"A Terrifying Problem"

YESTERDAY we commented editorially on the bosses' practice of throwing men into the streets as soon as they reach the age of 40. We quoted Edward C. Rybicki to the effect that there were more than 25 per cent of those who had registered at the municipal free employment bureau in New York City over that age. For them, Mr. Rybicki said, "there was little or no demand." He declared that their's was "a terrifying, almost hopeless, problem."
"Most middle-aged applicants," Rybicki declared, "are skilled workers who have been superseded both by youth and machinery.' "Youth" and "machinery," accompanied by the most killing speed-up, mass lay-offs and wage-cuts-these represent the efforts of the bosses to maintain their own high profit rates while attempting to solve the present crisis at the expense of the workers.

And the proposed conference, reported yesterday, to see what could be done for these older victims of the capitalists' profit hunger, has apparently failed to materialize. Frank J. Taylor, the Tammanyappointed Commissioner of Public Welfare, who supposedly was sponsoring the conference, is quoted by the press as saying that:

"Finding employment for idle of all ages keeps the Department of Public Welfare too busy to make a special effort in behalf of the men over 40."

From this one might gather that while they could do nothing for those over 40, for whom life is a "terrifying and almost hopeless problem," at least they were finding jobs for the others. Unfortunately, this also is not the case. Over 30,000 have so far registered at the municipal bureau as totally unemployed. Four or five thousand are lined up there daily trying to register. Yet to date only 3,000 have been placed in jobs, even if we accept their official claims.

No doubt a check would also show that these do not represent 3,000 new jobs; probably in most cases these jobs represent the laying off of men and their replacement by men from the city employment bureau at lower wages, or by younger men who can work faster.

These facts show the impotency of Tammany's much-heralded "relief" measures. The problem of unemployment, which is now, without doubt, "terrifying" for all the jobless, the young as well as the old, and all their dependents, can be, and must be made equally "terrifying" for these corrupt, graft-seeking, Tammany politicians.

The unemployed workers, by fighting together with the workers still in the shops who are also being aroused for struggle by wagecuts and the speed-up, can force the granting of immediate relief and the adoption of the Workers' Unemployment Insurance Bill as proposed by the Communist Party. A little "terrifying" mass struggle by the workers alone will force the bosses into line.

A Conference of Fascists

TLANTIC CITY, quite an appropriate place for a meeting of fas-A cists, is this week entertaining the executive council of the American Federation of Labor. The purpose of the meeting, according to press reports, is to prepare the report for the A. F. of L. convention, which will convene in Boston on October 6th.

In the first session Green is reported to have scored a victory in one of the petty internal squabbles which are constantly going on over the relative slice of each in the division of the spoils, the method to be used in serving the bosses and personal struggles for positions. The apparently unanimous selection of G. M. Bugniazet of the electrical workers as eighth vice-president, a compromise candidate, has supposedly smoothed over the differences in preparation for the Boston onvention. These differences are not worth a moment's speculation, however, as they do not represent any difference whatsoever in the policy of the Federation. All of them-Tobin, Huddel, the original contenders, as well as Bugniazet-are equally reactionary. All of them have consistently followed a strikebreaking, class-collaboration

The importance of the present Atlantic City sessions lies outside and above these petty squabbles. The announced agenda includes "the further restriction of immigration, unemployment, Soviet Russia, old age pensions and injunctions." All of these questions are of vital interest to the working class.

But what action can the workers expect on these questions at antic City and later at Boston? harmonizes in all essential features with the program of the bosses as represented by the Hoover administration can be expected!

On the Soviet Union, in addition to a continuance of their opposition to recognition, we can expect more propaganda-ideological preparations for war-about "dumping," "forced labor," etc.

They will re-state their proposals for restriction of immigration, again particularly emphasized the restriction of immigration from Latin America and the Philippines. On injunctions they will repeat their sterile pleas about their abolition in labor disputes without taking one concrete step to organize the workers to fight and resist them.

On unemployment insurance, which today is the most burning problem confronting the workers, effecting at least 8,000,000, many of whom are too old to ever work again, they will do nothing but talk. But even their talk will be harmful to the workers. They will minimize the seriousness of the problem by accepting the lying figures of Hoover's census bureau on the extent of unemployment. They will oppose unemployment insurance under the guise of opposing "doles." They will endorse proposals such as the New York state old age pension law and other fake schemes to confuse and divide the workers. At Atlantic City, Green, Well and company will formulate the labor phase of the bosses' war plans. They will include the preparations for war against the militant workers at home, against the Soviet Union, against the peoples of Latin America, the Philippines and China, and against Wall Street's imperialist rivals. At Atlantic City the fascist strikebreakers will formulate the program which Hoover will ratify when he addresses the Boston A. F. of L. convention on October 6th.

