Committee of 500 Members to Handle Drive

The Chicago joint board of the International Ladies' Garment Workers' Union which was recently elected has decided to wage an organization campaign to clean up the nonunion shops in this city. The election of a majority of progressives to the joint board promises to make this campaign a real stride forward in the organization of the garment workers.

The campaign is to be started by the selection of a committee of 500 members of the union. This committee will insure the co-operation of the union membership in the drive and constitute a force which will reach every nonunion garment worker in

Joint Board Issues Statement.

The following statement has been issued by the officials of the Chicago joint board:

With the installation of the new administration in the Chicago Ladies' Garment Workers' Union, a new spirit is felt. This administration has been selected after the convention which was held in Philadelphia last December, where all those expelled and suspended were re-admitted to the union, and their rights restored.

The new joint board was installed Friday, Feb. 19, and at its second had a report from the temporary organization committee which was established during the short visit of International President Sigman about a month and a half ago. This committee recommended that they start an immediate big drive to organize the of them that there must be 100 per badly demoralized the organization. cent union in every shop where ladies'.

CHICAGO I. L. G. W. MEMBERSHIP URGED TO VOTE FOR PROGRESSIVE SLATE IN THE ELECTIONS TOMORROW

TO THE MEMBERSHIP OF THE CHICAGO INTERNATIONAL LADIES' GARMENT WORKERS' UNION. Sisters and Brothers:

Tomorrow, Thursday, March 11, you are going to elect your business agents for the coming term. Of course you are going to elect those most suitable for this work.

We, the members of the Trade Union Educational League and the progressive group, know that whenever we have called upon you to help us fight for the progressive movement and the progressive principles which are for the benefit of the workers you always responded to our

You are supporting the progressives not because you like this individual or that, but because you agree with the platform and principles which the progressives stand for. Therefore we think it advisable to inform you again what these principles are.

1-Unity in our union.

2-For economy in our union.

3-Enforcement of union conditions in the shops.

4-Organization of the non-union cloak and dress shops. 5-Amalgamation.

6-The shop delegate system.

7-A labor party.

8-World trade union unity.

We are confident that you believe in these principles and are ready to support them. We have to elect three business agents from the five candidates whose names are on the ballot.

Brothers and Sisters: We have a great task before us, great responsibilities. We therefore have decided to endorse the brothers who have the experience and the ability to do the work to the satisfaction of our union.

A united progressive program, a united progressive officialdom, a united rank and file will build our union into a powerful organization which will fight for the interests of the membership. We endorse and ask the membership to vote for the following three candidates:

Brother J. Levin, Local 81. Brother H. Metrick, Local 5.

Brother H. Zeff, Local 5.

I. L. G. W. U. Group of the Trade Union Educational League. I. L. G. W. U. Progressive Group.

SOUTH BEND WORKERS ORGANIZE TO RESIST FINGER-PRINT LAWS

SOUTH BEND, Ind., March 9 .-Workers in South Bend are organizing against the passage of the Aswell bill which is aimed at the foreign-born workers. The Hungarian workers have formed a council of about 1,000. The Lithuanian Workers' Literature Association has rallied many Lithuanian workers to the fight against the laws to fingerprint, photograph and card-index foreign-born workers.

The Jugo-Slav workers are organizing mass protest meetings against these bills. Other language groups are following the lead of the workers. It is expected shortly that these groups will combine into an international council for the protection of foreign-born workers.

Chas. F. H. Johnson, spokesman of the mill owners rejected the offer of Rabbi Stephen S. Wise's committee of four to discuss terms of settlement. His repudiation of the offer followed decision by the strikers committee to accept.

Colonel Johnson denounced the of-fer as "futile" in that it is "Communistic." He said in part: "I don't think that we can see the value of the proposed intervention nor how it would be useful in ending trouble caused workers."

Col. Johnson's refusal while anticipated by the strike committee was retive circles since the impartial con mittee's offer was regarded as the only medium for an early conclusion to the controversy.

