Queen Marie and "Standard Oil" Kellogg Want to Stop The DAILY WORKER---What Are YOU Doing To Keep The DAILY WORKER?

By JAY LOVESTONE.

CECRETARY OF STATE FRANKLIN B. KELLOGG has in-I structed the post office department to take action against The DAILY WORKER. We got the secretary's goat by telling the Roumanian Queen Marie where to get off at. Mr. Kellogg and the bankers and the manufacturers whom he serves couldn't stand our telling the American workers the truth about the queen whose hands are dripping with the blood of the executioner of the Roumanian workers and peasants.

While the entire capitalist press is singing hymns of praise for the Queen of Terrorland, The DAILY WORKER is showing how the queen has been serving as mistress of the infamous butchery of the Roumanian masses.

The DAILY WORKER stories about the queen interfere with the plans of the American investment bankers to perpetuate the slavery in which the Roumanian workers and peasants now find themselves.

The DAILY WORKER "greetings" to the queen will make it harder for Wall Street to throw millions of American workers and farmers into a war in defense of our ruling class investments in Roumania, Poland, Bulgaria and other white terror countries.

That's why Coolidge has it in for The DAILY WORKER. That's why The DAILY WORKER got Standard Oil Kellogg's number.

That's why the post office is being ordered to stop The DAILY WORKER.

That's why all the American capitalists and their agents-

And that's why you-every working man, every working woman-every impoverished farmer-must stand by The DAILY WORKER-must give everything to KEEP THE DAILY WORKER.

Now that the reactionary secretary of state of our muchvaunted democratic republic is falling at the feet of the Roumanian hooligan monarch, it is the best time for you to show special solidarity with The DAILY WORKER.

Now that the capitalists are preparing to STOP THE DAILY WORKER, it is absolutely necessary for you to beat back the bourgeois watch dogs by tripling your efforts to KEEP THE DAILY WORKER.

Can you think of a better opportunity to hit the exploiters in the face with a substantial donation to KEEP THE DAILY WORKER?

Can you think of a more fitting manner and moment to tell the hangman queen and her American capitalist, protectors and worshippers what you think of them, than by giving today more than you ever did before to KEEP THE DAILY WORKER?

Remember-that the cost of perhaps one chair in the queen's bedroom in New York is enough to KEEP THE DAILY WORKER for one year.

Not for Queen Marie's sake, not for Standard Oil Kellogg's sake, not for your bosses' sake-BUT FOR YOUR OWN SAKE, send us your biggest contribution immediately to KEEP THE DAILY WORKER.

Let this be your answer to the united front of Queen Marie and Secretary of State Kellogg against The DAILY WORKER.

THE queen of Roumania is here and I doing well. At least the lady and her many attendants are being entertained with "all found" in the language of the boarding house. # Who Is Secretary of State Kellogg?

SECRETARY of State Frank B. Kellogg has ordered the Post Office Department to find some basis on which to suppress The DAILY WORKER because of its exposure of the bloody terror invoked against the Roumanian workers and peasants, under the "Versailles Peace," and because of its revelations of the real meaning of the visit to this country of Queen Marie, of Roumania.

The DAILY WORKER stands by every word it has published and intends to continue, with all the power it can muster, to enlighten the workers and farmers of America as to the murderous anti-labor regime that rules in Roumania, under the direction of the Paris Allies. It is this hangman's rule that is now being blessed by the American Wall Street tyranny, thru the attentions showered upon the visiting Roumanian queen.

Kellogg, the subservient lackey of the international bankers, thrusts himself into the arena as defender, not only of Queen Marie, but of the American financial interests whose favor is sought in support of the tottering throne upon which she sits, back in Bucharest, with Ferdinand, the puppet king. It was only a short time before Kellogg joined the rest of Coolidge's dinner party on Tuesday afternoon, at the White House, when "Silent Cal" on behalf of the American plunderbund officially received the visiting Marie, that the secretary of state sent his decree to the postal department demanding an investigation of what The DAILY WORKER had published. . . . .

