LAST WEEK OF CONGRESS WILL BUT LITTLE DO

Wets Gagged to Pass Stricter Prohibition

WASHINGTON, Feb. 28. - In a desperate move to end the legislative blockade in the dying sixty-ninth congress, the senate this afternoon adopted cloture, limiting debate on the Andrews prohibition reorganization bill. It was the fourth time in its history that the drastic "gag-rule" was invoked and the dry bloc won only after the senate had rejected cloture three times in as many days on other bills. This action brought the Andrews bill before the senate, permanently sidetracking the Boulder Dam bill, and insures its enactment over a determined wet filibuster. The vote was 55 to 27, exactly the required two thirds majority.

Probably No Building.

A few minutes previously, the senate refused to invoke cloture on the $165.000,000 new public buildings bill and thereby seriously impaired its chances for enactment at the present session. The senate immediately proceeded to debate on the dry bill, which the administration had supported. Under cloture, each senator will be limited to one hour's debate and the measure then will be finally enacted, as it already has passed the house. Much Talk, Little Done.

The sixty-ninth congress will die at noon next Friday with the final enactment of a radio control bill, passage of the new branch banking act, the vetoed farm relief measure, the prohibition reorganization bill and a dozen appropriation bills as its prin-

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 28 .--- General Enrique Estrada, former Mexican minister of war, was sentenced here to serve one year and five months in a federal penitentiary and to pay a fine of $10,000 following his conviction on charges of conspiracy to violate the neutrality laws of the United States.

Estrada tried to overthrow the Calles regime and re-establish the clerical De La Huerta rule. His light sentence is in striking contrast to that inflicted upon Rangel, Cline and others who were convicted of attempting to overthrow extremely reactionary governments in Mexico and set up more liberal ones.

Millionaire Says Feels a Duty to Give Money

WASHINGTON, Feb. 28. - Samuel Insull, the Chicago utility magnate Daniel F. Schuyler, his personal attorney, and Thomas Cunningham, a Philadelphia court clerk, were cited to the senate this afternoon for contempt by the Reed campaign fund committee. Gifts A "Duty."

While the citation for contempt was being prepared, Insull relaxed a little, and made a statement to the press as to his reasons for giving over a quarter of a million dollars to influence the course of elections in Illinois. Insull's excuse, made with a smile, was that he firmly believes his contributions were "a duty"-a necessary duty in his "guardianship of the well over a billion dollars in vested in the public utilities under his control." He "sleeps with an easy conscience and he feels that to have ignored the local elections in Illinois, would have made him faithless to the trust imposed in him." The investments in his care, he estimated, totaled more than the value of all Henry Ford's properties.

Must Run Country.

The implication was, that he believes it necessary for his companies to control the government out his way, and that anything short of this is treason to his stockholders.

He added that he loved politics, spent a lot of time in the houses of parliament while in London, but wouldn't have anything to do with national politics in America after Insull, while being investigated by tigating graft in the elections of U.S. senators, admitted giving $125,000 to. the candidacy of Frank L. Smith, now under fire in the senate. He admitted giving Robert E. Crowe, state's attorney in Chicago $5,000 and other sums elsewhere, a grand total of $237,000, but refused to say where two gifts of $20,000 each went. It was for this refusal that he was cited tack be carried on.

THE most important question be-I fore the American working class today is the attitude of the Wall Street government at Washington toward Mexico, Nicaragua and China. Every bit of light that can be shed on these maneuvers of American imperialist diplomacy, that leads inevitably toward new wars, is of great value in arousing the masses to the approaching danger.

The dollar diplomats always choose to move in darkness. This is shown in their bitter hostility to the demand made by Senator Borah that the senate foreign relations committee be allowed to make an investigation of conditions in Mexico and Nicaragua by visiting these countries. Opposition is even raised against an investigation carried on in Washington. * * *

This war of secret diplomacy against every effort to bring the facts about Mexico and Nicaragua into the open, where the worker and farmer masses of the nation can get a good look at them, easily becomes the outstanding issue during the closing days of congress. The fight for publicity is worthy of a filibuster that would keep every bit of legislation off the floor of the senate, if it would merely bring to the attention of the nation the fact that the Coolidge-Kellogg-Mellon-Morgan government is trying to carry forward in secret its dark designs against Pan-American countries.

