WITHAT Jesse Smith, right bower of Harry M. Daugherty, committed suicide because a campaign fund that Italy, where regular labor unions are was in his care suffered serious reduction owing to Smith's dabbling in stocks is one of the most sensational developments of the bribe trial now taking place in New York. It should not be forgotten that Daugherty was the lad who caused the raid on the Communist convention in Michigan in 1922, about the time he got the infamous injunction against the shopmen. While we were being exhibited in the Atlantic City decided not to pay the streets, of St. Joseph with manacles on our hands Harry Daugherty and his flunkeys were being hailed in the capitalist press as national deliverers.

THE end is not yet. Daugherty is now on trial for graft, but the delegates to the Communist convention are not yet out of the toils. Harry did his work. Perhaps his masters no longer have any use for him. But he did them a good turn and in all probability they will not forget him. The officials of the shop crafts' union that should be making use of Daugherty's present dilemma to educate their membership on the ways of patriotism are rather silent, so much so that one is compelled to come to the conclusion that the labor leaders do not regret the legal obstacles placed in the way of strikes.

FARMER-LABOR RANKS DEVELOP PARTY LOYALTY

Seek Strong Basis for Minnesota Movement

By J. LOUIS ENGDAHL (Special to The Daily Worker)

ST. PAUL, Minn., Sept. 27 .-- One of the most encouraging signs of progress in the Minnesota Farmer-Labor movement is the development of party loyalty on the part of the workers and farmers of the state.

The party is rising above even such personalities as Magnus Johnson and Hendrik Shipsted who have been and still are the party's outstanding standard bearers

This drift of loyalty from personaffiles to party is best seen in the changed attitude taken toward the lesser candidates, especially the candidates for the state legislature who by joining forces with the Union. appear on the ballot as non-partisans without party designation.

In the past it has been the habit of hide their farmer-labor affiliation in open without camouflage.

The movement gained impetus, to be sure, thru the election of Magnus case of the Consolidation Coal Co., United States senators. Magnus John- solidation in 1922 had approximately hands of the republican, Tom Schall. date for governor.

But it is felt that strength of the party thruout the state must be better displayed thru the election of Farmer-Labor candidates to the state legislature and to the lower house of ers.

Here in Saint Paul, almost more than in Minneapolis, the organized labor movement is solid and enthusiastic in its support of the Farmer-Labor campaign. Last Saturday saw a meeting of all the business agents of the St. Paul trade unions to discuss the campaign. This Wednesday evening, Sept. 29, at 8 p. m., a gathering of all Farmer-Labor forces will be held at the Labor Temple, 216 N. Franklin St., for the purpose of organizing and developing the campaigr for state, congressional and legislativ candidates endorsed by the Farmer Labor Association on the Farmer-La bor ticket. A city-wide precinct organization will be built up for the distribution of literature, for the conduct of meetings and the raising of finances. Special editions of the Farmer-Labor Advocate will be circulated thruout Ramsey county.

Among the legislative candidates endorsed by the Farmer-Labor Association in Ramsey county (St. Paul) are Evans Kelley, 37th district south: Frank T. Starkey, 38th district north; John J. McDonough, 38th district south; Al J. Samec, 39th district (5th Ward); A. H. Uhl, 42nd district north. Other candidates will be endorsed at Wednesday's meeting.

Joseph Jackson, 37th district; Geo. Nordlin, 37th district; Charles Hansler, 39th district, and Dr. Cannon, 41st district. All of these except Dr. Cannon are up for re-election. Senators Hansler and Nordlin have no opposi-

Candidates for Congress.

The Farmer-Labor Party has congressional candidates in eight districts. The candidates and their districts are as follows:

Third-A. M. Gagen, Glencoe. Fourth-Thomas V. Sullivan, St.

Fifth-Albert G. Bastis, Minne-

Sixth-Joseph B. Himsl. St. Cloud. Seventh-O. J. Kvale, Benson.

Eighth-William L. Carss, Proctor Nith-Knud Wefald, Hawley. Tenth-Ernest Lundeen, Richfield.

Three of these candidates, Kvale, Carss and Wefald are up for re-election. The campaign hopes, as optimistically expressed around the Farmer-Labor Party headquarters, are that Minnesota will send six Farmer-Labor congressmen to Washington. Those picked for victory are Sullivan, Himsl, Kvale, Carss, Wefald and Lundeen. While still in the republican party during the war, Lundeen represented the fifth district in congress.

