THE fact that president Coolidge is wearing a ten-gallon hat in the South Dakota mountains does not signify that the vacant space in the headgear will contain anything stronger than the presidential head. And judging from the speech that Coolidge delivered to the South Dakota farmers the brain-waves on the inside of the hat rack are not sufficiently vigorous to put the hat out When a politician tells farmers that their economic condition is alright, while they are yelling for relief,-what he needs is not a hat but a psychopath.

ADMIRAL Field of the British delegation to the Geneva conference picked on July 4th as the date on which to give a banquet to the American delegation. Such a banquet if given in the United States, in the British embassy or in some other wet oasis, might be productive of good results, but the Americans British admiral has nothing by way of novelty to give them.

CZARIST barons have been doing a rushing business in the American matrimonial market since the Russian revolution cut them off from their bases of supplies at home. Lesser lights among the old aristocracy did fairly well, but the barons were sweeping everything before before a mowing machine. They lost Ruscia, but won the heart and bankroll of the Americans that count.

MORE about this remarkable individual Rev. Dr. John Roach Straton! He is bringing up his son in the spook business and claims that the young lad has a full-sized holy ghost already rooming in his innards. Had a doctor been present when the holy spirit entered Straton Jr. he would have called an ambulance and prescribed ice for the back of his neck, but not so his father. The old veteran was delighted and stood in exstacy while his son groaned, raved and frothed at the mouth. This is the real stuff. None of your anaemic, powder-puff religions for "Doc"

SOME of Dr. Straton's deacons hin-ted that the old fellow was unduly influenced by Uldine Utley, the youthful lady evangelist who performed recently in Carnegie Hall. Uldine is now at a bathing resort, according to snappy pictures in the tabloids. This is reminiscent of Aimee McPherson. It seems that evangelists have a weakness for the seashore. The Rev. Straton admits that Miss Utley influenced him and is grateful to his god for it. That's the way we like to hear a fellow talk.

THERE are two kinds of religious convulsions according to Straton, or rather convulsions that appear exactly alike to the naked eye, appear in a different light when seen thru the spiritual microscope. For instance his son's convulsion was the work of a genuine holy ghost, while other manifestations of a similar character on the surface are actually the work of the devil. This is one of the hazards of the business the Dr. suggests, but as we said before, every trade has its own peculiar difficulties.

ACCORDING to Chinese news dispatches in the capitalist press, Thiang-Kai-shek, the so-called moderate militarist has issued a death warrant for Michael Borodin, the Russian adviser to the Hankow Nationalist government. Fortunately Chiang is up against the same problem that confronts a hunter. He must first catch his hare. Reports have it that General Feng and Chiang have entered into an alliance against Hankow, and that Chiang wants to have all labor unions outlawed. This may be true and it may not as far as Feng is concerned, but there is no doubt but Chiang is fully committed to the imperialist program and has turned out to be an implacable and bloody enemy of the Chinese masses.

Facing Starvation

Mother Kills Self And Five Children

Facing starvation, Mrs. Marie Freeman, 35, of Whitestone, Queens, opened all the gas jets in her bedroom Monday. Mrs. Freeman and her five children were all found dead by her neighbors yesterday morning.

Mrs. Freeman's husband had been killed in an automobile accident last April and she feared that her children would be placed in an asylum. In a letter addressed to her sister she explained that she had killed herself and her five children because of poverty.

TO TRY 244 FUR MONDAY

Fanny Washofsky Only Arrest Yesterday

The 244 fur strikers who were arrested Monday on the picket line will come up for a hearing this morning before Magistrate George Ewald in Jefferson Market Court.

According to the magistrate, who released them Monday afternoon on $25 bail each, he will not be lenient in dealing with them, since the conference between the lawyer of the Joint Board and the district attorney did not find a solution for the "problem" of mass picketing.

Daily Worker Campaign for Five Thousand New Readers Opens July 1st

In answer to the call for five thousand new readers for The DAILY WORKER, issued by the Central Executive Committee of the Workers (Communist) Party, the Management Committee has decided to immediately launch an energetic campaign to reach this goal. The campaign for five thousand new readers will open officially July 1st and will last until August 30. Every Party member, every DAILY WORKER reader, and every friend and sympathizer of the Party, is to be mobilized for this campaign. .

The Management Committee has further decided to assist the comrades in this drive by making a special offer of the most attractive premiums which will be announced in these columns. The following quotas are assigned to each district and will serve as a basis upon which we will judge

Economic Theory

Leisure Class

by Nikolai Bukharin

Nikolai Bukharin, besides being the president of the Communist International, is the leading Marxian theoretician in the world today. He has done a great deal of sociology and economics, and has published a number of outstanding contributions in these fields.