Whatever struggle has been made thus far, has been waged by Senator Borah, as chairman of the senate committee on foreign relations. Here, as in all other questions, notably the battle over the McNary-Haugen farm relief bill, the so-called "insurgents" have no independent position. # WAR DEPARTMENT MAKING CAPITAL OF FLYERS' FALL

Demonstration to Awe Latins Goes On

WASHINGTON, Feb. 28. - The death of Captain Woolsey and Lieut. Benton, two of the "Good-Will" American military flyers touring over Latin America with their great bombing planes, did not stop the flight. The political exegiencies are the same as before, and the necessity zier and the rest accepted the of overaying the Latins remains.

The war department anounced a cable from the ranking survivor Major Dargue, in which all the blame for the mishap is laid on the dead ism, altho the workers and farflyers, and in which, it is said, a plea is made for the continuation of the flight, "in the spirit of the best traditions of the service". This request was immediately complied with, after a conference of Secretary Dawson and Major General Patrick. War department officials have seized readily on the fact that the accident provides them with a martyr, and are capitalising it for all it is worth.

In all public statements the heroism of the surviving officers is insisted upon, tho their heroism seems to have been merely that of trusting their lives to what a recently deposed head of the air service declared to goth their McFadden-Pepper law, be "toy planes", nearly useless. Once up, and once in the wreck, the men not knocked unconscious jumped with parachutes and came safely to earth. Yesterday's crash occured after the aviators had gone through maneuvers over Buenos Aires. The four planes were flying together six hundred meters high when suddenly two swung to the right and the Detroit and New York swung to the left in their maneuvers. It was then that the New York and Detroit became tangled.

Dargue and Whitehead jumped with their parachutes, but Woolsey and Benson were evidently unable to find their own parachutes. Benson made a heroic effort to reach Woolsey's parachute but missed and fell. (Democrat-Montana) was active He was badly mangled. Woolsey fell for a time. Dargue and Whitehead were knocked senseless but as soon as they recovered consciousness they ran back to where their compaions lay dead. Dargue wept bitterly.

The plane Detroit was burned and the New York was dashed to pieces. The war department explanation of the mishap as gathered from Major Dargue's report was:

Major Dargue in the front plane gave the agreed signal to break formation and land. This was understood. The planes behind and to his right and left obeyed, one turning out to the right, the "Detroit" to the struggle in their various states left.

In his maneuver the hull of Capt. Woolsey's plane evidently hid from him the plane "New York" which was tly lower attitude a sli and to the right as he started his glide to land the nose of his plane struck the "New York." Previously the American ship owners pleaded continuously that the high rate of wages for American seamen kept them from competing with foreign ships. It is significant therefore to note that at present the condition is completely reversed, so that Mexican wages are as high as $90 and wages for Australian seamen are $100 and over per month.

The greatest danger at present however is the re-introduction of the two watch, twelve hour a day system. According to waterfront information, the U. S. Appeals for Fairness.

Dr. Sacasa expressed fear that the continued policy of the United States m protecting the Diaz regime would result in a needless loss of life. His message concluded with an appeal to the American public for fairness and thanks to members of congress who have opposed intervention.

His statement follows:

"The latest news indicates that large reinforcements of marines are landing on Nicaraguan soil to crush the constitutional armies and, by violence, impose the regime of Adolfo Diaz upon the Nicaraguan people.

Never Offended.

"Such occurrence will exact a larger toll of sacrifices from the people of my country who have never offended or injured the United States.

"In order to save them from ravage and affliction, I am, and I have always been ready to set aside my constitutional rights to the presidency, but it is impossible for me to betray my oath and my conscience by accepting Adolfo Diaz whom the masses of the people of Nicaragua clearly reject. To accept him would be only to sanction a further increase of the internal distress of my country.

BRUSSELS, Belgium (By mail) .-The anti-imperialist congress called together by the world league against colonial suppression is in session at present in Brussels, Belgium.

