ZINOVIEV I'R s ''ED FROM HIS POST AS TBUREAU OF THE ST OFFIC (Special Cable to Tru-Norker)

(Special Cable to Th. Norker) MOSCOW, U. S. S. R., July 28.—The results of the Plenum of the Central Amittee of the Communist Party of the Union of Socialist Soviet Repub-Committee of the Communist Party of the Union of Socialist Soviet Republics (All-Union Communist) Party, just closed, have been published.

The Plenum discussed a number of most essential questions, of general and economic nature, and also of the inner-party life.

After hearing the report of the Central Control Commission concerning the facts of factional activity after the fourteenth congress of the party, and also cases of violation by several leading party members of the resolutions of previous congresses for the preservation of the unity of the party, as well as the connection of this factional work with the apparatus of the Executive Committee of the Communist International working under the direct management of Zinoviev, who was a member of the Politbureau of the paganda inundating the country as Central Committee, the Plenum resolved to recall Zinoviev from his post as part of the church's campaign to set

EVERY cloud has its silver lining. Otherwise the nation might well shudder over the dreadful picture of a race of baldheaded women, drawn by Ruth J. Maurer, beauty expert and staff speaker at a national convention of cosmeticians. Other important revelations made by the lady were: that more money was spent on face powder than on gunpowder and that half a million men who should be eating nails for breakfast and sticking bayonets into dummies in preparing for the next war, are actually using cosmetics in secret.

* * * THAT women prefer to patronize beauty shops rather than churches will not be lamented either by radicals or beauty specialists, particularly since Mrs. Maurer informs us that the business is worth $1,000,000 yearly and stimulates procreation as nothing else except war is known to. Green Offered $50,000 for Cook County Vote

Henry L. Green, treasurer of Senator William B. McKinley's futile race for the senatorship, admitted that Mc. Kinley lost the nomination because he failed to get the support of the Crowe-Barrett machine in Cook county before the senate slush fund committee headed by Senator James A. Reed. Sought Crowe-Barrett Aid.

Green pointed out that he held a secret conference in Chicago with Charles V. Barrett and that after the conference he "understood" this group would support McKinley in his race for the re-nomination and that he promised to put $1,000 into each Chicago ward thru the Crowe-Barrett ma. chine-a total of $50,000.

"Nothing ever came of it," Green added. "We understood that William Hale Thompson, who was hostile to Senator McKinley, persuaded the organization to make the world court an issue in the Cook county campaign and that turned it against the senator.

McCormick Spent $8,000.

Mrs. Medill McCormick spent close to $8,000 in foreign language advertising in an attempt to nominate Mc-Kinley, it was brought out at the committee hearing.

Green made a flat denial that Mc-Kinley lavished a "million dollars a year" on public charities to aid his senatorial campaign. Green declared that McKinley had practiced remarkable generosity toward public institutions for many years past and "had even reduced his donations to charity in the last year because of the prob able effect on the public mind."

McKinley Generosity.

"Up to 1923 Senator McKinley displayed a remarkable generosity to Since then I don't know whether he has been more or less generous, but do know he supports a good many harities. He makes contributions very year to hospitals and schools." Green cited a McKinley donation of $250,000 to build a hospital at the University of Illinois. On primary day, he said, a group of women stood on the steps of the hospital "passing out literature" derogatory to Senator McKinley." Green admitted that McKinley gave

$5,000 contribution to the Lincoln University in Kentucky, a Negro institution, and its chancellor, John Wesley Hill, came to Illinois and made world court speeches for the senator. Hearing Off Until Fall

THE best that the most fearless of L capitalist journalists can do is to sneak in a suggestion of the real things that underlie the froth that comes to the surface. Take for instance the phenomenon of Samuel Insull purchasing every senatorial candidate in the Illinois primaries. He plumped hard against McKinley, yeb he gave even the group that supported McKinley $10,000, evidently not to help McKinley win the nomination. It looks as if that gentleman had more enemies in his own camp than in the open enemy's.

IN the room where the shush investigation is held questions are being asked why Insull is so bitterly hostile to McKinley. One naive person suggested that the utilities' baron was slighted by the Illinois senior senator at a social affair. What a silly ex-planation? Others, however, say that McKinley blocked Insull's attempt to completely monopolize traction and utility services in Illinois. That is more like it. McKinley is a big public utility owner and wealthy. And in view of the fact that Frank L. Smith was for twelve years chairman of the Illinois commerce commission it is not surprising that Insull put over $150,000 behind his campaign. . . .

