They "Hope for Overthrow of Soviets"

PUBLICATION of the appeal by Dietrichs, leader of the Tzarist White Guards military organizations throughout the world, for several million dollars donations to help finance their operations with Japan in Manchuria against the Soviet Union, reveals some more details of the world-wide war plots of imperialism against the Workers' Fatherland. The appeal proclaims the "hope for overthrowing the Soviet Government" which have been aroused by the Japanes mobilization on the Siberian frontier, with the support of France who organizes the war front on the Western borders of the Soviet Union.

In the United States this appeal has also been widely circulated, and many White Guard organizations are collecting money in response to it. One of these organizations in New York, headed by Djamgaroff (who was a star witness for the Fish Committee in 1930), and which is supported financially and actively by a close relative of Mr. Stimson, secretary of state of the U.S. government, is playing an active part in this campaign. The publicly announced purpose of these collections is to make war against the Soviet Union. Of course neither Mr. Stimson, nor his colleague, Mr. Doak, who is Secretary of Deportations, find anything contrary to the laws in these activities. Lawlessness they only find in such activities as those of Edith Berkman, the girl leader of the Lawrence strike against wage cuts, who has been held for six months in prison in Boston without charges or hearings under conditions which have brought her to the point of death.

Washington officials have announced that the policy of U.S. imperialism towards the Soviet Union remains unchanged, that is, uniformly hostile and receptive to all war movements against the Soviet Union. From the U.S. there is being shipped weekly vast quantities of explosives to Japan for the further preparation of this war. Even the bourgeois press openly admits now that the war is being feverishly

There is only one force that can stop the war at this time, and postpone its inevitable outbreak. That is the force of the aroused and protesting masses, determined to struggle against the war

Only the same mass struggle which prevented the hanging of Tom Mooney in 1917, and which remains the only force which can secure his freedom today-the force of indignant masses in action-can change the course of war developments.

Only such mass action as prevented the electrocution of the Scottsboro boys last year, and forced the courts to continue consideration of the case, can help to halt the immediate Imperialist War.

May Day will be the mighty international mobilization of all the forces of mass struggle against the impending Imperialist War. May Day will be the day of struggle for all the immediate needs of the workers and farmers, and the unification of this struggle, under the growing consciousness of the workers and their radicalization, to find the workers' way, the revolutionary way, out of the crisis which has engulfed the masses in untold misery.

Forward to the struggle against hunger and war! Fight for unemployment insurance at the expense of employers and their government!

Demand the unconditional freedom of Tom Mooney, the Scotts-oboro boys, Edith Berkman, and the thousands of political prisoners! Stop the shipment of war supplies to Japanese Imperialism! Expose the two-faced diplomacy of American Imperialism in its participation in war preparations!

Defend the Chinese Soviet China!

He left Brownsville Thursday, accompanied by two miners. The miners were badly injured in the accident. A mass funeral for Comrade Pace will be held in Cannons burg where he will be buried.

Comrade Pace was about 34 years old and an old member of the Communist Party which he served loyally. In the Party he occupied a responsible position as a member at one time of the Boston District Bureau and lately as Section Organizer in Brownsville.

He was very active in the class struggle as organizer of the textile workers in Allentown during the strike that resulted in the Muste sell out and in Lawrence where he proved to be a good fighter and indefatigable worker. Originally he was a furniture worker from Bos'on. During the Comrade Gottwald exposed the government's support of the recruitment and pointed out that 200 White Guards recently left Bragslava, while other White Guards have been collected at the Polish port of Gdingen and at Cherbourg, France, for transportation to Manchuria. The Japanese Consu Istanbul, Comrade Gottwald declared is the principal centre of the movement whence the funds are distributed.

Comrade Gottwald bluntly stated that the Czech military authorities were supporting the recruitment. He pointed out that the Japanese had given a big order to Czechoslo ak textile manufacturers not unconnected with this activity. General Gajda, former commander of the Czech Legotiations with the Japanese, he said, but negotiations were dropped when Gaida was obliged to begin to serve a sentence of two months in prison recently imposed.

The Czechoslovak Communist newspaper, Rude Pravo, yesterday published a secret memorandum directed to White Guards throughout the world by the former Tsarist officer, Lieutenant General Dietericks. The memorandum declares that the warlike maneuvers of the Japanese on the Soviet border "justify hope for overthrowing the Soviet Government." The memorandum admits that financial support is being received by the White Guards from the Japanese, but adds that several million dollars more are necessary. The memorandum gives Shanghai addresses to which funds shou'd be sent. In this connection, an appeal appeared recently in White Grard'st papers in the United States asking for funds to be sent not later than May 5, 1923.

