Strike General by Dec. 4.

The strike of the Chinese workers has been peaceful and attended by threats of violence. They have already begun to walk out of the factories, newspaper plants and offices controlled by the Japanese and British. The servants are coming out gradually and the strike will become general by Dec. 4, it is announced in trade union quarters.

Hankow trade unions have set Dec. , as the date when a general strike will be declared of all servants and office workers in the foreign concessions. There are indications that the strike will be extended to include three other treaty ports controlled by the Cantonese, Kiukiang, Changsha and Yochow. The strike has already been declared in the Japanese concession.

Shops are not allowed to sell the Japanese food and all servants have been withdrawn from service. There is much resentment against the brutal execution of a soldier and a civilian in the French concession for "creating a disturbance."

The British community is very much alarmed and has sent radios to London asking for armed assistance against the strike. In both the American and British quarters, armed patrols are on guard.

Trient is under the influence of American "progress," chairman Bukharin continued, and when Trient said that "Fordism" meant not only rationalization but also higher wages. Trient forgot that in the last two years wages have not been higher and he also forgot the intensification of the exploitation of labor.

The coalition of all capitalist states owing to the strong contradictions among the bourgeoisie and between them and the proletariat, is neither possible or practical and Trient is wrong because he overlooks these contradictions, Bukharin said.

The World Crisis.

Regarding the actual crisis of capitalism, Bukharin continued, the social-democrats consider the crisis normal, while the Communists stress the existence of the strongest elements of the post-war crisis and the war influence. The Communists do not deny the growth of the production

An attempt to maintain utmost secrecy as to details of the negotiations is being made, but enough has leaked out to reveal that Mussolini is desirous of promoting an "understanding" between Italy and Germany. MEXICO RECALLS WILSON'S STAND sive role. FOR LAND LAWS

Quotes 1914 Statement Germany. by Ex-President

MEXICO CITY, Nov. 30. - The newspaper, Excelsior, confronts the American state department with some embarrassing declarations it claims were made by the late President Woodrow Wilson with regard to the land law legislation against which the U. S. threatens to break off relations with Mexico.

Excelsior credits Wilson with saying in 1924:

"The struggle in Mexico has been a struggle for land. Well then, we are soing to settle the agrarian question by constitutional methods."

Quoting liberally from an interview with Wilson that appeared in the Saturday Evening Post in 1914, the Mexcan paper arrives at the conclusion bat "Mr. Wilson declared himself the ue author of article 27 of the Mexcan constitution (regarding the land which the administration of Mr. Coolidge is complaining of today."

. . . Interview in 1914.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 80. - The inberview with President Wilson referand to by the Excelsior of Mexico City appeared in the Saturday Evening Post of May 23, 1914. Wilson is quoted as saving:

"It is a curious thing that every Remand for the establishment of order In Mexico takes into consideration, not order for the benefit of the people of Mexico, the great mass of the population, but order for the benefit of the old time regime, for the aristocrats, for the vested interests, for the men who are responsible for this very condition of disorder.

"All for Wealthy."

"No one asks for order because order will help the masses of the people to get a portion of their rights and their land; but all demand it so that the great owners of property, the overlords, the hidalgos, the men who have exploited that rich country for their own selfish purposes, shall be able to continue their processes undisturbed by the protests of the people from whom their wealth and power have been obtained.

"The dangers that beset the republic are held to be the individual and corporate troubles of these men, not the aggregated injustices that have been heaped on this vastly greater section of the population that is now struggling to recover by force what has always been theirs by right."

But Don't Forget.

But while Mexican journals are using these sentiments against the imperialist policy of the state department, it must not be forgotten that it was under President Wilson's adminis-

C. P. Growing.

The Chinese petit-bourgeoisie are everywhere organizing, said the speaker, the big bourgeoisie are in many cases helping the Kuomintang, as for example in Shanghai. The Communist Party is growing in China and is a notable influence on the labor movement.

