THAT Jesse Smith, right bower of Harry M. Daugherty, committed suicide because a campaign fund that was in his care suffered serious reduction owing to Smith's dabbling in stocks is one of the most sensational developments of the bribe trial now taking place in New York. It should not be forgotten that Daugherty was the lad who caused the raid on the Communist convention in Michigan in 1922, about the time he got the infamous injunction against the shopmen. While we were being exhibited in the streets of St. Joseph with manacles on our hands Harry Daugherty and his flunkeys were being hailed in the capitalist press as national deliverers. | members are going in their private

THE end is not yet. Daugherty is I now on trial for graft, but the delegates to the Communist convention are not yet out of the toils. Harry did his work. Perhaps his masters no longer have any use for him. But he did them a good turn and in all probability they will not forget him. The officials of the shop crafts' union that should be making use of Daugherty's present dilemma to educate their membership on the ways of patriotism are rather silent, so much so that one is compelled to come to the conclusion that the labor leaders do not regret the legal obstacles placed in the way of strikes.

ALL those things taken together, it is not surprising that Berger should frank a speech delivered by him in congress on April 27, 1926. Knowing that all congressmen are against Communism and many of them against fascism, Berger slammed both. It is with his argument and not his premise that we are concerned. Fascism and Communism are twin brothers, said Berger. And to prove it he says: "The reason why our ruling class dislikes the red-haired baby so is because the Bolsheviki laid violent hands on the sacred rights of property-while the fascisti just as violently are protecting the 'vested (Continued on page 2.)

The purpose of the delegation, according to its official representatives, is to secure reliable first-hand information, regarding the conditions of mation regarding the conditions of labor and labor unions across the Atlantic, and especially to secure accurate facts about labor's status in Soviet Russia, under a Communistic workers' government, and in fascist Italy, where regular labor unions are declared illegal and ruthlessly suppressed by the dictator Mussolini.

A. F. of L. and Rail Brotherhoods.

The delegation as announced today will consist of representatives of both the Railroad Brotherhoods and the largest unions in the American Federation of Labor. Although the Federation at its last convention in Atlantic City decided not to pay the expenses of an official mission to Russia, the present delegation in no way conflicts with this decision, since its capacity and not as an official body. On this voluntary basis it has been possible to include in the same delegation leading executives of both the A. F. of L. and the big Railroad Brotherhoods, who are outside the A. F.

Nosovitsky, it was found on investigation of Sherwood's story, had co-operated with one Shaw, another professional strike-breaker, in an attempt to end the strike by planting bombs and by the skillful placement, among the strikers, of agents provo-cateur. Twenty thousand dollars was paid for the job, Shaw said.

Came Spolansky.

Following Nosovitsky in the employ of the Botany Mills came Jacob Spolansky, another former department of justice man and "red expert," who has been working for the National Metal Trades Association open shop department. Spolansky is now reported to have returned to Chicago, leaving the spy work for the Botany people in the hands of the well-known International Auxiliary Co., otherwise known as the Eastern Engineering Co. of 17 W. 60 Street. New York City. The International, a labor spy bureau of long standing, has a number of operatives in the Passaic and Paterson district, some as outside men in the Passaic strike, and others on the inside of the Paterson silk mills.

The recent bomb-throwing, laid by the police at the door of strike leaders, may have something to do with the presence of International operatives whom the Passaic mill owners have introduced in a final effort to discredit the strike now under the leadership of the United Textile Workers of America. It is known that the International spies have been particularly vigilant in breaking U. T. W. of A. strikes and organization movements in the past two years.

Better Management Has Material Reward

LONDON. Sept. 27.— Dispatches from the Soviet Union state that a special commission has recommended further wage increases to be given to the workers of many of the principal industries, over and above those assured in the most recent collective agreements. These general increases will run from two to five per cent according to the varying conditions.

Millions Will Get Wage Raise. The increases will be made effective soon to coal miners, metal workers, workers and railroad workers. General wage increases for other industries are recommended to take effect per. next year.

In a recent instruction of the government, signed also by the trade unions and the Communist Party the campaign for economy which has been going on for some time was pointed out as by no means signifying a lowering of the wages. A Result of Better Management.

On the contrary, it said, wage increases would be allowed by the elimination of waste and inefficiency in production and fighting against wasteful management. Not only higher wages, but cheaper products would result and the peasantry be able to aid in the industrialization process by increased purchases of industrial products.

FARMER-LABOR RANKS DEVELOP PARTY LOYALTY

Minnesota Movement

By J. LOUIS ENGDAHL

(Special to The Daily Worker) ST. PAUL, Minn., Sept. 27 .- One of the most encouraging signs of progress in the Minnesota Farmer-Labor movement is the development of party loyalty on the part of the workers and farmers of the state.

The party is rising above even such personalities as Magnus Johnson and Hendrik Shipsted who have been and still are the party's outstanding stand

This drift of loyalty from person altties to party is best seen in the changed attitude taken toward the lesser candidates, especially the candidates for the state legislature who appear on the ballot as non-partisans without party designation.

In the past it has been the habit of to carry the party standards in the port scabs in the coke fields and topen without camouflage.

The movement gained impetus, to United States senators. Magnus Johnson, however, suffered defeat at the hands of the republican, Tom Schall. He is now the Farmer-Labor candidate for governor.

Here in Saint Paul, almost more than in Minneapolis, the organized labor movement is solid and enthusiastic in its support of the Farmer-Labor campaign. Last Saturday saw a meeting of all the business agents of the St. Paul trade unions to discuss the campaign. This Wednesday evening, Sept. 29, at 8 p. m., a gathering Franklin St., for the purpose of organizing and developing the campaig for state, congressional and legislativ candidates endorsed by the Farmer Labor Association on the Farmer-Labor ticket. Sixth-Joseph B. Himsl, St. Cloud

Seventh-O. J. Kvale, Benson. Eighth-William L. Carss, Proctor Nith-Knud Wefald, Hawley. Tenth-Ernest Lundeen, Richfield.

Three of these candidates, Kvale Carss and Wefald are up for re-election. The campaign hopes, as opti mistically expressed around the Farmer-Labor Party headquarters, are that Minnesota will send six Farmer-Labor congressmen to Washington. Those picked for victory are Sullivan, Himsl. Kvale, Carss, Wefald and Lundeen While still in the republican party during the war, Lundeen represented the fifth district in congress.

