A N American missionary, Haysmeir by name, pleaded guilty in a Corean court of having branded a small native boy with acid on both cheeks because he stole some fruit from the missionary's garden. No doubt the clergyman inflicted this punishment on the lad for the latter's spiritual benefit. Did not the Roman inquisitors of the middle ages tear their doubting brethren asunder on the racks, to the accompaniment of tinkling bells and priestly mumbling of prayers?

BARON MUNCHAUSEN made a serious mistake in getting born too soon. That delightfully imaginative person would not only enjoy himself but he would find a lucrative market for his wares. Since the world war broke out the art of lying has come into its own. Hitherto prevarication was somewhat of a monopoly in diplomatic circles, but the necessities of the situation made lying a mass occupation. Two cities became famous or notorious-depending on the sympathies of the reader-for the efficiency of their lie mills. They are Helsingfors in Finland and Geneva, Switzer

WHEN the central powers were defeated the liars turned on Soviet Russia. Tho the volume of production has decreased, it must be admitted that the quality has not deteriorated. Riga has taken the place of Riga and Geneva is too busy handling the league of nations trade to be a serious competitor. Paris now steps into the ring with a version about the present difference of opinion of the Russian Communist Party that it is worthy of space in this column.

THE yarn is by Paul Scott Mowrer, one of the Chicago Daily News' European correspondents. It appeared in the News of July 30. The early edition had an intelligent and reasonably correct story of the situation from Junius Wood, who is stationed in Moscow. But Mowrer's fable kicked it into the melting pot. Briefly, he tells us that European diplomatic circles see in the struggle between the viewpoints of Stalin and Zinoviev a last stand fight of the "extremists," among which Zinoviev is listed, against the opportunists. Stalin is head of the latter faction, says Mowrer.

HERE is where the pot begins to boil furiously. Bubble, bubble. The correspondent takes another drink of cognac and says that Dzerzhinsky, famous head of the former Cheka, was an extremist and the last remaining hurdle in the way of the opportunists. He was slated for removal and refused to leave. He pulled a gun on Trotsky, but was disarmed and ordered executed. This was accomplished by the unusual method of suffocation. Then follows the usual stories of "disorders" here and there, troops rushing back and forth and friends of Dzerzhinsky getting arrested. And, of course, when Dzerzhinsky's room was searched the usual discovery of jewels, etc., was made

THOSE who suspect everything in the capitalist press to be a lie until proven otherwise will pay no attention to those yarns, but there are thousands of others who take obvious propaganda in the capitalist press as gospel. Mowrer's yarn is too silly to do anything but laugh it off. It is a case of the wish being father to the thought.

Sallva drips from the mouth of international capitalism as it contemplates the profits it could wring out of the Russian workers and the tremendous raw wealth of their country, if they could only restore the former regime. They know that serious disunity in the Communist Party would weaken the power of the workers and peasants to defend their freedom. So they welcome any sign of division and lie without limit. But their lies will prove ineffective where their bayonets

President of Mexico Hits at Reactionaries

(Special to The Daily Worker)

MEXICO CITY, Aug. 1 .- The taking over of the churches by government authorities for the sealing of religious treasures and the closing of the annexes in accordance with regulations, resulted in a few disturbances growing immensely at his favorite profession, out of riots caused by catholics in which three were killed, a score injured and 75 arrested.

A sacristan and two bystanders were killed in the lower part of Mexico City, it is reported, when catholics opened fire on police officers who atempted to enter the church. At other churches firemen, police, and later, troops, fought crowds who hurled stones and rioted in demonstrations against the anti-religious decrees.

But Sunday opened with policemen quarding all churches and, in some outlying sections, municipal commitees in charge of all religious strucures in the respective communities. No manifestations were evident at an early hour.

Great Labor Parade.

The great parade of labor that will be participated in besides the members of the Mexican Federation of Labor, by all government employes and members of the labor and socialist parties as well as anti-catholic societies is in preparation and promises o be the greatest demonstration of abor solidarity yet displayed in Mexco. The paraders are expected to number well over 100,000.

President Calles issued another statement in which he declared that reactionaries are in league with the catholics against the government." Calles said that Sunday's labor demonstration would show the strength of the government in the controversy with the church despite the latter's by the Workers (Communist) Party the real issues. #### EPISCOPAL CHURCHES HEAR NOTHING OF THE PRAYER FOR CATHOLICS

Catholic churches thruout the world prayed for the church in Mexico yesterday as part of the vatican's campaign to assist the Mexican elergy in its fight against the constitution of 1917, being enforced for the first time by the Calles government. In the United States the propaganda is particularly Intense among catholics because of the possibility of this country's intervention if sufficient pressure is brought to bear.

The extent of the movement is indicated by the fact that the cath. olics are being joined by protestants in prayers for the church in Mexico. The national publication of the Episcopal church, Living Age, contains a plea for all protestants to pray with the catholics for "the persecuted church in Mexico."

