"PEACE PACT"-STIMSON SENDS MARINES AGAINST HAITI

Resist Attacks of Hoover's "Grand Fascist Council"

Thursday 400 big industrial capitalists assembled at Washington to hear an oration by Hoover and to be organized into what is described as a "National Council of Business Men."

To say that Hoover is crystallizing a centralized body of the most powerful capitalists of this country, for the avowed purpose of exercizing a directing function over national affairs, is to say that the topmost members of the present ruling class are now beginning to Martial Law Fails to rule the country, not more than before, but more directly and openly than before-and more frankly over the heads of the "democratic" in stitution of congress.

The resemblance of the American ruling class' methods to Mussolini's fascist dictatorship is obvious. A correspondent of the New York Herald-Tribune writes:

"Thus the economic council, first of its kind in American history, will have two chambers which might be described roughly as a senate and assembly, and they will have the active cooperation of the Federal Government through the medium of the Department of Commerce, if not the president personally."

Anyone who calls this an "economic" council is trying to conceal the fact that it is composed of the biggest finance-capitalists in the United States in the "upper" section of the council, and a somewhat lesser array of industrialists in the "lower" body, referred to as the

The strong push toward fascism is obvious.

In the rapidly developing crisis Hooyer found the usual avenues of Congress and the other apparatus of the "democratic" capitalist state too cumbersome to carry on the quick and sharp battles that have been planned against the workers.

Unemployment is growing. Production is going down all along the line. Capitalist economy suffers from a slump from which Hoover thought imperialism immune.

To make his semi-fascist machine more useful and anti-working class, Hoover enlisted directly and indirectly the support of the misleaders of the American Federation of Labor, the railroad brotherhoods, ee "socialist" party. Through the various state governors a special arrangement is being made with such social-fascists as the leaders of the International Ladies Garment Workers Union (a company union, now, in all but name) for a strike-breaking drive typical of the fascist tendencies of the times.

It is no surprise to find that the leaders of Hoover's new developing state apparatus are the directors of the war industries. A council for actually carrying on war against the Soviet Union would be composed of precisely the same men that now comprise the "Grand Fascist Council." It is these men who will direct the blows against the work-'t is there enomies of labor that stand back of Stimson's war threat against the Soviet Union.

every worker-and every American worker will feel the mailed fist of Hoover and his "Fascist Grand Council"-should join in the militant resistance to the wage cuts and union smashing campaign of the exploiters led by the Communist Party and the Trade Union Unity

The threat against the Soviet Union goes hand in hand with the threat against the American workers and their class organizations.

The Kellogg Pact in Haiti

The new war started by Hoover and Stimson, by American imerialism on Haiti, at the moment when the world is yet ringing with r' licule and protest at the United States aping Jesus Christ as "peacemaker" in pretense, as war-maker in fact, with the infamous "note to the Soviet Union," is one of the most infernal pieces of brass faced Litvinoff. in his speech to the Soviet Congress the day after the Soviet had flung down the challenge to world imperialism for its meddling in Soviet affairs, struck the correct caustic note in reference to the "me, too" joint notes from the Mexican, Panama and Cuba colonies of the United States. These countries, said Litvinoff, had much better be inquiring if their peace and tranquility were not more endangered by something nearer home than the Manchurian frontier.

The Haitian people, and we leave out of reckoning the buffoon whom the U. S. has put in office as "president," have exposed the devilish hypocrisy of American imperialist humbug about the Kellogg Pact. The Kellogg Pact means war; and in that war the workers stand behind the Soviet Union! It means war, and in that war on the oppressed of Haiti, the workers of the United States stand with the Communist Party-for the Haitian people and against the scoundrels and hypocrites in Washington and Wall Street!

Organizing the Food Workers — the Main Problem as the Amalgamated Food Workers Convention Opens.

The Amalgamated Food Workers Union begins its convention to-

The principal point on the order of business of the convention is the organization of the unorganized, the fixing of demands for the industry and the preparation for developing struggles.

