Those who claim that the banking system can be gradually taken over by the labor unions must admit that there is still a long way to go. And what kind of labor unions would we have by the time they moved into Wall Street with a republican or democrat president still in Washington? Simply this: Jiggs would have stopped eating corned beef and cabbage and taken to ostrich gib lets. WASHINGTON, Feb. 14 .- The Board of Tax Appeals was showered with more expert testimony today, showing the valuation of Ford Motor Stock in 1913 to be rather low, according to Ford's local tax returns.

Solicitor of Internal Revenue, A. W. Gregg, appearing for the treasury, declared that Ford motor stock in 1913 was worth from $2,500 to $6,500 a share, in contrast to the $9,500 valuation claimed by Senator James Couzens (R) of Michigan, the Dodge estate and other stockholders.

HOUSE RECEIVES BILL TO CREATE LIQUOR MONOPOLY

Mellon, Big Distiller, to Pick Distilleries

WASHINGTON, Fb. 14 .-- A revised medicinal liquor bill, providing for the manufacture of medicinal liquor in from two to six distilleries, under strict government supervision, was favorably reported today by the house ways and means committee.

The bill bore little resemblance to the original plan advanced by Gen. Lincoln C. Andrews, whereby an 80,-000,000 semi-government corporation was to have been set up for the manufacture of medicinal liquor.

No Government Ownership. The provision for government man ufacture was not liked by any of the committee, and was speedily shelved, the substitute adopted permitting a favored few distilleries, selected by Andrew Mellon, himself a large owner of distillery stock, to exercise a veritable monopoly of the production of legal, medicinal whiskey.

A fourth telegram was introduced for the purpose of showing that Miller was in New York on September 30, 1921, the day the $7,000,000 was handed over to Richard Merton, representing the German interests, at a champagne dinner.

Virginia Ware, pretty employe of the alien property custodian's office in Washington, identified papers in the files including a claim for twenty shares of American Metals Company stock owned by the Merton interests, which claim had been disallowed by the United States government.

At that time two stockholders in the company, Julian Beatty and Henry Bruere, attempted to arrange the sale of German owned stock in the concern to American interests, so that the concern could be released by the alien property custodian. The release was refused by A. ### Mussolini Doesn't Like Coolidge's New Move on the Military Chessboard

By J. LOUIS ENGDAHL.

BENITO MUSSOLINI has no in-tentions of sheathing the sword in the Mediterranean. The fascist tyrant has not retreated from his effort to make this body of water on Italian pond, no more than Wall Street will surrender the intention of turning the Pacific Ocean into Diplomacy's" favorite 'Dollar

Italian fascism sets forth its position in its reply to President Coolidge's disarmament proposals. It declares it cannot afford to cease developing her bigger navy pro-

No new excuse is offered. The reason given is the old one, as old the development of militarism in Germany, or the growth of navalism in Great Britain, during the long period of "preparedness," of armament competition before the world war and directly leading up

Mussolini claims that the smaller lowers about the Mediterranean have refused to accept his suggestions for reductions in naval building. That is the old gag. Coolidge, at Washington, the political puppet of Wall Street plunder, that sits astride the world with cannon ready to roar, proposes disarmament to other nations less in the sun. It is the altruism of the prize fighter with his victim prostrate on the mat. The United States, with its foot firmly planted upon the nack of the rest of the world, is in a rather strategic position at present to bid other nations park their guns and turn navy yards, munition plants and poison gas laboratories over to fly specks and cobwebs. It is making the most of that oppor-

Mussolini claims that Italy isn't down by any means. It has its eyes on Yugo-Slavia. Spain is also within Italy's vision as well as the northern coast of Africa and beyond. Italy is also interested in the Balkans, ready to get into any fight that will be of advantage to itself. Thus, while Mussolini declares that, 'Italy can't agree to measures endangering, even indirectly, her vital interests," the fascist terant at Rome is perfectly willing to favor disarmament proposals that will hit his neighbors while barely grazing his own national ambitions.

