DR. Streseman, German foreign minister, sent a congratulatory message to George Bernard Shaw on the occasion of his seventieth birthday. Shaw, in return issued a fulsome eulogy of the Germans and took several wicked slaps at the British gov. Utilities Baron Refuses ernment, not because they are helping the coal owners smash the miners' union and starve their women and children. Oh, no! Such matters are beneath the dignity of a literary "master." What Shaw was mad with the government about was their refusal to allow him to use the radio for a speech he intended to deliver as a feature of his birthday fete.

SHAW said among other things in his reply to the German message: "To Germany I owe my recognition in Europe as a thinker and dramatic poet. What is more important, Europe owes to Germany such European sense as exists—the importance of thot and dramatic poetry and the value of lives devoted to them. Therefore a tribute from Germany confers on me a distinction that no other nation in the world can give. If I were a German I should be justifiably proud of this." Yet this is the same Shaw who joined the "barbaric" British government with gusto and for a consideration in a war to smash the "civilized" German government in

From the questioning by Senator Reed, democrat of Missouri, chairman, it was apparent the slush fund committee had received confidential information that Insull was a heavy contributor to Crowe. It was indicated that if Insull did contribute to Crowe, the gift was used on behalf of the candidacy of Joseph F. Savage for county judge.

MADISON, Wis., August 4.-Two hundred photostatic copies of letters and manuscripts of the First International in the archives of the Wisconsin State Historical Society here have been sent to the Marx-Engels institute at Moscow. These letters are in English, German and French and represent most of the business done by the First International when it had its headquarters in New York. They all deal with the prevalent socialist theories and the researches of various members of the International.

This collection is one of the most valuable of the records of the First International while in this country. The Marx-Engels institute tried to make an arrangement with the University of Wisconsin to have the documents sent to Moscow where they would be copied. The university heads arranged to have photostats made for the Moscow institute.

CLOAKMAKERS STRIKE IN PHILADELPHIA TO OBTAIN EQUALIZATION

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 4.-Fifteen hundred cloakworkers employed in 55 shops have quit work here in response to a call by the local branch of the joint board of the cloakmakers' union. This means tying up practically the whole industry in Philadelphia.

The strike was called to bring about equalization of wages thruout the market, to obtain an agreement whereby if a worker changes jobs he will receive the same wage at his new place as at the previous one, and to provide for cash security from manufacturers and jobbers to guarantee the final agreement. Manufacturers are objecting strenuously to the latter demand.

The Bankers Busy.

It is also rumored that powerful American financial interests are bringing pressure to bear on the government in the interests of the church. The bankers are said to have informed Calles that the catholic boycott was becoming intolerable for the banking interests.

It is apparent that the church has the worst of the battle so far. Its claim that the great majority of the masses were on its side was completely punctured by the splendid demonstration held in the city last Sunday. Reports from the provinces also indicate that the majority of the peasants are solidly against the pope.

The Socialists Support the Capitalist Attack on the Soviet Union

By J. LOUIS ENGDAHL.

THE Communist Party of the Union of Soviet Republics quickly met the recent situation that resulted from an intolerable condition within its political bureau, and then again proceeded with its work of rapidly building Soviet economy on a firm socialist basis.

It is the success with which the Soviet Union overcomes all of its difficulties, this last one especially, that stirs the wrath of all its en-

Faked reports of disturbances within the Soviet Union, following the removal of Gregory Zinoviev from his place in the political committee of the party, only reweal the hysterical rage of Russian and world labor's foes.

It is significant that the Riga propaganda, sent out from the Latvian white terrorist capital, finds welcome admission to the columns of the socialist press in the United States, that fervently prays for greater trials, and difficulties for the Workers' and Peasants' Republic. It is well to publish a complete, typical Riga dispatch as it appeared recently in the Milwaukee Leader, edited by Victor L. Berger, socialist congressman. This dispatch includes in its small space practically all the lies and incriminations that are peddled every time the opportunity is afforded the enemy press. Here

"Six divisions of the newly formed foreign legion have been sent to suppress the outbreak.

"Reports of disturbing conditions in Russia continue to be circulated here. "The most recent report is that Trotsky, alarmed at a threatening breakup of the Soviet ranks following the dismissal of Zinoviev from the political bureau, planned to visit one of the regiments where his influence is great to call upon them to march on Moscow and seize the Kremlin and the government offices.

"The Soviet bureau is said to have frustrated the plan and to have contemplated the arrest of Trotsky.