Albert Weisbord, organizer for the United Front Committee who is leadng the strike here, said he was not urprised when he learned of the mill wners' refusal, "Col. Johnson will reject any offer that threatens to keep organized employes in the Botany Mill." he said.

In the formal letter of acceptance sent to the offer to act as representatives of the strikers in settlement proceedings by Dr. Stephen S. Wise. to provide the necessary facility, the Paul U. Kellogg and John Lovejoy sses' welfare department offered an Elliot, the general strike committee of St. Hyacinth Hall for the duration ing final decision on the issues in controversy. # WORK TO RESCUE Socialists Beginning to PORTO RICANS MINERS STILL Show Some Conception of PROTEST CUBAN ENTIMBED IN PIT the Purpose of May Day

By J. LOUIS ENGDAHL.

THE liquor issue will not be the dominating note of the May First issue of the American Appeal, the official organ of the socialist party. It had been announced that the editor, Eugene V. Debs, had gathered his staff about him in Chicago and they had in unison decided that the booze question was the paramount problem of the hour and that it would be ably and effectively dealt with in the International Labor Day edition of the socialists' recognized mouthpiece.

Socialists have never united on the wet and dry issue. Milwaukee, with its breweries and an overwhelming German population, has always been the stronghold of the wet socialists. Other sections, notably those dominated by clergymen who wormed their way into the socialist party, were just Milwaukee's socialist congressman, Victor L. Berger, is today an advocate of "light wine and beer" and is urging this measure in Washington. New York socialists split both ways. Some are wet, some dry. It can, therefore, be imagined what a furore must have shaken the slight frame of the socialist party when Debs made his historic announcement that the liquor issue is the supreme question for the workers of America on International Labor Day, May 1,

This epochal edition of the American appeal was to have been circulated in a million copies. The Hearst press, which is wet, heralded its coming. The Federated Press, news service of many labor papers, gave it publicity. Heated efforts were made on every hand to arouse interest in it. Murray King, managing editor, and George Kirkpatrick, lamented author of "War-What For?" who is now acting as secretary of the party, united their efforts toward this end. It was whispered around that it was to be a "light wine and beer" issue. Then the bubble burst and "the great editor" was no more. Internal socialist schemes had killed it.

It has been announced instead that the American Appeal will devote its May First issue to amnesty "and in particular to restoration of citizenship to Eugene V. Debs." Kirkpatrick now declares, according to the Federated Press, that the socialists will go over the head of President Coolidge ignoring him as he has ignored them and will carry the Debs amnesty case direct to the senate and the house and to the American people.

This May Day edition of the American Appeal will have to speak for itself, however. The socialists are divided on the amnesty issue as much as they are on the questions of booze, the league of nations and other problems. The yellow Daily Forward, that has been pouring an endless flood of funds into the coffers of the socialist party, can think of amnesty only as it pertains to counter-revolutionists in the Union of Soviet Republics, being held where they can do no harm to the Workers' Power.

If the socialists are really interested in fighting for the victims of the class war in the United States, Communists will hail all evidence to that effect as a display on their part of working class sanity. It is not an accident that socialists are safe from the law; that practically all the victims of capitalist justice are Communists or members of the United Mine Workers of America, the Industrial Workers of the World and other labor organizations plunged in strike with the employers on the industrial battlefields.

Ruthenberg's case is before the supreme court; scores trial in Michigan; Anita Whitney faces prison are awaiting in California, where many workers are already behind bars; the Bimba case comes on the heels of the imprisonment of Sacco and Vanzetti in Massachusetts; capitalism's bastiles open wide for workers in the Pittsburgh district and in southern Illinois; within the past few days hundreds of workers have been arrested in the Furriers' strike in New York City and the Passaic textile strike in New Jersey.

There is much to be done here by all class conscious workers. If the socialists help raise the demand for "Amnesty!" on May Day, it indicates that they still have a little conception left of the purposes of labor's international holi-

When labor comes to power it will have its own solution for the problem created thru the use of alcohol. Until then labor cannot afford to permit its ranks to be divided by the capitalist foe thru the clever manipulation of this issue for its own vile purpose.