France is also turning a deaf ear to the proposals from Washington. France was on the side that is supposed to have won the last war. But France has been on the verge of bankruptcy ever since, struggling to recoup her finances, virtually in the position of a defeated nation. In spite of this unhappy position for French imperialism, every possible franc has been spent on armaments, to maintain the French military position on the continent, and to tighten her grip on restless

France doesn't forget that Mussolini has his eyes on Paris, pretty much as the kaiser turned his gaze in this direction when the "all highest" ruled in Berlin.

Thus the French and Italian refusal to grab at Coolidge's disarmament bait, for very vital and fun-damental reasons, bound up with the struggles of the imperialisms of these two countries, makes the Washington proposals sterile in their very inception.

Germany alone loudly applauds the Coolidge proposals. What the Versailles treaty started, the Dawes plan finished, so that the present rulers in Berlin are very anxious to have the rest of the world disarm to its own lowly level. But the German endorsement of the Coolidge offering fools no one.

The only real disarmament plan ever offered, since the ending of the last war, has come out of Moscow, the capital city of the Union of Soviet Republics. But it is because the Soviet proposal to disarm is not a maneuver, but a bona fide effort to strip the nations of the weapons of war, that the capitalist nations will have nothing to do with it.

The Coolidge proposal is just another move on the chessboard of militarism. The reactions of the other imperialist nations clearly show this. Only the triumphant workers and farmers, in all countries, will be able to abolish the game of wholesale murder, called war, through their own seizure of power and the inauguration of the victorious Soviet rule that will unite the world into one harmonious economic unit.

FARMERS 'RELIEF' MEASURE TO GET HOUSE MAJORITY

Extra Session Opposed By Farm Bloc Leaders

(Special to The Daily Worker) WASHINGTON, Feb. 14.—General debate on the luke-warm McNary-Haugen farm relief bill was scheduled to be brought to a close late in the afternoon today. Claiming enough pledged votes to assure its passage, the so-called farm bloc leaders are redoubling their efforts to secure an impressive majority in the hope of convincing the president in the nation's demand for the measure.

The bill admittedly can not hurdle an executive veto before the end of the 66th congress. Despite the majority which the farm bloc secured in the senate vote and claims in the house, the leaders are not eager to demand an extra session.

Modify Demands to Please President. The chief hope of these leaders rests upon their claim that they have met all of the objections that Coolidge has raised in the past to this class of legislation. They assert that price-fixing phases have been removed, that a government subsidy is specifically avoided and that it will promote co-operative marketing, which the president is pledged to aid.

The house rules committee has expected to recommend the substitution of the senate bill for the companion measure now being debated in the house. Presentation of this rule, probably tomorrow, would force what is expected to be a decisive test vote.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 14 .- Riding triumphantly in the saddle of parhamentary control, farm bloc leaders of the house today forced from the powerful rules committee a special rule which will permit the substitution of the McNary-Haugen bill, already passed by the senate, for the the house.

This will permit a direct vote on the senate measure, and save considerable time. The first test vote with the bill's antagonists will come tomorrow when the special rule is pre-

DAILY WORKER IMPROVEMENTS.

We are going into the business of blowing our own horns for a change, first because we feel a bit proud, second because it's good business and third because we want to give our readers a chance to do some hornblowing on their own account, in behalf of their own paper.

We wish to take the opportunity at this time to call the attention of our readers to the recent improvements made in The DAILY WORKER.

Have you noticed Eugene Lyon's new column, "Footnotes to the News," with its keen thrusts at the present order, a wonderful combination of side-splitters and eye-openers? A prize of five inches of space in this column is offered to the comrade who can show us a livelier column anywhere.

