In the past The DAILY WORKER has energetically championed the interests of the packing house workers. The DAILY WORKER has fought resolutely for the steel

The interests of the coal miners have been voiced fearlessly by The DAILY WORKER-despite severe opposition from the operators and the reactionary Lewis administration.

Ask the railway workers if any paper other than The DAILY WORKER has fought against the strike-breaking Watson-Parker law and and the union-wrecking schemes which have been foisted on many of our railroad labor / mizations. Ask the Wall United States government most consistently, scathlingly and courageously? Were he to reply, even "Silent Cal" would yell from the house tops: "The DAILY WORKER."

This is for the past. Now for the present. Take a vote among the thousands of heroic, striking Pas-

We will be unable to KEEP THE DAILY WORKER on the Job without more and better support from you in a hurry. The $50,000 campaign must be brought to a successful close as soon as possible. The sooner we get the full sum, the better off will you and The DAILY WORKER be. The sooner The DAILY WORKER gets the $50,000, the quicker will there be a more effective DAILY WORKER.

The Lithuanian National Fraction Bureau of the Workers (Communist) Party has just set a splendid example for all of us. The Lithuanian National Fraction Bureau has just sent us a check for $200 to KEEP THE DAILY WORKER.

There is nothing like trying and doing-GIVING. The Lithuanian comrades have only the other day launched a new Lithuanian Communist daily, The Vilnis. Yet, they have come across. Why don't you do the same?

The DAILY WORKER cannot live on the past alone.

The DAILY WORKER cannot continue unless you say: YES. We need more than words now. We need some very immediate and concrete deeds. We need some money and mighty

By T. J. O'FLAHERTY TTHO the Reed slush fund investigation showed that the sum of $500, 000 was spent to secure the G. O. P. nomination for Frank L. Smith of Illinois, Frank's report shows that he neither received nor spent a dime in his primary fight. Mr. Vare of Pennsylvania, who spent nearly a million Homeless dollars to win the G. O. P. nomina tion was a little bit more culpable than Smith. Vare admitted that he wasted $133. Is this a mystery to you? If so, here is the solution. The boodle was received and spent by the committees charged with putting Messrs. Vare and Smith over the tape, Any law that cannot be gotten over is a bum law! This is the position of the lawmakers.

OF course, for the masses the case is different. Laws are not made to bring grief to the lawmakers. Wars are not fought by those who are responsible for them. What hypocrites our rulers are? They pass laws for the ostensible purpose of preventing gigantic expenditures of money in political campaigns, but because they know that without the boodle a candidate stands little chance of getting elected they immediately begin to devise ways and means of getting around the law. Now, no matter how much money a candidate may spend. it is not his fault. The blame rests human habitation remains standing. on his committee.

Madeiros Granted Further Respite

BOSTON, Mass., Oct. 26 .- A demand by defense attorney William G. Thompson, supported by Attorney-General Benton and District Attorney Wilbur of Norfolk County, caused Governor Alvin T. Fuller to grant a further respite to Celestino Madieros, convicted of murder and confessor to participation in the robbery and slaying of which Sacco and Vanzetti have been falsely accused. The respite extends to and includes January 27 of next year.

Madeiros had been granted a reprieve prior to the last hearing which resulted in the failure of the defense to succeed in its efforts for a new trial. At this hearing, Madeiros' confession was a prominent part of the evidence submitted by Attorney Thompson showing why Sacco and Vanzetti had been unjustly convicted.

The appeal for the additional respite to Madeiros shows the defense is fighting hard for Sacco and Vanzetti and that it places some hope that in carrying the case to the supreme court Madeiros' confession will carry more weight with the higher body than it did with the trial judge. Thayer. It is significant too that Attorney General Bentom supported the appeal for the respite. He said that in doing so he sought "orderly administration of justice"

"God Knows" Taft True to Form

(Special to The Daily Worker) WASHINGTON, October 26 .- The power of the president to remove a federal officer without the consent of the senate was sustained by the supreme court today, thus ending a dispute as to constitutional rights that has waged between the legislative and executive branches of the government for half a century.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 26 .- The adeffort to prevent tariff lowering at the coming session of congress.