The food industry is a low wage industry. Its wage average, both in the trustified food packing section and in the restaurant and catering divisions, is below that of the working class as a whole. There is little organization in proportion to the number of workers although the Amalgamated has made a good beginning and has led a number of sharp struggles. The American Federation of Labor specializes characteristically in gathering together only the most highly paid and favorably situated workers. It is a bosses' organization from start to finish and has even developed extraordinary methods of corruption and betrayal.

The decisive section of the industry-food preparation and packing is completely unorganized. It is here that the Amalgamated must concentrate-among great masses of terribly exploited Negro and white

There will be a struggle in the convention over the line of action. There are officials of the Amalgamated who are opposed to mobilizing the union for its main task-the organization and leadership of the workers in trustified industry in decisive struggle. There are elements opposed to the correct program and tactics of the Trade Union

The Amalgamated Food Workers Union has a long revolutionary tradition and we are confident that the delegates will reject any proposal that may be made to turn their backs on the many militant struggles of the union and embark on a career which can only weaken the workers and finally turn the union itself into another instrument of

Against all elements who refuse to strengthen the Amalgamated Food Workers for its coming battles by helping it to emerge from this convention as the champion of the masses in every section of the industry, against those who would divorce the union from the revolutionary advance guard of the workers in the United States, the most stern struggle must be carried on.

The convention of the Amalgamated Food Workers must reflect the will of the masses to struggle-it must reflect the hatred of the food workers for the miserable conditions under which they work and live. It can permit no tampering with its revolutionary integrity. Its convention must leave the union stronger and more consolidated-more closely bound to the American Section of the Red International of Labor Unions, the Trade Union Unity League.

Those of the delegates at the convention who are also members of the Communist Party of the United States have a great responsi bility. They must see that all attacks of the enemies of revolutionary unionism are repelled.

ANSWER THE ATTACKS UPON THE PARTY BY A BIG RECRUITING DRIVE

By EARL BROWDER.

THE attacks upon the Party have been growing more severe. With the Party throwing off the paralyzing influence of the Lovestone renegades and getting into action in the class struggle, and in the great International Red demonstrations, our class enemies are more and more resorting to suppressive methods. Their object is to drive the Party into illegality. Our answer must be, intensified activity among the masses, and BUILDING UP THE PARTY ORGANIZATION IN THE SHOPS AND FACTORIES. That is the meaning of the recruiting drive that begins on Dec.

In order effectively to recruit workers into our Party, it is necessary to make clear to the prospective members what is the Communist Party, what are its aims, and how does it work. We must give the workers the full understanding of how building the Party is the best answer the attacks of the bosses and their agents. We must give them the understanding of the Party's role, as it was described by

"By educating the workers' Party, Marxism educates the vanguard of the proletariat, thus fitting it to seize power and to lead the whole people towards socialism, to carry on and organize the new order, to become the teacher, the guide, the leader of all who labor and are exploited-their teacher, guide and leader in the work of organizing their social life without the bourgeoisie and against the bourgeoisie." (In "State and Revolution.")

His understanding of the role of the Party will prepare the workers for assuming the duties and responsibilities of membership-and and the same time it carries out a very necesray preliminary SELECTION process among prospective members. It drives away the faint-hearted and undisciplined, those still under the influence of the capitalist class ideas, and it draws closer the true proletarians, the workers in the shops, who are filled with the spirit of struggle against capitalism, and who are seeking the means of realizing their urge toward such struggle. Our new pamphlet "Why Every Worker Should Join the Communist Party," which explains in simple language all these questions, should be made one of our principle weapons in the Recruiti g Drive.

Especially must we show those workers near to and sympathetic to our Party, that our recent experiences in cleansing the Party of the renegade Lovestone group is proof of the Bolshevik quality of the Party which is becoming the kind of organization Lenin described-able to overcome all capitalist influences, even when these show themselves in the very heart of the Party, to cleanse itself, and to renew its proletarian energies from the great reservoir of the working class, and thru all its struggles, with the open enemies as well as with the inner enemy of opportunism, more and more solidifying its forces, sharpening its weapons, for the final struggle for power. The successful liquidation of the opportunist elements in our Party constitute one of the most important reasons why every worker should join the Communist Party.