Harbor Allen, our new dramatic critic, whose reviews have already caused considerable comment in artistic circles, is one of a group of writers who have rallied around The DAILY WORKER, as the only newspaper, which offers a channel for the expression of the great dissatisfaction, which at present prevails among the honest and socially-minded elements in the newspaper field. This group includes a number of writers, associated with capitalist journals, who are going to give their ardent support and assistance to The DAILY WORKER. More will be heard from this group

Plans are under way for the establishment of a radio column, a practical arts section, a women's page, and musical

The "News in Brief" column has been favorably received by many comrades as giving them a broad view of the news from many different sources, a sort of kaleidoscope of the

In general, the comments we get point to the fact that we are now publishing more and better news, both general and labor, and that the paper is becoming in every sense of the word, one of the nation's livest newspapers, a paper that delivers the Communist message with a punch and yet puts that message across in its most attractive form.

"Sex" Is Racy Native Play Till "Moral Youth" Enters

REVIEWED BY A. B. MAGIE

HAVE been wondering why "Sex" was raided. It appears to me to be an utterly harmless play, possessing certain salient merits, that becomes depressingly moral in the last two acts. But somebody whispered a tale to me. And the tale is this: After running for almost a year, the box of-fice receipts of "Sex" had begun to droop and languish. But along came the 20th century crusaders, with that virtuous Black Knight of journalism, the New York World, whooping it up lustily in the rear, and all fiercely determined to rid our fair city of the infidels. I don't know what effect this has had on the box office of "Sex." But I shouldn't be surprised if packed houses of irate citizens are being daily scandalized by the goingson of the unregenerate Miss West and

For about one act and a half "Sex" a vivid and sinewy contribution to the American drama. Of course, the critics of the bourgeois press took one look at the title, the portly leading actress and the low-brow audience and fled to stage public indigna-tion meetings in their columns the next day. Yet to me the dialogue of that first act and a half is as real and fresh and grimly cynical as anything I have seen on the stage. The language of so many desperately "native" Broadway plays sounds as if it bleachers cheering each blow.

MARCH BRITISH ARMY OF INVASION THRU THE STREETS OF SHANGHAI

Chinese Indignant Over Provocation; Act Will Intensify Hatred of England

LONDON, Feb. 14.-Negotiations between Eugene Chen, foreign minister in the Cantonese government, and British Charge d'Affairs O'Malley which have been in progress for some time at Hankow, have broken down, according to a central news dispatch from Shanghai this evening. British military movements are believed to be the cause, the dispatch added.

SHANGHAI, Feb. 14.—Chinese indignation is today at fever heat as a result of the provocative action of the British in landing two regiments from the Gloucester and marching them thru the GARMENT BOARD city with fixed bayonets, drums beating and colors flying.

The Chinese press unanimously declares that the parade was a "totally unnecessary insult to the Chinese."

The nationalists believe that the British are trying to provoke hostilities in order to force the United States government to carry out the secret agreement for intervention.

In the opinion of the Chinese, the effect of the British demonstration will be to unify still more the Chinese masses against imperialism and to intensify the

The Miners Negotiate.

The wage scale committee picked by John L. Lewis at the recent convention in Indianapolis is now in joint session in Miami, Florida, with the coal operators of the central competitive fields. Why it was necessary to travel as far south as Miami is not clear. Perhaps to recuperate from the struggle to save the union from Communism waged in Indianapolis!

The Jacksonville agreement expires on March 31 of this year. (The Lewis machine is said to be willing to accept a renewal of the old agreement, tho this agreement has been punched full of holes by the coal magnates, many of those who signed it having repudiated their agreements without the slightest effort on the part of the reactionary machine to make them live up to the terms of the contract.

Lewis has succeeded in digging the guts out of the union. He has expelled many of the best and most militant leaders in the organization. To protect his own position and to curry favor with the capitalists he has intensified his drive against the radicals and had the constitution amended to permit the expulsion from the union of members known to belong to the Workers (Communist) Party.

Thus we see Mr. Lewis deliberately setting about to destroy the union, weakening it still more while pretending to be fighting for the best terms he can secure from the operators. Lewis's power at the negotiating table is not in his eloquence but in the collective might of the union. An honest leader would strengthen the union by organizing the unorganized miners, achieving unity inside its ranks by giving the union a fighting policy, something that would catch the imagination of the membership, encouraging the militant spirit and in general using the organization for what it was intended for: a weapon to fight for the class interests of the miners.