Mellon Makes Statement. This was the view Washington took today of Secretary of Treasurer Mellon's reply to the international bankers' manifesto. In a formal state ment, he added but little to his oral one of last week.

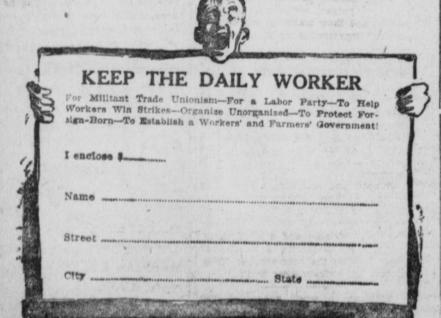

Mellon said, in effect, that leveling of tariff barriers would be fine for Europe, and he wished the plan well, but it would be not so good for the United States, and the administration is going to fight any moves to cut tariffs here.

"Harm Labor."

He used the age-old high tariff argument that a reduction of the Amer ican tariff world be detrimental to American labor and American pros ecreased buying power. This same argument has been used by republican speakers on the stump in the present campaign.

That is the meaning of the statement he issued after ong consultation with President Cooidge, agreeing with the international bankers that Europe should reorgan ize itself into one economic unit, but denying that America should lower its tariff wall toward European com-

With the traditional air of benevolence which Pennsylvania manufacturers have shown in political campaigns for generations past, he pleads for his high tariff privilege in he name of labor.

Applies to Europe, Says Mellon. Mellon says that the international pankers' "Plea for Removal of Restrictions Upon European Trade" is brought about by the breaking up of old political units such as the Austro-Hungarian empire, and the re-arrange ment of the continent along ethnical lines which are hostile to the natural flow of coremerce. Big cities like Vienna are left without markets or sources of raw material for factories.

Europe Should Emulate U. S. 'The situation in Europe," he declares, "is different from that in America. By J. LOUIS ENGDAHL.

EVERY capitalist newspaper in the land printed something about the decision of Judge Webster Thayer denying a new trial to Nicola Sacco and Bartolomeo Vanzetti. Tens of millions of workers, therefore, are fully aware of the certain death that threatens their comrades, in the shadow of the electric chair, in Massachusetts.

The fact that a great wave of protest does not roll up over the and may be accounted for, in part, by the attitude of masses of workers stated in these few words, "They won't put them to death. They don't dare. Something will happen to stop the execution of Sacco and Vanzetti."

This is, of course, a criminal attitude. The worker who takes that attitude shows that he has been effectively doped by the ruling class under which he suffers. Somehow, this type of worker has come to the suicidal conclusion that the capitalist exploiter today doesn't kill his prey. Attorney William G. Thompson counsel for Sacco and Vanzetti, not a member of the workingclass, not even a radical, or even a liberal. fought this viewpoint all thru his energetic participation in the five day's of argument for the new trial, that has just been rejected by Judge Thayer, Thompson held up the electric chair as offering an immediate danger, waiting at the courtroom door, as it were, with a powerful electric current turned full on, hungry for its victims. Attorney Thompson said:

"If these men are executed, the cry is going around the world that if a man doesn't believe in private property in America, he can be

Labor must not wait until after Sacco and Vanzetti have been done to death, to learn whether it can be done, or will be done. It will then be too late to turn back and undo the crime that has been committed. The time to make the fight is now, with the full realization that American capitalism, now as ever, worries little about the blood of the workers upon its hands, as long as its dominant position is secure.