Efforts are being made to elect Thomas V. Sullivan from the district (4th, St. Paul), in which J. F. Emme. the Communist, received 12,000 votes as the Farmer-Labor candidate in 1924.

The state Farmer-Labor ticket is as follows:

For Governor-Magnus Johnson, Kimball. For Secretary of State-Charles

Olson, Duluth. For Attorney General-Frank E McAllister, St. Paul. For State Auditor-S. O. Tjosvold.

St. Paul. For State Treasurer-Thomas J.

Meighen, Preston. The Farmer-Labor Party has taken over the semi-monthly Farmer-Labor Advocate and made it a weekly for the campaign.

The policy that lost these many members to the Union was a "backward step" of the most disastrous nature. The men abandoned to the open shop were forced to accept wage reductions. And this meant cheap scab coal coming into the northern markets, which meant wholesale unem-

This larger program is of great importance to the Union. It will give hope to the rank and file who see no hope any longer in private ownership and management of the industry.

A LABOR PARTY is necessary to get justice for the Union in the courts and legislatures. Our conventions have expressed sympathy with this aim. But our cause has been injured by the support that certain leaders have given to reactionary anti-labor politicians, such as Calvin Coolidge. We are paying the price for that now.

NEXT, ALEX HOWAT and others who are being unjustly discriminated against must be restored to full privieges in the Union.

We must get the closest co-operation between the anthracite and bituminous miners, as in 1922, when they cent rains, and the result was the fought together. Rescue workers will reach the trapped miners by Wednesday. Should the rescue be delayed longer, however, the men never will be brought out alive, it is feared.

Minnesota Republicans Import Schwab in War on Farmer-Labor Party

By J. LOUIS ENGDAHL.

THE carefully planned and deliberate manner in which the plunderbund in Minnesota is developing its effort to crush the Farmer-Labor Party in that state is seen in part in the importation of Charles M. Schwab, chairman of the board of directors of the Bethlehem Steel corporation, to make a "prosperity" and "success" address before the annual meeting of the Manufacturers' Association of Minneapolis.

One thousand "business men." the backbone of the republican party in Minnesota, listened to the steel profiteer promise that "the northwest, richly endowed with the gifts of god, can become the leading section of this country."

The speech was not intended so much for the business men who listened to Schwab dilate energetically on the alleged divine blessing. His remarks were especially concocted to dope the restless workers in the cities and the discontented farmers; the former who have seen their unions crushed and wellnigh annihilated under the open shop Coolidge - Mellon - Hoover regime, while the latter have suffered bankruptcies and mortgage foreclosures under the tyranny of the food gamblers, the bankers, the landlords and the transportation interests. This brand of dope is summarized for the benefit of its farmer-labor readers by the capitalist Minneapolis journal, claimed as the organ of the steel interests, as follows: Schwab said:

"The United States continues to develop more rapidly than ever despite the oft' repeated question as to whether the peak is not near.

"The young man of today has greater opportunities for success than any of his ancestors ever had in this country.

"The next 25 to 50 years will witness the greatest industrial development this country ever has known. "There would be no farm problem if the principles that have brought success to industry were made to apply to agriculture. "The greatest thrill in life comes not from money but from the realization of a dream or ambition after much effort. "The happiest days are those of the struggle for success, not those coming after success.

"The richest memories and the greatest wealth are the associations and friendships developed by the fight for success.

"Confidence in oneself and one's business are the basis of success. to take hold of something and develop it."

These are the gloatings of the multi-millionaire steel magnate, in whose mills the workers are unorganized and compelled to yield up the wealth they produce because Schwab has the governmental tyranny directed by the republican party at his every beck and call. Schwab wents to continue republican rule in Minnesota, knowing if it is wiped out there, the independent political action of the workers and farmers will spread to other states and to the nation.

The workers in the iron mines of northern Minnesota, in the lumber mills of the state, in the great flour mills of Minneapolis, in the factories and workshops everywhere, know that the "prosperity" that Schwab speaks of is not for them. Schwab lauded James J. Hill. the bitterly anti-labor railroad baron, and the late Archbishop Ireland. Hill's catholic ally. It was "Jim" Hill who first sought to bring the Great Northern, Northern Pacific and Burlington railroads under one management, carrying out Schwab's idea which he stated in these words: "No individual can accomplish much without the associations of others. Industrial development is the work of associations, big associations, and I am a believer in business on a big scale as a means of reducing expense and increasing efficiency."

