SHOWS HE DIDN'T SLAY 2 FASCISTI

Called to Testify in Own Defense

Surprising the prosecution and the crowd of spectators, Calogero Greco was called to the witness stand in his own defense late yesterday in the Bronx County Court, where he and Donato Carrillo are being tried on charges of killing two fascists last Memorial Day.

He testified he was at his home in Brooklyn, two and a half hours by subway from the scene of the crime, at the time of the slaying and that he had never been in the neighborhood of Third Avenue and 183d St., where the murder was committed.

Greco testified that he was 35 years old, that he arrived in the United States in 1920 after serving five years in the Italian army and that he worked as a presser of children's clothing, having formerly been a shoe worker and at other times an automobile mechanic.-

Russian Life Fills Second U. S. Worker Delegation with Surprise, Elation

RANK, FILERS TEL OF LIFE N SOVIET LAND

Experiences to Be Told at Mass Meeting

The rank and file Trade Union Deegation, eight of whom have come back from Soviet Russia eager to work for Russo-American recognition, are unanimous in their optimism over the Russian proletarian experiment. "It seems like a dream. It is too good to be true," is what they all say.

The group was generally representative of the trade union movement in the United States, as far as occupations go. The trades represented include a railroad worker, a moulder, a carpenter, a miner, a machinist, a locomotive worker, a steel worker and an electrician. While they were there, they made a most thorough study of industrial conditions. In small groups they visited the mines and oilfields of Grosni and Baku, the southern textile industries, Ukrainia and the Don Basin, as well as the industrial life of Leningrad and Moscow. They expect to issue a report time during December, when the rest of the delegation arrives.

Workers Have Power. William Watkins, president of Switchmen's Union, Local 206, said that "from the trade union point of view, we found that organized labor the American worker is only dream-It is the workers of Russia, for. together with the peasants, who are ruiding the destinies of the United Socialist Soviet Republics."

"Of course it is true," he went on, "that the Russian workers do not enjoy the standard of living that we do. But there is no favorable comparison for the United States between the hours of work, control of job conditions and pay, state provision for education, accident, unemployment and old age, which the Russian workers have now.'

Workers Hapny. The delegation claimed that everywhere there was ample evidence of the workers being well-housed, wellclothed, happy and contented with their present conditions, as opposed to those they had known under the Czar's regime. Where the work day had formerly been ten or more hours. it was now eight. Frequently, however, they found the hours had been reduced to six a day, owing to the risk to health in the occupation. There is also a general move toward a seven-hour day, they said.

Perhaps one of the most astonishing things to the American group was the importance attached to the Palace of Labor, or community cenr, which even the villages boasted Often it was found built around and into the factory, where the village had not yet constructed a special building, or converted one of the confiscated noble's estates into these club houses, around which the cultural life of the new Russia flows. There, as everywhere else, the trade union organization is the governing unit. Communism, according to the delegation, may be the ruling philosophy of Russia. But it is the trade unions that are the real gov-

But on the other hand, the astonishment of the visiting Americans was even greater when, on investigation in Baku, for instance, they found that over 60 per cent, of the workers were living in the most modern of constructions, with hardwood floors, hot and cold running water, even Detroit Jewel gas stoves in the kitchens. They admitted that the tools used were in most cases antiquated, from an American point of view. Therefore, production rates were not as high as here. Besides that, there is no striving after straight line production. In fact, they said, they found a definite horror of the evils of the Ford speed-up system. But hat did not mean that there were no methods employed to improve existing production habits. From 1925 to 1927, 14.000 rubles had been awarded as prizes for inventions and improvements. In fact, so impressed were the American group by the standard of work, that they predicted hat within five years, if Russia teeps on in her present mood, she will have attained a techinque of production that has never been Everywhere they went, the delegaion was greeted with brass bands. panquets, and a democratic contradeship-if one could show real callouses on his hands- that had no counterpart in American life. They told of attending a meeting given in their honor in some small provincial town where it was so cold in the hall that the water in the pitcher on the speaker's table actually froze. And the hall was thronged for two solid hours, people standing to gain admission.

"That," said Watkins, chairman of the delegation, "is as much Russia as anything I can point to."

Everywhere they went, excitement vas rife over America, and over quesions of war, and of disarmament. But, although they were anxious that there should be settlements agreed the peasants and workers alike evi-Russia to the limit.

Stalin Exposes Hearst's Swindles and Distortions to Discredit Soviet Union

NAILS ARTICLES APPEARING UNDER NAME AS FRAUDS

Says Hearst Suppressed Previous Denial

(Special Cable to DAILY WORKER) MOSCOW, Dec. 19 .- Forged articles alleged to have been signed by Stalin were circulated by the New York American, the Wide World News Agency in an effort "to undermine the effect obtained by the Soviet Union's delegation to Geneva which proposed complete disarmament," according to a statement by Joseph Stalin, Secretary of the All Union Communist Party, in this morning's press. The text of Stalin's statement follows in full: "It is hardly necessary to actually refute the forgers from the New York American, Wide World News Agency or Anglo-American Newspaper Service, circulating all kinds of tales in the shape of unexisting 'Stalin's articles' on 'air forces' of the U. S. S. R., on 'reconciliation' of the Soviet Power with 'orthodox church,' Refute Themselves. "It is not necessary to refute these, as the gentlemen exposed themselves in the press as professional forgers living on the small forgeries.

on 'return' to capitalists of 'oil properties' in the U.S.S.R., etc.