A Belgrade dispatch to the New York Times significantly reports:

"Apparently to recruit White Ru sian former officers and soldiers of General Wrangel's army for service in China in the Japanese interest. General Shkuro recently arrived from Paris. He is believed to be connected with General Semenoff, who has been opposing the Soviet Government.'

Relief from New Haven Mayor

NEW HAVEN, Conn., April 22.-Twenty-five hundred unemployed and part time workers demonstrated today on the Central Green in one of the biggest and most enthusiastic demonstrations held in a long time here.

For two and a half hours the workers massed together in circle around the speakers' table, listened attentively to the speakers outlining the program of action as planned by the Unemployed Council. The speakers were John Weber, district secretary of the Unemployed Council; Harry Kapan, organizer of the Unemployed Council: Rips Torman and William Taylor. A cheer of approval was given by the crowd

as the demands were raised. Five open-air meetings were held in as many sections of the city, from which the workers marched to the Central Green, which is situated about a hundred feet from the city hall. A committee of nine was selected by the Unemployed Council and was approved enthusiastically by the workers and were sent to the city hall to present the demands of the unemployed to Mayor John W

2,500 Negro, White Demand AWAY WITH DILLETANTISM IN THE ELECTION CAMPAIGN Polish and Rumanian Armies

By C. A. HATHAWAY

ELECTION slogans are designed to express in the clearest and most concise form the election platform of any political party. The Communist Party is a Party of the workingclass. Its slogans, therefore, must-in the most concise and clear form-put forward the most burning needs of the workers, and of the natural allies of the workers - the oppressed Negro masses and the poor farmers. This was done by the Central Committee of the Communist Party in its call for the National Nominating Convention to be held in Chicago, Ill., May 28 and 29. Six main national slogans were carefully formulated after giving most serious consideration to the needs of the workers, Negro and white, and of the poor farmers in this period of extremely acute crisis. These slogans were made short and simple. Care was taken, however, in each case to state exactly what our position was within the limits, of course, of short slogans.

The Correct Slogans

To avoid any distortion of these slogans which could possibly confuse the workers, the instructions to the lower Party committees emphasized that these slogans were "to be used unchanged." At the same time, we emphasized the need, while using the slogans themselves unchanged, to widely explain and popularize these slogans in our speeches and leaflets. These main slogans, as sent to the District Committees and as previously published in the Daily

1. UNEMPLOYMENT AND SOCIAL IN-SURANCE AT THE EXPENSE OF THE STATE AND EMPLOYERS.

2. Against Hoover's wage-cutting policy. 3. Emergency relief, without restrictions by the government and banks, for the poor farmers; exemption of poor farmers from taxes, and no forced collection of debts. 4. Equal rights for the Negroes, and selfdetermination for the Black Belt.

5. Against capitalist terror; against all forms of suppression of the political rights of the workers.

6. Against imperialist war; for the defense of the Chinese people and of the Soviet Union. We, of the Central Committee, think that these are good slogans. We think they say exactly what Communists should say in this year's election. These slogans, we think, clearly state the most urgent needs of the toiling masses and provide them with a fighting platform with which to resist the attacks of the capitalists, and with which they can begin their victorious march forward to the workers' revolutionary goal-the Workers' and Farmers' Government.

But the comrades in the Kansas District thought otherwise. They, it appears, thought the slogans were insufficiently simple. We judge this from the character of the changes made in the slogans as published there. Quite clearly their aim was greater simplicity-certainly a

The Incorrect Slogans.

This healthy desire for simplicity, however, cannot be permitted to lead us toward an opportunist distortion of our revolutionary position. This would destroy the confidence of the workers and poor farmers in our Party, making it impossible to distinguish between the demands of the Communist Party and of the treacherous socialists. And, unfortunately, the comrades in Kansas City are guilty of such a distortion as can be seen by comparing the slogans of the

On the Question of Our Election Slogans

as we shall see, wrong slogans of the Kansas District:

"I. Unemployment insurance and relief, to be paid for by the government out of war funds and taxation of the rich. "2. Against the Hoover policy of wage-cutting and speed-up. 3. For emergency relief (without restriction) by the government and banks for the poor farmers. Exemption of the farmers from forced collection of debts

"4. Equal rights for the Negroes and against Jim Crowism, race discrimination and lynch-"5. Against boss terror, for the right of workers to free speech, free press and assem-"6. Against war, for defense of the Chinese people and the Soviet Union." These changes might appear as quite unimportant to some comrades. But let us examine them one by one.