Doubting workers, who question the brutality of American greed, need but to scan thru the November issue of the Labor Defender, the monthly publication of the International Labor Defense, to trace the blood-stained path trod down thru the years by the capitalist overlords in their ruthless pursuit of profits

In 1887 the gallows in Chicago claimed the Haymarket victims, just as guiltless as Sacco and Vanzetti. Joe Hill, the poet of the Industrial Workers of the World. was shot to death by a firing squad in the Utah state penitentiary, Nov. 19, 1915. The next year, at Everett, Wash., the lumber trust didn't wait for arrests, trials, convictions and executions. Thru its hired assassins under the direction of Sheriff McRáe, it launched a veritable massacre against the free speech fighters of the I. W. W., at this Puget Sound port, taking a toll of 11 workers dead and 32 severely wounded. This list does not include the killing, by hanging, of Frank Little, by an employing class mob near Butte, Mont., during the war. It does attempt to review the bloody record of the owning class in every strike that has taken place.

There are workers who ask "Will the American ruling class kill?" Here the workers have their an swer. The bosses will kill. None of these victims immediately threatened the existence of the capitalist state. The Haymarket victims had merely declared for the eight-hour workday, launching the campaign for the shorter day of toil. Joe Hill was the poet of the migratory, unskilled workers, putting into song the trials of itinerant labor. The Everett slaughter grew out of an attempt of labor to enjoy the right of free speech in the drive to organize the lumber workers in this western section of Washington. Little had voiced his views against the war. For this they all died.

In writing about the Haymarket affair. Lucy E. Parsons, widow of one of the victims, says that seven years after the wholesale hanging, Governor John P. Altgeld, of Illinois, reviewed the whole case, and proved from the testimony that the workers hanged were absolutely innocent.

It is a poor time, seven years after workers have been murdered, to learn that they were innocent of the crime charged against them. That happened in the Haymarket

This must not happen in the Sacco-Vanzetti case. A great mass of evidence has already been presented, that proves beyond doubt, except in the minds of the New England frame-up gang itself, that Sacco and Vanzetti are guiltless. . . .

The New York World, Sunday, October 24, in reviewing the contents of the decision of Judge Thayer, denying the new trial, said:

"He (Judge Thayer) also rejects the testimony of Lawrence G. Letherman, for 38 years a member of the secret service forces of the United States, and Albert J. Weyand, also a former secret service man, that attaches of the Boston office of the department of justice had conspired with state officials to convict the two radicals of a murder they did not believe them guilty of as 'one way of disposing of them'."

What did the prosecution do to wipe out the effect of these affidavits? What did it say in reply to them? Nothing! Asolutely nothing! In the words of the New York World, same issue, we find the fol-

"These affidavits (of Letherman and Weyand) the state did not answer, Dudley P. Ranney, the assistant district attorney now in charge of the case, contenting himself with denouncing Letherman and Weyand for revealing secrets of the department of justice." . . .

Sacco and Vanzetti are innocent! Everyone at all familiar with the case knows it.

But the executioners of the capitalist class are determined to put them to death.

What is the workingclass going to do about it?

The least that every reader of The DAILY WORKER can do right now is to order a bundle of the November issue of the Labor Defender, 23 S. Lincoln Street, Chicago, and get it distributed among workers who have a wrong viewpoint toward the Sacco-Vanzetti

NUMBER OF LYNCHINGS OF NEGROES IN U. S. INCREASES, THIRTY-SIX ARE VICTIMS OF MOB SINCE JAN. 1

"Judge Lynch" seems to be on the uphill climb again in the United states, increasing his toll of lives among the Negro race.

Since January 1, there have been twenty-four lynchings in the country six more in the ten months of 1926 than there were during the entire 12 nonths of 1925.

According to the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, during the last 38 years there have been 3,583 lynchings, an average of almost 100 a year. ## CHINESE MASSES HAIL CANTONESE AS LIBERATORS

Strength Runs Beyond Number of Soldiers

PEKING, Oct. 26 .- In the present northern expedition of the Cantonese armies the Canton troops have maintained an exemplary conduct quite in contrast to the murderous, plundering tyranny of the reactionary militarists.