The renegades have denounced our Party Recruiting Drive, and called upon the workers not to respond to it. Their vicious attacks are only additional proof that the movement correctly threw them into the garbage pail. Such attacks are only specialized form of the general capitalist offensive against the working class and against the Communist Party, just as they are a part of the preparations of war against the Soviet Union. Our answer to them is the same as our answer to the capitalist courts in Charlotte, which sentenced our seven comrades to 20 years in prison; the same as our answer to the imprisonments in Pennsylvania, California, and New York, the same as our answer to the innumerable police persecutions—the answer TO REDOUBLE OUR ENERGIES IN THE FIGHT; TO BUILD THE REVOLUTIONARY TRADE UNIONS, AND TO BRING 5,000 NEW MEMBERS INTO THE PARTY.

Answer the attacks of the bosses and their

Build the Party!

Our Party and the New Dues System

By BEATRICE SISKIND.

COMRADES who have labored against the devastating procedure of endless collections which have hampered the political development of the units and have reduced them to dues and money collecting agencies, greet the New Dues System that the Political Committee of the Party has proposed, with enthusiasm. Our task and perpetual question always was, "How can we Activize the Unit." This question has been asked and answered by section committees, by Unit Executives, by the leading comrades in the district, thru letters, speeches, bulletins, but the unit remains the same mechanical money raising unit. We are swamped in collections. Our functionaries, instead of giving reports and drawing the political significance of the work they are conducting, and drawing every comrade of the unit into this work, are so emerged in bookkeeping that they forget the purpose of their job. And so I could relate obstacles upon obstacles, but it all reduces itself to the single trouble and that is mechanical collections.

It is necessary to note here the effect that these collections have on the various groups of comrades. Comrades who are ideologically weak cannot find anything in the Party unit to keep them. Hence they drift away and come to meetings only seldom. The unit eventually loses these comrades. New comrades, who come in from the struggle full of enthusiasm are soon disillusioned and become cynical. The old guard stays on and looks for a solution to make the unit the real political expression and training ground for the Party work among the masses. It is these few comrades that bear the double burden of contributing to the limit to these endless collections, and doing 3 or 4 jobs that the increasing struggles of the workers demand.

Every Party member must do Party work. The unit must discuss every problem of the working class and arm itself with a thorough Leninist understanding of the tasks facing us in this present period of intensified class struggle and the menace of the war which has already started on the Manchurian border, in order to work in the factories and shops among the masses of workers. Our unit must be the training ground of the vanguard of the working class. This can only be accomplished by removing the mechanical procedure that exists in the unit. Each comrade will then feel that the unit is the foundation of the Party and as such he must strengthen it.

Let us see concretely how the dues system will remove the obstacles standing in the way of our unit development. Let us review one unit meeting and approximate the collections taken. There are always two or three different tickets to dances for auxiliary organizations, some for the Y. C. L., the Party, etc., which means the minimum of $1 for each comrade. Daily Worker collection for the southern campaign-25 cents weekly-Daily Worker sustaining fund-25 to 50 cents weekly, auxiliary organizations (3 or 4 collections) at least $1 apiece, rent for the section headquarters, about 10 cents weekly, section affairs about 25 cents weekly and miscellaneous emergencies about 25 cents per week-total $2.50 weekly. Under the new dues system figuring on a wage of $40 a week the member would pay 75 cents weekly dues only. The average comrade does not earn $40 per week regularly. Those comrades who do earn more than $40 certainly ought to contribute towards liquidating the financial difficulty of the Party and to enable the Party to better conduct the work. Now if we compare the collection of the maximum of lieved from the pressure of ticket selling, of numerous collections and constant interruptions, will be able to devote more time to activizing each and every comrade, to check up on their activities in the shops and factories, to discuss their problems, to study their tasks, and thus develop and clarify the weaker comrades and strengthen our ranks. Generally the unit will be given breathing space and will become a live force with its face and hand in the work among the masses. Comrades must popularize this decision of

"With admiration and pride we have read of their valiant struggle in this strike, how they have heroically defended their elementary rights against capitalism's tyrannical exploitation and bloody terror. We know that the capitalist forces mean to eliminate the best from among you. The proletariat of the whole world must be aroused to prevent this.