"Zinoviev is reported to be a prisoner in his own home."

It may be said, without hesitation, that not a single one of these alleged incidents has any basis in fact. The same report, with a little change in wording, has been repeatedly broadcasted to the world during the last nine years. No one knows this better than the editor of the Milwaukee Leader, Victor Berger himself. Now that congress has adjourned it is taken for granted that he is back in Milwaukee directing the affairs of his paper. If so, he must be held directly responsible for the appearance in his paper of such malicious falsehoods, which does not harmonize very well with the fact that he has introduced a resolution in congress demanding the recognition of the Union of Soviet Republics." Berger is credited with the declaration that since bankers and great industrialists are doing business with the Soviet Union, and urging that it should be recognized by the United States government, why should he not demand the same thing. Reasoning in the same way perhaps, Berger's editorial understudies may feel that because the anti-Soviet capitalist press publishes these news fakes, therefore the anti-Soviet socialist press must travel in the same footsteps. If the case is otherwise, then the workers who read the Milwankee Leader are certainly entitled to an explanation and apology from the socialist congressman.

The case of the New Leader, the socialist publication in New York City is not much different. It uses the Zinoviev incident in an effort to attack Communist activities in the American labor unions, After all their experiences during the last nine years since the Bolshevik revolution, including what they had learned before, the socialists do not yet know the difference between a political party and a labor union. But even if they did, the socialist argument wouldn't hold. Members of a political party build their organization on fundamental principles, on which they are all agreed. This is especially true of Communist Parties that permit of considerable inner democracy but nevertheless insist on the strictest discipline.

Trade unions on the other hand are organized on the broadest possible basis to include all workers of all political beliefs. This the Communists insist on. This the socialists object to, joining the most reactionary elements in the labor movement in charging that the Communists with left wingers generally, when they state their views, are "boring within" the labor move-

There can therefore be no analogy between the activities of Zinoviev in the All-Union Communist Party. and those of Communists within the trade unions, as the socialist "Leader" tries to argue and on this false basis incite new actions against the left wing trade unionists in this

The strength of a political party depends very decisively on all of its members holding the same political views. The strength of a labor union, on the other hand, depends decisively on the fact whether it comprises all or nearly all of the persons working at the trade or industry, irrespective of their political views. While the political party which tolerates divergent political tendencies within its ranks is heading for destruction, the labor union. however, which does not tolerate all political views within its ranks paralyzes itself and defeats the purpose of its very existence.

Zinoviev and those who think with him have had every opportunity to bring their views before the All-Union Communist Party. The socialists on the other hand would completely gag, if not expel if they could, not only the Communists, but all militant left wingers from the unions. They tried it in the International Ladies' Garment Workers' Union but failed. They have failed in other unions.

The Russian Bolshevik revolution has sometimes been described as "the greatest strike in history." Zinoviev has been part of the leadership of that struggle. When he tried to go contrary to that leadership, by organizing a secret fraction to advance his opposition policies, he had to be removed to maintain the unity of the struggle to advance the cause of the Russian and the world revolution.

During recent needle trades struggles in New York City, it was the socialists, altho part of the strike leadership, who seized every opportunity to sabotage the struggle. Nevertheless, they were tolerated in the union, altho every effort was made to expose their criminal activities before all the workers in the industry. All workers in the industry must be united in a single organization to fight for their immediate economic needs. That is the basis of the amalgamation struggle of the left wing led by the Communists. The socialists oppose this unity of the workers.

The socialists, if they view the situation rightly, will get little comfort out of recent developments in the All-Union Communist Party. They will only behold a strengthening of Communist forces, not only in the Soviet Union, but thruout the world. For the unity of the All-Union Communist Party and the Communist International is stronger Arrest Strike Leader.

Louis Hyman, chairman of the General Strike Committee, charged that Carmody is assuming the role of strikebreaker and that the arrest of important strike officials was a desperate attempt to demoralize the strikers. Charles S. Zimmerman, vice-chairman of the strike committee; J. Boruchowitz, secretary of the strike committee, and Abe Zirlin, chairman of the strikers' relief committee were arrested as they headed a procession of 20,000 pickets thru the garment district. Thru police blundering, the union claimed, Hyman, who was with the others at the time, was not arrest ed tho Capt. Carmody personally visited ed the picket line and ordered the wholesale arrests. "We feel certain," Hyman declared "that Capt. Carmody is playing lone hand, and it was gratifying to find that Magistrate Brodsky was not impressed with the alleged dangers of peaceful picketing."