The journal says that suspension of catholic services in Mexico by the catholic church may "very likely be followed by like action on our part."

"We hope," it adds, "that many other American Christians than Roman Catholics will carry out the earnest suggestion of the pope for united prayer on Aug. 1 when the new regime begins."

In Chicago several Episcopal churches announced that they had heard nothing of the proposed

MEXICAN ARCHBISHOP WHO LEADS FIGHT OF HIERARCHY IN MEXICO

Archbishop Boray del Rio of Mexico City is the head of the Mexican Catholic church. It was he who sent a pastoral letter to the newspaper El Universal on three different occasions, severely criticizing and denouncing the constitution of 1917 that caused the present struggle between the government and the church to come to a head.

Miners' Delegates Coming

(Special to The Daily Worker)

ONDON, August 1 .- Expressing the hope that the organized labor movement of America might do as well as the trade unions of Soviet Russia have done in making substantial contributions in cash to the 1,200,000 striking coal miners of Great Britain and their wives and children, a delegation of the British Miners' Federation sailed yesterday on the Berengaria to conduct a campaign thruout the United States for strike relief.

The delegation, composed of four miners' representatives together with Ben Tillet, A. A. Purcell and Ellen Wilkinson, all labor party members of the British parliament, are sailing at the invitation of the American labor unions and will be received as the guests of the American Federation of Labor and its largest industrial union, the United Mine Workers of America.

From New York, the delegation will go directly to the headquarters of the United Mine Workers at Indianapolis, where the U. M. W. of A. officials will take charge of the campaign and the itinary of the speakers. The duration of the campaign will depend upon the needs of the British miners, who are fighting against a wage cut and the longer work day law recently passed by parliament.

RUSSIA AND THE NEGROES

THE writer of this article, Professor William Pickens, formerly dean of Morgan College, Baltimore, is one of the most influential leaders in the Negro liberation movement in the United States. He is now field secretary of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People.

Since the time when Pickens, as a Negro laborer without any early school advantages, won the first prize for oratory at Yale University, he has been known as one of the ablest speakers and writers in the United States. He is author of the books, "Bursting Bonds" and "The American Aesop." At the LaFoliette convention in Cleveland in 1924, Pickens created a sensation by jumping on the platform as an uninvited guest, compelling the attention of the convention and making a powerful but vain plea for a stand against the ku klux klan.

N New York newspapers we have just read the following headline: Manhattan, Benjamin Lipshitz; 8th Over and over again he emphasized A. D. Manhattan, Rebecca Grecht; that altho he might eliminate himself line was the following story. We give 'Reds Trying to Convert Negroes to "Russian Communists are seeking to organize Communist groups among American Negroes, according to Scotland Yard, which has been investigating the activities of Communists here (in London). The Soviet strategy is alleged to be to induce Negroes playing in local dance halls and night clubs to accept large sums to appear in Moscow, where they would be converted to Communism and then sent to the United States to spread the doctrine."

Whether the positive statement in hat headline is true or not we do not know-and do not care-but we know that the story supporting the headline is too weak to justify the headline. But this is the usual American newspaper method of lying: to get hold of a little story which, as is evident in this case, may be only a mixture of irrelevant details and embellished guesses, and then to write some big headline which is not even justified by those details and guesses. What more for example, has the hiring of Negro vaudeville actors to come to Moscow "The clubbing of the furriers, who and put on shows to do with converting Negroes to Communism than the to come to London and put on shows Negroes to monarchism?

And, mind you, we are not saying or implying that Russian Communists would be doing anything foolish or criminal if they were seeking to convert Negroes to Communism by A crude attempt to frame-up Albert, letting them see what it is and how it Weisbord was made by a cop that works. #### CHURCH IN MEXICO HAS ALWAYS BEEN AN AGENT OF WORST REACTION

While the surface indications of the present controversy in Mexico between the church and the state appear to be of a strictly religious nature, the fact is that, at bottom, it is a political struggle between two opposed economic groups. The church, for centuries itself an oppressive landholder, has always defended the interests of the exploiting land owners. Latterly, it has used its political power in the interests of intriguing foreign groups who sought a grip on Mexico's valuable natural re-

Following the defeat of the reactionary Huerta, who was supported by the church, the constitution of 1917 was enacted which declared that the educational institutions of Mexico shall be under the control of the state and not the church and that only native Mexicans can administer the duties of the clergy.

But these regulations were not enforced until this year when the church itself precipitated the struggle by numerous attacks upon the constitution. Thus followed the decrees of the government enforcing the constitutional provisions. The church then declared the economic boycott which is in the nature of a reactionary political strike against the Mexican government. The forces opposed to the church are the rising young Mexican industrialists who are fighting foreign imperialism and the labor movement which has countered the catholic move by declaring a political strike of its own on Sunday.