Declare for Independence of Islands

(Special to The Daily Worker) MAYAGUEZ, Porto Rico, March 9-The Porto Rican section of the All-America Anti-Imperialist League has adopted a resolution protesting the new reign of terror instituted in Cuba by General Machado against the workers, peasants, and students. The resolution states that as president of the island, Machado ordered troops to the sugar cane fields and the sugar centrals to break the strike of the sugar workers. The soldiers compelled the strikers to work without compensation. Those who refused were brutally maltreated and in some instances slain.

The statement calls attention to the Cuban government's savage attack upon all groups which had the courage to demand the expulsion from the country of the American General Crowder, who as United States ambassador, represents the interests of Wall Street in the islands. Machado has done his best to destroy all labor organizations and to break up the Cuban section of the All-American Anti-Imperialist League. He directed the frame-up against the Communist Party and has even threatened to close the National University because of anti-imperialist sentiment among its student body. The statement also accuses him of having been responsible for the campaign of villification which led to the assassinations of Varona and Couxart and the jailing of Julio Mella and his companions.

In conclusion, the Porto Rican section declares its solidarity with the cause of the Cuban sugar strikers and pledges its support to the campaign of the All-America Anti-Imperialist League for the abolition of the Platt amendment which places Cuba under the control of the United States. The liberation of all those imprisoned for anti-imperialist activities is demanded. The Latin-American countries should be independent. In particular the propaganda of the nationalist party of Porto Rico for the island's independence is endorsed.

SOUTH AFRICAN COLOR BAR BILL STARTS A FIGHT

Mineowners Oppose Law Against Natives

(Special to The Daily Worker) nesburg demanded that the white labor policy of the government be dropped so far as it concerned the labor supply of the mines. This address brings out the struggle between the labor party of this country, composed white workers with their sympathizers among the small business groups and the farmers, and the great mine owners, who curiously enough, in this particular fight have the backing of the very natives they want to keep in slavery and of the immigrants from India against whom the color bar also operates.

The basis of the fight against the color bill by the mine owners is obviously economic. This was brot out in the president's speech. The mines, he stated, required about 180,000 native workers and nearly 20,000 European. The latter perform the skilled labor and furnish the foremen. He pointed out that owing to a shortage of native workers in December the mines then employed only 167,000. The result was the non-employment of several thousand whites who otherwise would have been required.

European Labor More Costly The replacement of native by European labor, necessary if the color bill becomes a law, he estimated would entail such an increased expenditure for wages, even with the greater efficiency of the whites, as to make it impossible to operate most of the mines. Eight Europeans, he estimated could do the work of ten natives but the wages of the former would be at the rate of $2.40 a day while the latter would only be 80 cents. Thus the Europeans would be over twice as expensive, tho no so many would be needed. The president concluded with an eloquent appeal to the government to allow the industry to get all the native labor it needed first from within the borders of the province, and when that was exhaused, wherever else it could be secured.

Bill to Become Law. Meanwhile the bill of the labor meanwhile the bill of the labor party, backed by the overwhelming sentiment of the white cettlers for sentiment of the white settlers, for the exclusion of the colored races, whether native or immigrant, as the Indians, from everything but the most menial occupations is being pushed and will undoubtedly become law. Official protests have been made by various bodies representing Indian public opinion.

PLAN ESTABLISHMENT OF TRANS-OCEANIC DIRIGIBLE LINE FROM THE UNITED STATES TO EUROPE $300,000,000 TO

WASHINGTON, March 9 .- A group of American capitalists are contemplating the establishment of a trans-ocean dirigible line between the United States and Europe at "an early date." Definite types of ships, frequency of runs, and schedules are now being worked out. Godfrey Lowell Cabot, president of the National Aeronautical Association, is one of those behind the proposed line.