On the basis of this program all militant workers must energetically develop a struggle to expose these fakers and to win the workers away from their influence and for a policy of revolutionary struggle. Wherever possible revolutionry groups in A. F. of L. unions of city central bodies should elect delegates to the Boston convention for the purpose of fighting the fakers' program and exposing their alliance with the bosses on the convention floor.

A Worse Hurricane Ahead

ATURAL calamities, such as laid waste much of Santo Domingo on Thursday, arouse sympathetic response everywhere. The toll of more than 800 dead and as many more injured, according to press reports, is a terrific blow at any nation, not to speak of the general destruction which took place.

The greatest suffering, however, is still to come. The crops of the country have been almost completely destroyed. And this comes after the country has already been effected for a long period by the economic crisis. Even before this national calamity a large portion of the workers were totally unemployed and in dire need. The effect of the hurricane will be to greatly increase the suffering of the masses.

The Dominican Republic, incidentally is completely under the domination, politically and economically, of United States imperialism. The finances of the country are supervised by Wall Street bankers. The sugar plantations and refineries are owned by American capitalists. The same is true of the cocoa and coffee plantations. The native population are practically the slaves of foreign exploiters.

The relief proposals of the Red Cross and Hoover's administration are not designed to help the masses. These are only temporary pallitives. The real burden of the hurricane will be placed upon the plantation laborers, just as were the real burdens of the economic crisis. They will be driven at a harder pace for longer hours and less wages. While the masses suffer, Wall Street will endeavor to extract its pound of flesh.

Workers' organizations must demand that real and continuous relief be extended to the Dominican people, without need for repayment, until their country is rebuilt. Workers must prepare to support the struggles of the workers there which must inevitably result from the efforts of the imperialists to force them to bear this additional burden. | ford Ave. Not Bread Lines But Unemployment Insurance

Workers on the breadline in front of St. Vincent's Hospital, New York. Last winter the bread lines in New York ran into the tens of thousands. During the summer, the bosses cut them out, to hide the extent of unemployment. But the breadlines are coming back, larger than ever. The demand of every worker should be "not breadlines, but unemployment insurance!"

Russia prior to the Revolution.

"Collectivve farming"-the most vital question now facing the Soviet regime-is explained in the new Amkino film masterpiece, "Old and New" which will be presented at the Acme Theatre for a week's run beginning today.

This film was directed by S. M. Eisenstein, who is known here for his great film, "Potemkin," and was designed to teach the Russian masses the underlying principles of collectivism.

The flm is unique in many respects, for instance, the leading roles in this film were played by a tractor, a bull, a cream separator; it is a tremendous dramatization of what is apparently an abstract subject, but due to the skill of Einstein it has become a pulsating, emotional

The film never becomes "high brow" and it is told in the simplest symbols. The director realized that such a struggle-between age-old customs and modern mechanical devices-was dramatic enough without the aid of an artificial story.

Russian peasants have been exthe Cloth Hat, Cap and Millinery tremely enthusiastic concerning this film and its educational results Harlem, at Seventh Avenue and have been far above expectations. 116th Street, beginning today and On the same program the Acme continuing through Tuesday, will will show a German production show the Sovkino production "In by Carl Mayer.

BANKERS CLEAN UP ON VETERANS COMPENSATION Vets Must Join All the

Workers in Fight

Dayton, Ohio.

In 1924 the American Legion got up a compensation for world war veterans to be payable in 1945. This was a scheme to help the moneylending corporations. This compensation runs from $300 to $1585 and each veteran can borrow from $10 to $50 a year. He has to pay six per cent interest annually, and compound interest. Under this plan the interest eats up the principal and the veteran gets only one-half of his compensation and the bankers, the so-called veterans' bureau gets the other half of 5,000,000 veterans' compensations which average about $500 each. This adds to the robbing veterans' bureau about $2,300,000,-

Cut Wages.

Hummel and Downing, manufacturers of box board, folding cartons, fibre and corrugated shipping con tainers have cut wages five cents on the hour. They have a two-machine board mill here and one of the worst speed up mills I've seen from the East to the Middle West.

New men, whether experienced or not, are hired on at 45 cents an hour ob and paid 40 cents an hour, and if its 40 cents an hour they pay them 35 cents an hour.