Unemployment and Social Insurance Slogan number one is wrong from three angles. Firstly, it completely omits "social insurance"-(old age pensions, federal sickness and accident insurance, maternity insurance, etc)-which is an absolutely necessary demand if we wish to reflect the needs of the unemployed workers, the old workers displaced in industry, the women workers, etc. It is necessary if we are to successfully fight the demagogs of the old parties and the socialists. Secondly, it puts unemployment insurance on a par with relief. The burning needs of the workers in the national elections is unemployment and social insurance: this demand has the greatest political vitality; this slogan provides the opportunity for us to deliver the heaviest blows on the most vulnerable spot of American capitalism. Practically all countries have been forced to grant some limited form of social insurance; the United States alone among the big nations, with 12,000,000 unemployed and starving, categorically refuses insurance. Demands for relief can be put forward in local platforms, but even there it cannot be a substitute for insurance and must be come a means of broadening the mass struggle for unemployment and social insurance. Finally, the Kansas formulation is wrong when it changes "at the expense of the state and employers." By changing this, as it does, it narrows down the whole question to one of taxation and war funds, when to raise the necessary funds more drastic measures are not excluded. It destroys the effectiveness of the slogan as an instrument for definitely fixing the responsibility of the employers as well as the state through such great demonstrations directly at the factories, as have recently taken place at the Ford factory and the Chicago packing houses. From this the correctness of the Central Committee sloganpense of the state and employers"-can be seen. This is the chief slogan of the Party. For Exactness of Formulations.

"unemployment and social insurance at the ex-

Slogan number two, as reformulated, also loses its sharpness. The Hoover administration is directly responsible for instituting the wagecutting campaign. The Lamont letter and other acts of Hoover clearly prove this. But when the phrase, "speed up," is aided, for which the Central Committee with the following new and, direct responsibility of Hoover cannot be so easily fixed, the whole slogan is weakened. Slogan number three is hopelessly distorted.

The first half of the Central Committee slogan reads:- "Emergency relief, without restriction by the government and banks, for the poor farmers." The Kansas slogan reads:-"For emergency relief (without restrictions) by the government and banks for the poor farmers." By leaving out a couple of commas and by adding a set of parentheses, our Kansas comrades have the Communists demanding that the banks provide relief to the farmers. Ridiculous! farmers have enough of such relief. But even more important, the Central Committee demands, "the exemption of poor farmers from taxes and no forced collection of debts." Our Kansas comrades apparently feel that the poor farmers should pay tages. They leave out all references to taxes and even weaken the formulation on debts. This is a "carelessness." at least, which would prevent us from winning the

Impermissible Opportunism.

Slogan number four reflects the most impermissible opportunism on the one question—the Negro question-where, above all, clarity is of major importance. The Central Committee clearly demands "Equal Rights for the Negroes." By this we demand unconditional political, economic and socal equality; we are stubbornly against lynching, Jim Crowism, political disfranchisement and discrimination in any form. But the Central Committee goes much farther; we demand "Self determination for the Black Belt." We know that in the South all talk of "equality" is only talk, unless the Negro masses win the right to rule in the Black Belt, where they constitute the majority of the population. By winning the right to rule in the Black Belt they win equality there and at the same time give a powerful impetus to the struggle for equality throughout the entire country. Yet our Kansas comrades, with half of their District territory in the South, omit completely the demand-"Self determination for the Black Belt." The errors made on the other slogans can easily be attributed to carelessness, but this omission on the Negro question is a serious and apparently conscious opportunist error. On this, we think we are justified in categorically demanding a complete and immediate corerction in the form of an explanatory statement by the District

Slogan number five, we will not dwell on at length. This has been converted into a beautiful. liberal slogan.

A Pacifist Slogan.

Slogan number six has been transformed into pacifist slogan entirely suitable for a Sunday school society. We are again st imperialist war, as the Central Committee states, but we are not pacifists as the Kansas comrades would make us when they omit this one word "imperialist," We are for the class war, for the revolutionary war of the workers against the capitalists. We cannot in our slogans preach pacifism and expect to mobilize the workers to overthrow capitalism

This, comrades, shows the danger of playing with slogans. We hope the instructions which insist these slogans are "to be used unchanged" will now be grasped by all comrades, by all local and district organizations in the mass mobilization for the Chicago convention.