Efforts are being made to elect Thomas V. Sullivan from the district (4th, St. Paul), in which J. F. Emme the Communist, received 12,000 votes as the Farmer-Labor candidate in 1924.

The state Farmer-Labor ticket is as follows:

The Consolidation in 1922 had approximately 40 mines in northern West Virginia; others in Maryland and seven or eight in Somerset county, besides additional mines in Kentucky. The company agreed to sign up for West party thruout the state must be bet. With coal coming from 40 mines in West Virginia, the Consolidation did not care how long the other states struck. The company filled orders with West Virginia coal and used its West Virof all Farmer-Labor forces will be ginia profits to ship strikebreakers held at the Labor Temple, 216 N. and gunmen into Maryland and Penn-

Bethlehem Mines Corporation, Hillnan Coal & Coke and other big concerns were allowed to split the workers and destroy the Union in the same way. The Peabody Coal Co. is doing

The policy that lost these many members to the Union was a "backward step" of the most disastrous nature. The men abandoned to the open shop were forced to accept wage reductions. And this meant cheap scab coal coming into the northern markets, which meant wholesale unemployment in the northern fields.

I give these facts not in a spirit of destructive criticism, but because we must recognize past mistakes if we wish to have a constructive policy in the future. The policies we must adopt, I need hardly say, do not include wage reductions. There have been enough wage reduitions-for the men I spoke ofunder the old policy. Wage reductions offer no solution, but lead only to further misery and degredation.

What must we do to save the ORGANIZE THE UNOR-

ANIZED. This can be done. It can be done by active field workers who will give their entire energies to those still on strike. to the job. It cannot be done by political gum-while the work of organizing remains

And it cannot be done by a futile policy of local strikes only. The problem calls for national planning and national action. No company must be allowed to operate on a union basis in one field while breaking its contract in another, as the Peabody Coal Co. and others are doing.

Secondly, we must work for Nationalization of the Mines and we must organize a Labor Party.

NATIONALIZATION, that is public ownership with union share in management, is the official goal of the United Mine Workers, and conventions have instructed that efforts be tions have not been followed.

This larger program is of great importance to the Union. It will give hope to the rank and file who see no hope any longer in private ownership and management of the industry.

A LABOR PARTY is necessary to get justice for the Union in the courts and legislatures. Our conventions aim. But our cause has been injured by the support that certain leaders have given to reactionary anti-labor politicians, such as Calvin Coolidge

We are paying the price for that now, NEXT, ALEX HOWAT and others who are being unjustly discriminated against must be restored to full privi leges in the Union.

We must get the closest co-operation between the anthracite and bituminous miners, as in 1922, when they fought together. Nothing can take the place of working class solidarity. And it must be recognized that the anthracite districts cannot maintain wage standards if the Union is crushed in the bituminous fields.

I believe that by persistently and courageously fighting for the above program the Union can be saved. The present administration has shown no nates who profit from their sweating way of averting the disastrous losses the organization is sustaining. It is for this reason that I have accepted the many requests I have received bers of our organization to be candidate for international President.

In doing so I am glad to say that William Stevenson, of Bay City, Michigan, and William J. Brennan, of Scranton, Pa., candidates, respectively. for International Vice-President and Secretary-Treasurer, are in full accord with the above program for saving the Union, and when elected will co-operate to the fullest extent with me. We are conducting the program rather than on personal isplace our policy before the rank and

(Special to The Daily Worker) IRONWOOD, Mich., Sept. 27-Three nutilated bodies of workers who went hurtling for a half mile in a steet cage to the bottom of the G shaft of the Pabst mine of the Oliver mining properties have been recovered, and 43 other workers, miners on the eighth level, are entombed with practically no hope of their recovery, as the no sult of a cave-in of the G shaft Fri-

The shaft was not sufficiently reinforced to withstand the effect of recent rains, and the result was the worst mining accident in the history of the Gogebic range.

No officials are among the men rapped i nthe drift at the eighth level, breathing the choking blasting powder and gas damp, if they are still alive at all. They were all workers-mostly Finns, and not regarded as of much account by the steel maglabors in the bowels of the earth.

The three men who were in the cage when the cave-in occurred were dug out of the dirt inside the telescoped cage driven into the ground at the bottom of the shaft. The "safety dogs" which are supposed to keep such a thing from happening did not prevent it, and the men took the death plunge when the cable snapped. When the bodies were finally recovered, miners tried to tell who the men were by examining the boots. Two Exits to Each Drift.

There are supposed to be two exits to every drift, but the emergency had campaign on the basis of the larger not been used for years, miners reported, and when the men on the sues and take this opportunity to eighth level were cut off by the shaft cave-in, there was no way out.

Rescue squads who started up from the 26th level found the emergency way was blocked by a mass of de bris thru which they dared not dig for fear of a fresh cave-in which would trap still more workers. Shaft Caving In.

Workers trying to reach the encombed men from the surface had only got down 250 feet by Sunday, and dared not go farther because the shaft was still caving in at intervals. From this point to where the 43 men are trapped it is 550 feet.

When the cave-in came the air and water pipes and light and telephone lines were all cut off, and there is no communication. Their carbide lamps are good for only a few hours. ily as possible and it is expected to the air filled with blasting powder take place this week. The protest fumes and gas damp, and with a small supply of water, the trapped workers are once more sacrificed to steel industry profits. The Inspired Press.

In the face of what the miners who are working in G shaft say, the mining officials, who don't know because they haven't been there, issue reports thru the capitalist newspaper of Ironwood that the entombed men are 'perfectly safe."

In the next breath they admit that they "cannot hazard a guess as to how long a period will elapse before they are brot to the surface."

The bodies of the three recovered were taken out by going underground from G shaft to H shaft and then to dressmakers yesterday worked a full the surface, but no one can get within hundreds of feet of the entombed men. Acetylene torches were used to cut thru the crushed steel that held the bodies of the workers in the

"Difficult to Explain."

The mining officials say the cave-in is "difficult to explain" and the newspaper that jumps when the strings are puled talks about the "morbid crowd" at the shaft but says nothing about the wives waiting in the biting wind for news from below.

