Imperialists Ask Death of USSR Consul

(Special to The Daily Worker.) SHANGHAI, Dec. 28. - Revolutionary troops commanded by Generals Yeh Ting and Ho Lung have captured Waichow and Chengshin, cities within one hundred miles of Canton, with the aid of organized worker and peasant corps, according to reports received here.

(General Yeh Ting captured Swatow several months ago only to be driven out by the counter-revolutionary Hankow forces. Both he and Ho Lung were Kuomintang generals who broke with Chiang Kai-shek and later with the Hankow Government when it turned against the workers and peasants. Determination to oppose the ruling in the injunction case against leaders of the New York Joint Board of the International Ladies' Garment Workers' Union, made yesterday by Judge Erlanger, with penalties totalling $17,000, was voiced yesterday by Charles Zimmerman speaking for his associates of the Joint Board.

From other needle trades leaders a similar line of policy was forthcoming. It is the intention to carry the case to the U.S. Supreme Court if necessary and to organize back of the defendants a powerful mass defense which will place the vital issues involved before the entire labor movement, according to Zimmerman;

ARMED MEN IN CENTRAL EUROPE BEAT 1914 FIGURE

Military Allies of France And England Warlike

VIENNA, Dec. 28. — Central Europe, "mother of wars," has taken a prospects for the future and finds that there are 300,000 more men under arms at the beginning of 1928 than there were just before the outbreak of the Great War in 1914. It was in 1914 that the "militarism of Austro-Hungary" plunged Europe into war.

Fear War Next Year.

Throughout the Balkans, Poland and Czechoslovakia sober-minded men regard 1928 with anxiety. Not the least of their worries is the bristling line of bayonets that stretches from the Baltic in the North to the Black Sea in the South, where states more or less dominated by the stronger, still more heavily armed western powers gather larger and larger

Though six of the "heirs" to the old Austro-Hungarian Dual Monarchy are weaker financially than was Franz Josef's old Empire, they are keeping up standing armies totaling 835,000 men against the 550,000 maintained by Austria-Hungary, Roumania and Serbia in 1914.

Big Preparations.

Official statistics compiled by Austrian authorities show the following armies in Central Europe: Poland, 270,000.

Czechoslovakia, 160,000. Jugoslavia, 120,000. Roumania, 210,000.

Hungary and Austria 75,000.

The peace strength of the Austro-Hungarian army before the war was 420,000, and that of Roumania and Serbia, 130,000, making a total of

COLORADO RELIEF: WON'T COOPERATE

They Face Issue

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Dec. 28. — Pointing out that the Socialist leaders were allowing their narrow partisan interests to cause them to sabotage the work of raising funds for the striking Colorado miners, and demanding from the Socialist Party a clear answer as to what they were going to do about it, the Workers (Communist) Party, subdistrict of Wisconsin, has issued a leaflet telling of the failure of the attempt to draw the Socialist officialdom into the relief

"The brave struggle of the Colorado miners had a healthy influence upon the labor movement of America. The workers felt that they must close their ranks in front of the common enemy and that the fight of the Colorado miners is their fight. In some of the larger cities, like New York, Chicago and others, labor organizations of different shades of political opinion, joined hands and arranged meetings under joint auspices for the support of the Colorado miners:

"In Milwaukee, unfortunately, Mr. Wm. Coleman, the State Secretary of the Socialist Party, informed the Workers' Party that the Socialist Party will have nothing to do with the proposed joint mass meeting in support of the Colorado miners. ## Stalin and the American Delegation to Soviet Russia

NOTE: This article forms the introduction of the new publication of the Workers Library Publishers: "Questions And Answers To American Trade Unionists-Stalin's Interview With The First American Trade Union Delegation To Soviet Russia." This book takes on added interest with the meetings now being held at which the second rank and file delegation is making its report to American labor.

Because of the importance of this publication, this article will be followed by two oth vs: one of the questions asked of Stalin and his answer; the other a question that Stalin in turn asks of the delegates . and their answers. Both questions deal specifically with problems of American labor.

By JAY LOVESTONE.

ONE of the most important events in the history of the American labor movement is the visit of the First American Labor Delegation to the

To the superficial observer it is difficult to understand why and how it is that the Soviet Union plays such an important role in the development of the American labor movement. In America, we have the most powerful capitalist system. In Soviet Russia, we have a growing socialist economic system. In America the capitalist class rules unchallenged effectively. In Soviet Russia the proletariat rules unchallenged and unchallengeable. But this sharp difference in class relations and in the economic structure of the countries does not itself serve to create a gulf between these two labor movements.

The American labor movement has some very worthwhile traditions. Yet, when compared with the older labor movements in some of the European countries, the traditions of our working class are few. Particularly in a country where the labor movement is young, and the traditions are not many, does the existence of a Soviet Republic in another country play an important role as a source of inspiration and a source of experience. At this particular moment great masses of American workers are not consciously, sufficiently interested in the development within the Soviet Repubhe. Still there is already an appreciable section of the American working class, virile in character and growing in number, which is keenly interested in the progress and development of the First Workers' and Farmers' Soviet Republic in the world.

inating the labor movement. Stalin Analyses.