However, Tan Ping Hsiang warned, over-optimism is to be avoided: The revolution in China has only begun to exist and hope for victory; the present political juncture is of the most complex kind. Besides the civil war in the Chinese arena, the cross-current of conflicting Imperialist interests makes intervention by the powers quite possible. . . .

Enlarge Front.

Imperialism, he said, is now purkiang provinces. Fengtien troops unsuing a policy of bribing and inder Chang Chungchang have arrived at Nanking north of Shanghai and are trigue, attempting thus to split the nationalist movement. The Communists, he declared, must counter this, first by consolidating the peasants' mov nt, draw the revolution, second, enlarge the front of the national liberation movement, create a united front of the Western European proletariat to defeat imperialism, fourth, to destroy the last vestiges of feudalism and create a united national central government.

START DRIVE TO ORGANIZE KNIT GOODS WORKERS New York Union Calls Meeting for Dec. 2

(Special to The Dally Worker)

NEW YORK, Nov. 30 .- The Knit foods Workers' Union, Local 55, has launched a drive to organize the 20.000 unorganized knit goods workers of

The need for organization is strongly felt by the workers, whose conditions are lower than almost any other trade in New York. The average wage is about $20 a week. Thousands of knit goods workers, mostly young girls, average much less. The hours of work are from 48 to 52. The workers stand many abuses and are speeded up to keep in time with the constantly improved machinery.

Industry is Prosperous.

The knitted trade is very prosperous. During the last few years it has gone thru a wide reorganization. Hundreds of small concerns went out of business. A large number of hand workers were driven out of the trade by the new circular machine.

The industry has thus become consolidated, while the demand for knitted garments, sport wear for both winter novelties is growing constantly, in proportion to the swollen profits of the bosses. The importance of the industry has increased tremendously. It is Workers Demand Share. Local 55 is determined to win a share of this prosperity for the workers, and will fight for better conditions, higher wages and less hours. "Every Worker in Union."

The union has adopted the slogan, 'Every Knit Goods Worker a Union Member." An intensive organization campaign has been launched. An orat Foreign Trade ganization committee has been formed which is already showing results.

It did this very successfully, altho temporarily forcing the revolutionary energies of the workers and peasants, for the moment, away from the work of peaceful reconstruction. 200 . . .

Similarly in China at the present moment. The national revolutionary movement in the East is now struggling against such Hessians doing the imperialist bidding as:

Chang Tso Lin. Wu Pei Fu. Sun Chuan Fang. Chang Chung Chang. And others.

These are militarists, so-called "generals," fed with the gold and munitions, and kept alive with the loans of foreign exploiters. The struggle against them is difficult. Yet it is proceeding most successfully. Yet in China, as in Russia, revolutionary energies, that could be diverted to the development of the nation's resources, and lifting the general standard of living, must be thrown into the strengthening of the army to hurl back the enemies of the workers.

It is interesting to note that the Chinese stool-pigeons of the profit powers are raising the same slogans as their Russian counterparts of years gone. Chang and Wu and Sun talk just like Wrangel, Kolchak, Yudenitch, Semenoff and Denikin once did.

Thus The Chicago Daily News publishes an interview with Chang Tso Lin, from its correspondent, James L. Butts, at Tientsin, China, in which the organ of the great middle western bankers seriously quotes the Manchurian war lord as declaring:

"I am making a fight not only on behalf of China, but for the whole world.' Here is another saviour of civilization whose utterances should cause the late czar to stir uneasily and full of jealousy in his grave and force the deposed kaiser at Doorn to quit chopping wood for a few moments to consider the mad but familiar mouthings of his oriental duplicate. Chang talks on:

"The menace of Bolshevism is a world issue. Whether I win or plished.

