25,000 WORKERS AT NEW YORK SOVIET DEFENSE MEET

The Springfield 'Convention' PLEDGE FIGHT ON Proved Our Estimate Correct

The seating of Frank Farrington, the $25,000 stoolpigeon of the Peabody Coal Company, by the Springfield "convention" Thursday, and the vote of 225 to 145 on this question stripped this assemblage of what little working class camouflage it had.

Seldom has a Communist analysis of a situation and the role to be played by all factors and forces involved been so completely vindicated in so short a time as by the actions of that stoolpigeon gathering euphemistically termed "the Springfield convention of the United Mine Workers of America" by its supporters.

Our Party and the Trade Union Unity League told workers in general and miners in particular that this "convention" was organized, bought and paid for by coal operators. The convention itself furnished the complete proof of this.

The miners of Illinois boycotted this social-fascist meeting. From the great coal producing state of Pennsylvania there were exactly two "delegates"-Brophy and Hapgood-representing no one but them-

The miners answered the conspiracy of stoolpigeons, gunmen, coal operators and Musteites by staying away as they were advised to do by the National Miners' Union and the Trade Union Unity League.

The carefully planned and widely advertised "insurgent convention" has been proved to be exactly what we said it would be. It was organized to fool miners into once more placing themselves in the hands of their class enemies and their agents of varying hues.

The role of the Musteites-Howat, Brophy, Hapgood, etc.-the "left wing" of social-fascism has been made clear to thousands of workers who hitherto have been confused as to their place in the rapidly shifting battlefront of the class struggle.

Workers have seen them helping to organize a convention of stoolpigeons, of adopting publicly the same program as Lewis and his fellow social-fascists-"worker-management cooperation"-which is the program for surrender by workers to wage cuts, speed-up and permanent mass unemployment.

Thousands of miners in every coal field know now that John Brophy demanded of the handful of honest workers who were in the Springfield meet that they prevent "this convention being stamped as a Brophy, Howat, Hapgood, Germer, Watt are too "intelligent" to associate with the "Reds"—Communists.

But they can sit in the same convention with the foul Farrington and denounce the "reds"-Communists, who together with thousands of militant miners have challenged and are challenging the coal barons, the capitalists in other industries, and their brutal government, on a

This is their role-to distract attention from the betrayals of other agents of the bosses by joining the capitalist class chorus of blackguarding the Communist Party and thereby justifying all atrocities perpetrated upon Communists and workers who fight for the Commu-

"Fight the Communists-cooperation with the capitalists"-that is the Muste program.

It is the same in the textile industry. A Federated Press dispatch of March 11 quotes Vice-President Gorman of the United Textile Workers—dominated by Muste—as stating that he had "sharply criticised the management of the Riverside and Dan River mill and had offered U.T.W. cooperation in stabilizing labor costs and removing inefficiency in accordance with the labor-management cooperation plan worked out on the Baltimore and Ohio R. R."

livering more smashing blows to the wage cutting, speed-up and starvation drive of the coal operators in Illinois. The exposure of the selfappointed saviors of the miners in cooperation with the coal barons who gathered in Springfield has shown still more clearly that the program of the N.M.U. alone gives the basis for successful struggle.

The N.M.U. must now proceed with all possible speed to the formation of Rank and File Committees of Action-to unite the unorganized and unemployed miners, the rank and file members of the UMWA and the NMU-in one solid front against the coal barons and their

The developments of the class struggle in the coal fields have shown the correctness of the line of our Party. Now we must see that our forces are organized to take a leading part in the new mass struggles that are arising.

Call for Smashing of Capitalist War Threat as long as we receive others:

Over 25,000 workers met Sunday at the Bronx Coliseum, 177th St. and Bronx River at the call of the Friends of the Soviet Union to demand a stop to the orgy of lies from the imperialist-religious dopsters, backing the war plans against the Union of Socialist Soviet Republics.

Tremendous cheering lasting over seven minutes greeted the presentation of William Z. Foster and Robert Minor, members of the committee representing 110,000 workers at the New York March 6 mass unemployment demonstration.