EVERYBODY knows that this slush investigation is a political maneuver. It is not a straight democratic versus republican affair. Indeed, those politicians do not love each other. They are like tigers quarreling over a carcass. They are always hungry. heart of capitalist society, the bush The factions in the republican party league social system that tries to of Cook County are more concerned maintain its existence by causing with cutting each other's throats than all humanity to stagnate and agonize in ignorance and misery. It is | with defending the party against the democrats. What is party to them unless it puts cash in their pockets? Those who are not after the cash are treated with silent contempt. Publicly, the politicians are exuding honor and purity. . . .

SECTION 4, CHICAGO, TO HAVE MEMBERSHIP MEET ON THURSDAY, JULY 29TH

All members of Section 4 of the Workers Party of Chicago are urged by the section executive committee to be present at an important membership meeting of the entire section to be held on Thursday, July 29th at 8:00 p.m., Freiheit Hall 3209 W. Roosevelt Rd.

Recommendations that Warden George P. Weideling of Cook County jail be replaced by John L. Whitman, former warden of the Joliet penitentiary, or First Deputy of Police Mathew Zimmer are expected as a result of a meeting of several students of criminology and institutional discipline with Judge John P. McGoorty at the city club. Whitman, who is proposed as the new warden for Cook County jail as "Seamen, be men," concludes a leaf-

INVESTIGATIONS are deadly weapons in the hands of politicians against enemies. Senator Reed of Missouri is as happy behind his inquisitorial chair as a tom cat contemplating the slaughter of a tender little mouse. The fact that probes like this throw a flood of light on capitalist corruption does not bother him in the least. He is strong in his Missouri balliwick and the democratic party can go to pot for all he cares, provided he does not go to pot with it. The workers who should be interested in this investigation only see in it a squabble between rival politicians. They fail to see that those politicians are but puppets striving for first place in the graces of the rulers of the country, men like Insull.

Japanese Trick; Favor League of Exploited

(Special to The Daily Worker) PEKING, July 28. - The Chinese nationalists have taken the measure of the so-called "Pan-Asiatic congress" engineered by the league of nations to be held in Nagasaki, Japan, on Aug. 1st. And the Chinese nationalists point but that it is a scheme which bodes no good to the Aslastic peoples on account of its alleged pro-Japanese character, while the Japanese imperialists, say the Chinese, have been just as brutal oppressors as the European and American Imperialism.

While China will be represented by the league of Asiatic races with headquarters in Peking, what the Chinese nationalists who are leading the great movement that is awakening the orient to rebellion against imperialist overlords think of the congress is told by the "People's Tribune" of Peking, organ of the nationalists.

Must Be League of Exploited

A league of Asiatic nations is not rejected by the Chinese nationalists, but it shall be a league of the exploited races against their exploitersand Japan is one of the exploiters. The article from the People's Tribune is most interesting, as may be seen by the following quotations:

"Japanese politicians have been TALIAN TRADE year to press forward their scheme for the establishment of a so-called Asiatic league of nations, the alleged purpose of which is to promote international friendship among the Asiatic nations, and arrangements have been made to hold a conference of the league in Nagasaki.

Japan Behind Congress. "The idea of forming such a league originated in Japan and it received a istrong boost at the time Japan was made to suffer the humiliation of the passage of the United States immigration law prohibiting the immigration of Japanese into the United States and the passing of the anti-Japanese laws in California. Japan then posed as a martyr compelled to suffer the same indignities and disabilities to which the west subjected all the poor and down-trodden Asiatic people. Scorned by the west, Japan turned to her Asiatic sister nations to seek consolation in their common sorrow.

Japan An Exploiter.

"Proud of her accomplishments in the western arts and her progressive departure from the barbarous customs of the east, Japan once looked down with no less contempt than the west upon her racial brothers. Now she is willing to place herself at the head of the long-suffering orient and restore it to the splendor of its ancient

Governor General Silent on Future Action

MANILA, P. I., July 28 .- Will Governor General Wood dare to veto the bill passed by both houses of the Philippine legislature providing for a popular referendum on the issue of full, complete and immediate independence from American rule?

This question is on the lips of everyone in the islands-everyone, that is. except the governor general himself. who continues to keep his own council, not taking a single Filipino leader into his confidence. Wood vetoed a similar measure last year. The response of the Filipinos was to pass the present bill as the very first act of the newly-installed legislature.