While Marshall Chang was talking at Tientsin the Peking government of the northern war lords went out of business, having lost its meal ticket. Chang professed not to be troubled by this. The white guard generals of Kolchak's anti-bolshevik army are still fighting the "red menace" in the tea rooms of Seattle and San Francisco. So Chang announces, "I shall go to Peking soon and then I shall issue a proclamation to the world." In other words, Silas H. Strawn, the "American Commissioner" to China will probably have to call in his stenographer and dictate another heroic utterance on behali of the 13 nations that recently sent representatives' to Peking to discuss their rights to keep their heels upon the necks of the Chinese masses as long as they desire. The 13 nations include the United States, Belgium, the British Empire, France, Italy, Denmark, Japan, Holland, Norway, Portugal, Spain, Sweden and the Hessianized Chinese war lords. The report drawn up by the unlucky 13 condemns the existing methods in China as a nation lacking a controlling central government, without an effective constitution and torn by civil strife among military chieftains."

Yet these alien powers are energetic in their support of the "military chieftains" that keep China divided, especially in support of Chang Tso Lin, their mouthpiece, who is going to talk to "the world." They make war upon the only centralized and stable ruling power in China, the Canton government, just as the Versailles peace allies supported every nondescript "general" who came forward to war on the Moscow government of workers and peas-

Chang Tso Lin can have a "message" only for the ruling, exploiting classes of the various capitalist nations, pledging himself to help impose on the Chinese working masses the superb agony of capitalist exploitation, against which the Shanghai strikers rebelled last year. The only message concerning Chang Tso Lin that will deeply interest and bring joy to the workers of the world will be his complete defeat and elimination from the Chinese area of struggle. Every day's news brings more encouraging reports that this is being accom-

WASHINGTON, Nov. 30. - While the tax breach between President Coolidge and congress' is widening. republican leaders have began throwing their support behind a proposal to use the expected $350,000,000 treasury surplus in reducing America's world war debts.

This plan, proposed a year ago by Secretary of the Treasury Mellon but revived recently by the insurgent bloc of the senate, found approval toda; among the administration's own leaders in congress. It was endorsed not only by Senator Smoot, chairman of he senate finance committee but by Senator David A. Reed, frequently called "the treasury spokesman" in the senate, Senator James A. Watson, and Senator Arthur Capper.

Would Benefit All.

If the whole surplus were used to etire a part of America's war debts, was said, the plan would save Amercan taxpayers approximately $15,000,-000 a year. Those sponsoring the plan declared this saving would render a benefit to all taxpayers.

Republican opposition to the Coolidge plan to use the surplus as a rebate on taxes this year, centered chiefly around a belief that this is a banner year of prosperity out of which the government is getting a maximum of revenue from existing taxes. If the prosperity should not continue thruout 1927, it was said, a reduction of taxes now would bring a deficit to the treasury. If prosperity continues, it was added, taxes can be reduced in 1928.

Democrats Favor Full Reduction.

The democrats, however, announced open warfare some time ago on this republican reasoning, declaring it a political subterfuge intended only to postpone necessary tax reduction until the eve of the 1928 presidential campaign. The democrats declared they would press their plan for an immediate reduction of taxes all down the line.

No Time For It.

"It wouldn't surprise me if there was no tax reduction legislation at this session," said Smoot. There is so much other and more pressing legislation, including farm relief."

Reed, who frequently speaks for the treasury on the senate floor, voiced the same opinion. So too did Watson and Capper.

Pointing out the tendencies in the revolution in China, the speaker declared that since the Shanghai strike it was evident the proletariat was gaining hegemony in the movement. Before the final victory It will be necessary to perfect the union of the proletariat, the peasantry and the petit-bourgeoisie with the assistance of the western workers, consequently the Communist Party must not leave the Kuomintang but must unite all the revolutionary layers of the Chinese people, Tan Ping Hsiang concluded amidst a storm of applause from the delegates.