NOCKELS AND FITZ WANT TO RUN THE JAIL

Better Than Fighting Against Injunctions

(By Our Untiring Reporter.)

The half a dozen members of the . L. G. W. U., who are still in the county jail because they violated an anti-picketing injunction, have the chance of a life-time if they only knew it. They may be invited a harassed judge to run the county jail.

Perhaps it never occurred to the girls, but they were too busy fighting to do much thinking. Somebody once said that history left the fighting to the fools.

Never Too Late to Learn. . Therefore Edward Nockels and John Fitzpatrick, who began to read history recently have a lot of time to devote to thinking. Those two very much abused labor leaders were recently taken to task at a federation meeting or not doing anything to help the ailed pickets, other than asking their riend Len Small for a pardon. Stung by the taunt, John and Ed swung around in their battered swivel chairs like two gigantic weather vanes. Time for Action.

Said John to Ed: "The reds will have us 'in red' politically unless we lo something for those pickets."

"I'll fight them in couples," growled Ed. "They're no good anyhow. They can't fight. If I was a young man-

David Stopped Goliath. "Now can that stuff," replied John. Do you remember the day 'Big' Fitchie walked across the room at the ederation meeting wanting to know who said, 'Sit down, you big stiff'? And little Walt of the iron workers, who never opened his bazoo until then, piped up and said, 'I said it, you big oum. What are you going to do about it?' And Fitchie sat down. Ed, that kind of stuff doesn't work as it used to in the days of old Skinny Madden. Brains is what counts today. Put on your hat and do a little thinking."

Ed Ran Into an Idea. There was silence for a few minutes. Ed was reading his favorite daily paper, the Chicago Tribune.

"I have it," he said. "They're lookng for a gang to run the county jail. Suppose we demand that the I. L. G. W. U. pickets be handed the job. This will save our hides from the reds. Surely they canno expect any more than that from us. He Saved the Day.

"Good bye, Ed," chuckled John. Only for you I wouldn't know what to do. You are a genius. Sit down and write a letter to Judge Jack Mc-

Workers Will Judge the Socialist Party on Its United Front Position

By J. LOUIS ENGDAHL.

OUTSIDE a few favored spots over the nation, there isn't much organized material with which to build the United labor front against the capitalist parties for this year's congressional elections.

Thus the organizations that do exist stand more glaringly in the limelight and their activities receive closer scrutiny.

If there existed a Labor Party with masses attached to it, the presence of the socialist party, for instance, in the political arena would receive but little notice. Whether the socialist party joined in the united front or evaded it would then be only a passing, unimportant phenomena.

But since the forces building for independent political action of the workers and farmers are weak and scattered, those forces that dodge or evade the struggle necessarily subject themselves to denunciation by and ostracism from the working class movement. * * *

In very few states does the socialist party even give an ear to the demand for the United Front of Labor for the fall elections.

The state of California is one of the few exceptions. In the Pacific coast state the socialist party has at least answered the appeal of the Workers (Communist) Party for the placing of a United Labor Ticket in the field. This indicates that there is a little ferment within the socialist ranks against the recent Pittsburgh national convention edict of the socialist party against all such United Front actions with Commun-

The disappointment, of course, comes in the very clear confession of the socialists, contained in this letter, that in California as elsewhere, the socialists have learned nothing and forgotten nothing. The socialists still stand, after seven years, at their Armageddon of those August days in 1919, when the Communist forces in America left the socialist ranks and built their own party, the American section of the Communist International.

Instead of joining with all other labor elements to fight for certain immediate interests of the workers and farmers, the socialists revive their old attacks on the Communists and demand that the Communists surrender their principles and return to an acceptance of the socialist reformism-which is not socialism-against which they rebel-ed years ago. It is easily understood how the two signatories to the California socialists' letter, Cameron H. King, state chairman, and Lena Morrow Lewis, state sceretary, cling to such filusions. They play the role of socialist officials in all countries, who combat labor's United Front activities. But it is difficult to understand how Upton Sinclair, selected as the socialist candidate for governor, can feel himself serving the working class thru imbibing such moonshine. . . .

It is hoped that the California socialists will carefully study the reply of the Executive Committee of District No. 13, of the Workers (Communist) Party, published in last Saturday's issue of The DAILY WORKER. That letter is written to meet the situation that has arisen in California, but it applies equally well to the whole nation. It is a statement of the Communist position that rank and file workers should be able to understand, even if socialist party officials, who claim to have been in the revolutionary movement for a score and more of years, fail to grasp its meaning. . . .

California is a plague spot of capitalism. Labor is practically outlawed under a dastardly state criminal syndicalist law. Courageous spokesman of the workers sit in prison. Capitalist interests are busy plundering the subject working class everywhere. The capitalist robber never rests.