"A fleet of dirigibles, two or three times as large as the Shenandoah, will be regularly flying back and fourth between the United States and Europe on scheduled time by 1935,"4 declared Cabot. "The undertaking is being studied by a group of the country's biggest capitalists," he added.

> Safety is Assured. According to Cabot the line will be in the nature of a public service corporation, with the passenger rates low enough to assure a steady stream of air traffic between the continents. "The fear of danger rather than the cost has handicapped trans-oceanic dirigible travel thus far," Cabot said, "but the safety of these airships is daily becoming more and more assured."

> "Such ships will comfortably carry 100 passengers," Cabot continued, with more conveniences and room than a train of pullman cars. There will be runways where the passengers can walk. Nicely appointed dining and lounging rooms and the sleep ing compartments will be as comfortable as those on trains or ships.

(Special to The Daily Worker) WASHINGTON, March 9 .- Approval of the policy of a unified air service program by the house appeared a possible development within the next ten days, as Rep. Morin was then asked to make a rough draft of a bill embodying essential features of all the proposals that were practical.

Aeroplane Emissaries Busy. So badly split was the committee, that the bill of Representative Curry, republican of California, for a depart ment of national defense, was only beaten by one vote, 11 to 10. The measure which carried out the recommendations of the president's air board received little support. Administration republicans frankly admit their fears that any air bill reaching the floor will be speedily amended to provide for a unified air service and then passed.

A determined effort is being made to enlist support from all factions for the new committee bill which provides $60,000,000 a year for five years in constructing army airplanes. This program will give the army 2,200 planes.

THE LAST ISSUE OF THE YOUNG WORKER

The last issue of the Young Worker in many respects was an improvethrown out of the hall by the police ant step in the attempt to unite all ment over the former one. Yet there are many things lacking and much to that they had brought to disrupt the textile unions in one big industrial be criticized. An editor is usually the last one to criticize his own publication. The Communist movement, however, is an exception to the rule. So

The improvement over the former issue can be noted in the fact that it was the spokesman for a greater number of concrete struggles of the young workers and that its proper distribution had been prearranged. This was true of the furriers' strike in New York; textile strike in Passaic; Bishop's candy factory, plumbing helpers, building trades of Los Angeles, etc. Improvement was also noted in the fact that more attention was given to the East (China), the international situation and particularly the Negro problem. Of significance was the fact that for the first time in the history of the paper, the officials of a strong trade union wrote in its paper of the role of the young workers Buys German Machines in their union. Of course these were left wing officials.

The main faults of the issue were as follows: There was not a proper proportion of material. The issue did not clearly drive home the lesson that the Young Workers (Communist) League is a political organization, with political aims. Only in two items did the paper vaguely drive home the fact of the existence of capitalist militarism and the necessity of the struggle against it. This was not an intentional error but nevertheless it exists.

Another fault of the issue was a complete lack of American politics. It for the establishing of Radnik as a brick kilns, sawmills, and motor redid not link up the immediate struggles of the young workers with the pair shops. The need for the latter broader political issues facing the American working class. ### The League—a Battleground

Silence and deep gloom envelopes American apostles of the league of nations as the heroes of Locarno desperately strive to create the illusion that the league is an instrument of peace instead of a place for preliminary maneuvering for the next world war.

The immediate cause of the crisis is the carrying out of the Locarno pact that enables Germany to take the permanent seat on the council of the league that has been reserved for her since the signing of the treaty of Versailles. In theory there are six permanent seats reserved for Britain, France, Italy, Japan, Germany and the United States. The two latter have as yet remained outside the league. Locarno paved the way for Germany to enter. But the entrance of Germany strengthens England and weakens France. So the French government demands that this special extraordinary assembly of the league counterbalance Britain by admitting Poland, the pawn of France, and as a pretext, advocates also the admittance of Spain and Brazil.