Men and women nuddled in the chill wind all thru the night, faces haggard under the lights as they listened to the rumble of the cables and waited for the cage to bring rescue squads to the top. The watchers strained forward each time the cage appeared bide lamps, set atop their vellow oilskin hats, still aglow.

doing thru the republican party.

THE carefully planned and deliberate manner in which the plunderbund in Minnesota is developing its effort to crush the Farmer-Labor Party in that state is seen in part in the importation of Charles M. Schwab, chairman of the board of directors of the Bethlehem Steel corporation, to make a "prosperity" and "success" address before the annual meeting of the Manufacturers' Association of Minneapolis.

One thousand "business men." the backbone of the republican party in Minnesota, listened to the steel profiteer promise that "the northwest richly endowed with the gifts of god, can become the leading section of this country."

The speech was not intended so much for the business men who listened to Schwab dilate energetically on the alleged divine blessing. His remarks were especially concocted to dope the restless workers in the cities and the discontented farmers: the former who have seen their unions crushed and wellnigh annihilated aunder the open shop Coolidge - Mellon - Hoover regime. while the latter have suffered bankruptcies and mortgage foreclosures under the tyranny of the food gamblers, the bankers, the landlords and the transportation interests. This brand of dope is summarized for the benefit of its farmer-labor readers by the capitalist Minneapolis journal, claimed as the organ of the steel interests, as follows: Schwab said:

"The United States continues to develop more rapidly than ever despite the oft' repeated question as to whether the peak is not near.

"The young man of today has greater opportunities for success than any of his ancestors ever had in this country.

"The next 25 to 50 years will witness the greatest industrial development this country ever has known. "There would be no farm problem

if the principles that have brought success to industry were made to apply to agriculture. "The greatest thrill in life comes not from money but from the realization of a dream or ambition after much effort. "The happiest days are those of the struggle for success, not those coming after success.

"The richest memories and the greatest wealth are the associations and friendships developed by the fight for success.

"Confidence in oneself and one's business are the basis of success. "The only way to make money is to take hold of something and develop it."

These are the gloatings of the multi-millionaire steel magnate, in whose mills the workers are unorganized and compelled to yield up the wealth they produce because Schwab has the governmental tyranny directed by the republican party at his every beck and call. Schwab wents to continue republican rule in Minnesota, knowing if it is wiped out there, the independent political action of the workers and farmers will spread to other states and to the nation.

The workers in the iron mines of northern Minnesota, in the lumber mills of the state, in the great flour mills of Minneapolis, in the factories and workshops everywhere, know that the "prosperity" that Schwab speaks of is not for them. Schwab lauded James J. Hill, the bitterly anti-labor railroad baron. and the late Archbishop Ireland, Hill's catholic ally. It was "Jim" Hill who first sought to bring the Great Northern, Northern Pacific and Burlington railroads under one management, carrying out Schwab's idea which he stated in these words: "No individual can accomplish much without the associations of others. Industrial development is the work of associations, big associations, and I am a believer in

Hopes to Crush Strike With Cold and Hunger

(Special to The Daily Worker)

LONDON, Sept. 27. - With cold weather setting in, the 150th day of the coal stoppage in England found the struggle again transferred to the halls of parliament, where another attempt to reach a settlement was made after the recent fruitless parleys in Downing street. The miners' delegate conference meets Wednesday to take up the refusal of concessions from either the mine owners or the government.

Government Relentless Against Unión. The house of commons is meeting this afternoon to consider the situation and will continue deliberations tomorrow. The house of lords will also meet this afternoon. Premier Baldwin is scheduled to explain to both houses the government's attitude in the coal dispute, after which it is expected that Ramsay MacDonald. former labor premier, and Lloyd George, liberal leader, will "criticize" the cabinet's policy.

The government's attitude however, has hardened perceptibly since it has thought that the complete surrender of the miners can be forced.

NEW BASIS FOR

Boycott Collapsed.

When the catholic leaders agreed to leave their case to congress the boycott lost what little force it had, and upper class catholic women began appearing at theaters and driving about town in their private carriages, contrary to the boycott order of the church. As these rich women of the church were the principal ones supporting the boycott, it has lost practically all force.

It is believed that the church, feeling its defeat on the boycott, accepted the invitation to appeal to congress as an excuse to back out of their failure with some grace. Although church members may try to revive it, the leaders may not authorize such ac-

General Strikes May Be Outlawed by Laws Sought in Australia

SYDNEY, Australia -(By Mail)-The campaign waged by the political and industrial wings of the labor party against the referendum to be taken by the federal anti-labor government to alter the constitution is now in full swing and it is hoped that the vote to be taken will result in the defeat of the government's proposals,

One of the constitutional alterations reought by the government is to enable the government to take action in Australia in the event of a general strike similar to that given to the Baldwin government in Britain under the Emergency Powers Act,

This legislation provides for the creation of scab unions and the attilization of the military and navy as strike-breakers, the enforcement of industrial conscript on, arrest of persons and entry of homes without war rants, consorship of strike manifestoes, prohibition of public meetings, processions and free speech, and the institution of drag net regulations under which any and every working man can be failed,

The All-Australian Trade Union Congress which met at Sydney on Angust 7, and which was attended by delegates from all parts of Australia, pronounced against the referendum proposals and decided to throw the full weight of the trade union movement into the campaign against the government's scheme.

IDEALS AND RUBBER

The following article has been written especially for The DAILY WORKER by one of the leaders in the Filipino independence movement. We do not subscribe to his estimate of the divine character of the inspiration of the early advocates of American independence or to the statement that only in 1898 did the United States government cease to defend the "Rights of Man." Nor do we make the same distinction between Wall Street and Uncle Sam that the writer does. But with his analysis of the role of the rubber interests and the profit-making motive behind the opposition to Filipino independence we are in full agreement as we are with the right of the Filipinos to defend their country from conquest by American imperialism or any other group of exploiters. (Special to The Daily Worker) NEW YORK, Sept. 27. — The British empire is on the toboggan and the British imperialists, according to Dean Inge of St. Paul's who is known as the "gloom dean" and is living up to his reputation.