The entrance to the coliseum was like an armed camp. Whalen's cossacks massed on the outside, and the plainclothes clubbers gathered the inside. There were 50 mounted gunmen around the building; 200 blackjack swingers on the inside, and about 200 uniformed sluggers scattered here and there. Must Have $1,000 in Sleek, oily Whalen was there in person, well surrounded by his personal guards.

PATERSON, N. J., March 16.— The workers of the Liberty Silk Co., without any hesitation, have strucagainst the bosses' scheme of lengthening their hours from nine to ten the Guild Theatre per day and from four to nine hours n Saturday.

After meeting with the organizer of the National Textile Workers' Union, a strike committee of four was elected and demands are being presented to the bosses for a two cent increase per yard, for an eight hour day, and recognition of the shop committee.

The whole shop, with the exception of two or three relatives of the boss, are on strike and have joined the union

The spirit of the workers is good and they are ready to fight militantly until victory is achieved. The silk workers of Paterson are more and more beginning to realize that the N. T. W. U. is the only organization of the textile workers that is ready to lead them in their

THE PEABODY COAL CO. HIRES MORE HELP

By BILL DUNNE.

THE Springfield "convention" under the nominal leadership of Howat, Brophy, Hapgood, Germer, etc., but under the ACTUAL leadership of the Peabody Coal Company, was another step taken by the coal operators and their agents among the miners in the drive against the economic and social status of miners and

The personnel of the leadership consisted of the Fishwick-Farrington forces and the Muste elements of the American Federation of Labor. There is no contradiction between this statement and the fact that Howat replaced Fishwick as chairman of the convention and that Farrington was not seated. On the contrary, the apparent differences among the leadership and the pushing forward of the "left" elements was the seal of this alliance and was placed upon it by the Peabody Coal Company.

Fishwick and Farrington Too Well Known.

It is no longer possible to fool miners with Fishwick and Farrington-the latter having had his $25,000 connection with the Peabody Coal Company publicly exposed and the former having munctioned openly as their tool inside the United Mine Workers in Illinois. Both of them were active together with deputy sheriffs, troops, gunmen and the courts in breaking the strike of more than 10,000 miners last December and jailing leaders and active members of the National Miners' Union.

The main reason for the calling and holding of the convention was to create the impression among miners who in every fieeld are showing by actual deeds their will to fight for the program of the NMU and to resist in the most determined manner the increasing attack of the coal barons and their government, that Fishwick and Farrington no longed wielded any influence in union circles; to create the impression that a new leadership had arisen which had dealt properly with these scoundrels.

Dressed Up By the Coal Barons.

The coal operators simply dressed Howat, Brophy, Hapgood and Company in the togs of saviors and allowed them to strut the convention platform as spokesmen of the rank and

The convention marked the advent of the Muste crew-the "left wing" of social-fascism -into the coal fields in organized form. Their selection by the Peabody Coal Company and its associates for the role of leadership as against their former minority status is conclusive evidence of the rapid development of decisive struggles in the mine fields and of the growing influence of the National Miners Union.

Adopt Lewis Constitution.

Still more significant is a section of Article XIV adopted by the "rank and file convention." This section, lifted bodily from the old United Mine Workers constitution, excludes members of the Communist Party from membership in the Peabody-Howat Brophy "union," The deliberate insult to all militant workers in this section, made by mentioning the I. W. W., the One Big Union, and the Working Class Union in the same paragraph with the National Chamber of Commerce and the Ku Klux Klan, originated under the Lewis-Fishwick-Farrington regime, is maintained in the Springfield

The inclusion of the phrase in this section for any dual organization not affiliated with the American Federation of Labor" is clear proof that the leaders of the Springfield convention contemplate no break with the chief instrument of social-fascism in the United

As in the old constitution Section 7 provides an initiation fee of $10-always too high but criminal now when more than fifty percent of all miners are unemployed and there is hardly a miner that can get work for more than three days per week.

A hypocrital gesture was made on the question of officers, wages, quite obviously in an attempt to capitalize the devastating criticism made by Communists of the huge salaries of A. F. of L. officials generally and United Mine Workers officials particularly. The Springfield constitution fixes the wage of the president at $6000 per year, that of the secretarytreasurer at a similar figure while the poor vice-president is to receive a mere pittance of $5000. In addition these officials are to receive all expense when away from their place of residence.