That is supposed to be all very well for the railroad, the mining and steel industry. But according to Schwab and his republican allies, it is wrong for the workers and farmers to organize. It is wrong for the workers to build their trade unions. It is wrong for the farmers to support their co-operative purchasing and marketing organizations. And worst of all, it is wrong according to Schwab's press and Schwab's republican party for the workers and farmers to unite in a Farmer-Labor Party, as they have done in Minnesota, to protect their interests as the great capitalists are doing thru the republican party.

Evidently fearing that the Minnesota workers and farmers were fed up on this sort of buncombe, Schwab got sentimental in another part of his speech and painted this fireside picture:

"Money means nothing except enough to keep a person in comfort in his old age," he said. "On our estate at Loretta, Pa., I have built a little cottage and no one ever gets inside it except my wife and myself. There we go, from time to time, to play at being the poor folk we were 40 years ago."

Evidently Schwab expects the struggling workers and farmers of Minnesota to sympathize with him in his senile old age when he is feturning to his second childhood and playing doll house once more. Minnesota labor, however, will realize that the joke is on the workers and farmers who have failed to build their own class power, these many years, and protect their own interests and provide for their own old age as the capitalist masters have done.

Schwab did not urge the manufacturing interests of Minnesota to raise the wages of the workers, nor did he tell the food profiteers on the Minneapolis chamber of commerce to cease robbing the farmers, in order that city and land labor might feed, house and clothe its own in decency and comfort. Not at all. The business interests would have run him out of town if he had even attempted it. Instead, the steel magnate painted the judicrous and impossible picture of "success" that showed all the workers and farmers in Minnesota becoming Schwabs, either as multi-millionaire bankers. landlords, industrialists or specula-"if they worked hard enough." They know that they work hard enough. They are just discovering that the trouble is they are not their own bosses.

Schwab spoke for his class in Minnesota. He gloried in its achievements, and O. B. McClintock, president of the Manufacturers' Association, thanked him and called him "brother." McClintock added. "The banks feel better, and when they feel better we (meaning the manufacturing interests) should feel better," with the workers and farmers, of course, playing the role of Lazarus at this capitalist feast.

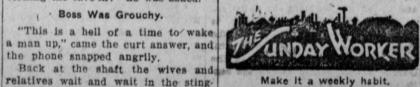

Just by way of showing the unity of the republican party in Minnesota, the banquet was attended by both the republican governor, Theodore Christianson, and the republican mayor of Minneapolis, George E. Leach.

Instead of salving over the class struggle and covering up the wounds of the class war, Schwab's speech should reveal to Minnesota labor, clearer than ever the class issues raised by the steel profiteer, whose party spent millions of dollars in his home state of Pennsylvania in the recent primaries to corrupt and confuse the working class voters of that state. Schwab's speech at Minneapolic should help rather than hurt the Farmer-Labor Party campaign in that state.

BALDWIN CABINET INSISTS ON MINE UNION SURRENDER

Hopes to Crush Strike With Cold and Hunger

(Special to The Daily Worker)

LONDON, Sept. 27. - With cold weather setting in, the 150th day of the coal stoppage in England found the struggle again transferred to the halls of parliament, where another attempt to reach a settlement was made after the recent fruitless parleys in Downing street. The miners' delegate conference meets Wednesday to take up the refusal of concessions from either the mine owners or the government.

Government Relentless Against Union. The house of commons is meeting this afternoon to consider the situation and will continue deliberations tomorrow. The house of lords will also meet this afternoon. Premier Baldwin is scheduled to explain to both houses the government's attitude in the coal dispute, after which it is expected that Ramsay MacDonald, former labor premier, and Lloyd George, liberal leader, will "criticize" the cabinet's policy. The government's attitude however, has hardened perceptibly since it has thought that the complete surrender of the miners can be forced.