European Steel Output Goes Down.

The European steel cartel has decided to reduce steel production still further. A cut of 10 per cent in steel production by industries involved in the European cartel has been announced. This means further unemployment of European steel workers. The cut was made, says the officials of the steel cartel, because of increased competition on the worll market.

The Cause of the Stock Market Crash

By LEON PLOTT.

THE stock market crisis does not only effect the entire economic life of the country, but it was caused primarily by the present economic conditions. The growing disproportion between the productive capacities of American industry and markets was the main factor which with its continuous development undercrash we find many basic industries curtailing production and laying off workers.

According to the Annalist of November 22 we find that for months prior to the crash the productivity of the most important American industries was on the decline. We see that pig iron production from an index of 127.4 in May declined to 112.9 in October: steel ingot production from an index of 131.3 in June declined to 104.5 in October; freight car loading from 102.8 in May to 98 in October; automobile production 150 in June to 115 in October and building contracts according to the Department of Commerce declined from an index of 141 in May to 119 in September. The general index of business activity declined from 108.5 in July to 102 in October.

DECLINE-NOT SEASONAL,

It is worth while here to remark that this downward movement is not seasonal, but forced by the contradictions of capitalism. During the same months of last year production in these industries was continuously on the upgrade. The outstanding feature in this situation is the decline in freight car loading. The rate of freight car loading is being taken by the bourgeoisie as the best indicator for business conditions. Not only is the freight car loading in October, 1929, less than in the same month of 1928, but it is very closely approaching the depression curve of 1927.

Another phenomenon that sharply reflects the developing economic crisis and the diminishing of the buying power of the masses is the decline in savings accounts. According to the report of the American Bankers Association for the year ending June 29, 1929, the decline in savings accounts amounts to 195 million dollars. The significance of this fact becomes particularly important when it is compared with the previous year which showed an increase in savings accounts by $2,300,000,000. The decrease was not only in the total amount of capital in the savings banks but also a decline in the number of savings accounts by the withdrawal of 500,000 depositors. This development occurred for the first time in a period of 20 years.

CAPITALISM LOST BALANCE.

The stocks offered on the market were far below the earning capacities of their corporations. The upward movement of the stock prices was primarily based on the perspective earning capacities of corporations, which could come only as a result of a continuous upward trend in production. However, from the facts above we see that the future earnings were greatly impaired by the curtailment of production and American capitalism immediately lost its balance and the entire structure of "prosperity" which was built on an illusion immediately collapsed.

The stock crash therefore did not come as a result of certain psychological factors as the bourgeoisie and their apologists try to tell to the masses, but is a direct outgrowth of the decline in production of the basic industries, which came as a result of the growing contradictions of American gapitalism which became ates that the bosses favor wage-cutting.

more accentuated by the agricultural crisis. The financial press was forced to say:

"They (the bankers, L. P.) recognize that there is an economic basis for the present situation." (Journal of Commerce, Nov. 11.)

However, Lovestone, seeing unlimited prosperity can not even make as fundamental an analysis as the bourgeois economists, concerning the cause for the stock market crash. The right winger, Lovestone, refuses to see that the contradictions of capitalism are today so sharp, that capitalist stabilization is becoming so undermined, that capitalism can no longer effectively cope with these contradictory forces and has to go downwards. Lovestone says in the 2nd issue of the Revolutionary Age:

"The panic on Wall Street did not come as a result of the decline of capitalist economy. It came as a result of the very strength of capitalist economy magnifying and sharpening the contradictions of world capitalism." (Lovestone's emphasis.) However, this proved to be insufficient for Lovestone. He issued a special document on the stock market crash where he more openly showed his bankruptcy, Lovestone said: "Nor is it correct to say that the decline in auto, steel and construction in the third quarter of the year played the major role in the collapse of the stock market. LOVESTONE'S JUGGLING.

