PITTSBURGH, Nov. 15 .- Ex-Governor Pinchot has been made the central figure in the Amercan Federation of Labor emergency conference here, called to consider the critical situation of the United Mine Workers and the labor movement in general created by the concentrated attack of the coal companies and the granting of a federal injunction outlawing the miners' strike.

PINCHOT BOOM FIRST CONSIDERATION

It is apparent to everyone here that the organization of a nation-wide campaign for relief of the miners and their families, organization drives in the non-union coal fields, and defiance of the injunction provisions-all urged upon the conference by resolution adopted by local unions of the United Mine Workers, have been pushed into the background in favor of a Pinchot boom for the

This conference was called by William Green, president of the A. F. of L.

"Coal and Iron" Police Issue. Murray and other national union leaders make no secret of the fact that they intend to make their protest against strike conditions in western Pennsylvania felt in political circles. They are especially opposed to the practice of the state's deputizing "coal and iron" or company police, whom they accuse of perpetrating outrages against striking miners.

This protest was expected to be embodied in resolutions presented to the general conference this afternoon.

300 Foreign Communists Endorse Party Action

(Special Cable to Daily Worker.) MOSCOW, Nov. 15 .- The three hundred foreign Communists from all parts of the world who are attending the Congress of the friends of the Soviet Union here have gone on record as endorsing the policies of the Central Committee and of strongly disapproving the actions of the Opposition. Many of the delegates were witnesses of the provocative actions of the Opposition on November 7th.

At the proposal of the foreign Communists Bukharin reported on the work of the Opposition. Even before Bukharin had time to reply to various questions put to him, the British delegation presented a resolution endorsing the policies of the Central Committee, which was subsequently adopted unanimously and with only one

Textile Workers Win Wage Increase

BERLIN, Nov. 15 .- More than a hundred thousand cigarmakers thruout Germany have gone on strike following the rejection of their demand for a wage increase. The strike comes on the heels of the settlement of the walkout of 55,000 Rhineland textile workers. The textile workers won a 101/2 per cent wage increase.

The offer of a number of small cigar manufacturing establishments of increases of 7 and 9 per cent will be rejected by the workers, it is believed. The cigarmakers work long hours at very low wages. Shop conditions in the industry are bad.

Wrecking the Labor Banks

By WM. Z. FOSTER

The Collapse of the Labor Banks and Investment Companies of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers

Here is a record of trade union treachery without equal in American Labor history. It is a story of crooked leadership; disastrous policies; looting of the treasury; rifling the union insurance funds and pension money. A most astounding account of events that nearly wrecked one of the great American trade unions and resulted in the loss of over twenty million dollars from the funds of the railroad workers. The story is written from authentic documents and official records of the Engineers' convention which lasted for seven weeks. "Wrecking the Labor Banks" stands out as one of the most dramatic exposures of the dangers of class collaboration ever written.

All peoples, without exception, during a certain stage of culture develop sagas and epics, and during another, and later stage take to producing ballads. And all the ballads, whether by English yeomen, Scotch highlanders, Serbian peasants, Mexican peons, or any other, have the same strong

Even after the old feudalism, with its isolation of people from broad sweeping cultural influences, had gone, even here in America, whereever the frontier life, or wherever corporation feudalism produced back waters, eddies in the stream of a machine civilization's culture, the workers in that nook or corner, with miraculous swiftness begin to work out true ballads of their own. Such songs sprang up all the way of the march of the frontier from the Appalachians to the Pacific Ocean, and even now are coming out of the backwoods section of the South. Something vaguely resembling them is thrown off by the underworld of the Mississippi River cities, and this book is a collection of the old songs, written between 1860 and 1902 by the toilers underground of the eastern Pennsylvania mining region.

The anthracite songs are of two types, between which the collector and author of this book does not clearly differentiate. There is the old, true ballad, based on the everyday work, and the momentuous things that happen there, all strictly local in tone, such a one, for example, as "Mackin's Porch," where the miner sits boasting; and there is, sung by the same workers the class conscious, revolutionary song, not always of the ballad type, the it may be, of which in this book the best example is in the strike songs.

"Mackin's Porch," glorifying those who do real work and keep their mouths shut by criticising those who do not, says:

Bout half past 6 or 7 o'clock, Then the men begin to flock; And tell of cars they were docked; Of cars lost and found. Of dirty coal and lumps or chunks Firing holes and sackin' hunks, And the way they have to work and grunt! For a livin' underground. The Far Downs and Cannaught men Fight, and then make up again; Dutch and Scotch and English men-All like chickens in a pen. The powder smoke does be so thick, You could cut it with a pick, The smell of gas would make you sick, In front of Mackin's store."

