WE see in the society columns of the newspapers that Mrs. E. Morris de Peyster has purchased the Crossways "formerly the villa of the late Mr. and Mrs. Stuyvesant Fish and is occupying it this season." This is at Newport. Mrs. de Peyster is pictured under a sunshade and with a troubled look on her countenance. No doubt the poor devil is worrying over the trials and tribulations of her next "at home." SAY GOVERNOR SMITH PROMISED TO BREAK FUR STRIKE; TOLD MATTHEW WOLL MASS ARRESTS WOULD DO IT

Chief Executive of New York State Offers Aid of Tammany to Union Smashers

Police "Justice" Exposed When Authorities Try to Shield Right Wing Gangster

That Governor Al. Smith is responsible for the wholesale arrests of the fur pickets in the present strike is a rumor that gained circulation in Tammany Hall circles yesterday.

It is said that Smith has reached an understanding with Matthew Woll, who is the American Federation of Labor spokesman in the needle trades disruption campaign, by which the governor has promised to see to it that the strike is broken. It is alleged that Smith gave Woll a promise of the full support of Tammany Hall in this move.

Some Evidence.

Pointing to the conclusion that Governor Smith is directly back of the unusual police severity and the policy of mass arrests in the furriers' strike is an incident two days ago in the trial court where fur workers appear daily as a result of these arrests. Two policemen admitted under a fire of cross questioning by defense counsel that they had orders to arrest whenever they found more than twelve striking fur workers on a

WARDEN SAYS Mayor Walker Wins Big HE WILL STARVE KANSAS CONVICTS

Hunger Revolt Treated With Still More Hunger

LANSING. Kansas, June 22 .- "Let them starve," is the callous sentence passed on convicts driven to revolt in Kansas' prison mine. "We had just such a mutiny here last year," says Warden Hudspeth, "and the convicts threatened to eat the mules in the mine if they did not get better food." Warden Hudspeth is used to having his shot-gun-guarded miners use the last desperate measure of a cornered man and barricade themselves in their underground workhouse.

Will Kill Them.

The men can't get out, and if they don't surrender they can die, and that's all he cares about it. He states flatly that conditions will not be made any better, indeed, the prisoners will be lucky if they are not made worse The only reason he does not cut off the water is because some guards are held below, prisoners of the prisoners Lights are cut off.

Kansas' prison is like all others, a nest of petty graft, and a place in which the food becomes unbearable in the summer. The present hunger revolution among its inmates came is in many other state prisons.

Sinclair Has Hard Time Getting Himself Jailed For Selling His Novel

BOSTON, June 22 .- The local courts have again evaded an attempt to make a test case of their right to act as judges of current literature.

Judge Creed in the municipal court yesterday refused to grant a warrant for the arrest of Upton Sinclair to Lieut, David Hines of the police department, who had bought a copy of "Oil!" which has been banned because of alleged "immoral passages."

The judge explained his refusal to issue the warrant by stating that the case of John Gritz, the book clerk who was arrested for selling the book, has not yet been disposed of.

Will Protest Tonight at Labor Temple

Subway engineers, members of the Union of Technical Men, have called a protest mass meeting tonight at Labor Temple, 14th St. and Second Ave.

Their demands for a hearing consistently ignored by John H. Delaney, chairman of the city's board of transportation, tonight's meeting may result in a decision to lay plans for a strike.

Would Paralyze Construction.

A walkout would completely tie up all construction work on the Eighth Ave.-St. Nicholas Ave.-Washington Heights subway line.

$32 per week is the average pay of the 1,400 engineers belonging to the union. An annual minimum salary of $2,160 is demanded by the men. These highly-skilled technicians are the only group deprived of sick leave, all other municipal departments being entitled up to one month's absence. Discrimination is also charged in the matter of working hours during the months of July and August, when a six-hour day prevails among other city departments.

