as a member of the railroad labor such phrases. And Dad always showed a queer embarrassment whenever he had been the least bit polite to any lady; he seemed A resolution was passed in com- to be concerned lest Bunny should share Aunt Emma's suspicions. memoration of all general chairmen But the truth was, Bunny was irritated by his aunt, and learned to evade her questions, and not tell what Dad had said to the nice lady in the hotel at Point Lobos, and whether or not the lady had had dinner with them. These worldly arts Bunny acquired, but all the time he was in secret revolt. Why couldn't people talk plainly? Why did they have to be pretending, and whispering, and making you uncomfortable?

The New York Traction Strike

More important than the number of men involved in the Interborough subway strike in New York is the fact that it represents a break with the company union that has been foisted on to the workers of this great traction company.

That the movement out of the company union is not confined to the subway men is shown by the fact that in the meeting where the strike vote was taken, a number of elevated workers appeared and announced that they, too, had quit the company union.

As we go to press it is not clear how successful the strike is, but enough can be gathered from the dispatches in the capitalist press to indicate tremendous dissatisfaction among the traction

Such developments are of the greatest importance for the labor movement. They show that not even a continuous barrage of antiunion propaganda, such as the "welfare" agents of the Interborough deluge the workers with, can prevent the spread of trade union organization and strike action when the organizational weakness of the workers becomes translated into a lowered standard of living.

The myth relative to the tremendous difficulties of organization work among the employes of decisive industries like the traction trust in greater New York, energetically spread by certain trade union officials, is shattered by such spontaneous revolts of look for an officialdom which arises unorganized workers.

The unorganized workers will respond to an honest and militant organization campaign backed by the whole trade union movement.

Republican Split Widens

The growing breach between the Coolidge wing of the republican party and the farm bloc senators and representatives has been dramatized by the resignation of Senator Norris of Nebraska from Shall Workers' Education Do the Goose Step? the agricultural committee of which he was chairman.

Senator McNary of Oregon, another farm bloc insurgent, takes his place.

The endorsement by Senator Norris of William B. Wilson, A democrat candidate for senator in Pennsylvania and former secre- ing exposure of the corruption of big tary of labor under President Wilson, puts him in opposition to the educational institutions by Rockfeller, Coolidge forces and is a public condemnation of the Pennsylvania republican primary.

It is becoming plainer each day that the split in the republican trust-owned universities is trained party is the most deep going in its history, the agricultural and middle class west against the hig industrial and financial capitalists, with the open corruption of the primary a national scandal and the world court issue a political basis for a far more powerful, anti-old guard movement that the Roosevelt bolt could boast of.

The defeat of Coolidge is almost a foregone conclusion and a new party is in the making, but whether it will blossom forth for the 1928 elections can be better forecast as the speeches of the senators and congressmen on their return home begin to indicate the extent to which the anti-Coolidge revolt is crystallizing into a movement that cannot be contained by the republican party.

This hramonizing of . . . interests appears to make the railway act almost an IDEAL PIECE OF LEG-ISLATION. If congress is well advised it will accept promptly a measure that is the fruit of long and sober discussion by responsible managers and labor leaders in the railroad industry. (Emphasis Mine.)

BUT the "harmonizing of interests obviously does not extend so far as to give the railway unions a majority of sympathizers on the executive apparatus provided by the Watson-Parker bill or even a fifty-fifty arrangement. For two years, while every effort is made to turn the A. F of L. unions into purely company unions, the unions will have to submit to the decision of a board four out of five of whom are known to be obedient servants of the railroad in

The railway union heads may b hopeful and the rank and file deceived but it is a safe bet that one vear from now there will be no unanimous vote of thanks to Attorney Richberg or to any union official who helped to put over the Watson-Parker

EITHER there will be the beginning a rank and file revolt against this company union scheme disguised as a railway labor act or the unions will become company unions unable to make effective protest.

Meanwhile the railway union officials clutch at such meaningless signs as the belief that "the senate committee has indicated to the new board the policy it is to pursue."