In view of the campaign now going on in the United States to make it appear that the Moros do not desire independence for the Philippines, considerable significance is attached to the fact that the Moro representa tives voted in favor of the referendum measure. The bill was passed unanimously, thus presenting a united Filipino front to the foreign enemies of independence.

Wood has not given the slightest in dication of what his eventual action will be. The supposition is that he is waiting for advice from Washington. Even if he should again attempt to block the efforts of the Filipino congress, it is undoubted that the bill will be passed over his veto.

What the attitude of the United States government would then be is not so certain. Filipino leaders point out that opposition to the present bill makes a mock of everything American politicians have ever said regarding 'self-determination of nations." The bill does not even provide for selfdetermination. It merely offers the Filipino people the opportunity to say whether they want independence or not.

Colonel Carmi A. Thompson, personal representative of President Coolidge in the Philippines, has not been any more communicative than Gen. Wood on the question of the referen dum. As the editor of the Manila Times said this morning, "He pretends not to notice it."

COMPANY SPIES

LOWELL, Mass., July 28 .--- Company spies are doing their utmost to destroy the solidarity in the ranks of the striking workers of the Lowell silk mills. They have sought to create dissension in strike ranks by spreading all kinds of rumors. This action on the part of the company hirelings has caused the strikers to organize a relief committee and to elect a sergeant-at-arms to keep company "suckers" out of the meetings!

Pull Out Scabs.

A committee appointed to visit the scabs has succeeded in convincing 14 out of the 32 imported strikebreakers to leave the shop and join the strike. The scabs are brought to and from work in limousines furnished by the bosses and are being paid twice what was paid to the striking workers. A committee of strikers met with Mr. Gallant, the company agent. After reading the demands of the workers Mr. Gallant put on his hat and walked away.

Strike Demands.

The strikers are determined to remain on strike until the following demands are won Return to the four-loom base on ongee silk and to the three-loom base on satin

Use Tear Gas Bombs on Striking Workers

By a Young Worker Correspondent. MCINTYRE, W. Va., July 28 .- As 500 men, women and children were marching along the public highway here to the Big Four mines, where a public mass meeting was being held by the union miners, deputy sheriffs and police attacked the demonstration. The Big Four mine is working under the 1917 scale.

Stops Picket Line.

The pickets were marching single file along the highway when they were stopped by the county sheriff and state police. They were ordered not to go any further, as it was a violation of the coal company's injunction against picketing. The pickets immediately sent for the union officials.

When the union officials arrived they were afraid at first to lead the violation of the injunction. The members of the union were eager to violate the anti-picketing order and expressed their determination to attend the mass meeting at the Big Four mine. Finally the officials agreed to lead the march.

Use Gas Bombs. The state police then began their dirty work. They sought to break up the picketing demonstration with their guns and gas bombs. One of the state police hit a striker over the head with a club and knocked him into a ditch.

The sheriff then arrested the four officials of the union that were leading the march

The police and yellow dogs are here to aid the scab operators to break the strike of the miners' organization. They are doing everything in their power to break the strike. They will never succeed in breaking the union.

Scabs Grow Fewer.

The marches of the miners are having their effect. The scabs who work for $4.60 under the protection of the yellow dogs are becoming fewer each day. Many of those that have been misled into scabbing on their fellowminers are now joining the strike and the union.

WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE.

WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE. J. Arnold Ross, oil operator, formerly Jim Ross, teamster, is unsuccessful in signing a lease with property holders at Beach City, Cal., because of intrigues of other operators and quarrels among the holders. While he is at Beach City, Bunny, his thirteen-year-old son, meets Paul Watkins, slightly older. Paul has run away from home. His father is a poor rancher in the San Elido Valley who is a "Holy Roller." Paul goes away to make his living on the road and Bunny goes about learning the oil business from his Dad who is bringing in a well at Prospect Hill. Dad was working hard and Bunny suggests a quall hunting trip to the San Elido Valley. Dad agrees and shortly they arrive at the Watkins ranch and pitch their camp. In hunting for quall they find oil oozing out of the ground and Dad wheedles the sale of the ranch out of old Watkins and also arranges to secretly purchase adjacent lands. Paul's little sister, Ruth, and Bunny become friends. Bunny starts to high school at Beach City. With plenty of money and social standing he enters into the life of the school. His Dad warns him of dangers, tobacco, drink and women—a little bashfully on the latter. He falls in love with another student, Rose Taintor. In the mean-time Dad's oil business grows rapidly. The World War begins and Dad, along with other capitalists, benefits by selling oil to both belligerents. Christmas holidays come and Dad and Bunny go quail hunting on their new preserve. Bunny meets Ruth again. Ruth tells him that Paul sent her a book that spoke against the bible and that her Dad caught her reading it and whaled her. against the bible and that her Dad caught her reading it and whaled her,