Manuilsky (Russla) the first to speak in the debate on the eastern question dwelt on the conflicts on Pacific shores looming between the United States, Great Britain and Japan. The imperialist powers who are rivals in the far east must henceforth reckon China as one of the most important factors in world politics. This fact is in many ways beneficial to the success of the revolution and for the new-born independence of China.

By LESLIE R. HURT.

After witnessing the initial showing of the Russian film success, "Breaking Chains," which was recently arranged for newspaper critics, the writer no. longer wonders what prompted Douglas Fairbanks to speak in such glowing terms of films produced in the land of the Soviets. The answer is contained in this one picture. "Breaking Chains" is bound to make a .big hit in America, or we miss our guess+

Here, at last, is a picture devoid of the much exploited "Get Rich Quick Wallingford" bunk. It utilizes no hero or heroine of the Horatio Alger type the participants having been selected from the mills and factories of Russia. To say that these newly picked cinema stars do themselves proud is too mild indeed, their work should win the commendation of every movie critic in the country.

Technique Surprising.

One is taken quite by surprise by the exacting technique employed, the almost perfect photography, constuming and general directing of the film.

OPEN SHOP PAPER IN DETROIT TELLS OF THE INTENSIVE ACTIVITY OF THE WORKERS PARTY IN AUTO FACTORIES

Under the caption, "Reds Organizing In Auto Plants," the Detroit Saturday Night, a large weekly publication, supported by the open shoppers and having a vicious anti-labor policy, prints a story containing the impressions of one of its writers of the activities of the Workers (Communist) Party shop nuclei in the various auto plants of Detroit. The story is interesting, not because it is true in every detail-it isn't-but because it reflects ST. The screen was dark, and the cheering died away, and the ights came up, and the moving picture world crowded about Vee Tracy, and Mr. Schmolsky, the producer, and Tommy Paley, the director, and all the rest of the personages whose services had been faithfully catalogued on the film. There was hand-shaking and chatter; and meantime the crowds stood about, gaping at the celebrities-it was hard to get the theater empty after a world premiere." A burly policeman completed the job of blocking the way between the two antagonists, and Rachel faded back into the crowd-something it was easy enough to do, since would give us a sudden boost, but as everybody was pushing to the front. In the confusion Bunny long as the workers have their jobs became aware of one hideous thing-a young man jabbing at 'Organize them unorganized, bore from them and demanding, "What is it? Sitting in their car, with Bunny driving, Vee whispered, Who is that woman?"

"Her family are Jewish clothing workers. Her father's the man who got arrested-don't you remember I told you?"

"Oh! That girl!"

"Yes. You see, you stepped on her class consciousness."

Vee's teeth were clenched. "Oh, the odious creature!" "But Vee! Don't forget you asked her what she thought." "Oh, so insolent! Outrageous!"

"But dear, you take the liberty of saying what you think. Don't you grant her the same right?"

"Bunny! You are going to defend her!" And before he could reply, she cried, in a voice of fury, "I hate those people, I hate them! They're nasty, they're low, they're jealous-they haven't an idea but to take away things from people who've slaved to earn them."

There was a long silence. Bunny drove; and when Vee spoke again, it was to ask, "Where are you going?"

"Don't forget the Schmolsky's supper party."

"No, I won't go to any supper party, it would choke me. Take me home-right away."

He obeyed; and when she was in the bungalow, she fled to her room. He followed, and found the ermine cloak on the floor, and Vee in a heap on the bed, without regard to the costliest of embroidered silk gowns. She was convulsed with sobbing, There are only two places to eat- and he made out the words, "It's going to ruin us!"

Suddenly she sat up, blinked by her tears, and stretched out her arms. "Oh, Bunny, Bunny, don't let's have our love killed! Don't let's quarrel like all the others! Bunny, I don't care about those people, they can say anything they please to me, I'll never mind again! I'll apologize to that girl, I'll let her walk on me, I'll do anything you say! But oh, please don't let's stop loving each other!"