The "Economic Theory of the Leisure Class" is one of his most important theoretical writings to be translated for the first time into English. Just as Marx has studied the theoretical systems of the classical economists (Smith, Ricardo, Mill, etc.) Bukharin tackles the dominant bourgeois political economy known as the Austrian School, (Menger, Boehm-Bawerk, Vieser, Walras, Clark, etc.). In a brilliant style and with lucid Marxian reasoning, he analyses the theories of Marginal Utility, Value and Profit of the leading bourgeois economists, showing that the Austrian School is governed by the vulgar psychology of the rentier, the coupon-clipper.

litical consequences for the Chinese liberation movement which vill discount the military reverse.

If the report of this defeat is confirmed it means that Chiang las suffered the logical consequences of his desertion of the Kuomintang, his attempt to crush the labor movement and to nake the liberation movement solely the expression of the wealther sections of the population. It means that Chiang is no longer n a position to deliver ultimatums to the Wuhan government and nust either join with it and support it or be entirely isolated.

The reports of the terms of the alliance between General Teng, who supports the Wuhan government, and Chiang, carried by the New York Times, and which represent it as a move against he Wuhan government, are to be looked upon with the greatest loubt. On the fifteenth of June General Feng declared:

"All troops formerly known under the name Kuominchun have now been reorganized in the Kuomintang army loyal to the prinriples of Sun Yat Sen. All the troops under my command are now subordinated to the orders of the Central Committee of the Kuonintang and the National revolutionary government and in accordance with the instructions of the Nationalist revolutionary roops to the bitter end."

and it is unlikely that, after having been sent to conclude a mili- of war. ary alliance with Chiang against the northern militarists, under he instructions of the Kuomintang Central Committee, that Feng as done anything else than carry out his instructions.

The defeat of Chiang, if confirmed, means also that his forces were sufficiently demoralized by his assaults upon the labor unions and peasant organizations and his defiance of the Central Comnittee, to be defeated by Chang Tsung Chang's troops whose norale/is also very low.

It becomes clearer every day that the real center of the liberation movement, its organizing and driving force, supported by he workers and peasants, is the Wuhan government, which works iirectly under the instructions of the Central Committee of the Kuomintang.

It is inevitable that there should be traitors like General Chiang and that the Chinese masses will have to pay a heavier ollain blood and lives as a result of their defection.

But the Chinese liberation movement is a mass movement and is political party, the Kuomintang, is the leader of the struggle. t is the traitor Chiang who meets defeat and not the Wuhan govrement in spite of his feverish ultimatums to it, which made it be changed from a peace to a war basis. ossible for the imperialists and their northern allies to get a oreathing spell.

A Real Opportunity for Real Labor Leaders.

The issue contained in this bill of an eight hour work day for women in industry has become a popular one in labor circles. No doubt mass support could have been rallied for this bill which would spell heavy pressure even on the capitalist politicians. The fact that nothing was done save through appearance before house committees or legislature itself by labor spokesmen asking for favors is responsible for the failure.

If on the other hand these labor spokesmen had recognized the mass power of the workers and had the courage to mobilize this mass power by appearing before labor organizations everywhere enlisting their sentiment, by holding of mass meetings, an extensive publicity campaign, propaganda through the shops and so forth, labor's sentiment could have been brought to the forefront, and even legislators, elected on the capitalist tickets by support of capitalist slush funds, are compelled to recognize such mass pressure. This is but one more proof of the need of independent political action by labor. Not only to mobilize mass sentiment as an expression, but to translate the expression into action by electing labor representatives on a labor platform compelled to carry this platform into effect and subject to the decisions of the labor move-

Ivy Lee, THE BIG-HEARTED SPENDER

By T. . O'FLAHERTY.

R. Ivy Lee, big-hearted publicity man for several large corporations is not a lawyer, tho he gets his money like one. Lee was editor of two of the smallest occasional periodicals in the world. Those of you who patronize the subway and the elevated might have noticed the "Subway Sun" and the "Elevated Express" names that reflected credit on the originality of the glorified press agent. Ivy was the recipient of a $12,000 a year retainer from the I. R. T. This meant that Ivy got paid, rain or shine, work or no work. In fact, as in the case of a lawyer it did not mean anything at all to the I. R. T. except that it kept Ivy in good humor.