In fact the dean has reason to be gloomy, and the more people read what the dean thinks the more they hope that the dean's predictions come true without losing time.

We Agree With The Dean. In short the dean sees the British empire passing out of the picture as a world power before long. Unless the United States comes to the rescue J. Bull goes to the nearest poorhouse. Indeed the dean has little confidence in the willingness of the United States to pinch hit in this crisis. We agree

What Gets The Dean All Wet. Among the things that make the loomy dean gloomier are: The inrease of class bitterness in England, the tendency of Canada to long for more freedom; South Africa's rebelliousness, the future of India and the awful mistake made by nature in allowing Ireland to stay on the map. Ireland is again sinking into barbarism, says the dean, since the Free State was organized.

It's tough on the jolly old dean, but we have not yet seen a single blighter who is sorry, tho they all agree that the dean is not talking thru his beaver for once.

CHILEAN PARTY EXPELS DEPUTY FOR BAD VOTING

Disobeyed Order Upon Vote to Censure

(Special to The Daily Worker) SANTIAGO Chile. (By Mail.)-The Communist Party of Chile expelled from the party Abraham Quevedo, Communist member of the chamber of deputies, because contrary to the decision of the party and the deputies of the "Asalariados" ("Party of the Wage Earners") allied with the Communists, he voted a motion to censure the government. This motion was submitted by a deputy of the "Radical Party"-Espejo Conde, hitherto allied with the present conservative-liberal government combination.

A Reactionary Move.

The executive committee of the Communist Party decided to abstain from voting on this motion because it was known that behind it was the Association of the Nitrate Industrialists, which wanted the overthrow of the present government in order to establish a new government entirely subservient to the nitrate interests and willing to reduce the export tax on nitrates.

The export tax on nitrates is one of the principal sources of income of the government, constituting about 50 per cent of the entire revenue. The nitrate interests want it reduced in order to be better able to compete against nitrates of other countries and against the synthetic nitrates manufactured in Germany.

A Conservative Regime.

The present government is the re sult of the combination of all bourgeois parties who elected a conserva tive as president against the candidate of the "Asalariados" ("Wage Earners' Party") which was supported by the Communists and which ob tained more than one-third of all votes cast for president.

Tho the present government is by no means sympathetic to labor, the nitrate government which would have resulted from its overthrow, would have had to replace the loss in taxes by indirect taxation and would further curtail the rights of the work ers in the nitrate districts.

Whole Regarded Over the Section Thus the Communist Party decided that it had to abstain from voting against a bourgeoisie government, the verthrow of which might have re sulted in the reduction of unemployment in the nitrate districts, if the measures proposed by the nitrate interests stimulated the industry. Or the other hand the proletariat of the whole country would have suffered economically and the workers in the nitrate districts would have been further oppressed in their political and rade union activity.

of Living Alone Not Just, Unions Assert

MELBOURNE, Australia -Mail) - Under the system of fixation of wages now in operation in Australia, the basic wage for unskilled labor is fixed annually. Marginal rates for skill are added to the basic ratevarying according to the degree of skill. As the cost of living rises or falls, quarterly adjustments of wages are made to compensate for the alteration in the living cost.

While this system guarantees that the workers will not be penalized owing to any undue increase in the cost of living, it makes no allowance for real increases in wages due to increased production, productivity of the nation, etc.

The leading unions are now seek ing to have these matters incorpora ted in the annual declarations. They contend that the mere fixation of wages according to the rise and fall of the cost of living gets the workers nowhere, but actually keeps them on the same basis all the time. They also contend that it is hardly fair for the workers to be so penalized, while the employers are making greater profits every year.

New Zealand Labor to Amalgamate Its Two Union Centrals

WELLINGTON, New Zealand-(By Mail-(FP)- During the last week or July, the joint executives of the New Zealand Alliance of Labor and the New Zealand Trades and Labor Council's Federation met in conference at Wellington and discussed the ques tion of industrial unity by the two organizations on a national basis. The basis of discussion was the agreement arrived at by the Open Conference in April, 1925.

All delegates attending were unanimous on the question that unity between the two organizations is essen tial, and, more important than that, there was no serious difference between the two organizations. A subcommittee was appointed to bring down a final draft on the proposed basis of unity, and a further meeting night. Hand him this copy of the of the joint executives will be held

Engdahl Reviews Fight for Class Action

(Special to The Dally Worker) SAINT PAUL, Minn., Sept. 27 .-Before an audience in the Labor Temple here that included William Mahoney, editor of the Minnesota Union Advocate, the official organ of the trade unions of the city and state,

Louis Engdahl, editor of The DAILY WORKER, stressed the role of the Workers (Communist) Party in developing the independent political action of the workers and farm-After analyzing the origin and pres-struments of the present ruling class, Engdahl shewed that the Workers Party is supporting the Farmer-Labor Party in Minnesota in this campaign as part of the struggle to win the workers and farmers away from the capitalist parties.

Engdahl showed that the Minnesota Farmer-Labor Party, as the largest labor's drive for independent action encourage workers in all other sections of the country.

Engdahl declared that the workers and farmers of the state should celebrate the desertion of such traitor elements as Emil Holmes, Walter J. Quigley and others who are trying to in order to weaken the Farmer-Labor Party against its real opponent, the republican party. Engdahl assured sible. his audience that no rank and file workers would be caught in the net spread by this sinister plot.

Many officials as well as rank and filers in the Saint Paul labor movement were in Engdahl's audience. Ernest Lundeen, member of congress during the war and now Farmer-Labor congressional candidate in the Tenth Minnesota district, was at the Minneapolis meeting. The Workers Party in this district, under the direction of District Organizer Norman Tallentire is planning to exert every possible effort during the campaign thruout the whole state.

It must use its political power by electing its own representatives to sit in congress, in the state legislature, and on the bench, to make and interpret laws in its own interest. It must organize on the industrial field; must fight for world trade union unity, for amalgamation of craft unions into industrial unions, must fight for ever shorter hours and higher wages; must organize the unorganized; must strengthen its forces and thru both political and ELECTIONS DO FOR THE WORKindustrial means wrest the state power from the capitalist class; must form soviets and as its ultimate goal the United Socialist Soviet Republic of the United States.