This last phrase is designed to enable the officials to have their "residence" at some other place than the official headquarters and thereby continue to legalize the practice of drawing expenses for all the time they are at head-

Some Gang!

Among others, the convention call was signed by Howat, John H. Walker, Oral Daugh erty, John Brophy, Adolph Germer, Harry Fishwick, Walter Nesbit, Joseph Loda and Gus Fritz. This choice list includes everything from "left wing" social-fascists to a gunman of the Peabody Coal Company. Specifically:

Howat and Brophy deserted the rank and file of the miners at the height of the struggle in 1927-28 against the operators and the Lewis machine, led at that time by the "Save The Union Committee," when 100,000 Ohio and Pennsylvania miners were in heroic struggle for months against the offensive of the steel trust controlled coal companies. Howat crawled back to the Lewis machine.

John H. Walker, president of the Illinois state federation of labor, is one of the worst snemies of the working class. He was proved to have received a large sum from the Insul public utility interests in the scandal attending the election of their senatorial candidate Frank J. Smith. Walker is one of the official "redbaiters" of the A. F. of L. and has actively supported John L. Lewis for the last seven years.

Oral Dougherty, former sub-district preslent of subdistrict 4, Ohio, during the height of the Ohio strike in 1928, tried to break the strike by attempting to have the men accept a $6.00 wage scale from the coal operators.

Fishwick and Nesbit, president and secretarytreasurer, respectively, of the Illinois district of the U.M.W.A., are associates of Frank Farrington and like him agents of the Peabody Coal Company. Gus Fritz is a slimy faker who can be bought for the price of a pint of moonshine with a part payment down. Joseph Loda is a Peabody Coal Company

Adolph Germer is a pre-war secretary of the Illinois district, a member of the socialist party whose main working class activity for years has been selling correspondence law courses in La Salle College. He is the individual who called the police to kick out the left wing at the S. P. convention in Chicago, 1919.

The convention call signed by this crew does not contain one single word about the terrible conditions of the miners and their families. This seems unbelievable but it is true. One would think that a few words of this basic subject would have crept in by accident. But it is not accidental that nothing of the sort is

Who Wrote the Call?

The explanation is that this convention call was written under instructions of coal operators. It contains much criticism of Lewis and his administration but even this is not nearly as sharp as has been made in the past. The only subject dealt with is the condition of the union as a result of Lewis misleadership. Not one word is said that would direct the attention of miners to the vicious attacks of the coal barons and their government. There is not a word about unemployment. There is not a word about preparation for strikes.

On the contrary, it contains the following

"Every part of District No. 12 (Illinois) was functioning smoothly in spite of the most difficult circumstances. Its legal department collected over four million dollars in compensation annualy for deaths and injuries. The district treasurer over $350,000 per year in death benefits. Work in the district was increasing. The contract, while not all it should be, gave the highest wage and the best working conditions in the central competitive field.

This picture of the Peabody paradise is a daub of outright lies designed to convince miners, half of whom are starving, that there is no need for struggle because in some other districts all miners and their families are stary-

Statements made by Brophy during his speech in Springfield show conclusively the actual character of the leadership in spite of its loud criticism of Lewis. For instance:

"My policy is to be conservative and make a wage scale based on freight rates, etc. . . . If you set up an organization fair and square. and conservative we will go down the line with you men. We are conservative. If it is spread that this is a red convention, and I am asking you not to put this stamp on this organization that it is a bunch of reds we will not be able to make contracts with our operators. We must pick out men nationally known who are conservative to lead this union." (Emphasis mine.)

The most powerful microscope would fail to disclose the slightest difference between the policy outlined by Brophy and the policy of Lewis. It is a policy of, by and for coal opera-

Hapgood's contribution to the discussion was "I don't believe in wage reductions but failure to keep up organization makes it necessary to

Make Up of Convention.

The composition of the convention was interesting-to say the least. The official figures credit Illinois with 283 delegates, Kansas 37, Iowa 13, Indiana 5, Oklahoma 14, Ohio 26, Pennsylvania 2, Wyoming 3-a total of 381. (The two from Pennsylvania were Brophy and Hapgood.) Doubtless there was a considerable number of militant rank and file miners among the delegates who still hoped against hope for unity and fighting leadership as a result of the convention.