THERE was a time when the public, that does not walk very far on its own heels, but is addicted to standing on other people's toes in the subway, elevated or trolley, paid its nickel to a fallible human being at the entrance to the means of transportation. Lee considers workers necessary evils that should be eliminated wherever possible. So he decided that turnstiles at subway and elevated entrances would reduce the number of employes that might be induced to join a union. And turnstiles there are with the result that noises issuing from a subway entrance during rush hours sound like a race between a few hundred victims of rheumatism, or a soup-drinking contest between toothless entries. Whether the company gained anthing the innovation or not, we do not ow, but Ivy Lee and the Tombs t something out of it: Ivy, a outation and probably some dough. nd the Tombs, one perfectly good soner, who according to Bill Dunne. stwhile Tombs correspondent of The DAILY WORKER, made the mistake of putting a leaden coin in a slot instead of taking one out of it.

Professional Patriots

"On several occasions, efforts have been made to point out to the War Department the impropriety and unfairness of the attacks the military men have been making. More than a year ago, a delegation called on Secretary Weeks, following a speech by General Fries at Kansas City in which he declared that the purpose of the National Council for Prevention of War is to establish Communism in this country."

On the committee were such people as Charles A. Lyman, of the Farmers' National Union; Marian Pankhurst, of the National League of Women Voters; Ethel Smith, of the National Women's Trade Union League; Frances F. Bernard, of the American Association of University Women (now dean of Smith College); and Mrs. Henry Fenimore Baker, president of the National War Service Legion. Secretary Weeks gave them to understand that General Fries would be required to mind his own business. . . . Shortly after this the spider-web chart appeared.

What happened to the spider-web chart we have already indicated. It was only an unusually ludicrous specimen of the work of the professional patriots in the ermy cooperating with the professional civilian fascists and chauvinists.

Another army man who recently joined in the attack is Lieutenant Colonel George Chase Lewis, of the 95th division of infantry stationed at Oklahoma City. He attempted to defame John Nevin Sayre, vice-chairman of the Committee on Militarism in Education, and to prevent his getting a hearing when he spoke at the niversity of Oklahoma in December, 1926.

Colonel Lewis wrote and telegraphed the president of the university describing Mr. Sayre as more dangerous than an avowed Communist. He warned the president that Sayre would speak for a congressional measure which would cut off appropriations for the stationing of army officers to give military training in colleges and high schools. He tried to connect Sayre with communists in the behalf of a fair trial and free speech for communists arrested under a criminal syndicalist law. He used as his authority for his information about Sayre the late R. M. Whitney's "Reds in America." He closed his letter to the President, "I trust you will be able to curtail pernicious activities at Norman" (the university town). Finally, when he was unable to prevent Mr. Sayre's meeting he came to it, made some preposterous charges against the speaker, failed absolutely to substantiate a single one.

Out of this incident developed a correspondence between Mr. Sayre and Dwight F. Davis, Secretary of War, in which Mr. Davis declared that Colonel Lewis was expressing "personal views" and that the War Department could not and would not interfere with the practice of such officers in signing their full military signatures to assaults on liberals and persons working against military training in the schools

In reply to this position Mr. Sayre wrote to Mr. Davis on December 30, 1926. He cited various attacks by army men and closed as follows:

"If the gentlemen to whom I have referred were all expressing only individual views as individual citizens, but yet permitted the use of their titles as 'Lt.-Col. U. S. Infantry, 'Civilian Aide to the Secretary of War,' | States.

The Basis of Soviet Union Land Policy

and 'Assistant Secretary of War,' how in the world can the average citizen tell when they are speaking for the War Department and when it is only for themselves?" A fair number of the attacks, as in the case of Colonel Mumm above mentioned, have come from titled military men connected with the Reserve Officers' Association of the United States and the Military Training Camps' Association of the United States. The former is an unofficial organization, covering the country, with headquarters in Washington, D. C. Colonel Fred B. Ryons is on duty in charge of the Reserves, though the members of the association are not in the service. Hence the War Department cannot be held accountable for statements made by these officers and their frequent and irresponsible attacks on persons working for peace and other "subversive movements." However, it is known that many of their speeches are prepared by publicity men on the staff of the military intelligence service of the War Department. It has also been discovered that War Department franked envelopes have been illegally used by members of this association in sending out their propaganda against the peace societies and persons connected with the movement for civil liberty. The weighty titles carried by these men often give to the lay mind the impression that their statements are authoritative and official. Hence they have been a powerful factor influence the peasants who are still in the anti-liberal propaganda of the professional societies with the officials of which they have naturally coöperated. The association publishes from its national headquarters "The Reserve Officer," which has been full of attacks on the Committee on Militarism in Education and other peace bodies. A considerable amount of the military intelligence work of the War Department is carried on by members of this association and they are expected to exert a generally "educating influence" for heavy military appropriations and against all persons and organizations daring to question the wisdom of adopting a militarist policy for the United (To Be Continued)