Austen Chamberlain favors the admittance of Spain, because he believes that Spain can be brought under British influence. But the other British tories resent any move to enlarge the league council at this time. They are satisfied to have Germany alone take her seat and insist upon leaving further enlargement until the seventh assembly of the league next September-if it lasts until that time. At present Britain has the upper hand in the league, but the kaledioscopic changes, the shifting of influences over the smaller nations and the growing power in Europe of American imperialism, make any move exceedingly dangerous for Britain. Chamberlain does not perceive this, but the powers behind the tory party are fully aware of the situation.

With the French franc still falling a Dawes plan for that nation is imminent, which means American domination of the nation that only recently was well on the way toward domination of all Europe this side of Russia; Italy is bound by chains of gold to Wall Street; Turkey is also being gradually drawn into the circle of sufferings during the siege, the unemployment Yankee imperialism and penetration of all Europe apace. The en- among the workers, and the ruin of the pettytrance of the United States into the world court will give Wall Street an opportunity to devise legal formulas that will enable it to pack the league against Britain, if the league survives this present crisis, and prepare for the inevitable collapse.

The perpetuity of a league of nations presupposes world unity of imperialism—an utterly impossible thing.

The league is a battle ground today wherein the conflict is limited to diplomatic intrigues. _But there is every indication that the time is near at hand when it will burst the confines of Geneva and engulf the whole world in the next imperialist slaughter.

Defy Labor Injunctions!

Again a part of the American working class is confronted with the landlords and capitalists, that is, in the hands an injunction. This time it is the auto workers in Grand Rapids of their trustees who composed the government, who three weeks ago went out on a spontaneous strike against the attempt of their arrogant employers to impose intolerable wage cuts. There was a time in the labor movement when injunctions mained the masters of the situation and power meant defeat and disorganization for workers on strike. But, as a passed into the hands of the proletariat. But in matter of self-preservation, the workers began to flaunt and ignore and hold in contempt all injunctions issued in labor disputes.

The vile railroad injunction issued by Federal Judge Wilkerson at the behest of his political boss, the odious attorney general, Harry M. Daugherty, of the "Ohio gang" of political crooks, was defied by color—that is, it tended to the overthrow of bourthe railroad workers and the strike continued in spite of the mandate of a corporation flunkey who sat upon the federal bench.

In the Paterson mill strike injunctions were issued every day cial order. against the strike leaders but were openly reviled and not one of them was ever observed.

Today the Grand Rapids strikers are confronted with their in the hope that the Commune would resume the first injunction and they should defy it and continue their strike as the the injunction judge did not exist. The injunction is the result of plainly usurped power by corporation hirelings who become judges. Even the supreme court of the United States has decided that workers have a right to peacefully picket and the strikers in Grand Rapids should insist upon that right, no matter what a petty-fogging judge may say or do.

Historians used to express surprise that the Pretorian guard (the "hay-seeds," the rustic landlords) would reonce sold ancient Rome at public auction. No one can possibly get a kick out of that tale today, when politicians in control of city, state and nation stand ready at all times to sell the whole damn works to the highest bidder. The pretorians were amateurs compared to the Mellon-Coolidge gang at Washington, Len Small at Springfield or the aldermen of the city of Chicago.

Decorate the Mahogany!-This command is a contribution to American slang by the eminent aldermen of Chicago, utilized when the petty-bourgeois withdrew from it soon: some they want someone to pay them graft for special favors they render in their capacity as members of the city council.

Get the Paris Commune Edition!

Be sure to get your PARIS COMMUNE EDITION of The DAILY WORKER next Saturday, March 13. The NEW SATURDAY MAGAZINE SUPPLEMENT of that issue will contain the famous article of Lenin, "THE PARIS COM-MUNE AND THE PROBLEMS OF THE DEMOCRATIC DICTATORSHIP"-published for the first time, we believe, in the English language. Written in July, 1905, in the midst of the stirring revolutionary events of that year, the article shows the master hand of Lenin who, more ably than any other except Marx himself, could draw the lessons from the great event of Paris and apply them in the real life of his own time. Don't fail to get the next edition of the Daily Worker Saturday Magazine.