This is the program of the Workers (Communist) Party and I am a member of it because it is the only political party today that offers a logical program-an adequate solution for our problems.

Growing Influence of Shop Nucleus Papers

By JAY! LOVESTONE Shop Paper in Ford Factory Sets Pace.

THE sixth issue of the Ford Worker issued by the Ford shop nucleus of the Workers (Communist) Party, 19,000. This is the biggest circulation of any of all the Communist shop various shop nuclei of the Workers (Communist) Party.

The Ford Worker, moreover, is not given away. It is not thrown away. The circulation of 19,000 is a real, bona-fide circulation. The paper is sold at the price of one cent per copy. Opportunity is given, however, for workers to pay more than that sum, in case they wish to support the paper, and to enable it to appear regularly. Best Issue Yet.

This sixth issue of the Ford Worker is the best issue that has been published. It contains much live material. A special appeal is made in this shop paper, to help the British miners. A very live little story brings out the fact that what is needed in the United States is a workers' and farmers' government. Comment is made on the election campaign in Michigan, where Comrade W. Reynolds is the Workers (Communist) Party candidate for governor. The Workers (Communist) Party is the only working class party in the field in this state. There are only three candidates-that of the republican party, the one of the democratic party, and the candidate of the Workers (Communist) Party. Turns Searchlight on Factory Conditions.

The Ford Worker deals very fully with the conditions in the factory. It Meeting in Denver gives some short articles with much accurate information. We quote from this issue-

"Ford will get his By lefty-out

Two More Auto Factory Papers. Two more factory papers are now being published by the Workers (Communist) Party nuclei. One is called the Workers News, and is gotten out by the workers employed in the Dodge Brothers factory in Detroit. It sells for one cent. It is a mimeographed paper with a lot of punch to it. The infamous gang system in use in the Dodge Brothers plant is exposed in

"In Dept. 53, we have the gang sysem, which is a money saving device for the company. If we work on a piece which has to pass through 20 operations and the job is spoiled on the 20th operation all men who have worked on it up to that time lose all time they put in, and if the job comes back for repair we are not paid for the time used in repairing. There is no one satisfied with this damn gang system. But what are we going to do about it? JOIN THE UNION AND WE'LL SPIKE THE GANG SYSTEM.' Workers News Popular in Dodge Plant

ALTHOUGH this is only the second issue of the paper, there is to be noticed a real response from the workers of the Dodge Brothers plant. The editor of the paper who is one of the workers employed in the factory,

"Over twenty workers have sent us letters congratulating the Dodge Workers News and many hundreds of workers have read with interest the first issue and they are satisfied and that's who we are trying to reach and satisfy.

"We hope to print 10,000 of the next ssue and we request your help in two ways. SEND US ARTICLES ABOUT THE CONDITIONS-AND HELP TO FINANCE IT."

The threatening, doubled-up fist of worker, landing on a scared, fat. plutocrat is the drawing appearing on the first page of this paper. The cartoon is drawn by one of the workers in the plant. It makes a real decoration for the front page.

COMPANY UNION FAKE CONFRONTS OMAHA WORKERS

Need for Shop Papers, Local Campaigns

By BERTRAM D. WOLFE.

OMAHA, Nebr., (By Mail.)-Company unions hog-tie the workers industrially while "progressive" republicanism keeps them bound to the political chariot of the party of Coolidge and Mellon in this "progressive" state of Nebraska. The Railway Clerks' Union of Omaha, with its 1500 members, will soon find itself in a life and death struggle with the company union that the U. P. is forming to combat it, while the railway shopmen in the Omaha shops have been blessed with company unionism since the defeat of their last strike.

Armour Company Methods. The packing house of the Armour Company here publishes taffy about the workers going to work in autos, throttles all attempts at organization with a "sucker's union" and gives its best paid workers (the skilled butchers) $24 a week while its other "carowning" workers average $17 and $18 a week when times are "good" and get $1 forcibly deducted as an instalment on a share in the company.

The Workers Party has a shop nucleus in the Armour plant and I found the workers here still talking of the special packinghouse numbers of The DAILY WORKER and deploring the fact that the campaign was too short. Views of Bryanism.

Nebraska is the state of Norris and Howells and William Jennings Bryan. Progressivism is strong and the remnants of populism still persist. The records of Norris and Howells include voting against Mellon's tax reduction schemes for shifting the burden of taxation from big business to the rest of the nation, against the world court, against the Italian debt settlement, for income tax publicity, for the retention of the inheritance tax, etc. Moreover, Howells has been a consistent advocate of municipal own ership in Omaha and the ice plant, gas plant and water supply are now municipally owned. Consequently, the bulk of the workers and farmers of the state believe in and swear by Norris and Howells.

But disillusionment is beginning, not on the score of national politics but as a result of local developments in the municipal ownership field. The ice house of the city has paid off its indebtedness and is now running at a profit. The heroic apostles of muni cipal ownership declare that they are in a quandry. What shall they do with the profits? The Workers Party professes that they use them to reduce the cost of ice and sell it at cost. "But this would ruin the private ice dealers," answer the "progressives."

The Franchise Fiasco. Another fiasco of the municipal ownership advocates in the Republican Party was exposed in the traction franchise question. The local traction company's 40-year franchise expires in 1928. The progressives, labor and the Communists united in demanding that the franchise be not renewed and a referendum to renew the franchise for another 40 years was defeated. Then the traction company began to bring political pressure to bear and it soon became evident that the traction interests are much more powerful than the ice companies. The progressives who had advanced no positive program are now proposing not municipal ownership but a 20-year franchise in place of a 40-year franchise. Some victory! These fiascos of progressivism on local issues are beginning to destroy the political illusions of the Omaha labor movement and the field is becoming more favorable for the Communists to agitate for independent political action on the basis of these

PAINTERS' LOCAL VOTES $1,700 ASSESSMENT TO AID BRITISH STRIKERS

At the last meeting of Local 147 of the Painters' Union of Chicago, the appeal for aid to the striking miners of Great Britain was brought up, and the local voted to assess each member $1 for relief to their British brothers. As Local 147 has 1,700 members, this brings in $1,700 to add to the other funds going from Chicago.