Kellogg's record has been one of unswerving loyalty to dollar rule in this country. He comes from St. Paul, Minn., where he served for years as legal adviser of the greatest profit-taking interests, the railroads, food speculators, bankers and landlords. As a reward, Kellogg was sent to the U. S. senate. He failed of re-election, however, due to the unity of the workers and farmers of Minnesota thru their own Farmer-Labor Party.

While a member of the United States senate, and seated on the Senate Committee on Privileges and Elections, Kellogg objected strenuously to the investigation of the corruption used to elect Truman H. Newberry, senator from Michigan. In spite of the subsequent revelations, showing the expenditure of $195,000 to win a senate place for this multi-million-(Continued on page 3)

NORFOLK, Va., October 20 .- One thousand ships have been chartered to load coal at Hampton Roads, Baltimore, Philadelphia, New York and Charleston.

Eight hundred of them will carry coal to the British Isles to help Prime Minister Stanley Baldwin, commanderin-chief of capital's army, deliver a smashing blow to the striking miners.

Most of the other cargoes go to countries formerly supplied by British nines. They, also, are scab cargoes. The strike, of course, may stop sudenly, once a decision is made. But hese ships will continue to "carry coal to Newcastle" and other British and foreign ports until February or March of next year. So that a quick settlement would not mean a stoppage in transportation from these ports.

(Special Cable to The Daily Worker.)

MOSCOW, U. S. S. R., Oct. 20. - The resolution of the Plenum of the Moscow committee of the Communist Party of the Soviet Union on the inner party situation points out that the retreat of the opposition was due to the powerful solidarity of the whole party. It emphasizes that the opposition has not yet repudiated its views whereas the party needs not merely organizational but also ideological unity on the basis of Leninism. Therefore the Plenum considers it necessary to continue the steady work of explaining to the members of the party the ideological substance of the opposition and of their views. Adhering to the decisions of the Central Committee for the further consolidation and the safeguarding of party unity, the Plenum recommends, with a view to securing effective future work of the Central Committee in the leadership of the party, the country, and the international labor movement, that the Central Committee undertake the proper organizational measures in regard to the members of the Central Committee who violated party discipline.

Company Ignores Union.

Altho railway legislation makes it the duty of employers to meet their employes in a representative union when requested to do so, the Pullman Company has refused even to acknowledge the letters of the brotherhood requesting a conference, according to brotherhood officials.

The railway mediation board, to which the brotherhood has applied for aid, was created by the Watson-Parker more. If the two parties fail to agree, adjustment, mediation and arbitration boards may be set up to settle the dispute. One of the principle demands of the union is its recognition by the Pullman Company as the authorized representative of the men, supplanting the employe representation plan of the company. A conference before the board will compel that recognition.

New England Frame-up Gang Fights New Trial for Sacco and Vanzetti

By J. LOUIS ENGDAHL.

MORE than half way across the continent, from Dedham, the typical New England county seat of Norfolk county, Mass., to Leavenworth, Kas., once the frontier outpost of white "civilization' advancing into the west, the lawyers for both sides in the Sacco-Vanzetti case have wended their respective ways to get testimony to strengthen their struggles in the legal tug-of-war for the lives of these two Italian work-

There is a kinship, however, even in this present hour, between Dedham, Mass., and Leavenworth, Kas. For Dedham, the scene of the vicious prosecution and conviction of Nick Sacco and Bartolomeo Vanzetti, is just as surely an outpost in the struggle for the abolition of wage slavery today, as the Fort Leavenworth more than half a century ago that stood astride the developing struggle over chattel slavery in "Bleeding Kansas."