As for the Kansas District, we think that the District Committee owes an explanation, both to the Party and to the toiling masses of its terri-

Editorial Note:-M. Black, who was recently sentenced to serve 10 days in jail by a judge and jury in Baltimore for protesting against the eviction of a sick, bedridden women from her home at 1852 Pennsylvania Ave., is convinced that politics and class distinctions play an important role in the capitalist jails of the land.

JAPAN'S IMPERIALIST PLAN OF CONQUEST

Baron Tanaka, then Premier, drafted a memorandum that has since become motorious. He referred to the "inevitably" of war between Japan and the USSR and outlined the step Japan must take. First, he declared, Manchuria and Mongelia must be occupied. Then"our second step would require us to make good use of the Chinese Eastern Railway to attack and penetrate Siberia until we occupy Upper Udask (East of the Baikal Lake) and force Russia to cede us the great plain east of the Lena River and up to the Behring Strait."

'ine policy then outlined has not been watered "Izvestia," the official newspaper of the Soviet Government, published on March 4th a series of extracts from documents emanating from the highest military circles in Japan. These documents dot the "I's" and cross the "T's" of the Tanaka Plan. The extracts have already been reprinted in the press of the working class of all countries. It is worth while, however, to give here the following excerpt from one of the documents: 'One of the chief features in our war should be strategical propaganda by means of which it will be possible to involve the Western neighbors in the war with the USSR, while causing a collapse within the USSR by making use of White Guard groups within and without the Union, as well as foreign-born and all anti-

Carrying Out the Japanese Plan

Japanese troops have seized Manchuria and a puppet government has been set up. The Mongolian princes and petty chiefs have been "invited" to a conference in Mukden to discuss "closer re-

Thus the first part of the Japanese plan is fulfilled.

Now for the Second Part. Japan is losing no time in "making use of White Guard troops." The White Guard newspaper "Vosroshdenije" ("Resurrection") reports (January) "Japanese leaders repeatedly emphasize that they place exceptional hopes on us Russians that are hostile to the USSR." All newspapers report tremendous White Guard activity in Manchuria. One leader, Semjonov, claims to have an army of 500,000 on the Soviet border. Others (Balderiev in Paris and Tohapaline in London) are recruiting more "Whites" for Manchuria. The USSR has already had to protest sharply against the arming and financing of these forces by Japan.

The second part of the Japanese plan is being

Now comes the more ticklish problem of seizing the Chinese Eastern Railway (part owned by the USSR) and actual intervention. The Japanese Foreign Minister has already circulated a report from what he calls a "reliable informer" that "the Bolsheviks hate the Japanese" and "have 100,000 troops concentrated in the Vladivostock district.'

The Japanese authorities have demanded special facilities on the Chinese Eastern Railway for bringing troops to the Soviet frontier. Refusal by the Soviets would, of course, provide a pretext for seizure. The USSR has consented to only a limited use of the railway. Then came the revolt of Manchurian troops on the Soviet frontier. During the disorder the Japanese Consul found it convenient to proceed with his nationals over the border into Soviet territory. Japanese imperialism now has an excuse for demanding further railway concessions for the "protection"

Thus at the moment of writing, is the mine of intervention set. It needs only a press of the

Intervention in China

Bound up with the question of Intervention in the USSR is the question of partitioning China. The imperialist powers have similar reason for dividing up China as they have for intervention in the USSR. First, districts in China with inhabitants have introduced the Soviet system, and its power and influence is rapidly extending Secondly, China is a rich field for colonial expansion, parition of which might temporarily relieve the present economic crisis.

It is a great mistake to regard Japanese intervention in Shanghai as an "incident," or an "interlude." It is simply the other edge of the sword that is cutting along the Soviet frontier.

Unity of Imperialist Powers Against Soviets It is an even greater mistake to suppose that Japanese imperialism is carrying out operations on its own. The plan of Japan, as noted above, envisaged the cooperation of the Western Powers against the USSR. These powers have not been slow to do their share.