They operate on three eight-hour shifts and the men in the beater room are speeded up so much that they have no decent time to eat.

Prosperity, Hell!

Old hands who are still on the job did not get the cut but oh boy. let them quit and go back later and they will get a cut, just as if they never worked for the company of ever seen the damn plant.

Every man that hired out at the mill is given a paper which says, "Greetings, we want your stay with us to be long and prosperous.' Jamestown, N. D.

To the Daily Worker:-As the crisis in agriculture worsens the capitalist "saviors" are busy promulgating their pet "remedies."

Here we have, for instance, Legge and Thatcher (the latter of the Farmers' Union), telling the farmers that now, when the price of wheat is so low they should feed it to livestock, thus "increasing th value" of the cattle (to make up for what the farmers lose on wheat, I suppose), and this scheme will also remove 'supplies" of wheat, which will

Speaking of feeding wheat to livestock, imagine this being done when millions of human beings in the United States are starving! Some system!

HOOVER'S "FARM RELIEF." The bankruptcy of these "farm relief plans" are on a par with the move to cut the acreage (reduce production), so as to give the farmers "better" prices. We don't need to cut production as 'ong as millions of workers and poor farmers do not have enough to Thatcher save in the "Herald"

Fight For Social Insurance!

We, workers of the Astrahan Fisheries, No. 108 Government Fish Trust, in sending you this letter wish to inform you- the conditions were like prior to the October revolution.

Being aware of the fact that the press in the capitalist countries is doing its best to vilify the Soviet Union and spread all sorts of lies about the life of the workers, we wish to write you about the real conditions in which we live and work today.

Below we give a comparison of the living conditions of the workers employed at the fisheries prior to the October revolution and at the present time.

AS WE LIVED FORMERLY.

Our conditions were much worse. The working day lasted 12 hours and during the season much longer. We had no privileges whatever. There was no me to whom we could complain about the poor treatment of the osses. In answer to our urgent lemands put up to the bosses, we were unceremoniously thrown out onto the street to the mercy of the winds, and it was absolutely hopeless for us to try and get i any help anywhere. For these same bosses had the power in their hands.

The women were compelled to do work which was above their They were roughly treated. When pregnant, they had no vacations, and there were no vacations for anybody. If a worker took sick he would get nothing at all. No workers' clothes were handed out.

NOW WORKERS RULE. Now our working day amounts we intend to work 7 hrs., overtime is paid for the first two hours at the rate of one-and-a-half times, and more than two hours-double. At the fishery we have different committees: Labor Protection. Industrial Conflict, etc., comprised of workers elected by us. Should a worker take sick, he gets vacation which is paid for by the insurance office. In case of unemployment, he gets relief. After we had worked for 51/2 months, we are entitled to get a two-week paid vacation. We also get a place in the resthouses at the expense of the trade union organization. If a worker they receive 2 months' vacation before and a 2 months' vacation after confinement. Besides, they receive from the insurance bodies compensation for the baby's clothes, diapers, etc., and also some extra money during the 9 months she has to nurse the baby. We get workers' clothes free of charge. At each one of the fisheries special dining-rooms for the workers are established, where the food is very good and fresh. The children are placed in creches and kindergartens, thus, the mother-worker is sure of her baby whom she leaves in the care of a trained nurse. The women workers here have all the rights equal to the men and take part in the government of the country. And example of this can serve the fact that at our fishery the chairman of the Industrial Committee and the Manager's Assistant of the fishery are women. The workers and their families have all the rights to study at the different schools and colleges.

Please excuse the briefness of

With comradely greetings, On behalf of the workers,

Workers Boost Daily As Their Answer to Woll

By H. FRIEDMAN.

Unable to sell all the copies of the Daily Worker I took with me to the factory gate in my section, I decided to forego riding back to the section headquarters (a distance of 10 "L" stations), but instead took a walk and on the way I approached workers in the street calling on them to buy our Daily. And I am glad to state that the physical inconvenience that a long, brisk walk under a 90-degree sun has been eating stuff that sticks to than fully offset by the pleasant and most thrilling experience I got on that hot summer afternoon.