The Communists, in this crisis, call for a fight to repeal the state criminal syndicalist law, a fight against the use of injunctions in labor disputes, a fight against antipicketing laws, against military training in the schools, against the plundering of the water power of the state, and a struggle for the relief of the farmers and the improvement of the working conditions of the badly exploited Mexican and Negro workers.

Cameron King, Lena Morrow Lewis and Upton Sinclair will be compelled to answer for themselves and for the socialist party if they reject the United Front demand to develop the solidarity of the workers and farmers for this very necessary struggle. Technical quibbles will not avail.

Belief in the proletarian dictatorship, the Soviet power, the Bolshevik overthrow of the capitalist state, Communist criticism of socialists and the nature of Communist activities in the trade unions, are not at issue in the placing of a United Labor Ticket in the field in California. Communists certainly intend to remain loyal to their principles. Workers who do not accept those principles will remain outside the Communist Party. Some of them may remain in the socialist party. When workers discover that Communist principles offer them the only escape from their present difficulties, then they will Party. But that is not the mediate problem.

The problem right now is the building of a United Front of labor to fight the very evident unity of the employing class in California.

There is yet time for the California socialists to accept the Communist proposal for solidarity under the standards of a United Labor Ticket on the basis clearly and definitely outlined. The socialists must make their decision in full view of the whole California working class.

THE LABOR PRESS

THE Sleeping Car Conductor-Official organ of the Order of Sleeping Car Conductors-Published Monthly-48 Pages-Illustrated.

THE Workers' Education Bureau has a department in this journal which, compared to the rest of the contents, is revolutionary even the in the July number the material in this department consists of a speech by William Green on child labor in which he says "we have a representative form of government. . . . Under our republican form of government, under our nodern civilization, they are pledged by their oaths to give protection to each and all, the weak with the strong, the poor with the rich, etc.," and an article by Irving Fisher, Yale University, on "What Money Is Not."

THERE is also a page-long article entitled "Sidelights on the World's Larg" est Bible Class," an unrestrained eulogy of the businessmen's bible lass of Kansas City.

The Ladies' Auxiliary has a column or so devoted to gossip of bridge parties and picnics.

One editorial recommends acceptance of the necessity of centralization of federal government, another boosts "labor" life insurance.

WENTY-THREE pages are devoted to correspondence from the various divisions of the union. A few examples will give an indication of the general tone-personal items and gossip similar to that in the society column of a small town sheet:

"The conductors on the Rock Island to Colorado Springs take this means of thanking the Cables Hotel for their very courteous treatment." "Brother J. J. Elliot has discarded his old boat for a runabout roadster, and is now cutting the figure eight on all corners.

"Mrs. Joseph V. Martin, senior partner of Martin and Martin, men's clothing store at 1716 Market street, died April 14. He was a wonderful friend to railroad men for many years.

"Night Agent Blakely says Class Number 76 is still hitting on all six at the Men's Bible Class at Ivanhoe Temple. All out-of-town conductors that are laying over in Kansas City are cordially invited. "The Safety First meeting last month was well attended. Mr. Robinson presided and it was enjoyed by all."

THE reason for the complete lack of anything of a workingclass flavor in this journal is probably explained by an item under the general head of "Grievances" in which one of the members claims that instead of receiving $325.52 for his month's pay, he should have received $387.62. The grievance was settled by the conductor receiving $48.86 additional.

The publication in full of the "new railway labor act"-the Watson-Parker bill-in the July number together with the tone of the journal is an indication that the theory of "worker-employer co-operation" meets with little if any opposition in this union.

PUBLIC OPINION—What Is It Worth?

JAMES MALLENDER, Machinist.

CLEVELAND .- There seems to be a growing tendency during strikes, pecially when the fight is favoring the workers, for public opinion to step and demand that the strike be called off.

In the city of Cleveland it was this so-called public opinion that stopped the building laborers' strike. A strike that was fought for 13 weeks and was practically won, but, on the eve of victory, public opinion demanded that the strike be called off. So the men went back to work on the old conditions, agreeing to arbitration at some future date, which as any worker knows, means only one thing-the strike was lost. Again in the Painters' strike which

THE AMERICAN LEFT WING SHOULD GET INTO STEP WITH THE LEFT WING OF THE BRITISH WORKERS

Note.—This is the third in a series of articles written to stimulate the development of The DAILY WORKER into an effective mass organ of the left wing of American labor. It shows how the mass of the British left wing is struggling in the same direction, toward the same goal, in spite of the treacherous acts of some left leaders.

By J. LOUIS ENGDAHL

These tasks are not much different from those that face the American might try to operate with scabs. The party. In fact they run parallel in many respects.