These militarists were and are encouraged by the foreign imperialist powers, who used them as tools to keep the Chinese masses terrorized and divided. Even the comparatively wealthy Chinese, robbed by the marauding militarists, have welcomed the Canton troops as liberators.

Masses Welcome Cantonese.

How much more welcome have the Cantonese been to the farmers, whose crops and livestock have been stolen and destroyed by the reactionaries, and the coolie workers, who have been conscripted to both military and labor without pay, or slaughtered without pity, may be seen by the wild enthusiasm with which they greet the victorious Canton armies.

This is the strength of the Canton troops, with goes far beyond the number of their rifles and equipment. This sort of "propaganda" takes quick effect on the masses, and no northern general is sure what will happen to him and his army if he dares open an offensive against the Cantonese, or even resist their advance.

Militarists' Power Crumbles.

It is very doubtful if the northern generals will be able to hold out against the Cantonese advance. Their power crumbles into dust before the skillful maneuvers of the Cantonese commander, Chiang Kai-shih, as can be seen by the fact that altho the Canton armies are still some 300 or 400 miles from Shanghai their sympathizers have acted and cut off that city from rail communication in all directions.

If the Cantonese win all China they will surely carry out their demand for the abrogation of all unequal treaties and special privilege granted foreign imperialists. So the imperialists continue to support the reactionary militarists and thereby seal their own fate by antagonizing the masses.

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Oct. 26 .- Cambridge is the latest to follow in line with the regime of reaction in the state of Massachusetts. Bert Miller, district organizer of the Workers' Party, campaign manager for Massachusetts, was arrested on Thursday evening, October 21, as a result of an open air meeting held on Massachusetts avenue and Essex street, on the charge of "disturbing the peace." The district in which the meeting was held is strongly pro-Walsh and apparently the "disturbance of the peace" consisted in the attack on Walsh by the speaker as an enemy of labor.

Exposes Walsh. Miller showed that Walsh was tied up with the bank interests, that he had supported for president John W. Davis, attorney for J. P. Morgan & Co., and that he had been a supporter of the railroad interests. Taking objection to these remarks, one of the local supporters of Walsh proceeded to make a disturbance at the meeting. Instead of removing the disturber, the police proceeded to arrest the speaker in spite of the fact that the meeting was held with a local

At the trial the police could only produce as witnesses storekeepers who felt that the meeting had interfered with their business. The defendant, however, was able to produce workers from the audience who came in spontaneous protest to the unjust actions of the police officers. In order to protect the police the judge proposed that the defendant enter a plea of nolo or willingness not to prosecute further, and thereupon the cases was filed. This is but one more case added to the long list of violations of the constitutional right of freedom of speech and assembly of which Massachusetts can boast.

Mr. Walsh is opposed to strikes among railroad workers as indicated by the following statement made by him in the U.S. senate on December 18, 1918: "Strikes among certain classes of employes are indeed never justifiable, and among these classes are undeniably our transportation employes." The reason for his opposition to strikes among railroad work ers is undoubtedly linked up with Walsh's close connections with the railroad interests of the state, connections which became so evident and scandalous that Mr. Martin Lomasney, democratic leader, was forced to re mark in the Massachusetts house of representatives on June 4, 1915: "He (Walsh) was a railroad man in 1900 and 1901, when he was in the house. and he has not changed." He is showing the country that he is a man after their own hearts, who can be depended upon to break strikes, suppress union organization, impose fake arbitration conditions, extend company unions makers, issued by the administration and keep workers in subjection to industrial tyranny. Governor Smith knows that Coolidge rode into the White House on the record of his no other lesson to draw than that ing cloakmakers of New York City is strike-breaking activities in Boston and he seeks to establish his claim to be considered a rival for the presidency by equalling the strikebreaking record of Coolidge.