EDITOR'S NOTE:-Upon the first news of the assassination of Comrade Voykoff in Warsaw, the French Communist daily "l'Humanite," published an article in a prominent position under the title "England's Breach With the Soviet Union-the Signal for Murderers and Assassins." We herewith republish the translated

So the assault against Moscow is started with the furor of despair. At least the instigators of this bloody adventure should know that dirty work has in itself the marks of certain death. Not only the ignoble crimes as those which have taken place in Warsaw and Leningrad as well as the frontier of White Russia will not shake and destroy the dictatorship of workers and peasants, but they will strengthen the workers of the world in their determination not to let these criminals go unpunished. In the assassination of Comrade Woikoff we are witnessing the beginning of White counter-revolution. Our comrade has occupied his post at Warsaw since 1924, which he himself used to call a fighting post. He had replaced Comrade Karkhan and a French journalist who interviewed Woikoff last summer was writing yesterday about the precautions that the staff of the Russian embassy at Poland had to take owing to hostile manifestations of which they were frequently the subject.

The Poland of Sikorski and Pilsudski and of White terror, this Poland so dear to Mr. Boncour is the land of predilection of Russian monarchists counter-revolutionists. What would, however, be the Polish state without the English gold and the subsidy of financiers of the City. How many times in this paper we have disclosed the maneuvers of London advancing now and then the Polish pawns on the anti-bolshevist checker board. > Croton Dam, the overflow is believed Poland would remain neutral, But since then, the Pilsudsky organs have begun to write that the Soviet Union is not keeping its undertakings under the Treaty Riga. The fact is of course, that the Polish anti-soviet front has been strengthened by the negotiated with Great Britain. This oan is to be followed by further investments chiefly in the war industries and for the extension of the strategic lines.

As soon as Pilsudsky seized power he began to reorganize the army in order to make it ready for war in the least possible space of time. To-day, the army in Poland is regarded as on a war footing or very nearly so. Pilsudsky also furthered the development of the war industry.

Following upon the renewal of the Anglo-French Entente Cordiale, the Polish anti-soviet front has become stronger and more stable than ever. All talk of the readiness of Poland to conclude a treaty of neutrality and non-aggression with the Soviet Union, cannot conceal the fact that under the leadership of Great Britain, Pilsudsky is working together with the Rumanian General Staff for war against the Soviet Union. All such talk is solely intended to mantle the feverish preparations for war. Polish Army Aids Murder.

When all these facts are taken into consideration coupled with the hostile agitation of the Russian guardists and the Polish supporters f Pilsudsky against the Soviet Union, then one can see that the bullets which killed the Soviet Ambassador to Poland, comrade Voikov, were aimed by Great Britain with the support of the Second Division of the General Staff of the Polish Army,

This murder is the opening accord to the war which is in preparation. In all probability it will be followed by armed raids of the Balachov and Petlura bands under the direction of the Polish General Staff upon Soviet territory, or even direct military operations against the Soviet Union. The danger of war is drawing closer

Greater and More Effective Efforts to Free Sacco and Vanzetti.

Rumors of a reprieve for Sacco and Vanzetti and the presentation of a petition whose huge number of signatures tends to be discounted by the fact that it asks only for a public investigation of the case, must not be allowed to slow down the agitation for the release of these two innocent workers whose sufferings have become a symbol of the persecution of their class.

It should require nothing more than the fact that in the face of the gigantic international popular protest and the widespread conviction that Sacco and Vanzetti are guiltless of the charge of which they were convicted, based on the mass of evidence showing the methods of this monstrous frame-up, Sacco and Vanzetti are still facing the electric chair.

Nothing has as yet moved the Massachusetts authorities to the point where they are even willing to assure the condemned men that they will not be murdered.

Nothing will move Massachusetts officialdom except a continuation and an extension of demonstrations showing the determination of the masses that Sacco and Vanzetti shall not only not die but shall be given their liberty.

Humanitarians and other well-meaning groups are easily deluded by the impartial pretensions of capitalists and their spokesmen who have murder in their hearts. July 10 approaches and no guarantees for the safety of Sacco and Vanzetti have been given.