But most of the delegates were handpicked by the Fishwick machine and evidence of the use of this time and tried method of building up conventions came out during the proceedings-due to the fact that the continued criticism of Lewis as the base of their fakery compelled the new Peabody Coal Company leadership to give some opportunity to the rank and file to voice their suspicions. One delegate from Harrisburg, for instance, charged Fishwick with packing the convention. Another delegate supported him and adduced proof:

'Take Local 758 . . . The names of delegates for this union were read when the union has not been in existence for years. You said this was a rank and file convention. Let's elect our own credentials committee and investigate these unions."

Howat was elected chairman of the convention. Walter Nesbit, for more than fifteen years secretary of the Illinois district of the U.M.W.A., serving in all administrations including the Farrington-Peabody-Fishwick regime, was elected secretary of the convention.

The Peabody Link.

The organic link between the convention and the Peabody Coal Company thus was not weakened by the failure of Fishwick to be elected

What did the convention do? It provided for a delegation to the next convention of the A. F. of L.

It continued negotiations with Lewis. It appealed to the United States Senate to investigate the coal mining industry and the U.M.W.A. The wire was addressed to Senator Wheeler of Montana. Not to be outdone, the Lewis convention praised Senators Norris of Nebraska and Walsh of Montana for "sponsoring anti-injunction legislation"-none of which has been made into law, however, and since strikes are smashed by fascist methods and not by injunctions. The exposure of the purposes of the Springfield convention by the Communist Party, the Trade Union Unity League and the National Miners Union spoiled the plans of Peabody's Musteite henchmen, exposed them before thousands of miners and prevented them from effectively carrying out their program of be-

Unemplopment in the U.S.S.R. and in Capitalist Countries

(By the International Committee of Revolutionary Metal Workers.)

THE "socialist" and capitalist press talk a lot about the "dreadful" unemployment in the Soviet Union. The press in the capitalist countries even strives to show that the unemployment in the Soviet Union is worse than in the capitalist countries.

The facts, however, show that the opposite is true. While in the capitalist countries, in connection with the present industrial crisis and rationalization, unemployment is steadily growing and affecting the broadest sections of the working class, in the Soviet Union unemployment during the past year diminished.

(Also it must be remembered that the unemployed in the Soviet Union receive substantial relief, both from the government and from their trade unions, in which nearly every worker is organized. For example, the unemployed pay no rent while out of work, they receive medical attention free just as when employed and many other benefits besides cash compensation, all of which gives them security and relief from the hell of anxiety such as an unemployed worker has in the United States .- Editor.)

This diminishing number of the unemployed in the Soviet Union with the growth of socialized industry applies also to the metal workers. While on July 1, 1929, the unemployment registers of the Metal Workers' Union in the Soviet Union contained 94,300 names, on September 1, the number of unemployed metal workers was 90,000, and on October 1, 89,700.

However, the fundamental difference between unemployment in the U.S.S.R. and in the capitalist countries is not sufficiently indicated by these figures. It is necessary to make a deeper examination of the causes and character of unemployment in the U.S.S.R. and in the capitalist countries to realize the Union Unity League been carried out some six months ago the Illinois strike would have had a still greater mass character, the N. M. U. would have been far stronger and the systematic exposure, especially of Howat and Watt, would have swept away all illusions among the

The failure to organize and bring forward Rank and File Committees of Action as the principal instruments of struggle, the failure even to elect rank and file strike committees, the failure to understand the revolutionary significance of the united front of rank and file workers, unorganized workers, unemployed workers, rank and file members of the U. M. W. A. with the N. M. U .- on the part of many comrades seriously handicapped our work.

These mistakes have been corrected and the miners are responding as their response to the appeal to stay away from the Peabody convention showed.

Our Tasks.

It is necessary now to center the fire of the N. M. U. and the T. U. U. L. on the Howat-Brophy-Hapgood attempt to create a "left" front for the Fishwick and Farringtons-and the A. F. of L. There must be no let-up in this drive until they are defeated completely. This is now done as a central part of the organization of N. M. U. district conferences and in the preparation for mass convention of the union set for Pittsburgh, June 1.