The union also voted financial support to the Chicago Federation of labor's radio station, and voted $200 to the 'Wage Earners' League.

IN. Y. PAPER BOX CHALLENGES WRIT

Union Injunction

NEW YORK, Sept. 27. - At a monster mass meeting in Webster Hall, fical preparations were launched for general strike of paper box workers for the 44-hour week and a minimum scale of wages, thruout the five boroughs of New York. It was announced that the response of the open shop workers to the union's organizathe chief obstacle being a sweeping injunction against the union handed out Sept. 2nd by Judge James A. Dunne, justice of the supreme court of New Dirty Injunction.

The action of Judge Dunne in issuing this infunction, which aims to stop organization work by enjoining the union from "endeavoring to persuade" the unorganized workers of the Specialty Paper Box Co., 41-63 Porter Ave., Brooklyn, to join the union, was lenounced in scathing terms. The workers unanimously and enthusiastically expressed their determination to ignore this pernicious injunction as a violation of their fundamental rights-to carry on the organization work, and go to jail if necessary, to enforce those rights. President Al Greenberg presided and the principal speakers were Arturo Giovannitti and Manager Fred Caiola.

Capitalist Courts Give Union Costly Victory in Boston

BOSTON, Mass.—In order to keep alive the reputation for fairness and impartiality of the capitalist courts, Judge Hammond of the equity session of the Superior Court of Massachusetts made an interlocutory decree on petition of Local 37 of Upholsterers' International Union of North America enjoining Payel Kuzmuk, doing business at 165 Cross street as the Kay private thugs of the Ford company. Parlor Upholstering company, from hiring or employing other than members in good standing in Local 37 when available. The decree also enjoins the defendant from dividing the work otherwise than equally, among journeymen and apprentices, from holding back any wages of the workmen for any cause and from settling ny controversy otherwise than by referring it to arbitration. The decree was entered following a report of Previously Benjamin A. Levy as master, in which Roewer & Bearak and Leo Meltzer represented the union as counsel and Samuel T. Lakson represented the defendant.

Union Men Strike on Company Hiring Non-Union Men in West Va.

STEWARTSVILLE, O., Sept. 27.-A splendid instance of union solidarity has been shown by the miners of this place working for the Valley Camp Coal Co. A short time ago the company, which also owns mines in Elm Grove, W. Va., had a dispute with the men in the Ohio mine owing to its paying them by check instead of cash. The West Virginia mines, according to report, were among the last to work under the union scale in that state, and finally turned to the employment of non-union men. Thereupon the miners at Stewartsville re fused to go back to work unless the West Virginia mines were also returned to union control. It has not been stated when the mine in Stewartsville will be re-opened.

MORGAN FIGHTS HENRY FORD FOR AUTO SUPREMACY

Sales of Flivvers Are Declining Seriously

DETROIT, Mich., Sept. 27 .- One of the greatest battles ever fought out on the industrial field in the United States is raging between two giant automobile octopuses. They are the Ford company and General Motors, backed by the House of Morgan.

proached Wall Street for aid and was sum and was never caught short since. But he is up against a real battle now.

Ford Is Losing.

Sales figures for the past two years show that Ford is not gaining. Figures also show that the companies in the General Motors amalgamation have increased their sales tremendously in the same time.

In the first half of 1925 Ford sales were 828,000. The first half of 1926 saw only 714,000 flivvers sold. Aloss of over 100,000. In the first half of 1925, 418,000 General Motor machines -Chrevolet, Dodges and Essex-were sold. In the first half of 1926, the number of those cars sold was 589,000. Company Reorganized.

The Ford Motor company was in orporated in 1903 and the original capital subscribed was $100,000. In 1919, the company was reorganized under the laws of Delaware at a capitalization of $100,000,000.

Ford owns the company and directs ts policies. There are rumors floating around here that Ford and his son Edsel are at loggerheads over polcy. It is said that the son wants a car with gear shifts similar to all other makes except Ford. Henry favors the present gear shift.

Ford's profits in 1925 are estimated at $94,560,397. While those of General Motors went well over $100,000,

Failed to Organize Workers. The enormous profits made by Ford thru the enslavement of thousands of workers was in large degree due to he failure of the American Federation of Labor to organize the Ford employes. The reactionary leaders represented the task as impossible. Only now, thru the activity of the Work ers (Communist) Party is there a real start being made to instill the message of unionism into the minds of the Ford workers. Thousands of shop bulletins are being sold each week despite the persecution of police and

The employers are conducting a militant open-shop campaign in this state and as labor-particularly organized labor-is not showing proper militancy the open-shoppers evidently consider this the proper time to smash the trade union movement.

The nights were growing cold in Bunny's cantonement, and from Europe the thrilling news continued to pour in, and spread nection with this dramatic conflict across the front pages of the newspapers, six or eight editions that a few years ago when Ford was every day. The allied advance was turning into a march, that squeezed for lack of funds he ap-long talked of march to Berlin! A march also to Vienna and to Sofia and to Constantinople—for everywhere the central powers rebuffed. He went to his dealers and were weakening, collapsing, surrendering. President Wilson iswithin a few days he had the required sued his "fourteen points," on the basis of which the Germans were invited to quit. There were rumors of negotiations—the German leaders were suggesting a truce! There were two or three days of suspense, and then the answer, there would be no truce, only a surrender; the march to Berlin was on!

And then one day an amazing report; the enemy had capitulated, the surrender had been signed! As a matter of fact, it was a false alarm, due to the American custom of keeping one jump ahead of events. Each paper wants to beat the others, so they get everything ready in advance—speeches that have not yet been delivered, ceremonies that have not yet taken place. Some nervous reporter let his finger slip on the trigger, and the message came that set all America wild. Such a spectacle had never been witnessed since the world began; every noisemaking instrument conceivable was turned loose, and men, women and children turned out on the streets, and danced and sang and yelled until they were exhausted; pistols were shot off, and autos went flying by with tin-cans bouncing behind; newsboys and stock-brokers wept on one another's shoulders, and elderly unapproachable. bank-presidents danced the can-can with typists and telephone girls. A day or two later, when the real news came, they turned out to do it all over again, but never could recapture their first fine careless rapture.