Judge Recognizes Frame-Up. An affidavit, introduced by counsel for the Designers' Mutual Aid Association in an attempt to have made permanent an injunction against the designers' union preventing picketing was characterized as spurious by counsel for the defendants before Supreme Court Justice Cain. like "an unlettered cloakmaker." In his argument before Crain, Mr. Hillquit, who with Morris Rothenberg, appeared for the defendants, urged that the complaint be dismissed on the ground that it is made in the name of a membership corporation which could not possibly be an injured party. The complaint, he added, was the complaint of several individual members and was not binding on the entire membership. He warned that the court would create a precedent by issuing an injunction on behalf of a number of persons not at all affected by the alleged injuries. Judge Crain asked Hillquit to submit his authorities on this point calling it a fine point

WASHINGTON, Aug. 4. - A pheomenal increase in the importation of rubber from Mexico was reported by the department of commerce For the first five months of this year 4,663,132 pounds of wild or Gay. ule rubber were brought in, practically double the amount for the same period of 1925. Most of the rubber is harvested in the vicinity of Saltillo. It is the product of a wild shrub, growing over a vast territory. It is cut down and put thru a mill and the crude rubber pressed out. Az fast as the plant is uprooted another grows in its place. The supply is said to be inexhaust-

TWENTY-NINE FORTY-ONE -MUST BE TEN THOUSAND

Two Weeks to Do It In

DESPITE the great improvement in the number of shop and street nuclei sending in their settlement for the United Labor Ticket Special Assessment Stamps during the past ten days the total number of members whose payments have been reported is only TWO THOUSAND NINE HUNDRED AND FORTY-ONE.

There are between ten and twelve-thousand dues paying members in the reorganized party. Thus only ONE OUT OF EVERY FOUR MEMBERS HAVE PAID THE ASSESSMENT according to the nuclei reports.

Unquestionably many members have made payment whose payments have not yet been sent to the National Office.

In view of this situation the time for collecting the assessment and making the settlement has been extended another two weeks-until AUGUST FIFTEENTH.

DURING THESE TWO WEEKS EVERY NUCLEUS WILL HAVE A MEETING. THE QUESTION OF PAYMENT OF THE ASSESSMENT MUST BE TAKEN UP, THE COLLECTION MADE AND A SETTLEMENT SENT TO THE NATIONAL OFFICE. Members who do not have the assessment stamp in their dues book are not in good standing in the party and are not entitled to vote at party

The Dominance of the Mexican Catholic Church Is the Result of Centuries of Rule by Priests

The hold which the catholic church has on the peasant masses of Mexico has been built up thru long years of Intrigue and tradition. The padres, especially in the country districts, have been the law. Despite the numerous revolutions that have officially wrecked the original great power of the church it is still in a position to challenge the constitution of the country. In the large cities, however, where there is a large working class population, the influence of the church is weak as shown by the huge labor demonstration of last Sunday. Above is the big cathedral at Guadalupe with worshippers waiting to get in and below is a religious funeral that occurred there just before the boycott was declared.

GOVERNMENT PLEASED BY GREAT INCREASE IN PRODUCTION FROM SPEEDING UP OF THE WORKERS

By LELAND OLDS, Federated Press.

A new industrial revolution is the term used by the U.S. department of labor to introduce a series of studies on the tremendously increased productivity of American labor. The department says this new industries revolution "may far exceed in economic importance that older industrial revolution ushered in by invention in England in the last quarter of the 18th century, which eventually transformed English industrial, political and social life."

Waterproof Garment Workers Win Strike

NEW YORK, Aug. 4 .- Twelve hundred workers answered the strike call of the Waterproof Garment Workers' their respective strike halls

The bosses seeing the enthusiasm of the workers and the spirit in which they answered the union call were almost overcome. They never saw such great solidarity. Immediately the bosses begged for a settlement and the result is that about 70 per cent of the manufacturers have already settled with the union and have given in to all the demands of the union.

The workers have gained a complete victory, winning the 40-hour week, no piece work, and elimination of many other exils. The union will now have full control over the contractors and no boss will be able to send out work to contractors without the knowledge of the union. Every contractor must be registered with the union.

Owing to great demand for settlements the union has decided not to make any more settlements until tomorrow when the settlement committee will again hold a session. The workers have decided not to go to work until tomorrow. They are celebrating their victory.

Relief Must Be Intensified.