The results of my effort were: I sold 11 copies of the Daily Worker cab or because of the way he takes on the way, obtained two monthly subscriptions and made three contacts of a promising nature. When a group of three Negroes (who, by their attire and carriage could easily pass for politicians of the bootlicking type) were solicited, one of them asked me in a gentle tone:

THE COMMUNISTS, THE CO-OPERATIVES AND HALONEN

Halonen and Ronn Fight Communist Party. The capitalist class in all its organs is constantly fighting and seeking to destroy the Communist Party. It seeks to destroy the Communist press because it sees in this press a mouthpiece and a leader of the working class. Halonen and Ronn are today using the profits of the co-operative to fight the Communist Party and to destroy the Communist paper, Tyomies. The surplus funds, accumulated out of the business of the co-operative, coming from the pockets of workers and poor farmers, are being used by Halonen and Ronn to help the capitalist class and the capitalist government to destroy Tyomies and to fight the Communist Party,

The policy pursued by Halonen and Ronn in the Co-operative Central Exchange is the policy of petty business bureaucrats. The members of the co-operatives are unable under this policy to derive any kind of benefit. The prices they pay for the goods they buy in the co-operative store are hardly, in any case, lower than those charged in private stores, and in many cases are even higher. The co-operators could accept this if the surplus accumulated out of these prices would become for them a weapon in the class struggle. If this surplus would flow back to the working class in the form of support of the class struggle, in the form of strike support, in the form of credits in time of unemployment, etc., the prices would not be in any way prejudicial evidence. But when the surplus accumulated from these prices becomes a weapon in the hands of Halonen and Ronn to help the capitalist class and the capitalist government in its struggle against the Communist Party and the Communist press, then these prices become a definite method of exploiting the workers in the incrests of the capitalists.

Halonen and Ronn Help Manufacturers. Lenin points out that one of the advantages of the consumers' co-operative movement is that through this organization considerable influence can be exerted upon the working conditions in the establishments, which produce for the co-operatives. The Halonen-Ronn leadership of the Co-operative Central Exchange has never heard of this use of the cooperative. Their contracts with food merchants and canneries are only sources of riches for these capitalist concerns. Instead of benefiting the masses of proletarians and poor farmer members of the co-operative, these contracts benefit primarily the jobbers and wholesalers and manufacturers who sell their goods to the Central Exchange.

No Help for Members. A condition exists; in fact, that if within 24 hours all the members' stores of the Central Exchange would close, the only sufferers would be the jobbers and wholesalers and manufacturers from whom the Central Exchange is buying its merchandise. The workers and poor farmers, aside from losing their original share, would merely go to the private store to buy and would find there exactly the same prices and in many instances better ones. They would not feel any difference in the situation. That | will no longer deserve their support.

a condition like this can exist is in itself evidence of the anti-proletarian polces of Halonen and Ronn and their allies, Warbasse and

No Agricultural Producers Co-operatives.

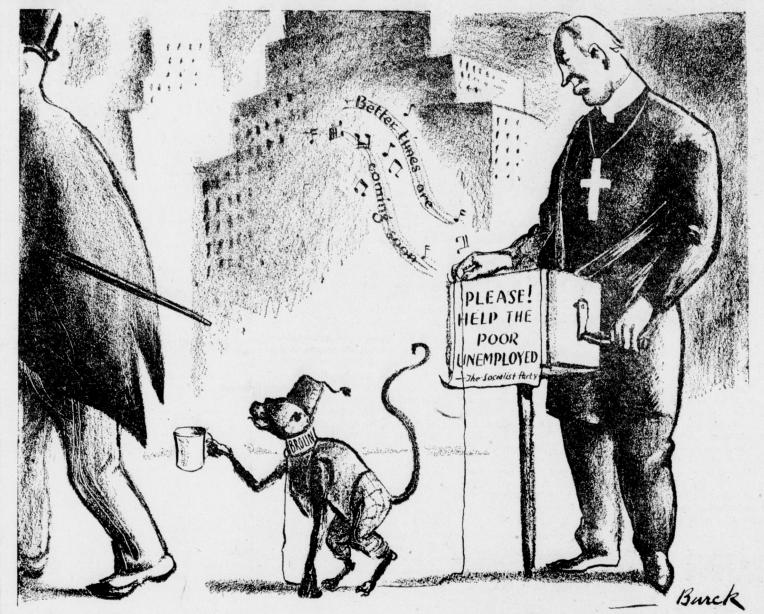

Lenin points out that in connection with consumers' co-operatives, agricultural producers co-operatives could also be made instruments in the class struggle. Have Halonen and Ronn ever heard of that? They evidently have not. They certainly do not believe in this. They support third-rate canneries with their patronage. These canneries buy the harvest of certain staples, such as peas, for instance, from the very farmer members of the co-operatives. They can or pack them, and then sell them to the Co-operative Central Exchange. This organization, in turn, supplies its membership stores with the cans and boxes and the farmer member, who got almost nothing for his peas, gets the privilege accorded to him by the Central Exchange of buying back his own peas at a comparatively exhorbitant price. Such a condition and such a policy would damn any manager and leader of a cooperative composed of workers and poor farm-