Dad explained: there had been two revelations so far, to be found in the old and the new testaments; why mightn't it be that the Holy Spirit was preparing another? For a long timethe followers of the True Word had awaited this fulfillment; the promise was in the Book, for anyone to read. This New Dispensation would supersede the others, and naturally it had got to be different from the others, and that the followers of the old message might fail to recognize it, jist like the previous case. Didn't that seem reasonable? Dad asked; and Mr. Watkins answered promptly that it did, and for Dad to go on. So Dad said that this True Word was to be revealed through the minds of men. and would be a message of freedom; the Holy Spirit wanted us to seek boldly, and not be afraid; and presently out of the seeking of many minds the Truth would come-perhaps from some one who had been despised and rejected, that would become the corner stone of the new temple. Dad said all this with the deepest solemnity, and Bunny listened, not a little bewildered; he had never had any idea that Dad knew so much Bible-talk-as much as any preacher!

So it seemed to the Watkins family also. The old man drank in every word, and insisted that Dad should reveal to them all he knew. And Dad told them that they had one son, whose words had been reported to him, and seemed to him to bear the true spirit of the Third Revelation. Dad had met this son, and had been struck by his appearance, for he looked just like what followers of the True Word had been taught to expectgrave and his voice deep. So Dad believed that the bearer of this message of freedom, to which they were charged to listen, was their eldest son, Paul, whom they mistakenly had driven from among them.

Well, you should have seen the sensation in that family! Old Mr. Watkins sat with his jaw dropped down, as thunderstruck as if Dad had sprouted a pair of angel's wings before notice can spend from 50 cents to his eyes. Mrs. Watkins' thin face wore a look of utter rapture, and her two stringy hands were clasped together in front of her chin. As for Ruth, she seemed just about ready to slide off her Calif. The prison authorities will chair and onto her knees. Everybody seemed to be pleased but only accept books when they come one, and that was Eli; he was glaring at Dad, and suddenly he obbers shortly before noon yesterday direct from the publishers. Send sprang from his chair, his face contorted; he shouted, and his money to The DAILY WORKER voice cracked, and went up shrill and piercing: "Can he show Publishing Co. and enclose a note the signs?" Insull, Smith, Brennan and Some Labor Leaders

Samuel Insull, the benevolent gentleman who subsidizes opera for his amusement and glory and public utilities for profit is almost as non-partisan politically as John Fitzpatrick, John H. Walker and Victor Olander.

Insull does not hesitate to contribute to the campaign funds of both republican and democratic parties.

The labor leaders above mentioned did not give money. We do not say they even received money. What they did is tell the workers who may still have faith in their political honesty that their interests would be better served by supporting that political office seeker who promises to do most for them, regardless what party ticket he ran on.

It is an old saying that politics makes strange bedfellows and of the world to evaluate the British of the government from August till when one sees Fitzpatrick, president of the Chicago Federation of general strike. Labor sleeping under the same blanket with Samuel Insull, millionaire owner of public utilities and union-hater to boot, we must admit that the old saying said a mouthful.

Lifting up another corner of the sheet, we find Oscar Carlstrom, three great lessons: who did not do the right thing by Len Small, and drew down on himself the wrath of the conservative labor leaders. At the last meeting of the Chicago Federation of Labor, Fitzpatrick exonerated the class struggle. Small from all blame for his failure to pardon the jailed garment pickets. It was Carlstrom's fault, he said.

Yet Frank L. Smith, to whose campaign fund Insull contributed $125,000, admitted on the witness stand that this same Carlstrom helped him in his fight. Strange bedfellows, indeed.

And George E. Brennan! The Fitzpatrick-Nockels politicians hated George E. Brennan more than anybody else, with the possible exception of Robert E. Crowe. Yet Mr. Brennan is subsidized by the same man who filled Frank L. Smith's coffers. And lo and behold! The once hated Robert E. Crowe and his political machine helped to give Smith the G. O. P. nomination.

Here we have a fine crew: Insull the millionaire, Smith and that the interests of capital and labor Brennan, his humble lackeys, Crowe and Carlstrom, his prosecutors are identical, and that strikes or other and the erstwhile leaders of the working class, Fitzpatrick, Nockels, Olander and Walker-all in the same bunk.