Commons Will Debate Strike. Three-quarters of an hour after the ession started Prime Minister Baldwin, Ramsay MacDonald and Lloyd George, entered the house of commons for the critical coal debate. They found the house engaged in an argument over whether British soldiers are able to keep their beards properly trimmed with safety razors, which recently have been substituted for the long handled kind. The trio of party leaders all appeared extremely grave, Premier Baldwin immediately took charge of the business of the day, moving that the house meet at 11 o'clock tomorrew morning. MacDonald objected, urging that the session be held Wednesday, at the same time as the miners' delegate conference.

SYDNEY, Australia -(By Mail)-The campaign waged by the political and industrial wings of the labor party against the referendum to be taken by the federal anti-labor government to alter the constitution is now in full swing and it is hoped that the vote to be taken will result in the defeat of the government's proposals,

One of the constitutional alterations sought by the government is to enable the government to take action in Australia in the event of a general strike similar to that given to the Baldwin government in Britain under the Emergency Powers Act.

This legislation provides for the creation of scab unions and the atilization of the military and navy as strike-breakers, the enforcement of industrial conscript on, arrest of persons and entry of homes without warrants, censorship of strike manifestoes, prohibition of public meetings, processions and free speech, and the der which any and every working man can be failed,

IDEALS AND RUBBER

The following article has been written especially for The DAILY WORKER by one of the leaders in the Filipino independence movement. We do not subscribe to his estimate of the divine character of the inspiration of the early advocates of American independence or to the statement that only in 1898 did the United States government cease to defend the "Rights of Man." Nor do we make the same distinction between Wall Street and Uncle Sam that the writer does. But with his analysis of the role of the rubber interests and the profit-making motive behind the opposition to Filipino independence we are in full agreement as we are with the right of the Filipinos to defend their country from conquest by American imperialism or any other group of exploiters. ### CHILEAN PARTY EXPELS DEPUTY FOR BAD VOTING

Disobeyed Order Upon Vote to Censure

(Special to The Daily Worker)

SANTIAGO, Chile, (By Mail.)-The Communist Party of Chile expelled from the party Abraham Quevedo, Communist member of the chamber of deputies, because contrary to the decision of the party and the deputies of the "Asalariados" ("Party of the Wage Earners") allied with the Communists, he voted a motion to censure the government. This motion was submitted by a deputy of the 'Radical Party"-Espejo Conde, hitherto allied with the present conservative-liberal government combination.

A Reactionary Move.

The executive committee of the Communist Party decided to abstain from voting on this motion because it was known that behind it was the Association of the Nitrate Industrialists, which wanted the overthrow of the present government in order to establish a new government entirely subservient to the nitrate interests and willing to reduce the export tax on nitrates.

The export tax on nitrates is one of the principal sources of income of the government, constituting about 50 per cent of the entire revenue. The nitrate interests want it reduced in order to be better able to compete against nitrates of other countries and against the synthetic nitrates manufactured in Germany.

A Conservative Regime.

The present government is the result of the combination of all bourgeois parties who elected a conservative as president against the candi date of the "Asalariados" ("Wage Earners' Party") which was supported by the Communists and which ob tained more than one-third of all votes cast for president.

Tho the present government is by no means sympathetic to labor, the nitrate government which would have resulted from its overthrow, would have had to replace the loss in taxes by indirect taxation and would further curtail the rights of the workers in the nitrate districts.

Whole Regarded Over the Section Thus the Communist Party decided that it had to abstain from voting gainst a bourgeoisie government, the overthrow of which might have reulted in the reduction of unemploy ment in the nitrate districts, if the measures proposed by the nitrate interests stimulated the industry. On the other hand the proletariat of the whole country would have suffered economically and the workers in the nitrate districts would have been further oppressed in their political and trade union activity.

Wage Fixing by Cost of Living Alone Not Just, Unions Assert

MELBOURNE, Australia - (By Mail) - Under the system of fixation of wages now in operation in Australia, the basic wage for unskilled labor is fixed annually. Marginal rates for skill are added to the basic ratevarying according to the degree of skill. As the cost of living rises or falls, quarterly adjustments of wages are made to compensate for the alteration in the living cost.

While this system guarantees that the workers will not be penalized owing to any undue increase in the cost of living, it makes no allowance for real increases in wages due to increased production, productivity of the nation, etc. The leading unions are now seek ing to have these matters incorpora ted in the annual declarations. They contend that the mere fixation of wages according to the rise and fall of the cost of living gets the workers nowhere, but actually keeps them on the same basis all the time. They also contend that it is hardly fair for he workers to be so penalized, while the employers are making greater profits every year.