While Japanese troops were operaing in Manchuria and Unina the British Government broke off the Anglo-Soviet debts negotiations, restricted trade credits, and announced an "inquiry into the unsatisfactory" condition of Anglo-Soviet trade. France at the Disarmament Conference proposed, as a "gesture" that the League of Nation should have a special army of its own. It needs no imagination to see how such an army would be of use primarily against the USSR. A more practical French proposal was the creation of a "Danubian Federation," and details of this are now being worked out. Such a Federation means a further consolidation of the anti-Soviet forces in the West. Already the small East European countries have a total of 574,000 troops, armed and financed by France and Britain and partly by Czecho-Slovakia, on the Soviet's western frontier. (The total strength of the Red Army guarding ALL frontiers, for the Western and Eastern, 18 560,000). In the Far East the Japanese army has paved the way. It has set the stage in Manchuria, and is has given the other imperialist powers an excuse for sending their armies and navies to the For East in readiness. Despite the intense jealcomess between the imperialist powers, leading to interchanges of notes, talk of boycotts, etc., it should be noted that in practice there is support for Japan. The Japanese army, for instance, conducts the ottensive from the Shangnai International Settlement, while the British and the American troops (working in harmony, relieving each other on sentry and other duties) see to

APANESE imperialism has never hidden its gave Japan a loan of 800,000,000 Yen. This endesire for expansion in the Far East. In 1927 | abled Japan to purchase more armaments abroad. Capitalist governments have remitted the purchase of arms by Japan. The figures given however, cannot be relied upon, since the greater part of armament exports are invariably sent under the description of "machinery," etc. indicative of the extent to which capitalist countries are supplying arms to Japan is the sharp rise in the shares of armaments firms in all countries, and the constant overtime in the war factories that is reported. (For instance, one section of Woolwich Arsenal in England is working overtime till 11 at night).

The League of Nations

Furthering their support for Japan, the West European powers, particularly France and England, have made every use of the League of Nations. Although under articles 5, 10, 11, 12, 15 or 16, action can be taken against an 'aggressor, the League has refused to see any aggressor. On the contrary: when Japan put forward its five demands in connection with Manchuria, the League endorsed four of them. The fifth was conceded by the Chinese Nanking government anyway. In connection with the events round Shanghai, the League has expressed its "appreciation" of the pacific intenions of Japan; exhibiting only a certain nervousness that Japan will go shead without consultation and without considering the interests of the other imperialist

It is absolutely clear from the course of events that the League of Nations is simply a tool in the hands of French and British imperialism.

The Role of the Second International

In the light of the abouve facts, let us examine the attitude of those Labor Parties, Socialist Parties, and Social Democratic Parties that comprise the Second International. At first it seems confusing, but soon becomes quite clear.

The Second International itself has issued a manifesto condemning the "aggression" of Japan and demanding intervention by the League of Nations. But in the manifesto the cooperation of the other powers with Japan is completely concealed. The result is that when the other powers decide on open intervention in the Far Eastern war, the Second International will be able to support it. Turning a blind eye, of course to the fact that it's in cooperation with, and not against, Japan, the national sections of the Second International have issued manifestoes or statements in the same vein, emphasizing particularly the need for strengthening the League of Nations (that is, strengthening French and British imperialism). And the "left wing" of the reformists (the British ILP for instance) denounces Japanese imperialism even more fiercely (that is, for their own imperialists who in turn support Japan).

It is only natural, in the circumstances, that the Japanese Socialist Party should declare, through its General Secretary Sikai Minsei, support for the seizure of Manchuria, asking only for "socialist control."

The manifesto of the Second International has not a word to say about the crucial point of the situation-the direct attack on the USSR and on the Chinese Soviets. This cannot be an accident; and it can have only one explanation: to lull the workers into an attitude of security, and to keep the hands of the reformists free for supporting the interventionists.

The real attitude of the leaders of the Second International towards the USSR and the events in the Far East can be judged from the docuially circulated by the Second International. We refer to the "Documents and Discussions of the Secretariat of the Socialist International" No. 12 of December 5th, 1931. This publication contains the manifesto of the "Russian Bureau" of the Socialist Workers International. This manifesto openly admits the near outbreak of war against the USSR and declares equally openly that a real policy of peace can only reside in the organized fight of the working class for the overthrow of the dictatorial and terrorist regime. This is complete unity with the imperialist governments!

A Last Word With the Workers

Thus every part of the imperialist war machine is performing its functions. What can stop

Possibly the rivalries of the imperialist powers will delay the outbreak of the final action. But this is remote.

The last, the decisive word rests with the workers of the capitalist countries.

It is their task:

1. To organize such strong support for the Soviets in every country so as to make the governments afraid of the internal consequences of

2. To give such firm resistance to attacks on wages and standards of living that the governments cannot afford to spend any energy abroad.