THE democratic party, like the republican party, is a friend of capital and an enemy of labor. Both parties are responsible for injunctions suppression of free speech, denial of the right to picket, state constabulary terror and all other devices used against labor.

Workers Must Fight. New York labor must clean the strikebreakers out of office. Workers on strike must not fear to use their mass power and to take up the fight

The power of labor is mighty! When united, labor can defeat injunction judges, strikebreaking gov-

with these strikebreaking officehold-ernors and their malicious schemes to destroy organized labor thru breaking strikes. TN the present elections there should be a united labor ticket in New York to challenge the united capitalist power. This the socialist party turned down. Unity of labor on the political field can defeat the strikebreakers and wipe out injunctions against strikers and in general put a stop to the strikebreaking activities of the gov ernment.

Support and vote for the candidates of the Workers (Communist) Party, who stand against injunctions, against the strikebreaking officeholders, for the unity of labor and a labor party. Support the solidarity and unity of labor. Defeat the open-shopper Mills. Defeat the strikebreaker Smith.

Has the News. If I wanted to know what was going on in the world, even in big cities; at least if I wanted to know more than the results of the Dempsey-Tunney of pie that Queen Marie had eaten for her dinner, I had to find copies of The DAILY WORKER on my trip. Back issues soon began to mean as much to me as current numbers, and when I saw the appeals to "Keep the DAILY WORKER," I suddenly thot what an arid desert the American labor movement would become if this one oasis of thought, activity and struggle were to suddenly be dried up, The United States without The DAILY WORKER! The American la bor movement in this year of retreat and defeat and class collaboration and betrayal without The DAILY WORKER! No daily, no struggle; no daily, no information from the workers' point of view; no daily, no genuine labor movement! Such were the inevitable conclusions from an attempt to imagine the United States progressive forces are so weak and timid and beaten and afraid. "Keep The DAILY WORKER."

And so I said to the comrades every where, "Keep The DAILY WORKER." It is our only weapon! Build The DAILY WORKER. It is the only hope of the American labor movement! But in all my reading I could find Circulate The DAILY WORKER. It is the only antidote to the poisons being poured into the air from press and pulpit and into the minds and hearts of men by the great daily rep tile press. Does it take sacrifices It is worth any sacrifice. All struggle requires sacrifice. The labor move nent requires sacrifice. Without The DAILY WORKER there will be noth ing left worth sacrificing for.

They were on an old familiar trail now, and Bunny knew the landscape by heart.

"It's all very well for a feller to go off in his study and figure out how the world ought to be; but that don't make it that way, son. There has got to be oil, and we fellers that know how to get it out of the ground are the ones that are doing it. You listen to these Socialists and Bolshevikis, but my God, imagine if the government was to start buying oillands and developing them -there'd be more graft than all the wealth of America could pay for. I'm on the inside, where I can watch it, and I know that when you turn over anything to the government, you might jist as good bury it ten thousand miles deep in the earth. You talk about laws, but there's economic laws, too, and government can't stand against them, no more than anybody else. When government does fool things, then people find a way to get round it, and business men that do it are no more to blame than any other kind of men. This is an oil age, and when you to try to shut oil off from production, it's jist like you tried to dam Niagara Falls.'

It was a critical moment in their lives. In after years Bunny would look back upon it, and think, oh why had he not put his foot down? He could have broken his father, if he had been determined enough! If he had said, "Dad, I will not stand for buying the presidency; and if you go in with Mr. Roscoe on that deal, you've got to know that I renounce my inheritance, I will not touch a cent of your money from this day on. I'll go out and get myself a job, and you can leave your money to Bertie if you want to." Yes, if he had said that, Dad would have given way; he would have been mortally hurt, and Mr. Roscoe would have been hurt, but Dad would not have helped to nominate Senator Harding.