After that, of course, the fun had gone out of military training; all the young officers-to-be wanted to get back home, to go to college or take up their jobs, and all who had any influence quickly got furloughs that were understood to be elastic. Such a favor came to Bunny, out of the blue void where Dad weilded his mysterious power, and he went home to watch the movements of "Ross Consolidated," which had been launched at an opening price of $108 per share for the "class B stock," and completely sold out in two days, and was now quoted in the market at 1473/4. They had made the stock of "no par value"—another new device which Vernon Roscoe's fancy lawyers had recommended: there were certain taxes both state and federal which could be dodged by this method, and moreover there would never be need to issue "stock dividends" to conceal the amount of the profit. Mr. Roscoe was certainly a wizard when it came to finances, jist about the smartest feller Dad had met in the oil

It was a tremendous load taken off Dad's shoulders, for now the enormous Roscoe machine would market the oil and collect the money. Dad's job was new developments—the part of the game he really liked. He was a member of the board of directors of the new concern, and also a vice-president, at a salary of a hundred thousand a year, with charge of exploring and drilling; he would travel here and there and lay out the tracts and select the drilling sites, and see that every well was brought in properly before turning it over to another executive, the superintendent of operation. It was Dad's idea that Bunny should take a position under his father, to start with say six thousand a year, until everybody was satisfied that he knew the business; the two of them would have the time of their lives, driving all over southern California and smelling out oil, jist like at Paradise! Bunny said NDIDATES California and smelling out oil, jist like at Paradise! Bunny said that sounded good, but he'd want a little time to think it over and get used to the idea that he wasn't going to Siberia or to France. Dad said all right, of course, he mustn't jump into things in a hurry; but Bunny could see that he was a little pained | because his son and namesake did not do that very thing!

They went up to Paradise to see the developments; and one of the first developments they saw was Ruth, who had their lunch ready in the Rascum cabin. Bunny was shocked by her appearance: she looked ten years older than when he had seen her last, her face was pale, and her smile was forced. She had given up all pretense of feminine charm, her hair was drawn back tight and tied in a knot on top of her head, and her skirts came to her ankles, which was half a leg longer than the fashion. Ruth was just setting out to be an old maid, said Meelie, and all on account of grieving her heart out about Paul.

"Oh. I know he's dead!" Ruth declared. "Just think, ft's been five months since he went away, and don't you know Paul would have written me a lot of letters in that time?"

It did seem strange; and Dad thought a bit and said, "Yes, e've waited long enough, and now we'll jist find out."

"Oh, Mr. Ross, how do you mean?" cried Ruth, clasping her

"Well, we ain't lost that army altogether in Siberia, and I quess there is some way to connect up with it. Ruth had gone paler than ever. "Oh, I don't know as I'd dare find out! If I should hear he was dead-if I was really to

"Look here, child," said Dad, "the troubles you imagine is always a lot worse than the real ones. I want to know about my boss-carpenter, and I'm jist a-goin' to!"

So Dad went to the telephone and called the hay and feed store of Mr. Jake Coffey in Roseville. "Hello, Jake," he began: 'yes, we're all fine here, how's your old man? Say, I understand you had the nominating—I fergit the feller's name, but Salaries in New York the congressman from this district. Well, I never asked him a Urge Large Pay Boost favor, but I guess I got a right to one, seeing all I put up to elect well, now, you send him a telegram and tell him to toddle over to the War Department and put in an inquiry about the whereabouts and health of Paul Watkins. You got a pencil

Dad turned to Ruth, "What is it now? Company B, Fortyseventh California, Two Hundred Thirty-second Brigade. They're in Siberia, and I want the War Department to cable an inquiry and have the reply cabled; you wire the congressman twenty-five Gaughy, head of the Department of dollars to cover the cost, and if there's anything left over he can Elementary Education of Teachers' keep the change. The Ironwood Disaster

The death of three electricians, crushed in a shaft, and the viets has led to the election of nonburial alive of 43 miners in the Oliver mine at Ironwood, Michigan, brings to mind emphatically the great risks taken by workers in this industry as well as the fact that altho the industry is well organized from the capitalist standpoint, the workers are without any organization at all.

It is evident that Oliver company, altho conducting huge operations in and around the mine where the disaster occurred, has neglected the primary requirements of safe mining practice, i. e., to connect all workings so that in the event of the closing of one shaft by an accident like that which has happened, the miners have at least one other egress from the workings.

Forty-three miners may pay with their lives because the Oliver company, like all its capitalist brethren, considers workers' lives cheaper than the requisite safety provisions.

Fourteen of the entombed miners are Finns-foreign-born workers of a nationality which the agents of American capitalism in Minnesota and Michigan have taken special delight in persecuting. Like most of the foreign-born workers they are found in the hazardous powerful cadre, working under the power, and we have no longer a bour of the proletarian dictatorship, i. c. of heavy industries. The miners entombed with them are Slavs and men of other alien nationalities at which the 100 per cent Americans

Yet no disaster in industry taking a huge toll of workers' lives ticipators we find, and in the villages ner. but lists a majority of names of foreign-born toilers.

Apparently the native American steers clear of the risks of the highly developed industries of which he boasts.

These facts should cause the American union movement to take stock of itself. If it does not give protection to the foreign-born worker in basic industry it cannot long maintain itself as an instrument for the American working class.

Ironwood, the Mesaba range, the steel industry, the lumber industry, the metal mines of the west-all are unorganized and in all of them the capitalists do as they please with the workers. Without a union, without a political party of their own, there is a direct connection between disasters like those in Ironwood and the weakness of the labor movement.

If the leaders of the trade union movement will not start organization work from above it must and will be begun from below.

Coolidge Hears the Angels Calling

Washington correspondents report that Calvin Coolidge is quite discouraged over the refusal of the nations affiliated with the world court to accept the reservations adopted by the United States senate as a condition of entrance. Summed up, the reservations meant that the United States would join the court provided said court did not interfere in any affair in which the United States was concerned without the consent of the aforesaid United States. This was too much for the nations affiliated with the league so they had to demur.

This was grease for Calvin's elbow who has seen the handwriting on the wall and heard the G. O. P. banshees wailing in the congressional wilderness. G. O. P. senators were falling in the primaries like the armies of Pharoah before the breath of Jehovah.