3. To refuse to make munitions for war, and; 4. To refuse the handling of munitions or

ONLY THE WORKING CLASS CAN SAVE THEMS

Railroad Brotherhood Officials in the Role of Company Spies

CLEVELAND, Ohio.-Pres. A. F. Whitney, of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen is seen in the role of company spy in correspondence between New York Central officials, which has just been brought to light. Fearing that wagecuts. Brotherhood sell-outs and constantly worsened conditions will drive the men to militant resistance under the leadership of the Trade Union Unity League, Whitney and his brother fat boys have been using an employers' detective agency against the railroad workers. And now they are appealing to the railroad companies to aid them in their spy activities.

These facts are exposed in a memorandum sent out by E. Erickson, New York Central official at Collinwood, Ohio, to other Cleveland New York Central officials. The memorandum is marked "personal" and urges the officials to spy on T.U.U.L. activities. Most of it is devoted to quoting a letter from J. G. Walber, vicepresident in charge of personnel of the New York Central, to R. D. Starbuck, another vice-

Walber's letter, as quoted, shows how closely Brotherhood officials and company officials work together against the rank and file of railroad labor. It was through such under-cover connections as these that the Brotherhood chiefs and the companies worked out their strategy for putting over the recent 10 per cent wage cut. The letter shows Whitney using the notorious Railway Audit and Inspection Bureau, an employers' detective agency which specializes in curbing labor activity. Erickson's memorandum

I am quoting letter from Mr. Jno. G. Please give this your prompt attention and let me have any information you might be able to develop and forward it to me under personal cover:

"Vice President Knoff of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen called on me to ascertain what we know about the activities of the Trade Union Unity League. "President Whitney has a file on these activities going back a great many years. He has been getting the recent reports about the Wangerin outfit (Railroad Workers Industrial League.-Ed.) at Chicago. He has had investigations made through the lodges of the BRT to ascertain if any of their members were joining the Trade Union Unity League, or were active in that direcion. He has not been able to get any evidnce, but about all the information they have een able to obtain is that contained in the eports of the Railway Audit & Inspection Bureau. Mr. Knoff told me also that he called on the Pennsylvania people and they dvised him that they have been unable to verify the Railway Audit & Inspection Bu-

"Mr. Whitney's interest in the matter is due to the general understanding that Grunau, who started the outlaw strike of 1920, was in the employ of the Communists, and on account of the depression he desired to keep informed and be prepared for any similar move. Mr. Knoff showed me the results of the investigations which he has been making personally. He stated that he could get very little evidence and could not understand the agitation.

"The Pennsylvania people promised to keep him informed of anything they might learn, and he suggested that it might be wise for us to take an interest in the situation. I

Cleveland, Toledo and Chicago watch conditions because of the large proportion of foreign element in these communities; that we knew frequent meetings were called in those places, but so far as we have learned they were attended only by a few of the shop craft employees and laborers, practically all of whom were foreigners.

"I thought that you might want to pass his word along to Mr. MacBain in whose erritory the Communists seem to be more active than elsewhere. "I have understood that the Employers Association at Cleveland and Toledo were in ouch with these conditions as they are in Buffalo, and we may be able to get some information from them.

E. Erickson.

Cailway Audit and Inspection Co. has a long record of spying on workers not only on the railroads but in many other industries. It is mentioned in Spying on Labor (International Pamphlets No. 17) as one of the leading undercover anti-labor agencies of this country. Its bulletins, marked "Confidential Information," are sold to employers and carry reports on the activities of the militant unions.

Its strike-breaking operations in recent years include attempts to smash the strike of taxidrivers against the Parmelee Transportation Co. in Pittsburgh in 1930. This spy agency in that strike operated under another name - Central Industrial Service. The R. A. and I. Co. also tried to smash the strike of street car workers in New Orleans in 1929.

It attempted to break many strikes of hosiery workers-at Paterson, Allentown, Reading, and Hackerttstown in 1929, and at Nazareth, Pa., in 1930. In the strike of the workers of the Allen-A Hosiery Co. in Kenosha, Wis., in 1930, agents of this bureau threw acid and stinkbombs at union organizers and sent poison pen letters to the workers.

As the above document shows its activities in more recent days have been concentrated on the left wing railroads workers' movement.