In the United States, the working class, thru its organizations, is moving forward to an intensive relief campaign. The International Workers' Aid, which has sent thousands of dollars to feed the starving women and children in the districts of Kent and Wales, has organized nationwide collection days for Saturday, Aug. 7 and Sunday, Aug. 8. In cities where permits could not be secured for tag days, house to house collections will take

Saturday, Aug. 7 every worker tion list and make collections in the ! shop from his shop mates and friends. Every dime, every quarter, every dollar will go far to swelling the war chest of the miners.

Workers Needed.

Every worker, every member of organized labor, every friend of the working class should be active on these two days. Every worker who understands that workers must help regardless of geographic lines, color or race distinctions, will not rest on these two days until he or she will have done something towards the victory of the striking coal miners.

So far, the following cities have completed arrangements for the collection drive. Volunteers will report at the centers mentioned or get in touch with the person in charge as named. NEW YORK CITY

WAR PROFITEERS BACK MILITARY TRAINING CAMPS

for Propaganda

By CARL HAESSLER, Federated Press Correspondent.

As 2,200 youths enter the Gitizens Military Training camp at Ft. Sheridan and smaller numbers pass thru the gates of similar camps elsewhere, they are not told that the propaganda that brought them there is supported by the biggest and most notorious war profiteers and war contract corporations in the country. Congress appropriates the money for the camps. On the last 2 pages of the pamphlet are displayed the names of 112 individuals and 106 corporations that sponsor the camps and, as the heading puts it, "some are contributing to the local, state or national expenses incident to this type of civilian co-operation with the war department." None of these but only from the propaganda, lobbying and recruiting for them.

WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE.

WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE.

J. Arnold Ross, oil operator, formerly Jim Ross, teamster, is unsuccessful in signing a lease with property holders at Beach City, Cal., because of intrigues of other operators and quarrels among the holders. While he is at Beach City, Bunny, his thirteen-year-old son, meets Paul Watkins, slightly cider. Paul has run away from home. His father is a poor rancher in the San Elido Valley who is a "Holy Roller." Paul goes away to make his living on the road and Bunny goes about learning the oil business from his Dad who is bringing in a well at Prospect Hill. Dad was working hard and Bunny suggests a quall hunting trip to the San Elido Valley. Dad agrees and shortly they arrive at the Watkins ranch and pitch their camp. In hunting for quall they find oil oozing out of the ground and Dad wheedles the sale of the ranch out of old Watkins and also arranges to secretly purchase adjacent lands. Paul's little sister, Ruth, and Bunny become friends. Bunny stagts to high school at Beach City. With plenty of money and social standing he enters into the life of the school. He falls in love with another student, Rose Taintor. In the meantime Dad's oil business grows rapidly. The World War begins and Dad, along with other capitalists, benefits by selling oil to both belligerents. Bunny arranges for Paul to come and live with Ruth on a nearby rangh. Paul had been Ilving with a lawyer who took a liking to him and bequeathed his library to Paul when he died. Paul "has it out" with his "holy roller!" father who scorns him as unfaithful. His brother Eli is a hopeless religious fanatic, subject to fits. Eli is now going around the country acting a prophet and "healing" people. Bunny, anxious to get back to the ranch, suggests to Dad that the two go there and build a shack near the house that Paul and Ruth stop in.

. . . . CHAPTER VI THE WILD CAT

Dad had thought things over, and studied his bank account, and given his decision; they would drill the Ross Junior-Paradise "Notices were sent out," he said, No. 1, and do it quick, and give the "Excelsior Pete" crowd a run for their money; there was no use letting the Big Five think they owned the whole oil industry. Dad would stick here and see things started; so he phoned for his geogolist, and hunted up a contractor to figure over a well for water.

Mr. Banning, the geologist, came next day, and gave Bunny's hopes a knock over the head at the very outset. He said Dad was right in his idea that you couldn't count very much on that sult was that cotton dropped from 30c streak of oil on the top of the ground. You might come on oil sands one or two hundred feet down, but they wouldn't be likely to amount to much; if that was all you were looking for, you might bring in one of those little drilling-rigs on wheels such as they used back in Pennsylvania! But out here, said Mr. Banning, the real oil sands lay deep, and you never knew what you'd find till you got there. But he liked the looks of the district, and thought it worth a chance; he spent a couple of days wandering over the hills with Dad and Bunny, studying the slope of the strata, and finally he and Dad chose the side of a hill on the ordered mortgaged livestock driven in Watkins ranch, not far from the place where Bunny had sat and talked with Ruth while she tended the goats.