A co-operative thus conducted is not an instrument in the class struggle. It is a source of income for some bourgeois jobbers, wholesalers and manufacturers, and it is a nest of bureaucratic functionaries of the co-operative Shall Halonen and Ronn Remain Leaders? Ronn only a few years ago participated in an official reception of the then president of the United States, the strike-breaker, Calvin Coolidge. When the Chamber of Commerce of Superior, many of whose members are greatly benefited by the patronage of the Co-operative Central Exchange, appealed to Mr. Ronn for participation, his bourgeois instinct immediately dictate! his affirmative answer. It is the same instinct-or rather consciousness-which today makes him, in company with Halonen and Allane and Warbasse, use the funds of the Co-operative Central Exchange to fight Tyomies and to fight the Communist Party The same instinct made him and Halonen remove Oscar Corgan, Matti Tenhunen and Jack Vainionpaa from the board of directors of the Co-operative Central Exchange because these co-operators refused to desert the interests of the working class. The same instinct made Eskel Ronn support a movement of the bourgeois Warbasse and the social-fascist Allane, to remove Oscar Corgan from the delegatoin of the North American Co-operative League to the International Co-operative Congress in Vienna, and to fill his place with some tool of Warbasse. The same instinct is making Ronn and Halonen attempt to organize competing co-operative stores, in every town where the member co-operative of the Central Exchange insists, on continued support of the working class.

If Halonen and Ronn are permitted to remain in the leadership of the Co-operative Central Exchange this organization will become an instrument of the capitalists against the workers. The Co-operative will lose all value for the workers and poor farmers and

"Unemployment Insurance to Stop the Monkey Business!

While the fake "socialists" beg at the coat tails of the rich, they put out a fake "unamployment insurance" scheme which gives the workers nothing worth fighting for. Workers fight for the Workers' Unemployment Insurance Bill of the Communist Party, which gives even justed 8 worker at least $25 per week at the expense of the capitalists, not from other workers!

Strike Strategy

By JACK JOHNSTONE. Article Six.

THE class collaboration poliby of the A. F. of L. and kindred organizations finding full support from the socialist party reaches a development in this period of open strike breaking, which has become the international program of the reformist whose policy is "a peaceful solution of all questions arising between the workers and the employers." Green's pledge to President Hoover that there would be no wage increase demands was a pledge to break all strikes, a pledge that the labor bureaucracy would caryy through the Hoover plan of making the workers pay the cost of

This means that all strikes which involve members of these unions are unofficial and will have the active opposition of these fascist leaders. Considering the unorganized state of the workers, and the strike-breaking policy of and socialist sporadic and unofficial strikes become a serious problem, and are occurring frequently, with the revolutionary unions and leagues having either no connections with the strike or stepping in when the strike is lost.

First the necessity is to overcome within our own ranks an enormous approach to work within the A. F. of L. company unions. Constitutionalism on the one hand, and on the other, withdrawing from the company unions are the two extremes of a wrong policy and is a wide range between which many errors have been and are being made. The constitution of the company unions are made to hamstring the workers. To try to develop struggle on the basis only of the constitution is impossible. The development of a united front with members of the company union must be built on the basis of independent struggle against the employers and their agents, the company union officials. Alliance with socalled progressives for a struggle to change the constitution is side-tracking the fight, running it into the ground and playing into the hands of the enemy.

that they will not get a "hearing" unless they "cease agitation"! And what is his own speech but "agitation"? Touched with senility he becomes absurd: "Unless Communists stop their propaganda I will not listen to it?"

Whom is Butler addressing in a plea for 'social mindedness"? Why does he not address his remarks to the 59 rich "individuals" who rule America? Why make a speech to 600 and have it spread over the mass of 122.000.000?

The reason is that he knows that the 59 rich men, the whole class of capitalists, like himself, have no intention whatever of being 'social minded," but he wishes the 122,000,000 to believe it, in hopes that the suffering masses will starve passively "in the interests of society."
"Socialists" Minus Socialism.