"It is sufficient to look through the 'explanations' these gentlemen recently gave the press in an effort to 'justify' their swindles, to realize that we have to deal not with respresentatives of the press, but with brigands of the pen." However in response to the inquiry of press representatives, I am willing to declare: "I never in my life have seen any 'Herman Gottfrey' or any other representative of the foreign press alleged to have into either these gentlemen or any other representative of the foreign press. I made no speech either at the 'Presidium of the Moscow Soviet' or at the 'Moscow Committee' of the Party on 'returning' oil properties in the U. S. S. R. to 'capitalists,' nor on the 'orthodox church,' nor on the 'air forces' of the U.S.S.R., I have given no 'articles' or 'notes' in this spirit to Deceive Readers. "The gentlemen from the New York | ment. American, the Wide World News, the Anglo-American Newspaper Service, deceived readers assuring them that fake 'Stalin's article' were unrefuted by Moscow in due time. The forged 'articles' on 'air forces' of the U.S.S. R. and on 'reconciliation' with the 'orthodox church' became known in Moscow at the end of November, 1927. They were immediately disclosed by the People's Commissariat of Foreign Affairs as a forgery and this was communicated to Mr. Res-wick, representative of the Associated Press in Moscow. Denies Stories. "Accordingly Reswick immediately sent the following cable on the 1st of December to the Associated Press: 'Today it was stated to me in the People's Commissariat of Foreign Affairs that the question is being seriously considered here of starting prosecution in New York against the newspaper 'New York American' and generally the Hearst press with the view to stopping the circulation of articles signed 'Stalin.' The authorities particularly objected to a note which appeared in the 'New York American' of the 6th of November, headlined 'Converting the Church to Support Soviet,' which allegedly is Stalin's secret report to a meeting of the Moscow Presidium. Authorities here indicate that the article is the purest fiction.-Signed Reswick, 1st of December, 1927."

Suppress Denial. "Was this telegram published, and if not, why not? Was it not because publication of Reswick's cable would have undermined the sources of revenue of Mr. Kord on the American-Hungarian or Hungarian-American question? This is not the first time the New York American has been endeavouring to make money by forging unexisting 'interviews' and 'articles' of Stalin's. For instance, I know that in June 1927 the New York American published a forged 'Stalin's interview' with a Cecil Winchester about a 'rupture with Britain,' about abandoning 'world revolution,' about a raid on Arcos, etc. The Argus Clippings Bureau in that reference sent me then a proposition that I should confirm the authenticity of the 'interview' and become the Bureau's client.

Cables DAILY WORKER. "Having no doubt that they had to do with the swindle, I then immediately forwarded to the New York DAILY WORKER the following

"Dear Comrades, "The Argus Clippings Bureau sent me a clipping from the paper, the New York American, of the 12th of June, 1927, with an interview which I allegedly granted a certain Cecil Winchester. Hereby I declare that I never in my life have seen any Cecil Winchester, I have not given him nor anyone else an interview and have absolutely nothing to do with the New York American. Continue Swindles.

"Nevertheless, forgers from Mr. Kord's organization continue their swindles. What is the sense of these tracks? What do Kord and his associates wish to obtain by their forgeries? Perhaps sensation? No, not only sensation. Their object is to undermine the effect attained by the delegation of the U.S. S. R. to Geneva by its declaration regarding full discrease of unemployment here was inarmament. Will they obtain their object? Of course not.

Justice Mitchel May of the Brook lyn Supreme Court yesterday failed o make permanent a temporary inunction obtained six weeks ago by he United Hebrew Trades against he Retail Grocery and Dairy Clerks' Union.

In refusing to continue the order Justice May rendered what is considered an important decision.

"No injunction can be granted to restrain any organization from proselyting to develop its numerical strength," his decision said. Decision Qualified.

Certain qualifications are contained in the decision, however, by which the injunction may again be issued "in the event the defendant resorts to llegal methods."

Revolution and Counter-Revolution in China---Support the Workers' and Peasants' Struggle for Power

Chinese workers and peasants, organized and led by the Communist Party, have taken power in Canton and other districts, established a Soviet government, fought heroically to maintain it, have been defeated temporarily and are now being tortured and butchered by thousands.

From a struggle for national liberation the Chinese masses have progressed to a struggle for proletarian power. This is the great importance of the struggle.

One of the greatest events in the history of the class struggle

The counter-revolutionary weapon of reaction in China is the Nanking nationalist government led by Chiang Kai-shek. It has gone over to imperialism without reservations.

The Nanking nationalist government is celebrating its surrender to imperialism by massacres of workers and peasants, labor union leaders and Communists.

Even in the cabled stories of the capitalist press correspondents there is a subdued note of horror underlying the satisfaction with which they state that "Communism and Sovietism are wiped out." The bloody and sadistic ferocity with which the massacres are carried out stamp them as the acts of a class which is rising to temporary power on the bodies of the masses and which is the of foreign imperialism instrument of world reaction-imperialism. Counter-revolution in China takes its place as a monstrous companion of the butchery of the Paris Communards, the 1905 massacres in Russia, the mass murders which took place in the invaded districts of Russia during 1917-18-19, and the wholesale extermination of Bulgarian workers and peasants in 1923.

Like these systematic and deliberate blood baths perpetrated by a ruling class fearful of the mass power of workers and peasants organized and led by Communists, the Chinese counter-revolution is supported by the great powers. Without the aid of the imperialist nations the Nanking government would fall before the onslaught of the masses.

With the Nanking government as their instrument, the rulers words regarding the report of Comof the imperialist nations, America and Great Britain especially, are slaughtering thousands of Chinese workers and peasants, torturing and butchering their leaders, in order that the robbery of a special item on the agenda, the terence or interruption.