The Soviet Union's 15 Years of Struggle for Peace

WHEN the workers and peasants, under the leadership of the Bolsheviks, seized power in Russia in November 1917, their first act was to send over the radio a message to the world, calling for peace. The wireless stations of Europe, listening anxiously for war news from Russia, heard this call-and promptly jammed the

On the following day the Soviet Government issued a series of decrees outlining its policy on all questions. The second of these decrees invited "all belligerent nations and their Governments to begin immediate negotiations for a just and democratic peace. The only response from the Allies was cries of "traitor" and curses for "deserting" the cause of mass slaughter. Three weeks later the Soviet Government announced that it refused to continue "this unreasonable and pointless massacre" and proposed to open peace negotiations with Germany. Twice were these negotiations postponed to give the Allies an opportunity to join in. The only response was a more intense use of poison gas on the Western front.

When peace between the Soviets and Germany was concluded, the Allies promptly broke off diplomatic relations and sent expeditionary forces into Russia. Through three years of intervention, the Soviet Government took every excuse for proposing an end to the conflict, even going so far as to reply through its press to annonymous telegrams on the question.

But peace only came with the defeat of the Allies and their "White" puppets.

In 1921 the Soviet Government called a meeting of Baltic States to discuss a reduction of armaments, and offered to reduce the Red Army to 200,000 men (that is, to one quarter of its then size) within eighteen months, if the other-Baltic powers would reduce their armies in proportion. This proposal was evaded, however, and the Conference broke up with a joint declaration that it would "fully support the principle of limitation of armaments." (Since then the Baltic powers have been supplied with more and more armaments by Britain and France under the pretense that they are needed against "Soviet aggression").

In the following year the USSR was invited to take part in a European conference at Genoa. At the first session of the Conference, Chicherin, head of the Soviet delegation, demanded that Disarmament be made the first item on the agenda. The reply of the imperialists came through the mouth of Barthou, the French representative: "This question cannot be discussed. It has been removed from the agenda of the Commission ... I now categorically reply

For five years thereafter the Soviet Union did everything to encourage normal friendly relations with its neighbors, particularly Turkey, Persia, Afghanistan, and China. The unequal treaties of tsarist days had long ago been abolished by the Soviet power and replaced by just d him that he might have his people at agreements. These agreements were revised and put into proper shape. Then, in 1927, the Soviets were again invited to a European Conference, at Geneva, to discuss disarmament. Litvinov was the Soviet representative, and it was here he made his famous proposal; that the way to prevent wars was-simply to disarm! He showed how complete universal disarmament could-if the nations really desired it-be carried out within a period of four years, and offered that the Soviets would take the lead in carrying it out. Total universal scrapping of all forms of armaments was and remains the fundamental principle of the Soviet Union on the question of disarmament.

On that occasion the proposal was rejected, amid the contempt of the bourgeois statesmen and the sneers of reformist leaders. Litvinov thereupon outlined a now practical proposal for partial all-round disarmament. The bourgeois statesmen hastily adjourned the session to prevent their hypocrisy being still further exposed.

Since then the Soviet Union has taken the initiative in securing non-aggression pacts with several of its capitalist neighbours. Japan significantly enough-still refuses to sign such a pact.

At the present disarmament conference in Geneva, Litvinov has again put forward the demand for total all-round disarmament. The capitalist politicians knew that Litvinov spoke in the name not only of the workers and peasants of the USSR, but of millions of toilers throughout the world. And still, only one country. Turkey, supported the Soviet proposal. After all, acceptance would mean a speedy end to the war in China, for instance; and that the imperialists cannot abide.

An Army For Defense Alone

Because the Soviet army is needed for defense alone, it is proportionately the smallest army of all great powers. The USSR occupies one-sixth of the whole earth, and its frontiers are the longest in the world. Yet the Red Army is smaller than those of the much smaller capitalist states.

Basing ourselves on statistics compiled by the League of Nations we get the following facts: The number of soldiers per square kilometre in the Soviet Union is 13: in Britain 80: in France

The number of soldiers per 1,000 inhabitants in the Soviet Union is 4; in Britain 41/2; in As for naval forces, the disparity is almost beyond comparison. The following figures were given in a British Government document issued a few weeks ago: Britain USA Jap. France USSR

By BURCK Life and Death of ? Strikebreaker

By LABOR RESEARCH ASSN.

WILLIAM J. BURNS, jury fixer, strike breaker, master spy on labor, and head of William J. Burns International Detective Agency, is dead, His obituary has been written by the capitalist newspapers extolling his life of sensational sleuthing. But part of the record is not given in these accounts. Here is part of it,

First as a strike-breaker, Burns was a leader in his profession. He offered his strike breaking services quite frankly. In a typical letter to a prospective client he would tell how he was prepared "to furnish skilled mechanics and craftsmen, trainmen, switchmen, telegraph and telephone linemen and operators, who will keep you informed at all times relative to labor agitation. . . . In event of a strike among your employees we are prepared to furnish strike breakers and guards for your property."