New Zealand Labor to Amalgamate Its Two Union Centrals

WELLINGTON, New Zealand-(By Mail-(FP)- During the last week o July, the joint executives of the New Zealand Alliance of Labor and the New Zealand Trades and Labor Council's Federation met in conference at Wellington and discussed the ques tion of industrial unity by the two organizations on a national basis. The basis of discussion was the agreement arrived at by the Open Conference in April, 1925.

All delegates attending were unanimous on the question that unity between the two organizations is essen tial, and, more important than that, there was no serious difference be tween the two organizations. A subcommittee was appointed to bring down a final draft on the proposes may not have anything to do to basis of unity, and a further meeting night. ### NEW YORK DISTRICT HAS BIGGEST MEMBERSHIP MEETING ON RECORD

The largest membership meeting yet held by the Workers (Communist) Party of the New York District took place on Monday, September 20, at the large hall of the Manhattan Lyceum. Over 1,100 party members came to listen to the report of the general secretary, Comrade Weinstone, on the work of the district in the past few months. Engdahl Reviews Fight

His subject was "The Ne-It calls upon all the members to cessity of Independent Political Action for the Working Class." He analyzed both the republican and democratic parties and showed how they were both run and controlled by the exploiters of labor. Both political parties receive their campaign funds from the big capitalists and therefore congress and senate obey the wishes of the big money interests. He showed how the Workers' Party is the only political organization that is taking aggressive action in getting the workers and farmers into a political party separate and opposed to the two old parties and when their representatives are elected will make laws in the interest of the workers and poor farmers. He also made an eloquent plea for a large campaign fund The membership meeting endorses so that the Workers' Party will be the insistence of the district for able to spread the message of a workstricter adherence on the part of comers' and farmers' government to all rades in mass organizations to the workers in Colorado.

Need for Shop Papers, Local Campaigns

By BERTRAM D. WOLFE. OMAHA, Nebr., (By Mail.)-Company unions hog-tie the workers industrially while "progressive" republicanism keeps them bound to the polidge and Mellon in this "progressive" state of Nebraska. The Railway Clerks' Union of Omaha, with its 1500 members, will soon find itself in a life and death struggle with the ing to combat it, while the railway of tons of scab coal as cargo of each of them: shopmen in the Omaha shops have been blessed with company unionism since the defeat of their last strike.

Armour Company Methods. The packing house of the Armour Company here publishes taffy about the workers going to work in autos, throttles all attempts at organization with a "sucker's union" and gives its best paid workers (the skilled butchers) $24 a week while its other "car owning" workers average $17 and $18 a week when times are "good" and get $1 forcibly deducted as an instalment on a share in the company.

The Workers Party has a shop nucleus in the Armour plant and I found the workers here still talking of the special packinghouse numbers of The DAILY WORKER and deploring the fact that the campaign was too short. Views of Bryanism.

Nebraska is the state of Norris and Howells and William Jennings Bryan. Progressivism is strong and the remnants of populism still persist. The records of Norris and Howells include voting against Mellon's tax reduction schemes for shifting the burden of taxation from big business to the rest of the nation, against the world court, against the Italian debt settlement, for income tax publicity, for the retention of the inheritance tax, etc. Moreover, Howells has been a consistent advocate of municipal ownership in Omaha and the ice plant, gas plant and water supply are now municipally owned. Consequently, the bulk of the workers and farmers of the state believe in and swear by Norris and Howells.

But disillusionment is beginning not on the score of national politics but as a result of local developments in the municipal ownership field. The ice house of the city has paid off its indebtedness and is now running at a profit. The heroic apostles of muni cipal ownership declare that they are in a quandry. What shall they do with the profits? The Workers Party professes that they use them to reduce the cost of ice and sell it at cost. "But this would ruin the private ice dealers," answer the "progressives."

The Franchise Flasco.