Memory of the Commune

By Vladimir Ilyitch Lenin.

The eighteenth day of this month will be the fifty-fifth anniversary of the Paris Commune. We publish here an article written by our great revolutionary leader, Lenin, on the fortieth anniversary of the Paris Commune. Next Saturday's Daily Worker will be especially devoted to the memory and lessons of the Paris Commune. The New Magazine, Saturday section of The Daily Worker (March 13) will publish an article by Lenin which deals with the subject more extensively.

THIS is the fortieth anniversary of the proclamation of the Paris Commune. According to established custom, the French workers are celebrating on March 18 the memory of the Communards. And in the end of May they carry wreaths to the graves of the victims of bloody "May Week" and swear oaths that they will fight unflinchingly until the complete victory of their ideas, until the final completion of the task left by the Communards.

Why are the workers, not only of France, but of the whole world, honoring the men and women of the Paris Commune as their predecessors? And what is the inheritance left by the Com-

The Paris Commune arose spontaneously. It was not consciously or painfully prepared for by anyone. The defeated war against Germany, the bourgeoisie; the fury of the masses against the upper classes and the incompetent war leaders, the revolutionary ferment in the working class, which was dissatisfied with its condition and tended toward another social system. The reactionary composition of the national assembly gave ground for fear for the fate of the republic. All these and many other factors combined to force the Paris population into the revolution of March 18, which unexpectedly put power into the handsof the national guard, that is, into the hands of the working class and its ally, the petty-bour-

It was an event unknown in previous history. Up to that day, power had been in the hands of so-called. After the revolution of March 18, when the government of M. Thiers fled from Paris with its troops, police and bureaucrats, the people recontemporary society, the proletariat, enslaved economically by capital, cannot govern politically without breaking the chains which bind it to capital. It was for this reason that the course of the Commune inevitably took on a socialist geois rule, the rule of capital, tended toward the tearing up of the foundations of the present so-

The movement was in the beginning quite hazy and indeterminate. Even the patriots joined it war against Germany and carry it to a victorious end. It was supported by the petty merchants who were threatened with bankruptcy if there were no moratorium of their obligations and their rent (the government had not been willing to grant them this moratorium, but the Commune gave it). And last, even the bourgeois republicans were in the beginning sympathetic to it, fearing that the reactionary national assembly store the monarchy. But the main role in this movement was undoubtedly played by the workers (especially the Paris handicraftsmen). There had been going on among them, during the last years of the second empire, an effective socialist propaganda, and many of them belonged to the International.

Only the workers remained faithful to the Commune to the end. The bourgeois republicans and of them were frightened by the revolutionary socialist, proletarian character of the movement; others deserted it when they saw that it was inevitably doomed to defeat. Only the workers fearlessly and unrelentingly supported their own government; they alone fought and died for it, for the emancipation of the working class, for a better future for all toilers.

Deserted by their allies of yesterday, without any support whatever, the Commune was doomed to failure. The entire French bourgeoisie, all of the landlords, the bourse (stock exchange) magnates, all big and petty thieves, all exploiters unned against it. This bourgeois alliance with the help of Bismarck (who freed 100,000 French war prisoners to fight against revolutionary Paris), succeeded in rousing the uncultured peasants and rural petty-bourgeoisie against the Paris proletariat. They besieged with a ring of iron half of Paris (the other half was besieged by the German army). In some other of the larger French cities (Marseilles, Lyons, Saint-Etinne, Dijon, etc.) the workers made attempts to seize power in order to proclaim a Commune and help Paris, but these attempts ended in quick failure, and Paris, wihch had first raised the banner of the proletarian revolution, was left to its own resources and doomed to certain defeat.

For a victorious social revolution two conditions are necessary: a high degree of development of the forces of production, and preparedness of the proletariat. But in 1871, both of these conditions were lacking. French capitalism was insufficiently developed. It was then a country, in the main, of petty-bourgeois (of master-craftsmen, peasants, petty merchants, etc.) On the other hand there was not a working class party, no preparedness, and no experience in the working class. The large masses of it did not yet clearly understand its problems and the means for their solution. There was no firm political organization of the proletariat, no broad unions, and co-operatives.