Second. To distribute half a million opies of the pamphlet, "The Workers Communist) Party-What It Stands For, Why Every Worker Should

These are the immediate tasks in the ceaseless campaign to build our party into a mass Communist Party, and to secure a mass influence for the party's official organ.

The resolution on The DAILY WORKER adopted by the last party plenum truly stated that:

"After two and one-half years the party still stands before the task of ouilding its official organ, The DAILY WORKER, into a mass organ of the

"This task is inextricably bound up with the struggle to develop the party nto a mass Communist Party and the building of a broad left wing in the American labor movement.

'It is impossible for The DAILY WORKER to develop on a broad scale inless the party influence among the masses is also widened, and conversely the party would be seriously handicapped without the development of a mass organ, a daily newspaper in the language of the country.

It is only thru the full realization of these facts, which are very simple in themselves, that every reader of The DAILY WORKER will give unreserv edly of his time and energy toward the accomplishment of these tasks.

It is not difficult to analyze the reasons why there is a great influx into the British party at the present time, and why the demand grows for the 'Worker's Daily."

The officialdom of British labor did not relish the general strike into which the labor masses forced them. As a result they betrayed the struggle at the first opportunity, using their leadership to defeat the interests of the workers. This was not only true of he right wing leaders; it also applied to some who had been called left wing officials. The general strike therefore acted as a great teacher. It showed to large masses of workers that everything the Communists had said about the General Council of the British Trade Union Congress was rue. As a result there was a further movement to the left of British labor resulting in new members for the party, new readers for the party's oficial organ.

American labor has not yet advanced to the general strike stage Its left wing is still very small. But t is growing. The ultra-reaction of the labor ofand other industries will result in the workers developing their left wing to make the fight for them. This development is slow in the great basic industries. But the ferment is there.

Already in some sections of the needle trades the workers have turned heir backs on the former pre-war left wing leadership of the socialists that deserted the struggle against the osses as it made war on militancy in Ladies' Garment Workers' Union, under the new left wing leadership in New York City has resulted in the strengthening of our Communist press, and of an increasing influx of workers rom this industry into the party. It was significant that the furriers took an active part in the July Fourth DAILY WORKER encampment and that they pledged themselves to secure 5,000 points in the recent DAILY

WORKER subscription campaign. Every labor struggle, no matter how small, can yield its proportionate share in building the left wing within the American labor movement. But it devolves upon the active left wingers to transmute these developments into sterling militancy. "Tired" militants will never secure the desired results.

. . . This situation, of course, calls for greater activities of the readers of The DAILY WORKER in the labor unions, more energetic efforts among the workers on the job. Militants must become better propagandists, better educators, better organizers of the workers than they have ever been. The backwardness of the American labor movement can be successfully ought only by the militants taking advantage of every new development that offers itself as an opportunity for another drive ahead.

Let the militants of America join the militants of Great Britain in the drive for more strength for the left wing thru getting more readers for the left wing press.

Every new subscriber for The DAILY WORKER helps build it a little more as a mass expression of aspiring American labor,

Every conceivable kind of organizational measure is being taken to bring together the children in order that capitalism may exert its influence over them even after they have left school.

In Passaic capitalism showed its future trouble and lessen the effects "to carry on its good work." Mass probably was the cause of such action on the part of the bosses.

Capitalism Employs Experts To Train Child.

Capitalism exploys shrewd, expert men and women to train and mislead the workers' child. It's scout leaders social workers and teachers are picked for their ability to make loyal patriotic slaves of the children and a close watch is kept on them.

Capitalism is spending millions of dollars annually on the organization of working children to prolong the existence of the capitalist system.

Until the league began its organization of junior groups, organized labor had failed to recognize the importance of forming children's organizations to counteract the influence of the capitalist training. Its Sunday School attempts toward this end were weak and ineffective. They failed to rally the broad masses of workers' children and working children.

The Pioneer Group, put a powerful days, as follows: weapon into the hands of the labor movement. The form of organization appealed to children and made possible an effective centralization of efforts to reach and educate the masses

When the foreman came up to Charlie and began to abuse him, telling him that he works too slow, doesn't do his work right, Charlie could no longer remain silent. He told the foreman that he bothers him without cause and that his work had been done right.

Shortly after Charlie was called into the office. He was handed a check and told that he was no longer needed. As Charlie went out of the office he asked the foreman why he was fired.

The foreman showed Charlie a sign on the wall. On this sign were the rules of the factory. He pointed out the line that said "Every Worker Must Obey the Foreman."

"Alright," says Charlie, "put me back to work and I'll do as you tell

"Oh, no," replied the foreman, with scorn. "If you can speak to fresh to a foreman, you'll never be any good." Charlie left the office with tears in his eyes and with a deep, deep hatred for foremen and bosses.

THE CO-OPERATIVE MOVEMENT

Chapter I. Introduction and Definitions.