Another fiasco of the municipal ownership advocates in the Republican Party was exposed in the traction franchise question. The local traction company's 40-year franchise expires in 1928. The progressives, labor and the Communists united in demanding that the franchise be not renewed and a referendum to renew the franchise for another 40 years was defeated. Then the traction company began to bring political pressure to bear and it soon became evident that the traction interests are much more powerful than the ice companies. The progressives who had advanced no positive program are now proposing not municipal ownership but a 20-year franchise in place of a 40-year franchise. Some victory! These flascos of progressivism on local issues are beginning to destroy the political illusions of the Omaha labor movement and the field is be coming more favorable for the Communists to agitate for independent political action on the basis of these

At the last meeting of Local 147 of the Painters' Union of Chicago, the appeal for aid to the striking miners of Great Britain was brought up, and the local voted to assess each member $1 for relief to their British brothers. As Local 147 has 1,700 members, this brings in $1,700 to add to the other funds going from Chicago. The union also voted financial support to the Chicago Federation of labor's radio station, and voted $200 to the Wage Earners' League.

Union Men Strike on Company Hiring Non-Union Men in West Va.

STEWARTSVILLE, O., Sept. 27 .- A splendid instance of union solidarity has been shown by the miners of this place working for the Valley Camp Coal Co. A short time ago the company, which also owns mines in Elm Grove, W. Va., had a dispute with the men in the Ohio mine owing to its paying them by check instead of cash.

The West Virginia mines, according to report, were among the last to work under the union scale in that state, and finally turned to the employment of non-union men. Thereupon the miners at Stewartsville re fused to go back to work unless the West Virginia mines were also returned to union control. It has not been stated when the mine in Stewartsville will be re-opened.

Sales of Flivvers Are Declining Seriously

DETROIT, Mich., Sept. 27 .- One of the greatest battles ever fought out on the industrial field in the United States is raging between two giant automobile octopuses. They are the Ford company and General Motors, backed by the House of Morgan.

It should not be forgotten in conthat a few years ago when Ford was proached Wall Street for aid and was rebuffed. He went to his dealers and within a few days he had the required sum and was never caught short since. But he is up against a real

Ford is Losing.

Sales figures for the past two years show that Ford is not gaining. Figures also show that the companies in the General Motors amalgamation have increased their sales tremendously in the same time.

In the first half of 1925 Ford sales were 828,000. The first half of 1926 saw only 714,000 flivvers sold. A loss of over 100,000. In the first half of 1925, 418,000 General Motor machines -Chrevolet, Dodges and Essex-were sold. In the first half of 1926, the number of those cars sold was 589,000.

The nights were growing cold in Bunny's cantonement, and from Europe the thrilling news continued to pour in, and spread nection with this dramatic conflict across the front pages of the newspapers, six or eight editions every day. The allied advance was turning into a march, that squeezed for lack of funds he ap-long talked of march to Berlin! A march also to Vienna and to Sofia and to Constantinople-for everywhere the central powers were weakening, collapsing, surrendering. President Wilson issued his "fourteen points," on the basis of which the Germans were invited to quit. There were rumors of negotiations—the German leaders were suggesting a truce! There were two or three days of suspense, and then the answer, there would be no truce, only a surrender; the march to Berlin was on!

And then one day an amazing report; the enemy had capitulated, the surrender had been signed! As a matter of fact, it was a false alarm, due to the American custom of keeping one jump ahead of events. Each paper wants to beat the others, so they get everything ready in advance—speeches that have not yet been delivered, ceremonies that have not yet taken place. Some nervous reporter let his finger slip on the trigger, and the message came that set all America wild. Such a spectacle had never been witnessed since the world began; every noisemaking instrument conceivable was turned loose, and men, women and children turned out on the streets, and danced and sang and yelled until they were exhausted; pistols were shot off, and autos went flying by with tin-cans bouncing behind; newsboys and stock-brokers orporated in 1903 and the original wept on one another's shoulders, and elderly unapproachable capital subscribed was $100,000. In bank-presidents danced the can-can with typists and telephone 1919, the company was reorganized un- girls. A day or two later, when the real news came, they turned out to do it all over again, but never could recapture their first fine careless rapture.