Policy is one thing and power is another. The railroads, not the unions, have the power by grace of trade unionism and the other on "unorthodox" or left wing movements in the trade unions. These two were supposed to make up a single study course, but the Workers' Education Bureau published the first or "orthodox" section and rejected the second or "unorthodox." A study by Teresa Wolfson on "Women in Industry" was rejected because it merely questioned the willingness of certain American Federation of Labor unions to organize the women. Yet it is an obvious fact that officials of many unions are reluctant indeed to make a real drive for the organization of the women. The Carnegie Corporation had already received ample proof that the Workers' Education Bureau was publishing the "right kind of books," and wanted to increase the amount of such publication so as to provide plenty of textbooks for all "legitimate" purposes.

One of Many.

Carnegie Corporation is only I one of a whole series of big American foundations, built up from the poration trustees have manifested an enormous profits that the millionaires and billionaires have squeezed out of the American workers. A few other important ones are the General Education Board, founded by Rockefeller in 1903 with an initial capital of $201,-000,000; the Rockefeller Foundation, founded in 1913 with an initial capital of $183,000,000; the Laura Spellman the sense that it "legalized" education Rockefeller Memorial, founded in 1918 with $78,000,000; the Hershey Fund, with $60,000,000; the Carnegie Foundation for the Advancement of Teaching, with $16,250,000; the Carnegie Institute of Washington, with $22,000, founded for "investigation, research knowledge to the improvement of $25,000 be returned and that no more mankind;" the Kresge Foundation, money be accepted from that source cational and philanthropic purposes:' taling all together over a billion doldonations to universities and other in- stroy the character of workers' educa-

I the control and corruption of the entire educational system of the United States is incalculable. These foundations do not spend their prin ciple, but merely some part of the enormous interest. On a fund, for example, of $100,000,000 there are 5, 6 or 8 more millions of dollars to spend every year without touching the principle. In fact, these foundations keep steadily growing in size and since they cannot be broken up by inheritance as can individual fortunes the one billion in time will amount to fifteen or twenty or thirty billions of dollars, and by that time will be in a position to control national life in a way that cannot even be calculatedalways provided that the present captalist system lasts long enough.

Such funds as already exist are sufficient to control the thought and educational life of the American people from top to bottom is so far as education is for sale for money. But at least it should be expected that erty-striken a scale it might have to get along, would reject such aid and the control that it involves. In this connection, it is encouraging to note that at a recent conference of teachers of workers' education held at Brookwood under the auspices of Local 189 of the American Federation of Teachers on Washington's Birthday there was a unanimous vote condemning the Workers' Education Bureau for accepting this fund of $25,000.

THE FARMER 1776-1926

By ALFRED KNUTSON.

Back to 1776! 150 years ago! What was farming like then? We do not think very many farmers in this country today would be content with using the kind of farming methods that prevailed at the time of the American revolution. When scythes were used o cut grass and grain, when seeding nethod, in the days when the flail was popular, when there were no gas engines, gang plows, tractors, drills, discs, milking machines, milk separa ors, threshing machines and automo-

No, we do not wish ourselves back o the times when hand tools were used in the production of crops. We would feel quite uncomfortable if we should have to make that kind of a change now. As farmers we appreciate the technical achievements that have taken place in agriculture during the last fifteen decades, and the expansion of the farming area which has accompanied these during that same Vast Changes.

The farmers of 1776 scattered along he Atlantic seaboard in the thirteen original states whose population did not very much exceed the number of people found in the city of Chicago today, were striving to make their living by cultivating small fields situated in narrow valleys and along steep hillsides—fields which we who today live on the vast western plains would scarcely call good garden patches. In 1926 over 10,000,000 people are gainfully employed in raising crops with modern farm machinery on a field area of over 450,000,000 acres, feeding 115,000,000 people and producing not a little for export besides. Whereas the crop values in 1776 were reckoned in thousands we in 1926 are figuring these values in billions. Truly a wonderful change!