This congress on the world liberation movement is of tremendous importance, since for the first time in all history a delegated body, representing all peoples of the world, is gathered together to decide upon certain tactics to prevent further encroachment of imperialism on any of the weaker nations and to free those countries which are already suffering under imperialistic domination.

MORGAN FARLEY Shaw's "Pygmalion" to

Be Given for Benefit Of Daily Worker

By LEON BLUMENFELD. George Bernard Shaw's brilliant satirical play, "Pygmalion" is being revived by the Theatre Guild. We know that it is his object to surprise the populace by his topsy-turveydom, to make people sit up and take notice. The manner of his work is flippant, vivacious. Yet people are likely to miss the serious purpose that lies behind his persiflage. Shaw is an enemy of humbug, conventionalities and all sorts of befogged thinking, and to all evils these have led. His plays are brimming with ideas. The source of their merits cannot be traced to its "plot," as so many theatrical productions depend upon. The weak point is that the action is often subordinated to the discussions and that all characters talk with paternatural brilliance. The fact that he does not and cannot please and appeal to all theatregoers has never yet caused Shaw to go into spasms of worriment. If the entire world told him that his stuff does not appeal to them, it would night. The score is by Sigmund mean, literally, less than nothing to him. He writes to please himself. In Harry B. Smith. all of his works his personality is always obtruded, even if people fail to understand him. In their eyes he is not English; he is unnatural and unreal, and attains his chief points by persiflage.

TRADE UNIONISM Philadelphia Workers Resist Wage Cut

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 28 .- Striking textile workers packed the Kensington Labor Lyceum to hear Albert Weisbord, who successfully led the textile strike in Passaic.

STRIKERS HEAR

WEISBORD PLEAD

Declaring that Passaic is a typical American industrial city, Weisbord said that workers throughout the country would soon organize and fight for their rights to a decent livelihood. Strike leaders would arise from the masses he declared, and would lead the workers to victory.

Strikers Encouraged.

Attacking the A. F. of L. for its failure to organize workers in the basic industries, Weisbord said, "If the A. F. of L. officials refuse to organize the rubber, the oil, the textile, and the automobile workers, then the workers themselves, those organized in the Workers' (Communist) Party, will lead the struggle for a higher standard of living.

Encouraged by Weisbord's address, Philadelphia textile workers are more determined than ever to fight the wage-slashing campaign of the Tex- . tile Manufacturers' Association, which has been rolling up enormous profits by means of a well-controlled market. More than 700 workers are now engaged in the strike, which has lasted twenty-two weeks. They are resolved not to accept the 15 per cent wage cut foisted on them by the bosses.

Workers Wade Thru Deep Snow to Hear Weisbord's Speech

PITTSBURG, Pa., Feb. 28 .- Albert Weisbord spoke on "Organizing the Unorganized" to a crowd of about 300-all the Labor Lyceum Hall would hold. Weisbord was roundly cheered and applauded.

In East Pittsburg, the same speaker delivered an address in the afternoon. The meeting was held under the auspices of the Workers' (Communist) Party, Shop Nucleus No. 1. A two foot snow and consequent paralysis of the transportation system made workers walk to get there, but still they came. The speech was a real Communist one, and well delivered.

IX It was a day like midsummer, and the windows of the hospital room were open. Next door, some twenty feet away, was an apartment house, and in the room directly across this space, by the open window, was one of the two hundred thousand radio sets which are in use in the state of California. The occupant of the apartment was me of those two hundred thousand Lousewives who are accustomed to perform their domestic duties to the tune of "Jesus, Lover of My Soul," or else of "Flamin' Mamie, Sure-fire Vamp." There are a dozen broadcasting stations within range, and some are always going, and you can take your choice. This housewife had catholic tastes, and the watchers at Paul's bedside were beguiled by snatches from the Aloha Hawaiian Quartette, and the Organ Recital of the First Methodist Church, and the Piggly Wiggly Girl's Orchestra, and Radio QXJ reporting that a large vote was being cast in the East, and Radio VZW offering second-hand automobiles for sale, and an unidentified orator exhorting all citizens to hurry to the polls, and Miss Elvira Smithers,

The evidence, Justice Butler said, vas conclusive that the contracts were obtained by fraud.