Mr. Roscoe was certainly a wizard when it came to finances, jist about the smartest feller Dad had met in the oil

It was a tremendous load taken off Dad's shoulders, for now the enormous Roscoe machine would market the oil and collect the money. Dad's job was new developments—the part of the game he really liked. He was a member of the board of directors of the new concern, and also a vice-president, at a salary of a hundred thousand a year, with charge of exploring and drilling; he would travel here and there and lay out the tracts and select the drilling sites, and see that every well was brought in properly before turning it over to another executive, the superintendent of operation. It was Dad's idea that Bunny should take a position under his father, to start with say six thousand a year, until everybody was satisfied that he knew the business; the two of them would have the time of their lives, driving all over southern California and smelling out oil, jist like at Paradise! Bunny said that sounded good, but he'd want a little time to think it over and get used to the idea that he wasn't going to Siberia or to France. Dad said all right, of course, he mustn't jump into things in a hurry; but Bunny could see that he was a little pained because his son and namesake did not do that very thing!

They went up to Paradise to see the developments; and one of the first developments they saw was Ruth, who had their lunch ready in the Rascum cabin. Bunny was shocked by her appearance; she looked ten years older than when he had seen her last, her face was pale, and her smile was forced. She had given up all pretense of feminine charm, her hair was drawn back tight and tied in a knot on top of her head, and her skirts came to her ankles, which was half a leg longer than the fashion. Ruth was just setting out to be an old maid, said Meelie, and all on account of grieving her heart out about Paul.

"Oh, I know he's dead!" Ruth declared. "Just think, it's been five months since he went away, and don't you know Paul would have written me a lot of letters in that time?"

It did seem strange; and Dad thought a bit and said, "Yes, ve've waited long enough, and now we'll jist find out."

"Oh, Mr. Ross, how do you mean?" cried Ruth, clasping her ands together.

"Well, we ain't lost that army altogether in Siberia, and I guess there is some way to connect up with it.

Ruth had gone paler than ever. "Oh, I don't know as I'd dare find out! If I should hear he was dead-if I was really to "Look here, child," said Dad, "the troubles you imagine is always a lot worse than the real ones. I want to know about my boss-carpenter, and I'm jist a-goin' to!"

So Dad went to the telephone and called the hay and feed store of Mr. Jake Coffey in Roseville. "Hello, Jake," he began; 'yes, we're all fine here, how's your old man? Say, I understand you had the nominating-I fergit the feller's name, but the congressman from this district. Well, I never asked him a favor, but I guess I got a right to one, seeing all I put up to elect him. Well, now, you send him a telegram and tell him to toddle over to the War Department and put in an inquiry about the whereabouts and health of Paul Watkins. You got a pencil

Dad turned to Ruth, "What is it now? Company B. Fortyseventh California, Two Hundred Thirty-second Brigade. They're in Siberia, and I want the War Department to cable an inquiry and have the reply cabled; you wire the congressman twenty-five Gaughy, head of the Department of dollars to cover the cost, and if there's anything left over he can keep the change. I'll mail you my check today. You might explain, if you want to, a member of the family is ill, and its a matter of life and death to get some word at once. And I'll be obliged, Jake, if you need any gasoline for your car, jist drop round after we git this new refinery a-goin'. How'd you like that last dividend check from the company? Ha, ha, ha! ### Coolidge Hears the Angels Calling

Washington correspondents report that Calvin Coolidge is quite discouraged over the refusal of the nations affiliated with the world court to accept the reservations adopted by the United States senate as a condition of entrance. Summed up, the reservations meant that the United States would join the court provided said court did not interfere in any affair in which the United States was concerned without the consent of the aforesaid United States. This was too much for the nations affiliated with the league so they had to demur-

Calvin has no interests separate and apart from the capitalist system, but he wants to get elected again if he can and individualism is still something to be concerned with, even the certain bankers would like to see this country safely tucked up in the league of nations' blanket.

The capitalist interests opposed to this country joining the league from the outside, a policy of nepotism of nations seem to have a majority of the votes. (Continued from previous issue) IVERONE in possession of even the most elementary political knowledge is aware that the Soviet power and the apparatus of our Soviet state represent a special system actually composed of several stories. THE present controversy within the Communist Party of the Soviet Union is neither a sign-nor will it be the cause -of a retreat of the revolution. Quite the contrary. It is clear indication of its victorious onward march.

To give a clear understanding as well of the present problems of the Russian Revolution as also of the controversy over the solution of these problems, we are publishing herewith a report made by Comrade Bucharin at the functionaries' meeting of the Leningrad organization of the Communist Party. The report speaks for itself and needs no further elucidation. It is clear and convincing and answers the lies about the retreat of the Russian Revolution.