The gap between the developments of class-consciousness among the American workers and the class-consciousness of the workers in the Soviet Union, is clearly evidenced in the questions and answers herewith given. Equipped with a tremendous capacity for Leninist analysis, Comrade Stalin shows a remarkable understanding not only of the tasks and problems confronting the Russian proletariat, but also of the difficulties and tasks the American working class is facing. In his concise and lucid manner, Comrade Stalin explains very effectively the positive contributions of Leninism to Marxism, the development of the science of proletarian revolution, the role of the Communist Party, the proletarian dictatorship, the forms and methods of building up socialism and the effects of imperialism on the working class.

Problems Loom.

The discussion between Comrade Stalin and the American trade unionists also focuses attention on certain basic tasks and problems that our working class must meet and meet soon. Why are the American workers so poorly organized? Why is so small a proportion of American workers in the trade unions while so large a proportion of the Russian workers is-over 90 per cent-in the trade unions? What are the relations between the skilled and the unskilled workers in the United States? What essons can we draw from these relations? How does it come that the reactionary labor bureaucracy is often far more black in its conservative attitude than even some of the leaders of the bourgeoisie? Social insurance, the labor party, recognition of the Soviet Union, the Communist society, the role of the peasantry, incentive under Socialist production, the structure of the Soviet system and the development of genuine working class democracy in the Soviet Union, are among the many questions briefly but thoroughly analysed and explained in this third volume of the Workers Library series.

And why is it that the American Federation of Labor Executive Council has not uttered one word of protest against the recognition of the fascist government of Italy and Poland by the United States but has worked overtime to prevent the recog-

States to the Soviet Union are no longer a novelty. Since the ice has been broken by the delegation headed by James P. Maurer, president of the Pennsylvania State Federation of Labor, there has already gone to the Soviet Union another American Labor Delegation. This second trade union delegation is more representative of American labor in certain respects in that it has less of the officialdom and license with history when he wrote of nore of the rank and file in the basic ndustries of the country. Consequently the growing interest on the part of increasing sections of the American working class in the problems and progress of our Russian brothers should be further stimulated by the

WHEN Homer smote his bloomin' lyre he wasn't particular about the facts in the case. He took poetic the face (of Helen's) "that launched a thousand ships." And if you recall, he wrote about horses.

Knowing the old bard's imagination got the best of his logic, Prof. Erskine of Columbia, in writing "The Private Life of Helen of Troy," took even more liberties with Helen's reputation. The moving picture people, knowing the historical unreliability of both Stalin, should go a good deal of the Homer and Erskine, wrote their own version. ### "Educational Orders" for Munitions---Another Step in the War Program

The war department has taken another step in adjusting industry to the needs of the imperialist war program.

This is the real meaning of the announcement by Secretary War Davis that "educational orders" for munitions will be placed with private manufacturers.

With a huge warship program launched and military and naval aircraft to be built in huge swarms, with the entire country divided into military corps areas and skeleton military units organized in all principal industries, with a network of military training camps established and auxiliary organizations like the Boy Scouts, the Red Cross and volunteer military intelligence services in operation, the manufacture of munitions in large quantities constitutes the next development in the war program.

So efficiently has the war machine been working that it is only when attention is called to its activities by some announcement marking a new stage in the carrying out of its plans that any substantial opposition is aroused.

It is characteristic of the middle class elements who are protesting the plan of the war department, that they base their opposition almost entirely on the proposal to have war munitions manufactured by private concerns instead of by the government.

Similarly, the opposition of the spokesmen of these elements in congress and the senate to the naval program is based largely on the cost to the taxpayers and a certain abstract desire for

For the working class the recent announcement of the war department means that the menace of imperialist war has crept closer. It must be the signal for more effective struggle against the heavier enterprises, metal work-necessity for curtailment. It says: imperialism in all its manifestations.

"Don't worry about it," answered the other, "as long as you have your city job they will always be able to hold you up for your salary assessment, and whatever else they can take away from you between times."

TALKING about moving," continued the first speaker, "I see where they are going to turn over the old tenement in City Hall Place where Cardinal Hayes was born to the church. Do you think the Cardinal is going to move down there to be among the poor?"

"Are you going crazy?" asked the well-informed friend, "what would he do that for?

"They say Jesus Christ always lived among the poor, don't they?" "Yes, my boy, but he wasn't a New York Cardinal.

"AL. SMITH never comes near the old diggings any more either," volunteered the first speaker.

"Why should he go near Oliver Street" answered the smart lad, "when he can have the taxpayers pay $60 a day or thereabouts for his keep in the Ritz-Carlton?"

"Don't you think he'll ever go back to the old street to live?" "He never will, if he can help it."

Labor officials did not realize what was going on until fully 1,800 shares are required to hold a majority of the stock and a controlling interest. They then sent out a call to unions and individual members who held stock in the bank, to turn over proxies (voting power) to the Central Labor Council representatives, in order to get enough votes at the next shareholders' meeting to maintain their majority. Each group has now approximately the same number of votes, yet it is practically certain that the bank will