Leavenworth is now best known, however, as the location of one of the biggest of American capitalism's federal prisons. During the war, and long after, it caged many workers imprisoned because of their hostility to Morgan's war. It is now in the limelight again because it holds within its walls the convicted freight car thief, Joseph Morelli, chief of the Morelli gang of faraway Providence, R. I. Freight car thieves, however, are numerous over the land and no one would bother about Joe Morelli if he had not led the gang, as is charged by his fellow payroll bandit, Celestino Madeiros, in committing the crime at South Braintree, Mass., April 15, 1920, that has been used in the frame-up of the United States government against the two workers, Sacco and Vanzetti, in an effort to put them to death, "to dispose of Herbert B. Ehrmann, an assistant of Attorney William G. Thompson, counsel for Sacco and Vanzetti, was the first to go to see Joe Morelli in the western prison. Joe is in for twelve years. The interview came to nothing. The stone walls of the prison hold Morelli just as securely as he insists on holding secret any connection he had with the South Braintree crime. In his anxiety to forget, he even denied knowledge of the existence of the Rice and Hutchins shoe factory, at South Braintree, that he had been convicted of robbing. Morelli claims in this interthat the Sacco-Vanzetti case has not view that he did not know and never has known Celestino Madeiros, that he knew nothing about the South Braintree shooting except what was in the papers, and that he did not participate in it. Asked where he was on April 15, 1920, Morelli said, according to Ferrari, that he went from his home to his lawyer's office, then to Jones' restaurant, that he hung around and then drove home. He could not name anybody who could say they saw him in Providence on April 15. When the federal agent, Ferrari, showed him photographs of James F. Weeks, who is supposed to have Vanzetti.

been associated with Madeiros in the Wrentham National bank robbery, and also pictures of Sacco and Vanzetti, Morelli denied ever having seen any of them. . . .

That is Morelli clinging to life, with six years of his twelve-year-sentence yet to serve. He hopes to get out again. He certainly is not anxious to face a murder charge growing out of the South Braintree shooting. Morelli is willing to make the effort to save his own life, tho he thus acts as an ally of the United States government in taking the lives of Sacco and Vanzetti.

It is different with Madeiros. He is sentenced to death. The capitalist state can do no more than take his life. This alone, no doubt, caused Madelros to come to the front to help in the fight to save Sacco and Vanzetti. If Madeiros, like Morelli, had only been sentenced to twelve years' imprisonment, Madeiros' lips would also have been sealed and there would have been little basis for the demand for a new trial. Perhaps the electric chair in Massachusetts would already have completed its murderous work. The government is ever active in its efforts to make its case stand up against the assaults of the defense forces.

It secured a statement, for instance, from Pauline Gray, of Providence, R. I., that during the entire month of April, 1920, she lived at 62 Marietta street, employed as Joseph Morelli's housekeeper; that she was at home every night in April before 12 o'clock, and that Joseph Morelli was at home every night in April before 12 o'clock; that he did not leave the house any day during April until 10 o'clock in the morning. She says that she saw Joseph Morelli in the house at different hours every morning during the month of April.

The government also got Pasquale Morelli, of Providence, to swear that he saw his brother, Joseph, almost hourly every day from June, 1919, until May, 1920.

Both of these declarations, by the housekeeper, Pauline Gray, and the brother, Pasquale Morelli, are so manifestly untrue that no one, not even a capitalist judge, could believe

But Judge Webster Thayer, who has it in his power to grant or refuse a new trial, can use even these affidavits to bolster up his refusal to grant a new trial.

At that time, too, the Bucharest authorities were ignoring every sug gestion that they pay their debt to the American treasury and to various American companies that had sold them railroad equipment and other necessaries on credit. Later they found a way to settle, but they were among the last in all Europe to be willing to pay what they could.

At that time, too, King Ferdinand and Queen Marine were worried over the revolt of the peasants in Bessa rabia. Prisons were filled with suspects, many of whom were tortured or killed "in trying to escape." From this peasant uprising there developed

Treason to Republic Rife in Government

BERLIN, Oct. 20.-Prussia's grant of property and enormous compensation to the kaiser's family has aroused republican sentiment all over Germany, and other signs of monarchism are being exposed daily. It is discovered that under German law the kaiser will no longer be barred from Germany after July 1 next.

aire, Kellogg voted to seat Newberry.