The league of nations turned down the U. S. reservations, and depression which has made part-time and unemployment characteristic of the Coolidge is by no means as worried over the situation as people might last four or five years. think. Therefore Coolidge welcomes an opportunity to get out thru the back door of the world court mansion.

Lord Robert Cecil, the darling of American pacifists and umpire of the league of nations, felt quite unnecessary last week when a Chinese delegate mentioned the murder of 5,000 Chinese by the British naval forces. The noble lord was after delivering a soulful speech in favor of world disarmament when the canny Oriental unloosed his stuff. Verily, indeed, a British imperialist, unlike the birds of the air or the beasts of the earth, has not a place to open his head in peace.

Disaster seems to dog the steps of Russian white guards. The ill-fated airship that was to make the non-stop flight to Paris from dends continue. In 1920 they rose to New York was built under the direction of czarist emigres. The plane went down instead of going up.

THE present controversy within the Communist Party of the Soviet Union is neither a sign-nor will it be the cause of a retreat of the revolution. Quite the contrary. It is clear indication of its victorious onward march.

To give a clear understanding as well of the present problems of the Russian Revolution as also of the controversy over the solution of these problems, we are publishing herewith a report made by Comrade Bucharin at the functionaries' meeting of the Leningrad organization of the Communist Party. The report speaks for itself and needs no further elucidation. It is clear and convincing and answers the lies about the retreat of the Russian Revolution.

Financially- Secure.

The financial position of the union is perfectly secure. In 1924 the total receipts of the various union organizations, exclusive of the central committee, were 2.356.078 roubles: in 1925 the receipts rose to 3,285,738 roubles. The total expenditures for 1925 (in cluding the contributions to the various funds) were 3.211.972 roubles. At the beginning of this year the union funds exclusive of those of the central committee amounted to 1,406,66% roubles. Together with the central committee funds, the union possesses nearly 1,700,000 roubles.

Wages Increased. On January 1, 1926, there were 4.255 collective agreements covering 314.159 members of the union operating in the country. The real wages in 125 increased between 13 and 21 per cent the various branches of the industry benefitting in varying de-

How the Bosses Use Sport Activity

N America the bosses and the employers have developed the use or sports as a means of controlling the minds of the workers as a means of making better slaves out of them. This is true because sports and athletics have been developed on a more extensive scale here than anywhere else. Practically all American-born vorkers, particularly the young workers, are either active in some line of sports or else are interested in it.

The capitalists, aware of this, have sport organizations, have developed a which to control the sport activities of the young workers. Starting in with the schools, where sports (baseginning to displace the regular studies on the curriculum in point of interest to the students, and all the way up to professional sports, the American workers are brought up in a sport and athletic environment dominated by reactionary ideology.

At the school games which lately have begun to attract crowds numbering into the scores of thousands, there are generally military displays by the student soldiers. They play patriotic airs and the flag is prominently displayed around the field.

Coming out the school and entering the factory, the mine, or the mill or the shop, the young student, now a young worker, retains the interest in sport. And the boss takes advantage of this interest to launch company sports, company teams and by keeping the young worker active in these he diverts his thoughts from his job or his wages or his economic conditions. he fills him with class collaborationist ideology (the boss is a good sport, a good fellow-he buys us uniforms, etc.) and besides that he makes the profit thru increasing his physical efficiency. To such an extent has factory and industrial sports been developed that many articles are being written about it and the efficiency experts are hailing it as one of the best means towards establishing good relations in industry, toward solving the problem of labor versus capital. The huge plants, employing tens of housands of workers, particularly have developed company sports. The Western Electric Company, the mail order houses, the U.S. Steel Corporation and, in fact, every large concern has organized baseball, football, bowling, cannis, volleyball activity among its ezar loyes

Negro Delegates to Y.M.C.A. Meet Did Not Feel at Home

HARTFORD, Conn. - Kenneth C. Aldridge of this town was the only Negro delegate from New England tates to the world congress of the Y. M. C. A. held recently in Helsingors, Finland. Altho he says that the Negroes were given the same consideration as other delegates, "even the white American lad put aside his traditional prejudices, for the time being anyway," he records that they weren't allowed for a single moment to forget that they were Negroes.

Aldridge issued a statement of his mpressions, which reads, in part, as follows:

"It often happens when a Negro returns from travel in Europe or some northern part of the United States that he expresses his enjoyment by such an expression as 'I didn't even know I was colored until I looked in the glass,'-meaning, I suppose, that the thought of his being a Negro disappeared entirely from his mind, due to there being no obvious sign of prejuices or the like in the section visited. am sure none of the Negro delegates to the world's Y. M. C. A. conference at Helsingfors will make any such statement. We were ever aware of the fact that we were Negroes."

A. J. Cook Tells "Bits" of His Life

LONDON, England .- A. J. Cook, secetary of the Miners' Federation of Great Britain, has been telling in Tit-Bits the story of his life and a very entrancing story it is. Cook, according to his autobiography, wasn't born in the purple; instead, he was born 'on the strength," his father at the time being a "soldier of the queen." His family long ago owned land in Somerset and the little village called Cooksley in that country was so labelied because it was "the land of the Cooks." When he was sixteen Cook developed religious tendencies, and became locally famous as "The Boy Preacher." He intended to qualify for admission to the baptist ministry, but changed his mind, and went to South Wales with £5 in his pocket, and his other worldly possessions wrapped up in a handkerchief. There his natural ability quickly asserted itself and it. wasn't long before he was unanimously and enthusiastically accimimed as one of the miners' leaders.

Boston Youth School Opens Successfully

BOSTON, Mass.—The Boston Young Workers' League School opened on Wednesday, September 5, 1926, with 25 students in attendance. The classes are held twice a week at the New International Hall, 42 Wenonah street, miners and German working women Roxbury, and at 36 Causeway street.

> The first lesson was a success. The comrades participated eagerly in the discussion, and showed that they understood the necessity for education.

> All Y. W. L. comrades and sympathizers will be drawn to the school by the next lesson. The agitnron of the Y. W. L. District 1. intends to develop the school into an independent institution, which will be able to draw in and educate league members and outsiders in the theory of the movement. All comrades who wish to attend can register at 36 Causeway street any night.