But the main factor that the Commune lacked was time, the opportunity to gain insight into their tasks and carry out their program. It had not had the time really to begin its work before the Versailles government, supported by the entire bourgeoisie, began military operations against Paris. And the Commune was compelled to think first of all of self-defense. And up to the end, which came in the week of May 21-28, it had no time to consider anything earnestly.

But in spite of these unfavorable circumstances, in spite of its short life, the Commune found time to take certain measures which were enuf to show its real thot and aims. The Commune replaced the standing army, that blind weapon in the hands of the ruling classes, with a general arming of the people; it declared the church separated from the state, abolished the church budget (that is, the state salaries to the priests), gave popular education a purely lay character,—thus striking a hard blow at the gendarmes in clerical robe. On the purely social field it had time to do but little, but this little is striking enuf to-show its character as a popular government, working man's government: nightwork in the bakeries was forbidden; the system of fines, that legal form of robbing the workers was abolished; and last, there was proclaimed the famous ordinance that the factories and shops deserted by their owners or closed down, were given to the workers' co-operatives in order to start production again. And as if in order to emphasize its character of real democratic, proletarian government, the Commune decided that no official or member of the government could have a salary higher than the normal wage of the workers and in no case higher than 6,000 francs ($1,200) a year.

All these things show clearly enuf that the Commune was a deadly threat to the old world, based on slavery and exploitation. It was for this reason that bourgeois society could not rest peacefully as long as the red banner of the proletariat waved over the city hall of Paris. And when the organized forces of the bourgeois government at last succeeded in subduing the poorly organized forces of the revolution, the Bonapartist generals, defeated by the Germans, but brave in the face of their defeated fellow-citizens, those Rennenkampfs and Meller-Sakomelskis of France, ushered in such bloodshed as Paris had never before witnessed. The beastly military killed about 30,000 Parisians, about 45,000 were arrested, and many of these were shot; thousands were sentenced to hard labor or deported to the colonies. Altogether, Paris lost about a hundred thousand of its sons, among them the best workers of all

The bourgeoisie was satisfied. "Now an end has been made of Socialism for a long time," said its leader, the blood-thirsty pygmy, Thiers, after the bloodshed, instituted among the Paris proletariat by him and his generals. But the bourgeois crows were crowing in vain. About six years after the overthrow of the Commune, when many of its fighters were still jailed or in exile, the new labor movement began in France. A new Socialist generation, enriched by the experiences of its predecessors, but not disheartened by their defeat, grasped the standard which had fallen from the hands of the fighters of the Commune, and carried it with confidence and bravery, shouting: "Long live the social revolution! Long live the Commune!" And after another three years the new party of labor and its agitation in the country compelled the ruling class to release the Communards who were still imprisoned by the government.

The memory of the struggle of the fighters of the Commune is celebrated not only by the French workers, but by the proletariat of the whole world. For the Commune did not fight for a local or narrow, national purpose, but for emancipation of all toiling mankind, all the down-trodden and abused. As the vanguard fighter for the social revolution, the Commune received sympathy wherever the proletariat suffered and fought. The vision of the life and death of the Commune, the sight of a workers' government, which captured and held a metropolis in its hands for two months, the vision of the heroic fight and sufferings of the proletariat—all this aroused the enthusiasm of millions of workers, awakened their hopes and drew their sympathy toward socialism. The thunder of the guns of Paris awakened the most backward strata of the proletariat, sunk in a deep sleep, and gave all over the world an impetus to the strengthening of the revolutionary socialist propaganda. Therefore, the cause of the Commune is not dead; it is living in all of us.

The cause of the Commune is the cause of the social revolution. The cause of the political and economic emancipation of the tollers is the cause of the proletariat of the whole world. And in this sense it is immortal.