This statement is typical of Lovestone. The question is not if the decline of production in auto, steel and building industries were the major factor in the stock market crash. What is important is to establish the fact, that the stock market crash came as a result of the existing contradictions in American economy and that the decline in production of the most basic industries further accentuated these contradictions which were the basis for the stock market crash. Lovestone by putting the question that the decline in production in auto, steel and building did not play the major role in the stock market crash thereby also says dustries generally played no role at all. This vulgarity beats even J. P. Morgan who, in the monthly bulletin for November published by the National City Bank, in its analysis of the causes for the stock crash, was forced to come out and admit that:

that the decline in production in these basic in-

"While reports of slackening business in certain lines of industry may have been one factor in the final break

J. P. Morgan's bank here recognizes that "slackening business" was at least "one factor in the final break" while Lovestone, the right wing renegade, in a typical Hooverian manner refuses to recognize that the decline in produc tion in steel, auto and construction have something to do with the developing crisis. In this connection the ideology and conceptions of Lovestone run in the same direction with the socialist Party. The New Leader of November

"The collapse of stock prices therefore, is attributable principally not to financial or industrial conditions."

Wages to Go Down

Ford's co-called wage increase, which really means more speed-up for the Ford workers. will not affect the plan for wage-cut drives that the bosses will undertake nationally. "But it's high time it wuz done. You wuz to do it las' night."

"Yes'm. But after ten hours on my feet in the spinnin' room this weather, looks like I jes' put it off.'

Doris was a strongly-built, raw-boned girl with sandy hair and pale blue eyes—a typical Anglo-Saxon "Poor White Trash." Now she looked almost pretty in her pink organdy, her one dress-up dress which she worked overtime to buy and sat up nights to finish. (It would have been a sin to sew it on Sunday.) She was only nineteen, but looked thirty. However, her enthusiasm for perfume and colored handkerchiefs purchased from the five and ten cent store on a Saturday afternoon, for movies and "good times," and the way she tossed off her new-learned slang, all makes Doris one of the new generation. She could make a good union fighter.

"Well, it's al'right, honey," Mrs. Crenshaw concluded, "I only got one more."

As Doris disappeared again to the porch to bid her lover goodnight, Mrs. Crenshaw shook her head.

"Doris seems so dissatisfied like. She keeps me worried. Some days she's happy-like. Then some days she's like dumb with sadness. She wan's to make sometun of herself, not jes' be a mill hand. Here's her Bob in love, and him wantin' to marry her, and she says no, workin' in th' mill is bad enuf without havin' a string o' younguns to look after, like the res' of th' wimmen does. Once she went to th' city to git work. She wanted to work herself up, ta keepin' books or runnin' a typewriter, or somethin' like that. But once they knows you is a mill hand, there ain't a chance. She worked a while in the tin cint store, but 'twuz as bad as here, she sed. So she came back."

"An' Sara," here Mrs. Crenshaw forgot herself to the point of sitting down, "she keeps me bothered too. You know, she's nevah been strong in her mind. Doctor sed she's not hed th' right vittals when she wuz growin' up, 'n they brung her home.

"I tell you honey, but for my faith in God and His goodness, I coulden go on. I keep lookin' forward to Heaven. As the Holy Book

We were interrupted by the return of the boarders from the undertakers praty. Deckout in their best, they shambled in and gathered around the oil cloth table where we sat working. The men looked uncomfortable but excited in their stiff collars and white bow ties. The faces of the girls and women were flushed and shining. Each one had discarded her gingham for the occasion and wore her-or if she didn't have one, somebody's else's--Sunday best.