Kellogg brought to the senate the experience gained in cases involving the Standard Oil company, the Harriman railroads and the United States Steel corporation.

In the settlement of the world war, Kellogg declared his belief in the imperialist league of nations.

When the workers and farmers of Minnesota, therefore, turned Kellogg into the street, his Wall Street friends came to his protection and sent him to London as ambassador to the court of St. James.

It was after an education received, close to the reigning dynasties of Europe that remained after the world war, that Kellogg returned to the United States and became secretary of state in Coolidge's cabinet. So loyal has he been in services rendered the predatory interests that he has become known, for instance, as "Standard Oil" Kellogg because of support given Rockefeller aggressions in the Near East and elsewhere over the globe.

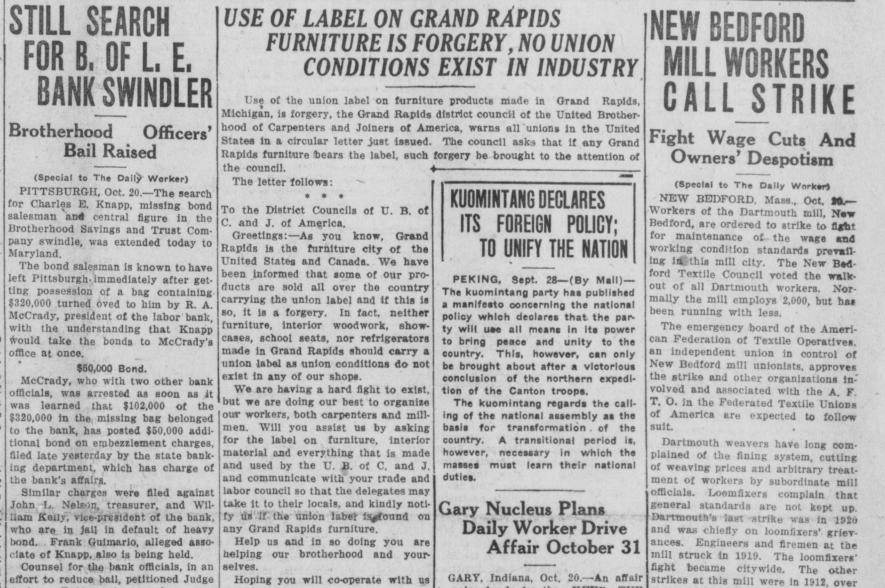

During his regime the gates of the United States have been thrown open to every parasite royal nincompoop in Europe that chose to come this way. The Prince of Wales, the Swedish prince and others of their ilk, and now the Queen of Roumania, most revolting of them all, gets the homage of the American toe-kissing plutocracy.

The gates have been thrown open to them all. The doors of the dollar-worshipping United States have been closed in the faces of the wife of Michael Kalinin, the president of the Union of Socialist Soviet Republics, who wanted to come here two years ago on behalf of the children of Soviet Russia; of Shapurji Saklatvala, the Communist member of the British parliament, excluded last year, and more recently Katherine Karolyi, wife of Michael Karolyi former president of the Hungarian republic, who gave way to the short-lived Hungarian Soviet Republic. Proceedings were also instituted against Mary McSwiney when she came to this country to launch her attack on British rule in Ireland. All these have suffered under the Kellogg ban.

This is the same Kellogg who waits for an opportunity to strike another blow, on behalf of American imperialism, against Mexico, across the Rio Grande, and who holds the club of dollar diplomacy over the financial colonies of the United States in Latin and South America.

This is the Kellogg who admits to the United States, Countess Vera Cathcart, British honor guest at the "bathtub of wine party" given by Earl Carroll at his New York theater, with one of his chorus girls as an undraped offering to give joy and delight to those present.