The chamber has confidence in Poincare because he is Wall Street's favorite. In less critical times a "weeping Willy" like Herriot might do, but France is in an awful mess and it takes a hard-boiled fascist like Poincare to serve the purpose of the international bankers.

In all probability the franc will soon be stabilized at the expense of the French workers and peasants. It is also likely that a Dawes plan is in the offing, tho the bankers will move warily lest they arouse the French masses to action.

Lessons of the British General Strike WITH THE STAFF

EDITOR'S NOTE-Today's article on the British general strike by Max Bedacht is one of a series intended o clarify in a popular way the siglificance of that big event which shook Great Britain for nine days in May. Other articles will follow in The DAILY WORKER.

In the August number of the Workers' Monthly will be published the theses of the executive commitee of the Communist International on the "Lessons of the British General Strike," which will serve as the basis for a discussion in the Workers (Communist) Party-and t is to be hoped also in workers' clubs, forums, etc. Advance orders for the August

THE British general strike is now a matter of past history. While the working class is engaged in making future history, yet it is the experience gained out of the battles of the past that eventually enables the working class to win those of the future. .Third, the indispensability of classconscious revolutionary leadership in the class struggle.

For the first point we could just as well say the existence of the class struggle in place of the continuity of it. But since we speak of experiences gained out of the general strike we must base our consideration on prevailing conceptions, not yet revised by these experiences,

The prevailing idea in the circles of organized labor in the United States is that the class struggle is a myth; forms of struggle between the workers and the capitalists are merely unfortunate isolated incidents caused by temporary misunderstandings between the parties involved. In other words strikes are not manifestations of an inevitable and continuous struggle be ween the capitalist class and the working class, but are merely lovers' We know that a great proportion of labor movement are neither able nor ganized labor and the working class in the working class and the capitalist general is ready to discard prejudices class created the ideological back-or genuine knowledge, taught by extinuity, nay, the very existence, of the class struggle. An accepted authority on military science declared that war is merely the continuance of a government's policy by means of The English strike furnishes force. proof that this theory applies also to the class war. For years the government of Great Britain has been on the warpatch against the mine workers Its apparently conciliatory attitude last August, when it decided to avoid the clash by granting a subsidy to the mine operators, was by no means influenced by a desire to maintain peace, but was dictated by its determination to have the war when the government was thoroly prepared. This becomes clear when we follow the activities of the government during the period from August to May. The government inspired and directed the organization of the O. M. S., an official strike-break ing agency. In the coal commission it created the necessary propaganda apparatus which had to prepare the mind of the public for the coming clash. The government knows full well the value of propaganda. It knows that half of a war is fought by the skillful and most lying propa ganda. The emergency power act was a weapon created by the government for its use against the miners and the working class in general. Every move May, and even before that period, was designed to be ready for battle. As far as the government was concerned it was not a question of a lovers' quar rel, the struggle was carefully pre pared for, the bullets were cast, the guns made ready, and all forces fo the war were mobilized. The struggl did not start for the government or the first of May, but the first of May merely furnished the date on which the government changed its method of fight against the workers from so called peaceful to forceful means. Workers at Disadvantage.

The fact that the general council of the Trade Union Congress of Britain proceeded on an opposite theory did not change the character of the con flict. It merely put the workers of Great Britain into a disadvantageous position. While the government proceeded for war, carefully preparing for it, it was prepared for struggle on the first of May. The general council proceeded with the theory of peace and on the first of May was confronted with a war it was quite unprepared to meet. The success of war lies much in the preparation for it. Thus the overnment had the advantage over the working class. With this we do not desire to create the impression that the workers of Great Britain were helpless. Oh, no! Their fighting strength was quite formidable and in spite of the government's preparahe official leaders of the American tions, victory was within reach of the workers. But the very theory of the willing to learn otherwise. The Philippines is one of the spots that American imperialism will hold until it is compelled to give it up by force. It is rich in mineral wealth. Our finance capitalists gloat over the prospect of making the natives give up their sweat turning out profits so that they and their parasite women can live in luxury.

Unless all signs fail things are coming to a head in those islands. That the situation is critical is indicated by the fact that a special representative of American imperialism was sent there to investigate. He is discovering "savages" who wear B. V. D.'s and Boston garters! He is not out to help the Filipinos. But he will try to fool them with promises. We doubt if he succeeds. Our enslaved brothers appear to be all there between the ears. They will eventually win their freedom, but they cannot expect to win it unaided. They must have the support of the American working class and the co-operation of all the other victims of American imperialism in South America as well as Asia.