The whole perspective is for widening and sharpening struggles in the mine fields. The strategy of the "left wing" social fascists in their Springfield convention was to halt these entire significance of the difference between unemployment in the first socialist country and in the countries of capitalism.

In this they were defeated by our Party and its mass support among the miners.

In the capitalist countries unemployment has a so-called "structural" character. It is due to the very existence of the capitalist system of production, for the existence of a constant reserve army of unemployed represents an inalienable feature of capitalism. This army has been growing particularly of late years despite the simultaneous increase of capitalist production, since this development of production has been achieved on the basis of extensive concentration and vigorous rationalization as a result of which large masses of workers have been thrown out into the

In the capitalist countries the overwhelming mass of the unemployed consists of 100 per cent proletarians. A considerable section of them is composed of skilled and highly skilled workers who are being replaced as a result of the development of machine production by the cheaper labor power of the unskilled workers, women and children.

In the Soviet Union the existence of unemployment is due primarily to agrarian overpopulation. Parallel with the development of industry we see a constant growth of the number of workers employed in production. rationalization taking place in the U.S.S.R. differs from capitalist rationalization precisely in that, while introducing technical improvements, a more efficient organization of labor, it does not affect the workers and does not lead to a reduction of employment in industry as a whole. Thus, the socialist rationalization carried on in the U.S.S.R. does not constitute a factor making for an increase of unemployment.

Among the unemployed in the U.S.S.R. there are no highly skilled and practically no skilled workers. On the contrary, the Soviet industries are suffering from a considerable shortage of skilled workers. The overwhelming majority of the unemployed in the Soviet Union consists of recent arrivals from the village, unskilled workers, boys and girls offering their labor for the first time, seasonal workers, etc.

Further, while in the capitalist countries one frequently meets with unemployed workers who have been without work for one, two and even three years, the unemployment period of industrial workers in the U.S.S.R. is far shorter and usually does not exceed six months.

As has been already stated above, during the last year unemployment in the U.S.S.R. has been definitely on the decline. This has been due both to the adoption of the seven-hour day and primarily of the continuous working week in consequence of which employment in factories introducing this system has increased by about 20 per cent.

The consequences of the agrarian overpopulation in the U.S.S.R. are now being largely eliminated by the policy of agricultural collectivization and the creation of giant state farms. The collectivization of agriculture undoubtedly leads to a growth of production while the state farms also employ tens and hundreds of thousands of new workers.

We thus see that the socialist system of economy in the Soviet Union constitutes an effective factor in overcoming unemployment. This also shows to us the entire difference between unemployment in the U.S.S.R. and unemployment in the capitalist countries.

By following the example of the Soviet proletariat which overthrew its bourgeoisie and is now building its own economic system, the workers of the entire world will deal a powerful blow also at unemployment which so gravely affects the conditions of the workers in all the capitalist countries.

"FROM PRINCE TO BOLSHEVIK"

By I. AMDUR (Moscow).

THE youth of bourgeois countries, and particularly working class youth receive a considerable portion of their "worldly" education in the form of a senseless (to the reader), but extremely harmful (also to the reader) "literature" bearing on all manner of daring, of exciting and thrilling escapades, hairraising duels with death, etc., etc.

Tales of adventure portraying the meteoric rise of the inevitable poor boy to "Ship's Captain," "Banker," "President," or some such other worldly position implying wealth, honor and glory, serve as a useful appetiser to the lad's love of adventure, judiciously tempered, however, with the usual fatherly counsel of "honesty, the best policy," of loyalty to the boss and such-like stultifying and subtle class propaganda that typifies this category of lit-

The fact that in real life the poor boy remains, a poor boy is, naturally, nowhere stressed, but this little fact hardly stays the pen of the highly imaginative author who is paid by the amount of fantasy he succeeds in getting into each line. This, solely, being all that is required by the mind-moulders of the ruling class (read capitalists) for shaping the ideology of the "young idea" (working class