First came Tom, with his "ole 'oman." They were in the fifties. Tom used to be a fiddler in the Carolina mountains, and earned his living at one of those year-round resorts making music for those Yankee tourists to dance by. It paid better than moonshining and was safer. People said Tom loved his fiddle better even than his ole 'oman. Then, Tom got a "conviction of Sin," as only mountaineers can get it. He had always known dancing to be the work of the Devil, and had turned his eyes from the whirling figures while his fiddle sang "Turkey'n th' Straw." And Maggie had told him these were forriners anyway, and not hill people. But the conviction of Sin was not to be denied. He was aiding in the Devil's work. So sorrowfully he gave up his job, left the mountains and he and Maggie came to the mills to work. They were then in the middle

We couldn't get Tom to play his fiddle. When we asked, he just shook his head. He never said anything, except at table. "Thankye fer th' beans." There was a fiddlers' concert on and over a hundreds in the South Carolina hills and mill villages were going to take part. No violinists allowed, only fiddlers, Everybody begged Tom to take part, but he just shut his eyes and shook his head. Maggie told us he said to her, "Go there 'n show 'em my ignorance?"

Late at night I've heard Tom in his room, which was just above ours, fiddling an old English ballad or some hymn. Once he started "Turkey 'n th' Straw," but stopped abruptly, and then played, "Yield Not to Temptation, for Yielding Is Sin."

Maggie, Tom's old 'oman, was somewhat different from Tom. She, too, was shy gray, but not so dead-quiet. She was a traveled woman for these parts, coming from out the state-Kin-tucky! Her first ole man had been a miner. One day there was another accident at the mine, and Maggie, waiting with the other women at the shaft, found her man had got his. Maggie liked to tell of mining life in the Kentucky mountains, but she told me she thought mill villages nicer, because here a woman could work out as well as a man. Often in the evenings, Maggie would read the Greenville News to Tom. She read with difficulty, spelling out word by word. But then Tom could not read at Next came Abbie and Frank, followed by Doris and Sara, and the mill hands, Joe, Bill, and Harry. "Little Gladys," who brought up the rear, looked wild-eyed and even whiter than usual behind her anemic freckles. She was tightly clutching a paw of each parent. Little Gladys' parents both worked in the mill, while she, before and after school hours, set and waited on the table and helped her Grandma, Mrs. Crenshaw, with the dishes and sweeping. Every day the same movie was repeated, of eightyear-old Gladys sneaking away to play and her grandma hot on her trail, yelling "Glad-ys," until finally the child was rounded up for work again, until she could sneak away! Little Gladys had one overpowering ambition, to learn to play the py-ano. But her Ma and Pa always told her there was no money and no time, and besides, there was nobody on the hill who could teach her right. They all played by ear. When Little Gladys found I played by note, she thought God Himself had sent me to her, and I think her Grandma and parents thought so.

too! Anyway, we had one or two short lessons a day. Now it was into the parlor and not into the yard that Mrs. Crenshaw called "Gladys," but more softly and less frequently.

"What are you going to do when you grow up, Little Gladys?" I asked her.

"You mean whin I'm fourteen.? I wana be a music teacher, but Ma says I can'tn' th' mills th' bes' place fer me. Pa, he says he want to keep me in school as long as he kin. He coulden go enuf hisself. But I guess I'll be a mill hand. Where'd you say C sharp was?"

Annie, Maggie's step-daughter, was a pretty Celtic type and full-blown at twenty. She and Frank had been married five years and had had two children, Jack, now four years old, and a little 'un that died. Soon there was to be another, but Annie had not stopped work at the mill. Frank was an energetic lad of twentyfour and in many ways the most intelligent person I met on the hill. He had come back south during the last war, and his falling for Annie tied him to the mills for life. Overseas he had been gassed and his lungs were going bad on him. He even had hemorrhages, but the government had refused him compen-

"Next time there's a war," he told me, "somebody else can do the fighting. I fell for the Democracy stuff 'n volunteered. But it wuz a rich man's war 'n a poor man's fight." This found a popular phrase on the hill. "It wuz Wall street 'n th' bankers that made that war, 'n us poor folks what went to th' front."

Frankie had been a union man up north, and he told us that it was "as different as daylight and night in a union mill and this one here. But Annie won't leave, and there'll never be a union here, th' people won't stick together