The water-well man came, offering to drill a four inch well for $2.12 a foot; and Dad signed a contract with him, on the basis of his making so many feet a day, and getting a bonus if he went were dead cattle on the railroad right above that, and paying a forfeit if he fell below it. After which of way, in the garages, in the streets, Dad and Bunny drove over to pay a visit to Mr. Jeremiah Carey, in the alleys. Nobody knows how a rancher near Roseville, who was chairman of the county board of supervisors, which had to do with the all-important question of road construction.

A great part of the road passed through Dad's own property; and it had been Bunny's naive idea that Dad would call in a Pennsylvania Railroad System, Arm- tion and demanded the cattle driven contractor, and pay the price, as in the case of the water well. our & Co., Swift & Co., S. Mr. Carey was Jewish colonization in the Soviet W. W. Atterbury, Edsel Ford, James lief to the farmers, asked "That is not evidently pleased to meet a famous oil operator and he took them up to the house and made them sit comfortable in big porch chairs, and called to Mrs. Carey to bring some lemonade for Bunny. Dad produced his gold-foil cigars, and told the chairman of the county board of supervisors what a great thing it was to mean for this whole section if oil developments came in; he told about the Bankside lease at Prospect Hill, and the million and more which he had paid to the Bankside family, and the palace on the beach front which Mr. Bankside was now occupying; you could see the eyes of Mr. and Mrs. Carey open wider and wider, as Dad visioned this slope covered with a forest of oil derricks. Absolutely, the whole thing depended upon one problem, that of roads. Manifestly, you couldn't bring in derrick materials and drilling tools and heavy machinery over that sheeptrack which they now had, and which had jist broken a spring on Dad's new motor car; nor could the county expect Dad to improve a public road at his own expense, in order to have the privilege of paying tens of thousands of dollars of new taxes into the county treasury. To all of which Mr. Carey agreed.

Dad went on to say that it was a question of time; if the county authorities were going to dilly-dally along, and keep him waiting-why then, he had plenty of other tracts he could drill, and he would keep this here Paradise place for a quail-preserve. Mr. Carey looked worried, and said he'd do his best, but of course Mr. Ross understood that public affairs didn't move in a hurry, you had to issue bonds to pave a new road, and there would have to be a special election to vote them. Dad said that was what he had come to find out about; if that was the case, it was all off so far as he was concerned. Wasn't there some way this work could be done at once, on the basis of its being repairs to an old road, instead of new paving? And Mr. Carey said of course, they had funds for repair work, he didn't know just how much, he'd have to consult his associates on the board.

Mr. Carey got up and strolled down to the car with Dad and Bunny; and as they stood there chatting, Dad took out an envelope from his pocket, and said: "Mr. Carey, I'm asking a lot of your time, and it ain't fair you should work for nothing. I hope you won't take offense if I ask you to let me pay your gasoline and tire cost while you're running about a-seein' to this." Mr. Carey hesitated, and said he didn't know whether that would be exactly proper or not; and Dad said it would be understood, it was jist for Mr. Carey's time, it wouldn't change his judgment as to what should be done; they would have other dealings, no doubt, and perhaps some day Dad would come wild-catting on Mr. Carey's ranch. The other put the envelope into his pocket, and said Dad would hear from him soon.

Preparing for War

The "war to end war" is yet to come, judging by the frantic military preparations that are being made by all capitalist powers. According to a story with a Geneva date line, by Junius B. These tracts are said to include practically all of the land suitable for rubber growing in Panama and in addition are so located as to provide naval bases "for a hostile power."

Quite a furore occurred in the capitalist press when the news of these concessions was made public and unquestionably Panama was subjected to considerable pressure and the new treaty produced as an agreement between two "sovereign" nations.

The sovereignty of Panama was first invaded by Roosevelt under whose regime the canal zone was grabbed. Since that time Panama has become a puppet state, the most recent incident previous have to look somewhere else for terto the new treaty being the breaking of a rent strike by the armed ritory to receive his surplus populaforces of the United States.

The extent to which the Central and South American states French some compensation for their are allowed freedom of action under the Monroe doctrine is mathematically in exact proportion to the natural resources and strategic bases they contain, and which are desired by Wall Street and its imperialist government.

The new treaty with Panama is only the latest example of the steady drive to the south of American imperialism. It is also indicative of the growing rivalry between America and British imperialism.