It is thru Secretary of State Kellogg, scavenger for the worst dregs of the disappearing European aristocracy, who has ordered the postal department to proceed against The DAILY WORKER. ## Wall Street and the Franco-German Pact

One of the most important developments since the inauguration of the Dawes plan-the Franco-German combination-has deeply stirred the financial lords of the United States. A frantic London dispatch to the Chicago Tribune said: "It is almost openly admitted here that it (the Franco-German pact) is the first step toward an organized revolt against the financial hegemony of New York and London."

The New York Times indicated editorially that the proposal to have Germany set the financial house of France in order by floating part of the German railway securities, amounting to $500,-000,000, meant ultimately that the loan would have to be raised in the United States: and a news headline declared that New York bankers "Do Not Believe $500.000.000 Issue of Railway Securities Can Be Absorbed."

Nevertheless, the steps taken following the Thoiry conversations of Briand and Stresemann have clearly indicated the growing consolidation of the opposition by European bankers and industrials to the persistent and increasing American financial hegemony.

that his state federation had sent out an appeal to local unions all over the state asking for financial aid for the strikers.

30 Years Behind Time. "This struggle is already thirty years behind time," said Mr. Reilly. "It should have been fought to the finish years ago. There is no need to postpone it longer."

Assuring the strikers that organized labor of the whole country is in back of them, Mr. Reilly urged them to stick out their fight to the end.

John J. Connelly, general organizer for the International Machinists' Union, and Robert Dunn, of the American Civil Liberties Union, also addressed the strikers.

Gustav Deak, president of Local 1603. United Textile Workers, the strikers' organization, told how the relief committee had succeeded in beating mill owners' efforts to have their credit at wholesalers cut off. The mill owners' action would have seriously hampered the distribution of food and supplies to the strikers thru the re FORMER LEWIS lief committee's stores.

Passaic Authorities Continue Support to Brutal Strike Cops

PASSAIC, N. J., Oct. 20.-Taxpayers of Garfield, N. J., are still to be made to pay out their money to help break the textile strike. At a meeting of the Garfield city council held this week $17,500 was appropriated "for the added needs of the departments under the supervision of the safety committee, of which Jack Moro is chairman." This extra appropriation, says the United Mine Workers of America, Passaic Daily News, "was necessary because of the increase in the police department since February, due to the strike and the disorders."

Councilman Joseph Quinlivan introduced a motion asking for the discharge of the special police officers, but the motion was lost. There are ten of these strike-breaking cops on the Garfield police force.

It was one of the weekly bulletins of the "Improve America League," a propaganda organization of the business men of Angel City. It explained how they had their agents at work in colleges and high schools, training students to watch their teachers and fellow students, and report any signs of the red menace. The league boasted its fund of a hundred and sixty thousand dollars a year for the next five years. So here was another chunk of real-Walsh, corporation lawyer and will- ity, falling with a dull sickening thud upon the head of a young ing tool of the biggest interests in idealist! Said Mr. Irving: "Some one who was very 'red,' you can be sure. That is how it works-a man is looking for something to report, and when it's too slow making its appearance, he's tempted to help it along. So the spy almost always becomes a provocateur. You can tell him by the fact that he talks a lot and does nothing-he can't afford to have it said that he was a could meet over the polished mohag- leader.'

"Who is that?"

"Billy George. We never could be red enough to suit him! He was the cause of that fool poem of Peter Nagle's going into the paper. And now he's dropped clean out-he wasn't mentioned in the scandal."

Mr. Irving smiled. "Well, Ross, you've seen the white terfor in action! You'll find it helps you to understand world history. Fortunately, you're rich, so it was just a joke. But don't forget-if you'd been a poor Russian Jew in the slums, you'd be in jail now, with ten thousand dollars bail, and ten or twenty years in state's prison for your destiny. If you had happened to ive in Poland or Finland or Roumania, you and all your little bunch would have been buried in one muddy trench a week ago!"