The following is a tale slightly differing in context to those of capitalist manufacture in that, firstly, it represents the evolution of the son of a mid-Asian Emir to membership in the Russian Young Communist League-"Blue blooded scion to Red Revolutionary" (I present this title as a gift to the aforesaid imaginative authors), and secondly, it happens to be a true story. And thus, once upon a

The University of Uzbekistan (in Central Asia) has recently disclosed the fact that it includes among its student body the son of an ex-Emir. Prince Shakmurad Alim, as he was known before the Revolution, is the second son of Alim Khan, former Emir of Old Bokhara, one of the richest and most powerful principalities in Middle Asia. Shakmurad was ten years old when the last stronghold of the Emir fell into the hands of the Red Army (1920). The Emir fled to Afghanistan not forgetting to take along a goodly portion of the family jewels which had been accumulated for generations, and worth, from all accounts, a fabulous sum.

The family of 3 wives, three boys and four girls, was left behind to fend for itself. However, they were treated with every kindness by the new rulers, a fact which greatly impressed young Shakmurad who had been thoroughly scared by court stories of Bolshevik "horrors." Later, the family was given the choice between remaining in Bokhara or joining the Emir. The 3 wives, a boy and two of the girls availed themselves of this offer and left for Afghanistan. The two elder girls had since married and elected to remain in Soviet Bokhara. Shakmurad and his brother asked to be permitted to enter the Moscow University. Shakmurad had his wish. He attended various technical schools in Moscow and when the first University in Uzbekistan was opened he returned to enter it as a student.

It must have been somewhat strange to Shakmurad when he entered its portals as it is housed in a former palace of the Emir and where he himself had lived for some years as a child. Now, its gorgeous halls and corridors echo to the gay laughter of some 300 of the finest Uzbekistan youth, boys and girls from worker and peasant families. Shakmurad is a keen worker and participates in all campaigns and social activities carried on by the students. Especially is he impressed and most enthusiastic at the unbelievable cultural and educational work trojanly carried on despite all manner of obstacles-religious traditions, superstitions, etc. He has joined the Komsomols in order, as he says, "to place myself directly under the control and guidance, and to be at the service of that organization which is leading the youth to a better, a finer future."

In reply to questions concerning the rumor that his father is actively plotting to return, Shakmurad stated it as his sincere belief that the old order is dead and never again can be restored. He quoted an open letter sent by his brother and himself and published in the central press in which he propounds his political views as being pro-Bolshevik. In this letter Shakmurad and his brother denounce the Emir and disown him, adding that they could meet hereafter only as advocates of opposed social systems and, consequently, as enemies.

The October Revolution, asserts Shakmurad, is the greatest, most progressive event in history, and he sees the emancipation of the toiling masses possible only through similar upheavals throughout the world.

He speaks with feeling on the terrible conditions of women during his father's reignilliterate, ignorant, superstitious to an incredible degree, faces always veiled, and married off while yet mere children. While today, the "chadra" has been discarded and girls attend the new schools, erected during the last few years, showing an aptitude and zest for learning which would have startled the old feudal aristocracy of the Emir's court brought up to look upon women as two-legged cattle.

Shakmurad's ambition is to become a teacher and go out among the youth of the country to instill in them the knowledge he has gained. Especially is he interested in technics and is already instructing classes.

One-Eighth of Youngstown Demonstrated on March 6

By BERTHA K. MARSHALL

WE suppose that from the fact that at our March 6 demonstration in Youngstown, we had a "mere" 20,000 workers, Lovestone will claim that he was "corect," that our Communist Party is "dwindling before our eyes" and that activities hardly create a ripple in this "unshakable" capitalist structure known as the United States of America.

We had here in Youngstown a "mere" 20,000 workers, employed and unemployed. This is about one-eighth of the total population of the city. For the first time in the city's history have such large masses turned out to hear our message and to demonstrate by their eager applause, that they had found in the Communist Party their true leadership.

Our demonstration on the Public Square was scheduled for 4:30 P. M. However, very early in the afternoon, thousands of workers had already gathered. By the time we got there to open the meeting, many thousands more were there to greet us and as the demonstration progressed, workers kept swelling the crowd from every direction until there was not an inch of space empty on the whole square.