The court found that after the navy department requested Fall to make the leases he dominated the making of the contracts. Fall and Admiral Robison, Justice

Butler said, conspired to give Doheny's companies the contracts. He traced the correspondence between the pair and Doheny.

The final lease, the court found was made without any competitive bidding.

The court failed to sustain one contention of the government-that former Secretary of the Navy Denby acted in the leasing under misapprehension. The court found that Denby acted collusively with Fall, but did not say that he acted fraudulently. It was not necessary to find whether or not the $190,000 paid Fall was a bribe, the court said. Fall's whole action was fraudulent, the court found Tank Contract Illegal.

Justice Butler held that the navy department's agreement to have Doheny build tanks at Pearl Harbor in exchange for Royalty Oil was illegal. Congress had made a practice of appropriating funds for every such construction and this authority was lacking, the court pointed out. Was Civil Suit.

THE WELDER.

Walter W. Petry, welding-engineer, contributes a valuable article on the subject of welding metals in The Pure Iron Era (Middleton, Ohio). The electric-arc welder produces temperatures about thirty to forty times higher than the boiling point of water, or from 6,300 up to 9,400 degrees. He adds, "The welder can produce this almost unimaginable heat for any length of time and concentrate it on any desired spot. It makes possible the fusing and building up of nearly all kinds of metals." The automatic arc welder, we are told deposits a metallic bond evenly and smoothly and such welds are often stronger than the surrounding metal.

The labor movement is composed of numerous strands, currents and elements. The fact that these elements are not working together in the most coordinated fashion, that instead of one smoothly-working and powerful machine, we still have a loose disjointed structure, is a factor to which we must attribute the present weakness of our labor movement.

The DAILY WORKER might in a sense be compared with the automatic arc welder. It acts as an instrument to fuse the various elements in the labor movement together into one powerful, unified whole. The campaigns which The DAILY WORKER carries on for the Organization of the Unorganized, for Amalgamation, for Trade Union Unity, are but the stages in this fusing process. The intense heat under which this welder operates, is the intense heat of the class struggle, typified by gigantic struggles like the Passaic Strike, the Cloakmakers' Strike and the Furriers' Strike. Every reader of The DAILY WORKER is helping along this important welding process.

By LELAND OLDS (Federated Press).

Profits, profits and still more profits has been the daily refrain of the financial press since the beginning of 1927. Each week brings a new crop of corporation reports showing 1926 as a record profit year. Outstanding is the report of the U.

S. Gypsum Co. showing a profit of Had to Break Law to $10,763,219. After all deductions for depreciation, federal taxes and preferred dividends, this means $7,808,-184 or 77% on the $10,138,300 book value of the common stock.

The real return is much larger than this 77%. Beginning with December, 1920, a series of annual stock dividends have increased the original investment of the owners 126%. The actual money put into the common stock was probably not more than $4,500,000. So the 1926 profit is really at least 173% on the money risked in the enterprise.

Carnegie Endowment Circulates Fascist Defense of Tyranny

The Carnegie Endowment for International Peace has printed in pamphlet form a defense of fascism by Alfredo Rocco, Italian minister of justice. The defense is approved by Mussolini, and the pamphlet is circulated by New York fascists who have organized the Italian Digest and News Service.

The Rocco statement is a denial of every ideal that a democratic people hold and revives the old Roman and later the German theory that the individual exists for the state rather than the state for the individual.

The pamphlet contains a list of suppressions of individual rights that are justified on the theory that the state is supreme, and that the individual is but a unit that can be used for the development and aggrandizement of the state.

The suppressions include free press, trade unions and parliament, denial of local autonomy to towns and villages, government recognition of trade They say this animal, colored black unionism that recognize Fascist prin-

The New York Evening Post tries in its editorial comment to inject a comedy note. It pictures the writers of the Soviet struggles of the workers and the trade Union note as burlesque diplomats. But this view, it is apparent unions. He says: from the extracts quoted above, is not widely held in Great Britain.

As the Daily Express says in effect, after all Russia is THERE. The workers' and peasants' government of the Soviet Union is the most tremendous fact in the world and the second great fact, as British imperialism is learning to its sorrow, is that it is an inexhaustible source of inspiration to the oppressed liamentarism, it has all too long masses ruled by Britain. The third fact is that war on the Soviet Union is not popular among the world's working class and would in itself be a powerful factor in bringing into being new uprisings in British colonies.