Hundreds of individual companies and employers' associations hired him to break strikes. The manufacturers association of Erie, Pa., paid Burns $29,817.11 to break a single strike of the molders union. In Joliet, Ill., in 1925, a Burns man was caught throwing a bomb at a nonunion garage in an attempt to discredit a strike of members of the machinists union. A union picket was tricked into accompanying a Burns man to the struck garage where the Burns provocateur lit a bomb and told the strike to run. Immediately the picket was set upon by four Burns operatives who shot him in the leg.

Burns agents, in 1929, attempted to provoke violence in connection with a strike of workers at the Allentown Silk Hosiery Co. Strong arm men and guards were sent to Allentown, Pa., and efforts made to frame up the strikers by provoking them into a fight.

Newspaper accounts, at the death of Burns, say that "on his acceptance of the post (director of the Bureau of Investigation of the Department of Justice) he resigned his position as head of the Burns agency." But he continued to direct the operations of this private agency. A document reproduced in the International Pamphlet Spying on Workers, page 20, shows Burns writing on the stationary of the Department of Justice in 1923, directing his Los Angeles manager in connection with a big job being done for a group of copper companies in the west. This and a file of letters and reports relating to the same oeration were lated extracted from the Burns files by a friend of the I.W.W. The documents show Burns ordering Department of Justice investigators out on his own private jobs, using them interchangeably with his own dicks to fight the unions.

Burns was, of course, always a loud opponent of the Reds, though his confusion of shades in the movement was as notorious as that of the Fish Committee. He prophesied in 1924, before a House Committee that "unless the country became thoroughly aroused concerning the danger of this radical element in this country, we will have a very serious situation. These parlor Bolsheviks have sprung up everywhere, as evidenced by the Civil Liberties Union of New York." He officially stated, the same year, that there were "over 600,000 Reds affiliated with Moscow in the United States, ready to overthrow the government."

As a Red sleuth, Burns opened his files to all the professional patriots and was particularly intimate with officials of the National Civic Federation, now presided over by Matthew Woll, a vice president of the A. F. of L.; Ralph Easley, Secretary of the National Civic Federation, is said to have taken credit for the appointment of Burns to the directorship of the Bureau of Investigation of the Department of Justice.

Burns was strong for non-militant unions, and in 1920 sent a circular to his employer clientele throughout the country stating, according to a confidential pamphlet of the National Civic Federation, that "it is important at this time that the employers of the country uphold the hands of Samuel Gompers."

As a friend of Easley and Gomrers, Burns was particularly energetic it his prosections of Conmunists. His stool pigeons, Morters and Spolitisky, the latter still acree in the anti-Red huns around Detroit-having been called in to testify after the Ford massacre-were the main provocative agents in the famous Bridgeman raid of 1922 and the subseque it indictment of leading members of the Communist movement. Easley and his friends of the Civic Federation raised part of the funds to back up Burns in this prose-

When the Wall Street bomb explosion occurred in 1920, Burns immediately charged prominent radicals with the crime. But one of his own agents testified about the same time that he had written and mailed bomb threats at the behest of Burns' officials and stated that another Burns agent had offered him bombs to plant in radical offices. Later, when a certain Lindenthal was arrested in Warsaw, charged with the Wall Street explosion, Burns stated that there was "no question that his arrest solved the "plot." But at the same time Burns stated that Lindenthal had been one of his own under-cover men! Nothing ever came of the Lindenthal story.

Burns naturally backed his pal, Harry Daugherty, then head of the Department of Justice, and when Senator Wheeler began probing into the oil scandals and the other dirt of the Harding administration, Burns promptly sent three of his special federal agents to Montana, instructed to "get something on Wheeler."

As a jury fixer Burns showed such a skillful hand that in the Oregon land fraud case even such a reactionary as President Taft pardoned the defendants, stating that the Burns work was the "most barefaced and unfair use of all the for drawing a jury disclosed to me in all my experience in the federal courts."

in the better known marry Sincair oil Burns detectives shadowed and tampered members of the jury. Sinclair's only del was that he had done for Sinclair things he done dozens of times for the government. This was true. For Burns served the capitalist government as he served the capitalists-always