CHAPTER XII

The Siren I.

Springtime had come again, and Bunny was finishing his second year at Southern Pacific. But the bloom was now worn off the peach; he no longer took the great institution at its own valuation. He knew that the courses were dull, and that they taught you masses of facts of little importance, and were afraid of new and original thinking. The one thing he had got was a clue to some worthwhile books; he wanted to read them-but you could do that better at home. He was debating whether he would come back next year.

Things were freer at Paradise, it seemed. Paul had gone back to work as a boss carpenter for the company; he had recovered a part of his strength and was making good money-building labor was scarce, because the country was making up for the lost construction of war time. Ruth was happy again; at least three of the oil workers were in love with her, but she would think of no of his victory over the LaFollette ma- one but her wonderful brother. Paul was studying again; but not chine in the primaries has felt his the biology books, all his money now went for magazines and pats sufficiently to burst over the pamphlets and books that dealt with the labor struggle. There traces and try his hand at winning were a good many returned soldiers with the company, some of whom had come to think about the war just as Paul did; twice a week they had regular classes, reading aloud a chapter from a Governor John J. Blaine is the book and discussing it.

So the Rascum cabin became what the Angel City newspapers were accustomed to describe as a "Bolshevik nest." Much nounced that Zimmerman threw his as these workingmen might differ about tactics, they were a unit support to the independent candidate, on the proposition that capital and labor had nothing in common but a fight. And they made no bones about saying it; they would Zimmerman denies that he ever was start an argument on the job, or while a bunch of the men were a member of the K. K. Dad must have known about it, but he located two kluxers who have sworn did nothing; his men had always been free to say what they pleased, and he would take his chances. Indeed, he could hardly do anything else, while every man on the place knew that the discoverer and heir-apparent of the field was one of the "reddest" of the bunch! Ever since the war, the union of the oil workers had been ecognized and dealt with, as the government had decreed. But now the hand of Uncle Sam was beginning to relax; the idealistic President was a semi-invalid in Washington, and in Angel City the open shop" crowd were getting ready to bring back the good old days. At least that was the rumor among the union officials, and how were they going to meet the employers' move? The wage agreements expired towards the end of the year, and this GARY, Ind., Oct. 20 .- The tour of was the issue to which all the arguments of the oil workers led. And Bunny, always dred workers packed the hall to the aware of this loving bond, would study monthly reports of prowalls to greet the liberated rebel and duction, and cost sheets and price schedules, and go out to the hear him tell the story of the struggle wells that were drilling, and take part in long consultations with for Mexican freedom and of his years the foremen. Only a few years ago, an oil well had been to him the most interesting thing in the world; but now cruel fate had brought it about that one oil well seemed exactly like another oil well! Number 142 had brought in six hundred thousand dollars, whereas Number 143 had brought in only four hundred and fifty thousand. But what difference did it make, when all you would cution of these men who had organized do with the extra hundred and fifty thousand was to drill another Dad's answer was kept in stock on the shelves of his mind: "The world has got to have oil." But then, you looked at the world, and saw enormous crowds of people driving to places where they were no better off than at home! But it would annoy Dad to have you say that-it was a step outside the range of his hinking. To Bunny he now seemed like an old horse in a treadmill; he climbed and climbed, all day long, and at night he climbed in/dreams. But if you should let him out of the treadmill, he would die-for lack of any reason for living. So Bunny learned more and more to keep his traitor doubts o himself; those theories of the "class struggle" that he learned from Paul and his fellows, and the rumors of a strike that he read in the oil workers' journal. Instead, he would take Dad fishing, of other class war fighters still in and they would pretend they were just as happy as of old in the bosom of their mother Nature-though the sad truth was that Dad was too heavy and too stiff in the joints to get much fun out Another good meeting to welcome of scrambling over the rocks.