"The Prospect and the Conaghan, the Empire and Notingham, At hoisting coal ain't worth a damn compared to Mackin's porch."

This is harmless happy stuff, which some coal company is going to revive, because, dragged into the heat of the class war raging at present, it will act as a sedative, reactionary influence, cultivating esperit de-corps, for

But the boss will never willingly encourage the more sophisticated successor of the folk ballad, the class war songs now sung by striking workers. "Solidarity Forever" and others of the period since 1902 do not appear in has been honest enough to include several of theirs: "On Strike," "The Long O. Ranmail, Cooke Park Co., Strike" (of 1875), "The Sliding Scale" (which is now being revived by coal companies), the "Blackleg" (English influence in that title), "Me Johnny John Volkman, Wilmington, Del. 1.00 whole people." Mitchell Man" (this shows the breaking down of race prejudice in the heat of industrial conflict—some of the earlier ballads were written against the Street Nuc. No. 1, Detroit, Mich. 1.75 Italians and Slavs), "Mollie Maguires," a half-hearted defense of that band of rebels, and a song against a Mollie Maguire who betrayed the rest and James R. Jones, Brooklyn, N. Y. 1.00 Jority of the American labor movehelped the frame-up: "Muff Lawler, the Squealer."

All these songs breathe a spirit of class revolt, even the some of them express exaggerated hopes and ideals of "American citizenship and its

The Slav miner sings:

Me dey never schare. Sure, me strike tomorra night, Dat's de business, I don't care, Right-a here, me telling you, Me no scabby feller."

And the Knights of Labor song goes:

Eight hours we'd have for labor, Eight hours we'd have for play, Eight hours we'd have for sleeping, In free Americ-a.

One song, "Pat Mullaly," has a verse which contains a whole economic lesson on the benefits of the short work day:

"We'll combine, the union join, And work eight hours a day, And keep the market clear of coal. And then they'll raise our pay."

CURRENT MAGAZINES

THE HAMMER. November, 1927. Twenty-five cents.

The November issue of The Hammer, Yiddish Communist monthly, is dedicated to the tenth anniversary of the Bolshevik Revolution. It is a real A. L. D. F. Branch 66, Grand holiday number. The issue opens with M. J. Olgin's panegyric to the masshero of the Revolution, that unknown, nameless rank and file that has carried the chief burden of the Revolution, of the civil wars and of the task of building socialism in one-sixth of the earth's surface. Comrade Olgin is SS 1AC 4F per Com. Jansen, easily the most inspiring writer and speaker in the Yiddish language. I use the muchworn word, "inspiring," designedly; it applies with complete literal- Mr. Gorman, Detroit, Mich. 1.00 share in such fortunes than the peo- sarily bad. It depends upon who con-

Perhaps the most thrilling reading in the entire number are the excerpts (in Comrade Olgin's translation) from Lenin's writings immediately prior to United Council Working Class the November Revolution, those trenchant despatches to the Central Committee of the Bolshevik Party exposing the betrayals of the Kerensky government and urging that the time for insurrection had come. In the perspective of ten years the correctness of Lenin's analysis of the objective conditions and his uncanny grasp of all phases of the situation seem even more remarkable.

The chief literary features of the November Hammer are L. Feinberg's J. Bulatkin, New York City ... 1.00 long poem, "1917," and the publication of the first half of "Hirsh Leckert," Svitzky, New York City1.00 a poetic drama in six scenes, by H. Leivick (whose poem on the same theme I translated in a recent issue of The DAILY WORKER). Feinberg's poem, despite its uneven quality and reminiscences of Blok's "The Twelve," has a great deal of uncouth vigor and is, on the whole, a vital contribution to revolutionary literature in Yiddish. Leivick's historical drama, judging from the portion published in this issue, surpasses in power and bitter eloquence anything this significant Yiddish poet and playwright has done.

The November Hammer also contains an excellent article on Yiddish of Soviet Economy" by J. Mindel, and poems, short stories and articles by Mr Stearne, Garden City, L. I., other well-known writers living both here and abroad.

ACTIVE PREPARATION FOR INVASION OF LATIN AMERICA

The United States army is not only actively building the biggest aerial war fleet in the world, but is constructing carrier ships like the U. S. S. Saratoga, pictured above, just completed at Camden, N. J. These ships carry the bombers to Nicaragua—or some other defenseless country, and the aviators do the rest. A little tropical village makes a good target, and it's usually pretty safe for the fliers.