The conclusion is that unless British imperialism is prepared probably always will be. to stake the empire in a war which is a challenge to the whole ist party must turn its attention away working class and all colonial peoples and from which the social from parliamentarism and toward inrevolution would quite probably arise, it has to recognize the dustrial action and trade unionism. #### INDUSTRY AND SEX

THE NEW MASSES for March displays itself both at its best and at control of industry, if it is to be suc-its worst. The absurd symposium on the "correct proletarian, revolutionary attitude on sex" is being continued, and the jazzy, pseudo-Mercurian "Peaches and Scream" kind of frothy humor is still conspicuous.

And his article wasn't so good, either. It seems to me (and I speak with great humility) that there are other themes on the contemporary battlefield equally vital and momentous.

The artists are fortunately represented in full force in the March number. Hugo Gellert, Louis Lozowick, Art Young, and Otto Sogolow are all the workers-the unions must be here. ### Filipino Independence and the Chinese Liberation Movement

The Filipino nationalists are talking right out in meeting since the Chinese revolution has shown to the hundreds of millions of colonial people that imperialism is far from invulnerable. Speaking at a dinner given to welcome him back to Manila, Commissioner Gabaldon said:

To abdicate now from the ideal of complete independence when the Orient is on the crest of intense nationalism-Java and Sumatra agitating the overthrow of foreign control, India clamoring for the right to stand by herself and China fighting against alien interference-would be the blackest stain on the escutcheon of the Filipino people.

Up to a short time ago the Filipino independence movement was based almost entirely on the promise of independence contained in the preamble to the Jones Bill-a promise which the Coolidge administration has repudiated in fact if not in words by clear understanding as to what he the introduction of the Bacon Bill and the report of Carmi really wants. The financial editor of the New York Evening Post fcontrolled by Thomas W. Lamont of the house of Morgan) says:

A LITERARY COMPLAINT

"In your BOOKS column this morning," writes A. Henry Schneer, "you have a comment by H. F., to the effect that the books by Floyd Dell, V. F. Calverton and Upton Sinclair are the 'only books published in the U.S. which attempt to tie up literary with social movements.'

"May I correct this statement? Not merely because it is not an exact one, but primarily because we do not wish our readers to ignore the significant work of Randolph Bourne ("History of a Literary Radical"); of Van Wyck Brooks ("Letters and Leadership," etc.) and one of the most significant and timely lances of the most recent of this school, Lewis Mumford ("The Golden Day").

"While it is true that the Bourne-Brooks-Mumford group do not accept the sociology of historic materialism, they do NOT accept the pragmatic acquiescence of political democracy. In fact they are breaking new ground against the vested interests. We should not ignore this group who are indigenous to this country. Nor should we accept blindly the writers whom H. F. mentions with so much gusto. Does he forget the Greenwich Village streak in Floyd Dell, or the Milton-fiasco in "Mammonart." and the Russiancomplex of Calverton? We are not trying here to discourage either group; for both have their functions in present-day America. Let us not forget the pacifism of Dell and Sinclair, nor yet the socialistic articles of Calverton in the New Leader."

Schneer is correct. I did omit Randolph Bourne, Van Wyck Brooks and Lewis Mumford, all of whom made valuable contributions to a social critique of literature. Bourne, however, was a courageous pioneer, who pointed out but never exploited the social interpretation of literature; and Van Wyck Brooks' studies are considerably diluted with sexuo-psychological hokum. I have not read Mumford's "Golden Day.'

Furthermore, I do not accept blindly the works of Sinclair, Calverton and Dell: I quite agree with Schneer when he says that they "are not only guilty of scientific ignorance, but morose, weak in their understanding of Marxism-Leninism." What I mean to say, however, is that these men are the only ones who have consistently tried to interpret literature in social terms. They have often been guilty of grotesque errors. (Calverton, for instance, regards Sherwood Anderson and Edith Wharton as "proletarian artists.") But they happen to have a monopoly on the social interpretation H. F.