TWO main ideas are embraced in co-operation: (a) co-operation in cor sumption (the distributive side); (b) co-operation in production, Consumers' Societies.

In Great Britain the most familiar example of co-operative effort is that of the "store," the proprietors of which are the customers. The aim here of the Alien Property Custodian, and with discontent over being instructed is to supplant the middleman, whose profits, if the business is conducted on Johnson holds his present job because by their union officials to unload scab ordinary commercial lines, are saved. These localized societies (with few exceptions), are known as distributive retail societies; on the continent as consumers' societies. Such societies in most countries, federate together in co-operative wholesale societies. This kind of co-operation for a common purpose has met with comparatively great success.

Productive Societies. In (b) the purpose is for the workers to supplant the employer by means of their own or borrowed capital. The profits of the enterprise, otherwise appropriated by the employer, go to swell the wages of the workers, by means of bonuses, etc. This kind of co-operation has had a very limited success. It is easy to see that productive co-operation can only be carried on successfully in those indus- Republicans Assail tries which employ small numbers of workers, where a small amount of gates are being sent to hundreds of starting capital only is required for farmer and labor organizations thru-tools, machinery and materials, and where the commodities are destined home of the largest and most prosper- mainly for local markets. Again, the limited success of a number of such ventures, as in boot and shoe manufacture, is only possible by the fact that the market for the and assembly districts in Brooklyn. goods is through the channels of consummers' societies.

We must carefully note the distinction between the C. W. S., or local distributive societies' productive side, and co-operation in production proper. The C. W. S. productive side is a development of the distributive side; the status of the workers employed His Home Thru Fire in the factories, etc., being similar to that of those employed by capitalist JACKSON, Miss., Aug. 1.-Edward concerns, neither owning nor controling the factories.

NEW YORK, August 1. - New York's subway strike was called off early today. Edward P. Lavin, strike leader, made official annoouncement to this effect following a conference with George Keegan, assistant to Frank Hedley, president and general manager of the Interborough Rapid Transit company.

A statement issued by the "general strike committee" blamed the strike's failure upon lack of support from organized labor. The strikers will return to their old jobs this morning at no reduction of salary.

AMERICAN WORKERS MUST BEAR COST OF DEBT "SETTLEMENTS"

WASHINGTON, Aug. 1 .- (FP)-With his speech opposing the Italian debt settlement. Senator Shipstead of Minnesota, farmer-labor, is sending out the tabulation made by Sen. Howell of Nebraska, progressive republican, showing the cost to each state in the union, according to its share of the total American population in the 1920 census, of the debt cancellations nego tiated with European countries.

The debtors who received these allowances were Belgium, Italy, Esthonia, Rumania, Czecho-Slovakia and Latvia. The sum involved in these Reapportionment Bill settlements is $2,826,685,000, and payments amount to 11/2% interest for 62 years, after which the debts are cancelled

Assuming that money will cost the American government 41/4% for the first eight years and 3% thereafter, off in 62 years, Howell's figures show asked whether he would support a these deficits, by states:

WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE.

WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE.

J. Arnold Ross, oil operator, formerly Jim Ross, teamster, is unsuccessful in signing a lease with property holders at Beach City, Cal., because of intrigues of other operators and quarrels among the holders. While he is at Beach City, Bunny, his thirteen-year-old son, meets Paul Watkins, slightly older. Paul has run away from home. His father is a poor rancher in the San Elido Valley who is a "Holy Roller." Paul goes away to make his living on the road and Bunny goes about learning the oil business from his Dad who is bringing in a well at Prospect Hill. Dad was working hard and Bunny suggests a quall hunting trip to the San Elido Valley. Dad agrees and shortly they, arrive at the Watkins ranch and pitch their camp. In hunting for quall they find oil oozing out of the ground and Dad wheedles the sale of the ranch out of old Watkins and also arranges to secretly purchase adjacent lands. Paul's little sister, Ruth, and Bunny become friends. Bunny starts to high school at Beach City, With plenty of money and social standing he enters into the life of the school. His Dad warns him of dangers, tobacco, drink and women—a little bashfully on the latter. He falls in love with another student, Rose Tainton. In the meantime Dad's oil business grows rapidly. The World War begins and Dad, along with other capitalists, benefits by selling oil to both belligerents. Christmas holidays come and Dad and Bunny go quall hunting on their new preserve. Bunny meets Ruth again. Ruth tells him that Paul sent her a book that spoke against the bible and that her Dad caught her reading it and whaled her.