Butler hopes to divert, with this chatter about "the social mindedness of the socialists," to focus the attention of the discontented masses on the fake "socialist" party, so that as they turn away from the other capitalist parties, they will fall into the trap of a "socialist" party which does not believe in socialism, which talks about the workers enough to attract them as being what Butler calls 'social minded," but which is merely another capitalist party in disguise. The speech of Butler is important, yes. But not as revealing any intention of the ruling capitalist class to consider the needs, the misery and hellish insecurity of the toiling masses they exploit and oppress. It is important because it marks a realization that the capitalist class cannot rule in the old way any longer, and that hand in hand with the growth of purely fascist forms of class terror which we see around us every day, the capitalist class is pushing forward the mask of social fascism, the "social minded-

Sidney Hillman, president of the company unionized Amalgamated Clothing Workers is an adept at these practices, and has been able many times to demoralize the revolutionary minorities, allowing even members of the T.U.U.L. to hold official positions in the union.

Local 34 of New York City is an outstanding example of this wrong policy, where some of the officers of the union, although members of the T.U.U.L. and Communist Party, are not fought by the Hillman machine, because they adhere strictly to the constitution, as if it was this piece of paper that ruled the union and not the employers and their fascist agents.

These comrades are holding office by sufferance of Hillman who arbitrarily removes candidates from the ballot, expells them from the company union and the shop the moment they bring forward a class struggle program.

Constitutionalism within our own ranks must be rooted out. It expresses an underestimation of the power of the workers to strugand an overestimation of the strength of the fascist company union apparatus, and shows a fear of the workers conducting and leading independent strike struggles which results in sporadic unofficial unprepared strikes, or sensing the discontent of the workers and with the consent of the employers fake strikes are called by the fascist leaders who hold bureaucratic control of the strike, keep the workers from picketing, eventually settling the strike upon a prearranged wage cut.

This dangerous method adopted by employers and their agents, especially in the clothing industry has been quite successful for the employers, but only because our revolutionary union had no organized contacts with the rank and file of the company unions, and until recently the policy followed by our comrades was wrong. With a correct policy the calling of fake strikes will not be indulged in so often, because the instincts of the workers is to fight and a fake strike can be turned into a real strike under the leadership of a rank and file strike committee.

Stay in the Struggle.

To leave the A. F. of L. company unions is running away from the struggle. We must stay withing these company unions and carry out the task of exposing the treachery of leaders, of pointing out to the workers in impossibilit of winning conditions through the company union apparatus and of the need of smashing the company union apparatus, not through the constitution, or fighting for mere constitutional changes, but by winning the membership to the program of class struggle. of the workers, taking the strikes into their own hands, of setting up united shop committees drawing them under the influence and eventually into membership of the revolutionary unions.

Arouse Workers' Initiative.

In strikes involving members of the company union, it is especially important to arouse the initiative of the workers to bring wide masses into action. Only in this manner can we break through the united front of the fascist leaders, the employers and the police.

In this period of high technical deevlopment and rule of finance capital, of crisis, unemployment and the rising mood of the workers to struggle, the employers more and more will depend on the fascist A. F. of L. leaders to break strikes. As strikes develop, these agents of the employers will be called in to do their strike breaking even in industries that have heretofore refused so far to accept their proffered services. So while we must not overestimate the strength of the company union apparatus to fool and lead the workers, we must not underestimate the strength and power of the united front between the fascist leaders and employers to smash strikes.

More and more the economic strike assumes greater political significance for the whole working class, therefore the question of broadening the strike becomes imperative.

Single shop strikes should be spread to other shops. Department strikes into factory strikes.

Watching the Palatial Yachts

By WILLIAM Z. FOSTER. Prisoner No. 52350.

(Communist Candidate for Governor of New York State.)

WHILE many millions of workers and their families, denied an opportunity to make living by the bankrupt capitalist system, are on the verge of actual starvation, the wealthbloated capitalists go on undisturbed with their orgy of luxury.

What matters it to them if the workers who produced their great wealth suffer in want and privation?

A Political Prisoner Looks At the Idle Rich. From this prison island we can see many interesting features of the plutocrats' wealth. The shores, Long Island and the mainland, are lined up with the great estates and country palaces of multi-millionaires. Every morning one sees many rich parasites rushing to New York in their costly speed boats. Automobiles and trains are too fatiguing for these pampered people.

The air is hardly ever free from the roar of their privately owned airplanes. While the workers sweat in boiling hot tenements, they are cooling themselves in the skies.