In 1776 primitive methods were used in bringing the farm products to market. There were no means of distribution at hand as we have them oday. The one-horse wagon had to serve the purpose as well as it could. even tho it was slow and inconvenient. Such facilities for handling the crop s grain elevators, flour mills, warelouses, railroads, trucks, etc., were unknown to the farmer of those days. lived. Today we are wondering how ies for the production and distribution of his crops he would undoubtedly turn over in his grave with envy. And all the other modern conveiences besides!

Farmer Enslaved Today. But there is another side to this tory which our farmer of 1776 does not know anything about. Side by side with the technical development in the production and distribution of farm products there has grown up a set of parasites who are robbing the farmers of much of what they produce and no matter how efficient the system of production and distribution becomes the system of robbery increases ever more and more in intensity so that the farmer of 1926 finds himself worse off instead of better because of in New York state readers of The these modern improvements. It is true our farmer of 1776 did not have any modern farm machinery and no modern system of distribution at his disposal; he produced less and no doubt lived a simpler life-in accordance with the conditions then prevailing-but he did not experience the bitter fight against high taxes and interest, the fight against farm foreclosures and bankruptcies, the fight against the grain gamblers, to the extent that the farmer of 1926 does under the prevailing capitalist system. DAILY WORKER.

Tenant Farmers Increase.

What is the status of the American farmer today? What has he gained in 150 years of "independence"?

The number of tenant farmers in the United States in 1880 was 25.6 per cent of the total number of farmers. in 1890 this had increased to 28.4 per cent, in 1900 to 35.3 per cent, in 1910 was done by the old broadcasting to 37 per cent, and in 1920 to 38.1 per cent. In 1926 it is 38.6 per cent! The proportion of the farmers who own their farms is steadily decreasing.

Mortgages Increase.

The same fact is brought out by the ncrease in the mortgage debt of the farmers. In 1910 this was 33.2 per cent of the total value of farm property, and in 1920 this hadin creased to 37.2 per cent.

The fact is, as the above figures clearly show, that the farmer is becoming worse off instead & better. He is not becoming more independent as the newspapers and the politicians will have you believe. There can be no independence for the farmer under the capitalist system, because that system is designed to rob him.

The practical thing for the farmer o do is to organize and form an alliance with the city industrial workers for the purpose of doing away with the system that robs him. Every farmer in the country should get into action on this matter as soon as pos-

Farmers, awake! Organize! Unite your forces! Form a fraternal alliance with the city industrial workers! Fight for a farmers' and workers' government!

Letter to the Editor

To The DAILY WORKER:-Some ime ago. The DAILY WORKER invited letters from all its readers. I have been watching for letters from farmers, but few have appeared.

One "farm industry" which many of us would like to know more about, is the raising of seed crops for the seed houses. Why have prices nearly doubled since the war, on garden seeds, and in many cases, "field seed" as well?

In 1918 the farmers in the "seed game" got 5 cents a pound for Teles He was surely up against it as far as phone Pea seed cleaned and inspected facilities for moving his crop were at your farm. Then the buyer "reconcerned. But he got along. He cleaned" it at his warehouse, and docked you a little (on general princiin the world he did it. If the farmer ples, I guess.) You paid the freight to of 1776 could now see how well the his station, of course. Out of the four farmer of 1926 is equipped with facili- cents or less remaining you paid for labor, fertilizer, etc. Your profits, if any, the bank is always ready to grab. These peas retailed them at 20 cents a pound. On the face of it, that is 75% for the seedsman. Now the garden peas retail at 30 cents or more pound. Does the grower get any arger percent than formerly?

If actual cost of production is no igher, or price to grower is no higher, it was lower in 1919-20), who gets the lifference and why?

Perhaps these questions should be ddressed to some "farm paper," but know of none that will give an nonest answer, free from the taint of paid advertising.

Are none of the employes of the olg seed houses at Rockford, Ill. o vogue, and responsible for the mismuch truth is there in the claims made by each seed house concerning testing, inspecting, cleaning and breeding of seeds?-H. B. Rockport, Wash.