Unfortunately, we had only one speakers' stand. However, whether they heard us or not, the workers stood solidly to the last to demonstrate their solidarity with the revolutionary proletariat of the world.

Youngstown has long been considered the second largest steel center in the United States. with many independent companies within the city and in the surrounding towns. Within this center the two main groups were the Youngstown Sheet and Tube, the largest of the group, the Republic Iron & Steel holding second place. Recently the Republic Iron & Steel have consolidated with a great many small companies all over the country and have raised themselves to third place in the steel industry.

Now the Youngstown Sheet & Tube is merging with the Bethlehem Steel. This will make this newly formed organization a very close competitor of the United States Steel Corpor-

More Mergers.

In the Youngstown plant as in others there will be a tearing out of old machinery and new electrically powered and controlled machinery will be installed. This, of course, will result in additional thousands of permanently unem-

The Amalgamated Association of Iron & Steel & Tin Workers, an A. F. of L. union, have for many years maintained a closed shop among the select few of the workers in one section of the industry, namely heaters and rollers. While all workers in the industry were theoretically included, under the reactionary leadership of Mike Tigue and others of his ilk who helped to break the steel strike of 1919. they have consistently refused to organize anyone but the privileged few.

Now these misleaders are becoming alarmed due to these mergers and the consequent radicalization of the workers, which has shown itself in the mass movements toward the Metal Workers League of the Trade Union Unity League, and the Communist Party.

Youngstown is also not without its religious dopsters. One of these attempted to hold a meeting on the Square before we got there, and until we arrived spouted forth his doc-trine of "Pie in the Sky." However, when we arrived with our banners the workers joined us en masse. This was a demonstration within a demonstration which should not be passed un-

Naturally, we did not hesitate to point out what role religion plays in keeping the working class down, nor to show what role the churches were playing in the present international intrigue against the only Workers' state, the Union of Socialist Soviet Republics! Nor did we forget to point out the fact that these churches, richly endowed by our multi-millionairs were working in the interests of these capitalists; that it was the role of the churches to distract the thoughts of the workers from the vital problems facing them and their fami-

Great interest and enthusiasm was shown when the speakers pointed out the marvelous achievements of the Russian workers. One of our speakers very ably pointed out that we were brot up with the fear of various "boogie boos." First it is the "boogie man," then god, then the policeman, then the boss and so ad infinitum, until we pass the stage when we can distinguish the boogie boo from the fact.

lies by promising them a better life in heaven.

Under certain conditions these may be realities. Policemen's clubs, gangsters' black jacks and slodiers' bayonets are painful realities when the workers are disorganized. However, all of these are only boogie boos when the working class is united under revolutionary leadership and acts in a body. Workers Leaning Their Power.

One of the boogie boos that the workers were discarding was the fact that a handful of policemen could break up a demonstration of thousands of workers. Another was the idea that they would get "pie in the sky" if they starved on earth. They are fast coming to the point when they will realize that the boogie boo that a handful of plutocrats are the destined keepers of this world's wealth is the biggest

Our Party members led a march to the hall and were followed by literally thousands of workers. All who could possibly get in crowded into the hall, leaving a large number on the sidewalk outside. These waited for sometime but were finally dispersed by the police. The workers who came into the hall stayed on for many hours listening to the various speeches and pledging themselves to bend every effort in aiding us to carry on the work. Many joined the Party and the Young Workers League. The speakers were Joseph Greene, John Marshall, Bertha Marshall, Marie Robins (a colored woman worker), Lloyd Dight (a young colored boy, member of the Young Workers League), and Joseph Gottlieb. Mike Mauvrikus, a pioneer made a short talk and gave the Pioneer pledge which was received with great applause.

The Party in Youngstown, as elsewhere, is growing by leaps and bounds. On two or three different occasions recently we have recruited as many as 77 members in one night. This. I suppose, Lovestone will say is a form of dwindling. This, after there seemed to be fair promise of no Party in Youngstown due to the disruptive tactics of this "master theoretician" and soothsayer. In the heart of every true Communist fighter there is a song of joy that at last we are thru with the renegades and disruptionists and are solidly united in the struggle of the working class of the United States of America