There is a real danger that Lewis, acting as the servant of the republican party coal barons may succeed in completely destroying the once-mighty United Mine Workers of America, before the left wing will have succeeded in ousting his reactionary machine. If this organization is once destroyed it will be a difficult task to reconstitute it in face of the growing trustification of the coal industry.

The situation calls for intensified activity on the part of the progressive elements in the U. M. W. of A. Under the slogans raised during the recent election campaign the miners' union can be given new life. But Lewis and what he stands for must go before the union can be rehabilitated.

George Washington and the Cherry Tree.

George Washington's juvenile virtue was the bane of many a young lad's life. George did not smoke, chew tobacco, take snuff, pick his teeth in public, tell lies or snore in his sleep. He was never late for school; neither did he throw stones at the teacher.

But in those debunking days it was patent that George Washington's reputation could not escape the historical vacuum cleaner. Rupert Hughes, a noted author put the tin hat on "Pollyanna" Washington, and exhumed the real George, a George that could crook his elbow with the best of the sports, hit a cuspidor at nine paces with a well-directed squirt of tobacco juice, get the laughs with a well-seasoned yarn and turn the atmosphere livid with his envied assortment of curses, oaths and general obscenity.

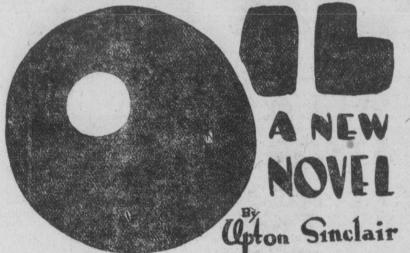

Since the bourgeoisie must have their saints for the masses to worship, so that they may not see the hands of the modern bourgeois in their pockets, Rupert Hughes found himself the target for the shafts of a legion of super-patriots, who wanted their Washington sober and truthful. A Washington who owned distilleries! This was enough to drive the anti-saloon league and the Ku Klux Klan to drink. If the citizenry got to believe that Washington was a booze manufacturer, well, he might make as good a prohibition enforcement officer as Andrew Mellon, but as the father of our country he would be a joke.

Hughes destroyed the cherry tree story with one jab of the pen. And yet, the writer knows several young hoodlums who admitted their misdemeanors to stern-eyed parents long before they heard of George, and the young rascals told the truth, instinctively feeling that if there was any drop of the milk of human kindness left in the parental heart it would flow when struck with the magic wand of juvenile veracity. Sometimes the trick worked but usually the irate father was so angry over the broken pipe or the perforated window pane that mercy had abdicated before the whipping began. Hughes was the Daniel that came to pass judgment on George. But he is not getting away with it. We must have our Washington as pure as Mary Pickford in the movies. Let those who refuse to believe in the authenticity of the cherry tree fable go back to where they came from, even if it be to Oshkosh. No doubt the attempt to get the dirt on Washington is another Communist plot!

William Green and Frank Morrison had luncheon with President Coolidge a few days ago, shortly after Henry Ford's visit to the White House. Ford made the front page but the A. P. sent out only four and a half lines on two officials of a labor organization that is reputed to have over three million adherents. After a few more years playing the role of doormats to capitalism, the A. P. may let those flunkeys go with a dash.

(A Tip from the Amalgamated Bank) By S. A. GARLIN

With its chest stuck out, the Amalgamated Bank stands in Union Square. It was organized several years ago for the purpose of helping the labor movement in its struggles against the employers,-according to the officers of the Amalgamated Clothing Workers of America.

From any point in the square can be seen the nice, large, electric sign emblazoning the words: The Amalgamated Bank-First New York Labor Bank. Sometimes one of the other of the electric letters refuses to blink and then the sign is not so impressive as the directors of the bank would like.