Why didn't Bunny do it? It wasn't cowardice-he didn't know enough about life as yet to be afraid of it. He had never earned a dollar in his life, yet he had the serene conviction that he could go out and "get a job," and provide for himself those comforts and luxuries that were a matter of course to him. But the trouble was, he couldn't bear to hurt people. It was what Paul meant when he said that Bunny was "soft." He entered too easily into other people's point of view. He saw too clearly why Dad and Mr. Roscoe wanted to buy the Republican convention; and then, a few hours later, he would go over to the Rascum cabin, and sit down with Paul and "Bud" Stoner and "Jick" Duggan and the rest of the "Bolshevik bunch," and see too clearly why they wanted the oil workers to organize and educate themselves, and take over the oil wells from Dad and Mr. Roscoe. VI

Bunny went back to Southern Pacific and just as he was finishing his year's work, the convention of the Republican party met in Chicago, a thousand delegates and as many alternates, and as many newspaper correspondents and special writers, to tell the world about this mighty historic event. The convention listened to impressive "key-note" speeches and smoked enormous quantities of tobacco and drank enormous quantities of pootleg liquor; and meantime, in a room in the Blackstone Hotel. the half-dozen bosses who controlled the votes sat down to make their deals. In the millions of words that went out over the wires concerning the convention the name of Vernon Roscoe was never mentioned; but he had his suite adjoining that hotel room, and he made exactly the right offers, and paid his certified checks to exactly the right men, after a long deadlock and the taking of eight ballots, amid wild excitement on the convention floor, the support of General Leonard Wood began suddenly to crumble, and on the ninth ballot Warren Gamaliel Harding of Ohio became the Republican party's standard-bearer.

College was over; and Gregor Nikolaieff went up to San Francisco to ship on one of the vessels of the "canning fleet," which went up to Alaska to catch and pack salmon. Rachel Menzies and her brother joined three other Jewish students who had equipped themselves with a battered Ford car, to follow the fruit-picking; moving from place to place, sleeping under the stars, and gathering apricots, peaches, prunes and grapes for the canners and driers. Bunny was the only one of the little group of 'reds" who did not have to work all summer; and he was the only one who didn't know what to do with himself.

In the old days, when he and Dad were drilling one well at a time, Bunny would pitch in and help at anything there was to do; he was only a "kid" then, and the men liked it. But now he was of age, and supposed to be dignified; the company was of age, too, a huge machine in which every cog had its place, and must not be interfered with. Bunny could not even cultivate the plants at home without trespassing on the job of the gardener! The schools, tho being controlled ocratic or any other party which is He had resolved to study some of Paul's books; but he had never heard of anyone studying eight hours a day, and he couldn't take Paul's job for part of the time, because he wasn't a good enough

It was a world in which some people worked all the time, and others played all the time. To work all the time was a hore, and no one would do it unless he had to; but to play all the time was equally a bore, and the people who did it never had anything to talk about that Bunny wanted to listen to. They talked about their play, just as solemnly as if it had been work; tennis tournaments, golf tournaments, polo matches—all sorts of complicated ways of hitting a little ball about a field! Now, it was all right, when you needed exercise and recreation, to go out and hit a little ball; but to make life work of it, to give all your time and thought to it, to practice it religiously, read and write books about it, discuss it for hours on end-Bunny looked at these fully grown men and women, with their elaborate outfits of "sport clothes," and it seemed to him they must be exercising a kind of hypnosis upon themselves, to make themselves believe that they were really enjoying their lives.

Miners Are Puzzled by 'Philanthropy'

> By ROMA, Worker Correspondent.

MOUNDSVILLE, W. Va., Oct. 26 .-When the coal operators of a nonunion mine voluntarily and suddenly increase the wage scale of their employes it certainly gives the poor, underpaid miners food for thought and causes them to arrive at the conclusion that "something must be in the Raise Wages a Third.