Morgan Yacht Near Hart's Island Prison. Off City Island, just next to us, the stretch of water is constantly dotted with yachts of every description, from small sloops to gigantic steam yachts. Many of the latter veritable liners owned by Morgan, Vanderbilt, Hannon, etc., are palatial in character. They are constant scenes of voluptuous parties and reckless gaiety. They are forever coming and going, bearing their rich owners to Canada, Europe, the Bermudas, or wherever the jaded tastes of the rich may urge them. But most extravagant of all are the yachts built to defend the American Cup against Lipton's Shamrock V. All summer long the Enterprise, Whirlwind, etc., have been in and out of City Island waters. They are great toys, sailing monstrosities, neither beautiful nor useful. Built for just these races, they are worthless when the races are over. They cost many hundreds of thousands of dollars. Fortunes have been wasted upon them, just to give a thrill to their super-wealthy owners.

Meanwhile, millions of workers stand in line

Industrial strikes governing cities, spread out to other cities, or spread out to workers in other industries. The aim of the bourgeoisie. the government and the A. F. of L. leaders is to narrow the strike and isolate the strikers. Our policy must be the opposite, to widen the strike and to bring large sections of workers to its support.

Broadening the strike, how ver, is only possible after serious and energetic preparations, coldly calculated and worked out on the basis of revolutionary strike strategy. What is the strongest point of the workers? What is the weakest voir of the employers? After careful consideration is the determining factor on whether or not a certain category of workers should be called upon to join the strike. Have the employers transferred their order to another corporation? Are they importing goods, or parts from other sections of the country? These are all points to be considered in the broadening of the strikes.

Red Sparks

The Judicial Crisis

In China, from an article bearing the head "Wanted, Magistrates who are not afraid to die," we learn that in recent months 86 magistrates have been taken for a ride by "brigands or Communists" and that while in ancient days magistrates would choose death rather than flee from rebellious peasantry, "younger officials hold life (more particularly, we understand their own life) at a higher value." So the colonial revolution is upsetting "judicial poise."

And not only is China affected, but right here in Tammanytown, the crisis has deepened something awful for the magistrates. Having bought judgeships on the installment plan, and the business depression having affected the graft income seriously among the "petty graft" Walker admits exists, it seems that the downtrodden judges can't keep up the installments, and so are being "removed."

One judge, McCrery, owed $10,000 on a $35,-000 "pay as you go" position according to report, and had to be "liquidated," while another named Crater, seems to have fallen into the volcano and disappeared altogether. Dead men tell no tales, says Tammany, and especially when they can't be found.

A gink named Charles Adcock, said to be a racketeer, was arrested, so the papers say, "charged with snapping a pistol" at another person. The New York cops are indignant at a gangster whose pistol only snaps. If he had only killed his man, he might not only be released, but put on the force in the special "Red squad" to "handle" strikes.

What's this? The papers say that Mrs. James J. Walker has returned from a two months' vacation abroad. And just to think that we didn't know she was gone! Probably Walker didn't know it himself. We wonder what sort of toil Mayor Walker's wife takes a vacation from, anyhow.

Gangsters, gangsters everywhere, and headline in the Telegram says: "Mulrooney Says He's Helpless." Funny how "helpless" he gets in situations like that. But when there's a demonstration of hungry jobless, he and his hosts are Johnny on the Spot. Funny, ain't

In these days when thousands of workers are hunting through the garbage heaps to get something to eat, and when news from Chicago says that 2,500 workers are evicted monthly for failure to pay rent, it may cheer someone up to know that the Society for Prevention of Cruelty to Animals says—"There is no food on the streets for abandoned animal pets" and offers to take care of unwanted dogs and cats. It doesn't cheer us up. It makes us swear!

Gov. Roosevelt of New York blooms out as a "dirt farmer," which is a term invented by rich farmers to cover up the differences between rich and poor farmers, and in the spirit of this demagogy says that taxes are too high. The poor farmers really ought to take this seriously and, all together in one bunch, refuse to pay any taxes at all until they come down. Roosevelt would be the first one to have heart failure if they did that.

The widow of John B. Kennedy, a banker James J. Hill, has bequeathed $10,000,000 to foreign missions. The "mission" of missionaries is, as someone has said, to make the heathen wear pants so the imperialists can pick his pockets.

The much advertised "investigation of food prices" in New York City, has now reached the stage where it gets a half column on the fourth page. Which means that the food monopolists are coming through with the graft, and a slow and painless disappearance of the "investigation." Food prices will, in the meantime, go up because of the added overhead due to graft payments.