The Waco Farm and Labor Journal, of Waco, Texas, holds the democrat nominee for governor in considerable esteem. His name is Dan Moody.

Besides several other qualifications for the office the following ere wortny of note. Moody is a member of the baptist church, a Thirty-second degree Mason, a Knight Templar, a Shriner, an Odd Fellow, a Knight of Pythias, a Woodman and incidentally a member of the Electrical Workers' Union.

With all these things in his favor Mr. Moody should be even a more efficient servant of the Texas ruling classes than "Ma" Ferguson who was returned to her jamcrocks by the recent primaries.

No doubt the labor bureaucrats will count Moody's election another scaip in labor's wigwam.

DE-BUNKING LABOR BANKING

"Labor Banking and Insurance" by Sam Fisher. Brookwood student, which appeared in The DAILY WORKER on July 27th.

By S. A. DARCY. MR. FISHER bases his case for labor banking on four main arguments. These are as follows:

1. Labor banking is only bad bebureaucrats control the banks. An honest left wing in control can use it to the workers' advantage.

2. It has a good psychological effect on the workers, i. e., it creates a business psychology. The left wing can then easily urge the workers to make the banks serve its interests.

3. Shall the labor movement defunds in capitalist banks which fight the labor movement?

4. Labor banks have come to stay-why not use them as best as one can then?

Is the left wing fighting labor banking merely because the buject of labor banking, as conceived in this country, no matter who would to the interests of the labor movement?

At the end of the world war, with the onslaught of the bosses, trade union officials realized that they could es open to them; either a more millionism and an insuring of their own jobs thru other means-"business un

T ABOR banks have thus far demfor the purpose of segregating the unseen by the loss in trade union strength since this and other such class collaboration schemes have been invented. It has confused the workers and turned their minds from the struggle for better conditions. Warren CAN this situation be changed by struggle for better conditions. Warren the left wing? The answer must Stone of the B. of L. E's Bank tells the workers to "save their money carefully and by this thriftiness they will be able after a while to live off the interest!" Imagine this as a solution for the American workers whose

MR. FISHER also says that depositing the funds of the labor movement in capitalist banks is giving the bosses money with which to fight the workers. An examination of the facts will show first, that the boss these funds. Nor does the withdrawal Locomotive Engineers' Bank promise of these funds seriously hinder them in their struggle against us. From the above facts, however, it is quite clear that the establishment of labor banks, not only confuses the workers but gives its bureaucratic officials fat salaried jobs and institutions which have been so organized as to make it impossible for the labor unions to dislodge them.

HAVE labor banks come to stay? When the working class of this country begins to realize that entering upon a stage of trade union capitalism means the liquidation of a militant struggle for better conditions, it will turn to the left wing program against labor banking and the other class collaboration schemes. The left wing clearly recognizes the menace of this capitalist institution introduced into the ranks of the workers which has inherent in it objectives which are in direct opposition to the interests of he workers as a whole. So long as the efforts of this country are turned to capitalist enterprise rather than working class struggle, there will be a worsening of conditions. This however, will not continue for long. The

I guess that's why the police stopped the meetings. They do the work of the bosses. We, the workers, should demand the right of the united front committee to speak. Why are the police afraid to let them speak? If conditions are good, then all their talk will go to waste. It's because what they say about our conditions are true that the police stopped the one week. Senator Reed suggested meetings. The bosses don't want us to hear the truth about the way we are exploited by the mill owners. Because when the workers do find out they will organize, and get better conditions and a better life.

Editor, The DAILY WORKER:-All of us have seen that the government does not intend to give the farmers any financial relief so I appeal thru The DAILY WORKER that we farmers be given the same terms in settlement of our federal land bank loans as the government gave the foreign nations in settlement of their loans. Immediate cancellation of 75% of all federal land bank loans on farm property and a reduction in the interest rate to the same level as was given those foreign governments-about 11/2 per cent and a morato sum for 5 years on remaining part of our debts. This will give quick and temporary relief to us farmers from our oppressors. Give us a lift at once.

Experiences came thick and fast for Stella Szcynski, cousin of Pete Kowalski, who is king of a stiff broom for the street cleaning department. But they were the same old experiences for Stella. At the rats in Swift and company's packing house, Stella spent nine Jours salting down hog guts for sausage casings. Later, after the movies in a street back of the yards, Stella talked merrily in broken English of love and marriage with Mike Krasnovich, South Slavic iron worker, in the hallway of the tenement house.