The things that Paul had learned about! He had read Huxley and Spencer, and he talked about Galton and Weissmann and Lodge and Lankester, and a lot of names Bunny had never even heard of. Poor Bunny's pitiful little high school knowledge shrank up to nothing; and how silly seemed football victories all of a sudden. Dad didn't know about these matters either; he was a man well into his fifties, but he had never met a student of science before! It was interesting to see how quickly he took hold of these things. Paul told how investigators were trying to find out whether acquired characteristics could be transmitted by heredity; it was a most important question, and Waissmann had cut off the tails of mice to see if the next generations would have tails. But Paul said that was silly, because there wasn't any real change in a mouse when you cut off its tail, no vital quality; the thing to find out was, how long it took the tail to heal up when you cut it off, and whether the new generations of mice could heal up quicker.

Paul said the way to settle the question of inheritance of acquired characteristics was to stimulate the animals to develop some new faculty, and see if new generations would develop it more easily. Dad got the point at once, and said you might learn something by studying trotting horses and their pedigrees; to which Paul replied, exactly. Dad would like to know more about such questions; and Paul had a book with him, which Dad was welcome to read. Ruth was washing the dishes, and Paul went out to get some more wood, and Dad looked at Bunny and said, That's a fine young fellow, son;" and then Bunny felt a glow of pride, right up to the roots of his hair-because, you see, Paul was his discovery, just like the Paradise oil-field, that was some day going to occupy this spot!

So then Dad settled down to talk business with Paul. Dad wanted someone to occupy this ranch, and Paul said he had thought it over, and would do it if they could make a fair arrangement. Dad asked how he could get along, and Paul said he had saved up three hundred dollars from his wages, and he would get a few goats, and put in some beans this spring, and some strawberries that would bring an income next year; he would pay Dad one-half whatever he got for the crops. They had an argument over that, for Dad thought he ought to pay Paul to act as care-taker, but Paul said he wouldn't take it on that basis, he would insist on going shares, in the regular way they rented land in these parts. And when Mr. Ross came on hunting of fishing trips, Paul of course would move out into the tent. But Dad said no, he was planning to build himself a shack, a better place than this, and Paul might help the carpenter and earn wages if he wanted to. Paul said he could do the building himself, if Dad said so-everything but hanging the doors and windows; a fellow learned to do about all the jobs there were on a ranch. And Dad asked if Ruth would stay with Paul, and Paul said he would settle in the neighborhood, and go easy, and Ruth would come to see him, until gradually their father got used to the idea. It wouldn't be possible to keep Paul and Ruth apart—especially now since Eli was away from home nearly all the time.

So Dad asked about Eli, and the development of the Third Revelation. Only three or four days after Eli had made his announcement in the Paradise Church there had come a deputation from the church at Roseville, saying that they had heard the fame of Eli's miracles, and would he come and preach to them. And Eli preached, and the "signs" were manifested, and so the new prophet grew bolder. Now he was being driven about the country in somebody's costly limousine, and in the back part of the car was a stack of the crutches of people who had been 'healen." These crutches would be set up in sight of each new congregation, and nearly always they were added to; and there fell over the head of the prophet a shower of silver dollars and half dollars, and banknotes wrapped in coins. Eli had now given himself a title; he was the Messenger of the Second Coming, and the hour of Christ's return to earth was to be made known through him. Sometimes whole congregations would be swept off their feet and converted to the True Word; or again, some would be converted, and there would be a split, and a new church in that place.

"How do you suppose he works it?" Dad asked.

"He really does cure people," said Paul; "there are someabout here you can talk to. I've been reading a book on suggestion; it seems that kind of thing has been going on for thousands!

"Does he send any money home to his folks?" Dad asked. And Paul smiled, rather grimly. "The money is sacred," her said; "it belongs to the Holy Spirit, and Eli is His treasurer."

The Drug Clerks' Union

Like the fellow reading a message from home, who did not know whether to laugh or to cry because of a blurred letter which could drastically alter the meaning of a word, we are at loss whether to giggle or growl over the following comment on the organization of the Chicago Drug Clerks' Union that appeared in the official organ of the Chicago Retail Druggists Association. Our sophisticated You evidently misunderstood me. readers will probably say: "Some union!" and let it go at that:

"One of the most significant stands this board has taken is the one in regard to the drug clerk's union. After numerous conferences with the officers of the Chicago Drug Clerk's Union, and after having received the promise of their officers to confer with the C. R. D. A. on all questions of policy of the union, your board without a dissenting vote decided to work along with them for the betterment of conditions in the drug business. This is the age of organization, and we as members of the C. R. D. A., who are thoroughly convinced of its value cannot consistently oppose the organization of others. Futhermore we believe that much good will come from this step we have taken, provided the union lives up to its promise and confers with the C. R. D. A. on all problems, so that an equitable solution may be reached. The Drug Clerks' Union realizes that they can accomplish little without the moral support of the C. R. D. A. and it is hardly probable that they will do anything to incur our disapproval. The C. R. D. A. should keep in close touch with the union, and I would recommend that from time to time we send a representative to their meetings to address them on various topics. I believe that it would be advisable to have men address them on subjects of pharmaceutical interest, salesmanship, window dressing, advertising, accounting, profits, etc. If this cannot be done without cost, an appropriation by the C. R. D. A. should be made for that purpose. We all know that a good clerk is more valuable than a poor one, and any money we spend in improving our clerks is well spent. The clerk today realizes that if he wants to make his position more lucrative that it is largely up to him to do so. A proprietor of one of the chain stores has this slogan for his clerks, 'If you want more money get it from the customer, not from the boss."