Santo Domingo hurricane notes: "U. S. Minister Curtis' Home Destroyed; Insane Asylum Wrecked, Inmates Loose." If you ask us, we think that a U. S. Minister in Santo Domingo is more dangerous to the toiling inhabitants than any number of maniacs set loose by the hurricane, even adding the hurricane to boot.

We are reminded that Mrs. Ruth Hanna McCormick who spent some $500,000 to get the republican nomination in the Illinois primaries for the U.S. Senatorship which pays $10,000 a year salary, is a daughter of old Mark Hanna. When asked if she was having private detectives dig up some dirt on Senator Nye who is "investigating" her campaign expenses, the old girl said: "I did it. I am still doing it. What is Senator Nye going to do about it?" And this is the system of society that Professor Butler tells us is "liberalism" and not "capitalism." Huh!

at the factory gates and employment offices vainly searching for work to fend off the threatening starvation.

This is the boasted prosperity of American imperialism! But the workers are waking up. Sooner than we realize they will be delivering powerful blows at the capitalist system, and these will grow heavier until they finally smash capitalism.

The present election campaign is a fruitful opportunity for us to wake up masses of workers and to unite them under the banner of our revolutionary Party.

the hands of the peasantry and the workers in charge of the factories, with light thrown into the dark masses of the village, with the security of social insurance against unemployment, sickness, old age, with their rapidly rising standard of living, with the seven-hour, five-day week, and their job as free men, consciously and collectively working out their own destiny, the Soviet "experiment" is a tangible reality. It is something they can eat, feel, enjoy. Quite correctly does Butler admit that it is a "challenge" to capitalism-no, there is no capitalism!-but to "the existing order of things," to "liberalism." A Long Time Till Breakfast,

Butler prefers to be Olympian, and from a point high above history, looks over the ages and questions this "experiment" which has come to trouble the souls of the 59 rulers of America under the "existing order" of "liberalism," which he says has been "developing" f - twenty-five centuries.

Look in your history books, reader, and COLUMBIA UNIVERSITY is famous for at survey the "advantages" of "liberalism"

Nicholas Miraculous Awakens

If we take the capitalists' own word for it, it was a "liberal" named Pontius Pilate who, like Butler, questioned: "What is truth?" and sent to death the legendary figure whom the christian "liberals" have ever since invoked every time they start upon a war of loot and massacre.

We will not tire the reader with the long list of savage wars and centuries of slavery which held "liberal" despots in power over the masses from early Greece to the overthrow of the Bourbon kings.

But in that overthrowal there arose from the blood and slaughter of "developing liberalism," the class power of the bourgeoisie, the modern capitalist class, born in blood and violence and retaining power today only by dictatorial force but thinly veiled with ever more tattered trappings of "democratic rights.

That Ex-Ambassador Gerard can name a handful of rich men as "the rulers of America" flatly contradicts Butler's contention that his "liberalism" has anything "liberal" or "democratic" about it.

Just Which "Individual"?

And his puerile solicitude for "the individual" as against the peril which he claims "the individual" encounters under the socialist system being built in the Soviet Union, is obviously a defense of those few "individuals" who profit from wage slavery in America, and not at all a plea for the 122,000,000 "individuals" who make up the population. Where was the concern of "liberalism" over the murder of Sacco and Vanzetti? It burned them to death in the electric chair!

This capitalist system, which Butler brings to us in sheep's clothing, doomed the Gastonia defendants to a living death by a farcical

It sent the heroic workers who went into Imperial Valley to organize a union to the hell of San Quentin for forty-two years each. It is trying to send to the electric chair six more workers at Atlanta for the "heinous crime" of distributing leaflets. While over 8,000,000 jobless workers and their families are starving amid plenty, and millions are getting wage cuts by arbitrary decree of a handful of multi-millionaires, while suicides of desperate workers occur every day in every city, while thousands of workers search the garbage of the rich for food. Dr. Butler raises not a whisper for defense of their "individual" right to live. But he reserves all his anxiety for the hour when "Communist propaganda" comes on the scene, organizing these suffering masses of "individuals" into a class movement of struggle against Dr. Butler and his class, for bread, for work, for freedom from exploitation by Dr. Butler's "individuals."

The Murderer Denounces Murder.

Butler, this hypocritical disciple of a system of war and plunder, of a system which sent 10,000,000 boys to death in the last World War alone, dares to lecture the Communists against the use of "violence"! And "warns" them ness" of the capitalistic "socialist" party.