It was the first time he had ever seen Vee break down; and of course it always produces a great impression upon the protective male. He took her in his arms, tears and all, without regard to the costliest of broadcloth evening suits. Their love flamed up and their troubles were melted in the fire, and they swore that nothing, nothing should ever, ever tear them apart.

The Manager's Corner

SMITH IS SATISFIED-optimistic in fact. But Smith, the satisfied one the optimistic, is no ordinary Smith. He is Charles S. Smith, general European correspondent of the Associated Press, the powerful capitalist news octopus whose tentacles reach to every corner of the globe. Good reason for a bourgeois to be satisfied, eh? And Smith of The Associated Press, address ing the students of the New School for Social Research, glories in the fact that the modern capitalist newspaper features chiefly stories of "champion ship fights, channel swims, visiting queens and the aberrations of peculiar individuals." He goes into raptures about the "more human, personal view of life" given by the modern newspaper, such a view, for instance, as that which drove a young woman in a hotel in Geneva to tears when she read of the force the workers to support and death of Rudolph Valentino. No doubt Smith deplored the fact that more of read the paper is revealed by a sub us did not weep for "Rudy."

This is the kind of "personal, human view of life" the Associated Press and all its multitudinous branch "dope" factories would give the workers. Yes, indeed. Tears for "Rudy." Cheers for Trudy. Hurrahs for Tunney and the bloody Queen Marie. And what of the striking textile workers of Passale? What of the million British miners on the brink of starvation? What of the millions of Chinese coolies groaning under the heavy yoke of imthem themselves in most instances. perialism? Where is your "personal, human view" of these, Mr. Smith? Or does your Associated Press care a rap about the real "personal" and the "human"? Does it not call "personal" and "human" only the idiosyncracies of the tinselled heroes and heroines you would have us worship rather than the lives and the struggles of millions of toilers, whom you would have us forget. Mr. Smith? And these tales, Mr. Smith, are they not rather the anesthetic which you inject before impregnating the workers with the lies and distorted perversions of the real problems of life. I wonder, Mr. Smith! BERT MILLER.

Persecution and Demoralization-the Policy of John L. Lewis

Alex Howat again has been ruled off the ballot as candidate for frankly admits the fact that, altho the district president in District 14 (Pittsburgh, Kansas) by International President John L. Lewis of the United Mine Workers of and aggressive, in the last election America.

No reasons were given for this arbitrary ruling. Howat, work- ers. It is the work of our party to the effort to help the employers break ing in a coal mine for much longer than the length of time required to qualify as candidate according to the constitution of the union, a member in good standing, and receiving nominations from unions representing 90 per cent of the membership of the district, has been victimized again by the president of his union. For five years the persecution of Alex Howat has gone on unabated altho to this day not a single official charge has been made form to lift the burden of taxation against him. Howat, Dorchy and the rest of the officials of District 14 who fought and defeated the infamous Kansas industrial court law and went to jail because of their fight, were expelled from the to return to the capitalists the surplus union, removed from their official positions (Howat and Dorchy were in jail when this was done) and have been denied all rights in the union since that time except that of digging coal in the thirtyinch Kansas seams-and paying dues and assessments.

The United States supreme court has upheld the decision of the Kansas court which sent Howat and Dorchey to jail. Under the circumstances, even if Howat were not the militant fighter that he is, he is entitled to receive a vote of confidence from the miners and the union for whom he fought so long and well and for whom he is still fighting.

The action of President Lewis in instructing the district officials not to place Howat's name on the ballot is not only in defiance of the constitution of the U. M. W. of A. but is nothing less than an endorsement of the supreme court decision.

John L. Lewis deserves defeat in the coming union election for his persecution of Alex Howat and the Kansas miners if for no other reason. But there are other reasons and plenty of them. One is that the policy of the Lewis machine has lost more than 200,000 members for the miners' union in the last two years and allowed the coal operators to do as they please with the miners even in the mnion fields.