Secretary of State Kellogg, if news dispatches from Washington huge political organization for the Labor leaders wear diamonds on are to be credited, has requested the post office department to in- purpose of gaining control of the na their shirt fronts and keep real estate vestigate THE DAILY WORKER'S treatment of the visit of Queen Marie. tion's political system.

THE DAILY WORKER has telegraphed to Kellogg and Postmaster New to find out upon what basis the investigation is to be made. We have, however, scarcely any doubt that the head-dollar-diplomat, Mr. Kellogg, took offense at an editorial in THE DAILY WORKER en- dragon Smith early in the present approaches. An epic could be writtitled, "Romany Marie-American Imperialism's Hetaira," in which the queen of the ruling house of Roumania, a Hohenzollern dynasty spattered by the blood of thousands of murdered peasants and workers in old Roumania. Bessarabia and Transylvania is referred to as a "gory bitch."

THE DAILY WORKER informs both Secretary of State .Kellogg and Postmaster-General New, off-hand, that it stands by this apvellation. Let these lackeys of imperialism proceed against THE DAILY WORKER in defense of a representative of feudal monarchism. Let them duplicate the procedure that would most certainly be taken in the queen's country, where every working class editor stands at every hour not only to have his paper confiscated but his life menaced by the blood-thirsty "siguranza."

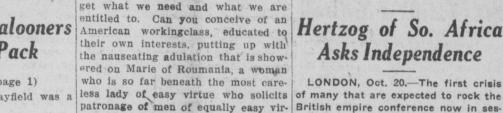

When Queen Marie landed in New York harbor, she was asked by a reporter about the persecutions of workers, peasants, and the national minorities in Roumania. The queen evaded answering this question by saying that she was not "an official personage" and could not answer political questions.

We therefore ask Secretary of State Kellogg why the Queen of the republican primary. Roumania is accorded the status of an "official personage" while she denies it and refuses to assume the responsibilities that ordinarily some of those men, who are called go with it? We ask Secretary of State Kellogg why he defends this called good citizens and good lawrepresentative of military despotism and white terror in the same yers. Am I to understand that re-representative with full diplomatic sardless of the fact that a man may Eugene v. DEBS is dying—so the possess it the moment her independent status ceases to be a matter of dispute standing when she refuses to accept a diplomatic status?

THE DAILY WORKER is not interested in Marie's moral character. We do not call for the bars of "moral turpitude" to be invoked against her as they were invoked against Countess Cathcart, who bears no comparison in this respect to the notorious Marie. The degeneration of King Ferdinand is a common-place in Roumania. We can think of no one who is more amendable to the charge of "moral turpitude" than a denizen of the courts of eastern Europe. of Senator James A. ## DEBS STILL CLINGING TO LIFE WITH NO CHANGE IN CONDITION

At 4:30 o'clock Wednesday afternoon Eugene V. Debs, whose death is expected momentarily by attending physicians, was still clinging to life. The veteran fighter for the cause of the American worker has been lying unconscious in Lindlahr hospital, Elmhurst, Ill., for nearly 36 hours. There is no visible change in his condition from Tuesday, hospital officials report, but they feel that Debs has not many more hours to live.

He had been confined in the hospital for more than a week when attacked by a serious nervous breakdown. His health has been poor since his imprisonment at Atlanta in 1919 to 1921 for delivering an anti-war speech.

WIDOW OF PARTNER OF JOHN D. LEAVES ESTATE OF OVER $85,000,000

NEW YORK, Oct. 20 .--- An estate valued at $85,000,000 was left by Mrs. Edward S. Harkness, widow of the late partner of John D. Rockefeller, when she died on March 27, it is revealed here in a petition filed in surrogate court.

Mrs. Harkness inherited originally $50,000,000, but her bond clippings netted $35,000,000 more. It is estimated that the inheritance tax will be $16,000,000. Her son, Edward S. Harkness, will in-