Another Visit from Abroad

The federal government of Australia is sending to the United States a delegation of industrialists, "representing" employers and employes to investigate the reasons for the industrial prosperity of the United States. The government will pay all the expenses.

This delegation could very well save the time and money spent on the trip as well as the printers' ink and white paper that will be ruined by the written report of what they will surely learn. It is an Australian edition of the Daily Mail investigation which also represented "capital and labor" tho the labor side of it was so watery that even J. H. Thomas did not sponsor it.

As was expected the Daily Mail delegation report, attributed the prosperity of the United States to the better feeling existing be- the masses of village correspondents employers and employes in this country. The workers work from the most distant corners harder here than in England, produce more, and the employes know how to secure their co-operation. Needless to say no bonafide members of Australian trade unions will be in this fake delegation.

If McGoorty appoints John or Ed to the committee said John or Ed will blow a little hole in the wall and let the girls crawl out. This is a better method than asking Len Small for a pardon, or fighting the injunction.

SOVIET WORKERS REPLY TO THE INQUIRIES FROM UNITED STATES TOILERS

The following letters are from Russian workers in reply to inquiries from their comrades in the United States who are interested in learning how things are going in the Soviet Union. The writers are on the job, in the factories, mines or on the farms. They are all taking a conscious part in building up the economy of their own country. However hard their task is they are confident of success and hopeful that the day is not far distant when the workers of every country will join with them in making this world a heaven for the toilers.

Dear Comrade Rank:

I will try to clear up the questions you do not understand. Firstly you sk whether we have piece work. Yes, piece work does exist and at the pres ent time we cannot get on without it.

I wrote the British comrades an ar icle concerning the economic ques tion and the life of the Russian work ers in the metal industry. I also wrote about direct piece work. And you

Further, there are many things cet besides my wages: one pair of sapogs (leather top boots), and a working coat and even trousers for a year. I also get 11/2 pounds of soap a nonth and a towel which is changed

Under czarism we used to come ut of the factories looking like so many devils. The iron founders could pride themselves specially about this.

You ask whether the workers are entitled to free tools supplied by the enterprise. Yes, they are. And if I work with my own tools I get 12 roubles a year for them. A moulder probably gets much more for his tools than a founder. You ask in what form we receive wages. We get them twice a month. We get the money individually in a little envelope without leaving our places. This is a new innovation which is very convenient.

We have no deductions from our wages. I earn from 100 to 150 roubles a month, from which I make payments to the trade union, and one or two other organizations, which altogether takes up about 8 roubles. We pay our dues here on a percentage basis: the less one receives, the less he pays for membership dues, for rent, and municipal services. Nothing more is aken into account and the workers' pay equally for such things as bread, oots, clothes, for instance.

There is one question I would like o ask you. How much do you earn nd what are your expenses. And how the insurance of workers arranged. With Communist greetings to you, Ivan Ivanov.

Weigh Boss No. 2

Life is short and art is fleeting, se Art Shields gives us another story on the weigh boss. Here it is:

All cars were alike to the Weigh Boss at No. 2 Mine, Winber, Pennsylvania. Some of them piled high with coal like a hay wagon piled with hay. He weighed them all alike: 1,900

One day a 12-ton mine lochmotive got stuck on the sca is by mistake.

"What does that weigh?" a miner jeered.

"Nineteen hundred!" shouted the Weigh Boss impatiently, without looking up. "Rush it over, you Bugger!'

A CLEAN SWEEP, WE HOPE.

I called attention to my presence thats hardly any distance!" The dismay in my voice stirred her humor. "If I'd known we were to meet this morning, I might have chosen a more distant hotel." She swept me with a mischievous glance.-From a magazine romance.

PARTY HARMONY.

(And it came to pass, that when Mr. Wright, Negro Republican boss of Unicago's Second Ward came before Senator Reed, the party discipline of the G. O. P. came into view. Let the republican Tribune tell it):

Mr. Wright said that he "appointed and removed" the members of his organization; and "they all act in harmony with me, or they don't stay long.'

"You have an understanding" with them on getting the vote

"No, I don't have any understanding with them; I instruct them what to do."

100 PER CENTERS.

Two years ago George Washington was declared to have been the first of American realtors. A year later a learned graduate of Amherst College proclaimed Jesus Christ the first of Rotarians. Not to be outdone, a committee of true patriots has Just elected god to be an American citizen.—From The Nation.