Fake Miracle and Got Drunk, Evidence Shows

ST. JOSEPH, Mich., June 22 .- Rev. "King" Benjamin Purnell, chief of the House of David, "performed the miracle of turning water into wine," Henry Kirkham, a member of the colony, testified today in the state's suit to dissolve the cult.

The "miracle" was brought on cross-examination by chief defense counsel, W. J. Barnard, who sought to discount testimony of previous girl witnesses regarding alleged drinking bouts staged by Purnell. Kirkham said Purnell turned the water into wine in front of a crowd of men and women at the colony

The Machinists Journal is Lifeless

By V. Q.

Machinists' Monthle Journal is lifeless can be seen by even a hasty glance at any copy. Let us analyze the latest one, for June, 1927. Of the 84 pages of written matter 25 are given over to the Canadian 60th anniversary of the confederation (and only 4 pages of these to the story of Canadian Labor.) The editor calls this the "Canadian Issue," and says that the "American workers pay a compliment to their Canadian brothers by joining in the Canadian jubilee celebration." Articles are printed on Celebration of the Jubilee, Sixty Years Development in Canadian Industry and Trade 1867-1927, Canada's Railways, The Story of Confederation, The Labor Movement in Canada, 1867-1927, Cenada's Future Glory, The Canadan Rebellers of 1897, and Canadan Processing Story lion of 1837, and Canada-Present

The article on the celebration of the jubilee has pictures of the worthless Prince of Wales, of King, the Premier of Canada, and one of Tom Moore, socalled representative of the Canadian workers. To show the wonderful development of Canada, figures are given on population, agriculture, fisheries and manufacturing. An attempt is made to show great increases in wages, but when one examines their figures as to wages, including salaries to officials, we get an average wage of less than $1100 a year. The publication of the chart at once aroused protests from the women's organizations, both for its perversion and misstatement of facts, and its deceptive purpose. Mrs. Maude Wood Park, chairman of the Women's Joint W. Weeks, and a committee of women called on him to demand the chart's withdrawal and its repudiation by the War Department. Mr. Weeks responded by doing both, writing to Mrs. Park as follows:

"With reference to the letter from your committee, dated April 2, complaining of the injustice done your organization by the circulation of a chart by a subordinate in the War Department, you are informed that all the charts complained of in the possession of the Cries of "Let me go!" AN UNEMPLOYED NECKWEAR KNITTER'S STORY

By I. LAZAROVITZ (Worker Correspondent.)

Joe woke up at six in the morning. He felt tired. Yesterday he walked through half the city looking same time to any threat to their conceptions of for a job but he couldn't get anything. Finally Joe realized that he was blacklisted. Giving up hopes of finding a job in that city he decided to leave. Who knows, in a greater city there are more possibilities. Perhaps the people there are not as petty-

Joe has been here in New York four months already, various union teams that are playing getting up every morning at six o'clock. He looks for in the leagues sponsored by the local anything possible but can get no work at all.

Today he must get a job. It can't be otherwise. He siderable interest has been developed hasn't paid rent for the last two months and last night he received final notice.

An investigation of his pockets shows he has eight cents. He buys a newspaper and immediately begins to look on the Male Help Wanted page. Quickly Joe follows one after another and-yes, there is a job for him. Not wasting much time he rushes to the subway, pays a nickel and with one cent in his pocket and his heart still hoping, he takes the train to the place where the job is advertised.

Joe was the first one to get to the place, but before the foreman came there was a pretty big line waiting for the job. Finally the foreman came out. Afraid to lose this job chance, Joe was shaking.

Joe was shocked. He realized what it meant for him. He wanted to run after the foreman asking, begging him, telling him he would work for half price. But the foreman is busy with another fellow.

Depressed, Joe leaves the office. Coming out on the street again, without knowing where he is going, he walks along with one cent in his pocket. He feels hungry. He is passing by a restaurant. Through the windows he sees people well dressed sitting at well served tables, giving orders to the waiters.
