As a result of be the most "democratic" industrial ing superiors believe that, when a the general wage-slashing campaign of the textile barons of this section, thus more quickly respond and club the United Front Committees, under the leadership of John J. Ballam, took the lead in fighting the drive of the bosses, and although the United Front Committe, due to technical difficulties, was late in getting under way, we were successful in rallying a large and representative group of textile workers to our conference in Lawrence, in the summer of 1925,

The policy outlined at Lawrence, and the enthusiasm of the delegates present, resulted in the world famous Passaic Strike, which stopped the wage-cutting campaign of the bosses and gave us a wider rank and file appeal for the movement, thruout the entire country. The progressives were proven leaders and organizers, no longer could we be dubbed dreamers and agitators.

Beginning with the fall of 1926, and profiting by the general demoralization which had infected all of labor's organizations in the New England Textile industry, (reactionary and progressive alike,) the bosses began second, general drive to smash the unions and cut wages-but the workers of New England have learned their lesson, and the Progressive $100. Immediate Walk-Outs. Despite the fact that 100,000 workers had already accepted the cut, and that over 40 per cent of the industry was unemployed, the workers of Fall River reacted to the cut with immediate walk-outs in the Stevens and Davis mills. This action was as a trumpet call to resist for every worker in the industry. In these strikes the progressive committee was represented, but had not sufficient forces to counteract the treachery of the A.

> Under the stimulus of the work in Fall River other local groups have revived and a general movement for organization is again making its appearance—the workers are responding to our agitation and the moment is ripe for an organizational drive to embrace all New England.

> The main task of the coming conference will be to organize the widespread sentiment for fight. To organize the resentment of the workers against the growing injustice of enforced unemployment. To organize and make effective our slogan of general strike as a means of ending the attack of the boss. To prepare for the next and greater Passaic-a strike at the heart of the New England bosses, on a New England scale.

Dock Workers in New York

(By a Worker Correspondent.) I am a longshoreman working on the New York waterfront. For some time I have been unemployed. Jobs are very hard to get. Many workers wait in vain for a day's and even half a day' swork. Many after standing hours and hours near the docks have to go away without a job. Those that are a little more forunate and have a job are treated worse than a Chinese coolie. Some of the union jobs are well paid, but it is a luxury for a dock worker to work a day or two at one of these jobs. The ships do not carry large cargoes at the present time.

Many of the jobs that are supposed to be union ones are only a joke. Union conditions are hardly enforced on the jobs. Her Unborn Child"-Good Acting in a Creaky Play

After playingne road for the last few years New York audiences now have the opportunity of viewing "Her Unborn Child" at the Eltinge Theatre. Advertised widely as a play that discusses the frightful question of birth control it is discovered on a close examination to be a tract written against the idea.

Such phrases as "motherhood is God's greatest miracle" runs through the entire production. Altho it sponsers try to give the impression that it is a daring play, it is the most old fashioned show on New York today, and while not the worst of the lot, is pretty near so. The play creaks and is tedious from the first act to the When we start considering the cast, that is a different story. All of the actors are capable and do their utmost with the stupid play they have to contend with. Effie Shannon heads a canable cast that includes William Corbett, Elisha Cook Jr., and Margaret Evers.

The Majestic Productions are the sponsers. Howard McKent Barnes and Grace Hayward originally wrote it, but Melville Burke is credited in the program with its revision and staging.

KANSAS CITY, March 13.-Th Protherhood of Sleeping Car Porters preparing to call a strike, Ashley Totten, assistant general organi zer, announces.

The strike call will be issued in a few days from the New York office of the union, Totten said, for the purpose of invoking the services of the Federal Railway Labor Act in settling its demands for a wage increase from the Pullman Co.

Decision to strike, Totten con-tinued, was made after the refusal of the Interstate Commerce Commission to take action on wage demands. The commission last Friday held that tips to Pullman workers were legal.

Totten pointed out that the porters are paid $72.50 for 400 hours work a month. The porters want tips abolished and wages increased.

Glenn was drawing wages from the public treasury at the time as a state senator but dipped out $12,000 special prosecutor's fees in addition. Not all of the $12,000 came from the public treasury, perhaps, as the Illinois chamber of commerce had raised $50,000 by particular techniques.

While drawing $12,000 per year and as high as $11,000 per year additional for "expenses," Lewis has at the same ime sabotaged the relief of striking miners and has sought to gg the police on to break up the relief organization which the miners themselves established to meet their need.

Lewis is not president of the United Mine Workers of America by any act of the members of the Union,-three times in succession Lewis has stolen the election by means of fraudulent vot-ing methods after he and the police had failed to blackjack the iners into voting for him.

For eight years since his election in 1920 Lewis, himself a vealthy business man and politician of the ruling class, has ridden he United Mine Workers for his own benefit and for the benefit

During the past eight years of Lewis' betrayal the Union has been gradually broken down until it now has but a fraction of its

Lewis took the presidency of the Union at a time when 70 percent of the coal mined in the United States was dug by Union men. Under his rule for the coal operators' benefit, the amount of coal mined by the Union has sunk to 30 percent. The Union in 1920 had a membership of over 400,000. It has been ridden by Lewis until it now has hardly more than half that number alhough Lewis still claims 300,000.

The overwhelming share of the coal output produced in America is produced in non-union fields. The organization of the unorganized fields is a life-need of the United Mine Workers' Union; yet Lewis makes no move towards the organization of the un-

In spite of Lewis the coal miners have fought for nearly a year the most heroic battle in American labor history.