Ruthenberg Pamphlets Are Planned By Party; Material Is Requested

The Workers (Communist) Party is planning a number of pamphlets dealing with the life and work of the late C. E. Ruthenberg, national secretary of the Party, who died last March 2. Much of this material is on hand, while there is still a great deal of material dealing with his writings, speeches and general activity in the possession of Party members and sympathizers thruout the country, according to the national Party office. Anything relating to his life and work can be used in these publications, the office said in an appeal yesterday, and all Party members and sympathizers who are in possession of such information or material are asked to communicate with Jay Lovestone, national Party secretary, 43 E. 125th St., New Farrington's Treachery.

Farrington's treachery in Illinois was not exceptional. President Lewis as a creature of the republican machine and as a friend of Coolidge is notorious. Mr. Lewis has two brothers well placed, at the public trough, not because of their real or imaginary abilities, but for no other reason than that they are brothers of John L. Lewis.

Will the present strike figure in the coming presidential elections? It does look that way. The wires from Pittsburgh, Pa., tell us that Gov. John S. Fisher of the Keystone state was invited to address the special conference called to discuss the conditions in the anthracite fields. Gifford Pinchot, who would not do anything for free speech or for the rights of strikers while he was governor of the steel trust state, although invited to tell what he can do and perhaps what he does not know.

Publicity Stunt?

Why politicians should be invited to take part in a discussion on a purely economic and industrial question is hard to explain, except as a publicity stunt, considering the innate snobbery of the A. F. of L. leadership and the slave mind that has been characteristic of it since its foundation.

Perhaps back in the heads of these officials there is somewhere an idea of a demand for some form of state ownership of the mines. If that is so zation in the Soviet Union. The office then we can well pardon the Greenof "Icor" is at 112 East 19th St., led green-goods brigade now making a noise in Pittsburgh. For it will show they are on the right road. Whether honest or dishonest or groping for new light and better measures to pull the coal strikers out of the mess they are in, the United Mine Workers' Union leadership with if they could. a few exceptions is now only reaping what it has sown.

Green's Value Doubtful.

It is doubtful in view of the changing economic conditions that President Green will be able seriously to improve matters or prevent the inaugeration of regional agreements and contracts.

To the workers of Greater New York and indeed of the rest of the country and from a class struggle point of view, the conference of the A. F. of L. executive council and high officers of the different big international unions on the injunction applied for by the New York and Brooklyn traction companies is far more important than whatever deliberations the leaders may take part in, or the conclusions they may arrive at, appertaining to the coal strike. For p. m. progress is not achieved in decaying or out-of-date industries.

National Issue In N. Y. The traction situation is different. Local and municipal though it is, there are incorporated in the contest between the Amalgamated and the traction interests of Brooklyn and Manhattan great national principles.

Plan N. Y. Fight.

The conference in Pittsburgh will draw a rough plan for the New York fight. It will seek endorsements and powers for the Amalgamated in its fight to organize the traction workers. It may recommend a campaign to raise funds to carry on the legal war. It may draw up a program of action for the coming session of congress. Whatever it does, beyond the above generalities and recommendations, the plan as regards New York will have to be reviewed and licked into shape here to fit the special circumstances and conditions. The lawyers here are bound to have their say and will surely try to keep the fight a legalistic affair as much as possible, with the eyes of Senator Robert Wagner on the coming state and national elections, Wagner being advisory counsel to the union.

Mahon Is Pleased.

So far President Mahon and his aides on the Amalgamated are very pleased with their progress. They have delayed the injunction hearing and have involved the entire American Federation of Labor in their a progressive and a liberal, has been battle with the Interborough Rapid Transit Co. They have done better than all by making "company unionism" a national issue with the legal powers of the country drawn into it. Without their knowing it they have started a revolution in our legal system. The corporation bosses who began the company union crusade may regret they did not leave well enough

Among the important unions rep resented at the conference are the Carpenters, the Teamsters and the Miners. The second grade of unions Marble Cutters and the Photo-engravers. The miners headed by President Lewis have the largest delegation on hand. So far as the personnel is concerned I am not at all impressed, for there are too many old craft union birds perched on the beams. Men like Duncan and Fisher can do nothing and would do nothing

Militant Company Unionism

The kind of company unionism which appears as a rival to the American trade unions in such industries as New York City traction and the coal mines of West Virginia, basing itself on the "yellow dog" contract forced upon the workers, is by no means of a passive character.