How the Bosses Use Sport Activity

IN America the bosses and the employers have developed the use or sports as a means of controlling the minds of the workers as a means of making better slaves out of them. This is true because sports and athletics have been developed on a more else. Practically all American-born ers, are either active in some line of sports or else are interested in it.

The capitalists, aware of this, have ies on the curriculum in point of inup to professional sports, the Ameri can workers are brought up in a sport and athletic environment dominated by reactionary ideology.

At the school games which lately have begun to attract crowds numbering into the scores of thousands there are generally military displays by the student soldiers. They play patriotic airs and the flag is promi nently displayed around the field.

Coming out the school and entering the factory, the mine, or the mill or the shop, the young student, now a young worker, retains the interest in sport. And the boss takes advantage of this interest to launch company extensive scale here than anywhere sports, company teams and by keeping the young worker active in these he workers, particularly the young work- diverts his thoughts from his job or his wages or his economic conditions. he fills him with class collaborationist ideology (the boss is a good sport, a developed an extensive network of good fellow-he buys us uniforms, sport organizations, have developed a etc.) and besides that he makes the with the schools, where sports (base- tory and industrial sports been de veloped that many articles are being ginning to displace the regular stud- written about it and the efficiency experts are hailing it as one of the terest to the students, and all the way best means towards establishing good relations in industry, toward solving the problem of labor versus capital. The Western Electric Company, the mail order houses, the U.S. Steel Corporation and, in fact, every large concern has organized baseball, football, bowling, cannis, volleyball activity among its em loyes.

200,000 people took part in the demonstrations in Leningrad includman and Italian youth. A torchlight procession with many thousand participants took place in Kiev. After the demonstrations celebrations took place in all the workers' clubs, meetings, concerts, etc.

During the demonstrations the Young Communist League took collections to assist the British miners. These collections were everywhere very successful.

Negro Delegates to Y.M.C.A. Meet Did Not Feel at Home

HARTFORD, Conn. - Kenneth C Aldridge of this town was the only Negro delegate from New England states to the world congress of the Y. M. C. A. held recently in Helsingfors, Finland. Altho he says that the Negroes were given the same consideration as other delegates, "even the white American lad put aside his traditional prejudices, for the time being anyway," he records that they weren't allowed for a single moment to forget that they were Negroes.

Aldridge issued a statement of his mpressions, which reads, in part, as follows:

"It often happens when a Negro returns from travel in Europe or some northern part of the United States that he expresses his enjoyment by such an expression as 'I didn't even know I was colored until I looked in the glass,'-meaning, I suppose, that the thought of his being a Negro disappeared entirely from his mind, due to there being no obvious sign of preju dices or the like in the section visited. On the whole since the Fifth Con- I am sure none of the Negro delegates at Helsingfors will make any such statement. We were ever aware of the fact that we were Negroes."

A. J. Cook Tells "Bits" of His Life

LONDON, England .- A. J. Cook, secretary of the Miners' Federation of Great Britain, has been telling in Tit-Bits the story of his life-and a very entrancing story it is. Oook, according to his autobiography, wasn't born 'on the strength," his father at the time being a "soldier of the queen." His family long ago owned land in Somerset and the little village called Cooksley in that country was so la belled because it was "the land of the Cooks." When he was sixteen Cook developed religious tendencies, and became locally famous as "The Boy Preacher." He intended to qualify for admission to the baptist ministry, but changed his mind, and went to South Wales with £5 in his pocket, and his other worldly possessions wrapped up in a handkerchief. There his natural wasn't long before he was unanimously and enthusiastically acclaimed as one of the miners' leaders.

Boston Youth School Opens Successfully

BOSTON, Mass .- The Boston Young Workers' League School opened on thing in their power to expose the Wednesday, September 5, 1926, with Congress Reports Wage bourgeois lies concerning the Soviet 25 students in attendance. The classes are held twice a week at the New International Hall, 42 Wenonah street. Roxbury, and at 36 Causeway street, Boston.

> The first lesson was a success. The comrades participated eagerly in the discussion, and showed that they understood the necessity for education. All Y. W. L. comrades and sympathizers will be drawn to the school by the next lesson. The agitprop of the Y. W. L., District 1, intends to develop the school into an independent institution, which will be able to draw in and educate league members and outsiders in the theory of the movement. All comrades who wish to attend can register at 36 Causeway street any night.