Yet that is exactly what occurred in Moundsville at the Panama mine, employing 250 men, owned by the Ben Franklin Coal Co., when notices were osted on the morning of October 22 that the company will adopt the Jacksonville wage agreement, or union contract, on November 1, 1926. The mine will continue to operate on an open-shop basis, but will increase its wage scale 33 1-3 per cent.

According to the company officials, an improvement in the bituminous market conditions has justified the in-

Miners Wage Fight.

The Panama miners are only one of the local mines which last year waged a valiant but vain struggle against a reduction in the wage scale. During the bituminous coal strike in Wednesday, October 13, at 224 South April, 1926, this region, which has Spring street. Twenty-one organizabeen a typical West Virginia scab tions with 42 delegates responded to hole for some time, joined the ranks the call. Besides the needle trades of the union miners and struck when unions, delegates were present from an attempt was made to reduce the wages to the 1917 scale. However, Workmen's Circle branches, political after several months, weak support parties (working class) and educafrom President Lewis and strong opposition from the courts and the coal operators, together with the coming winter, had their effect, and the min- committee of fifteen was elected to ers were forced to return to work under non-union conditions at the day to raise funds.

There are several mines in this lo-However, they do not maintain a uniform wage scale. The Panama mine paid 58 cents per ton for per ton. It has not been ascertained as yet whether the remaining mines will proceed to increase their wage scale in line with the Panama mine. Action Is Puzzler.

It is certainly puzzling to many what caused the coal company to increase the wage scale at the Panama mine. It was not mere philanthropy. Of course, their reason that market conditions justify it are true enoughalways were, in fact. If that were the only reason the wage scale could be increased to a much greater extent Perhaps the recent call that was issued for another strike in Morgantown may have had some influence. Perhaps the fact that another bituninous coal strike is anticipated next April had some effect, and the wage scale was raised in anticipation of the future to keep their slaves scabbing during that period and then cut

At any rate the mine is still left operating on a non-union basis, which means that with no union contract to protect the wage scale the wages may be reduced as suddenly as they were increased.

Rubber Workers Told of Necessity to Form Strong United Front

(By a Workers Correspondent.) AKRON, O., Oct. 26 .- At one of the argest mass meetings held this year by the Hungarian Workers Sick and Benefit society, an organizer of the Rubber Workers union gave a talk on the necessity of organization of rubber workers. He spoke for about 15 minutes on the greed of the rubber baroons, and stressed the rawhide system and wage cuts.

He pointed out that now is the time for all workers, regardless of race, creed or color to drop their prejudices and to organize into one union, showing the bosses a solid front. He finished up by stressing the point that thru organization, and organization only, can the workers ever expect to get shorter hours and higher wages.

WORKER WRITERS! JOIN CLASS IN WORKER CORRESPONDENCE, FRIDAY

INTENSIVE activity to develop and strengthen the worker correspondence movement in the Chicago district will be launched at the first meeting of the class in worker correspondence to be held Friday night, October 29, in the editorial rooms of The DAILY WORKER, third floor, 1113 W. Washington Blvd., Chicago, Illinols.

The class will meet weekly on Friday nights. The success of this class last year indicates that an excellent response can be expected during the fall, winter and spring terms that lie ahead. All phases of worker correspondence will be developed. The class will not only write for, but help edit The American Worker Correspondent, the publication of the worker writers of The DAILY WORKER.

The class will be under the general direction of J. Louis Engdahl, editor of The DAILY WORKER, assisted by Harry Kletzky, who supervises the Worker Correspondence Section of The DAILY WORKER.

Special lectures will be given from time to time, on the various phases of worker correpondence and on problems confronting the labor movement by the members of The DAILY WORKER editorial staff, including William F. Dunne, Thomas J. O'Flaherty, Harrison George and Thurber Lewis. Talks will also be given on such subjects as shop papers, wall papers, living newspapers as well as lessons in English by Jay Lovestone, M. A. Stolar and Nancy Markoff.