This is militant company unionism.

It can be combatted and defeated only by a militant policy and tactics on the part of the labor movement.

We published on the first page of The DAILY WORKER, Monday, Nov. 14, a cut of a leaflet distributed recently to traction workers by the Interborough Rapid Transit Company. This leaflet is signed by Frank Hedley, president and general manager of the Interborough. A perusal of this document discloses the fact that Hedley is speaking to the traction workers as members of a union-the Brotherhood of Interborough Rapid Transit Company Employes. His language is almost identical with that of a union official engaged in a jurisdictional conflict with a rival union.

One paragraph deserves special mention. It says:

"You have exercised your constitutional right to organize by joining the Interborough Brotherhood. It was a wise choice because the Brotherhood through home rule gives better protection and complete collective bargaining between yourselves and the management without any interference by out-of-town labor lead-(Our emphasis.)

Hedley, president and general manager of the I. R. T., is speaking as a union organizer. The union of course is a company union but its leadership has decided to use trade union tactics-and does use them, militantly.

In the capitalist press Hedley even speaks of calling a strike of "loyal employes" against the Amalgamated Association of Street and Electric Railway Employes.

For workers who have had little or no experience with the labor movement it will be somewhat difficult to plumb the full depths of viciousness in the tactics of the I. R. T.

It will be impossible for them to understand the vital issues involved if the leaders of the labor movement continue their policy to the man. IBERALS and near-radicals who gag at the open dictatorship of the workers and peasants in Russia should take the action of the C. C. of N. Y. authorities as a little lesson in capitalist democracy. All class governments are essentially dictatorial Whatever liberties they permit to the subject classes under their jurisdiction are those they can afford to grant without endangering their own existence. It is quite obvious from developments thruout the world that the capitalist system in every country is rushing madly towards an open dictatorship. The workers have no choice between a dictatorship or a democracy. They have a choice as to which dictatorship they shall have, their own or the employers'.

THE Polish minister at Washington promptly denies that Poland has hostile intentions towards Lithuania or is preparing for war against that country, as suggested in a Moscow dispatch to the New York Times, from Walter Duranty. The minister pays a tribute to the peaceful intentions of Marshal Pilsudski, the Polish dictator. Whatever other charges may be legitimately made against Pilsudski, pacifism is not one of them. Only last week he gave the legislators elected by the people to make laws for the bourgeoise the bum's rush out of the assembly. If he refrains from making war on Lithuania or on he has not the means.

In his early days he wrote a novel, ever heard of it in the newspaper ofSister Carrie," telling the story of fices where he got his education. The thing as this favorite newspaper sport was a few years ago. The forgery business developed into the proportions of a leading industry since the end of the war. It fed on Soviet Russia in the early days, but now the forgers are turning to more virgin fields. Hearst is the champion forgery-peddler in the United States. He is the most shameless liar in the newspaper business. His filthy rags feed on everything vile, from his sexy supplements which retail the per-versions of the parasite class to forgeries, such as he is now putting out about Mexico.

> THE Mexican government has denied the authenticity of the documents published in the Hearst press. But even if it were established that the Mexican government actually aid the liberals in Nicaragua in their effort to overthrow the Wall Street junta led by Diaz, surely there would be more justification for such a course than there was for the action of the United States government in occupying Nicaragua and enabling a min-

His latest move, said ER is now turning crowds away from the doors of the new Playwrights Theatre at 36 Commerce Street. This miracle has been accomplished by energetic canvassing as well as because of the interest aroused in the play by the difference of opinion as to its merits expressed in this paper. When two fairly prominent individuals express divergent views on such an intriguing thing as a play, it is to be expected that people should like to learn for themselves who is right. And since The DAILY WORK-ER will be benefited by the sale of tickets, the more curious people that go to see it, the better it will suit this column.

> THE Honorable Dudley Field Malone, of Paris, London and New York is of the opinion that a brand of divorce that retails at approximately $2,000, cannot be much good for anything except for a cheap lawyer. In other words it must be a dud. Mr. falone's ire was aroused when he eard that a gentleman who carries into court the rather hefty cognomen of Senor Arturo del Toro, hung out his shingle in the state of Sonora, Mexico, and hinted that New Yorkers with fat purses could enjoy a southern exposure below the Rio Grande, while being emancipated from their connubial fetters for almost as little as

LEST it might be suspected that Mr. Malone's observations could be construed as the prejudices of a busihe was careful to give the Sonora divorce mill the benefit of the doubt,
