CLASS LINES DRAWN IN IRELAND.

DUBLIN, Nov. 5 (By mail) .- The bankers and industrialists of the Irish Free State have organized a White Guard Army to support the former Cosgrave government's policies of compromise with British imperialism. The Fianna Fail government of De Valera not only tolerates this horde of armed ruffians, largely compseed of Irish Constabulary—the hated Blackand-Tans, but sends Civic Guards and the detectives of the Criminal Investigation Department to protect it in its raids upon workers' districts. On October 30th, this Fascist mob

1.000 strong descended upon the town of Mallow, clubbing and terrorizing the townspeople, many of whom are supporters of the very De Valera who affords these White Guards his official protection. Fianna Fail's toleration of this Cosgrave White Guard Army gives the lie to De Valera's protestations of sincerity in his efforts to free Ireland from British rule forever. It again shows that only the united workers and peasants or Ireland can free their country by chasing out the Irish capitalists together with the British im-

Winter Relief Drive for Families of the Class-War Prisoners

SHIVERS of cold, cries of hunger, puny bodies—this is what growing numbers of working class families see as we enter the fourth winter of the capitalist crisis. Workers who protest are jailed through such means as "criminal syndicalism" laws, "sedition" acts, and open frame-ups.

ernational Lab backed by its mass membership defends these prisoners but its tasks go beyond that. The families of these prisoners must be sheltered, the children need milk, bread; in order to go to school they must have shoes; to live through the winter they need heat:

In connection with the Prisoners' Winter Relief campaign of the I.L.D., short sketches of the lives of some of these prisoners of which there are thousands, and of their families, will be published during the next few days. The Daily Worker Is Our Strongest Weapon

DO we sufficiently realize the fact that the Daily Worker is the strongest single weapon which we have in all the struggles which are develop-No, it is certain that as yet we do not. Otherwise, we would not allow our paper to remain as weak as it is.

Our "Daily" has many weak points. We must remedy them all. We must make our paper strong and powerful in every respect. While it is weak the revolutionary movement cannot be strong

Let us consider the circulation of the Daily Worker. It is, for our Party and the mass movement , what the circulation of the blood is for the numan body. Every day, with the regularity of the beating of the heart, it carries the political nourishment of our Party to its remotest cells. Into 1,800 cities, into 40,000 workers' homes, it carries the information, the analysis, the plan and call to action, which makes the mass movement and the revolutionary party.

But why ONLY into 40,000 homes? Why not into 100,000? Or even

For over a year we left the Daily Worker to grow "spontaneously", "by itself." But our paper is not something which "by itself" can do anything. It is powerful only to the extent that we use it. Its circulation can grow and extend only to the degree that we, the readers and supporters, make it grow. It depends entirely upon us.

The Daily Worker is a weapon in the class struggle. When we expect the "Daily" to operate automatically, we resemble to vary the illustration a soldier who would expect his bayonet to fight his battles for him. Such a soldier would not be a serious fighter, and he would not win many

THE DAILY WORKER is more important for us in the class war than is the bayonet to the soldier. It might better be compared with the machine-gun, with some important modifications. Like a machine-gun it does not operate by itself, automatically; it must be used. Like a machinegun, it requires ammunition composed of bullets (political contents) driven by explosive power (finances). All of these things must be provided by the army which needs and uses the machine gun.

Unlike the machine-gun, the Daily Worker cannot aim its shots entirely from the center. Here in the "Daily" office, we can only take aim politically, with the help of all our political helpers over the country. But each paper, each political bullet, must reach and kill an illusion, an enemy idea, not in the abstract but rather as it exists in the mind of each separate worker. We cannot find and reach this worker from the center. That can ony be done in each shop, each neighborhood, each un-employed council, each trade union, each workers' club.

A truer measure of the importance of our "Daily" can be gotten by imagining what our daily life would be like without our paper. Supposing it were destroyed. How eagerly, with what energy and stubbornness, would exert ourselves to bring it into existence again. It is a life-

But for millions of workers the "Daily" does not as yet exist, because they do not know it, or know it only so slightly that they do not realize

Into the task of enlisting these millions in the ranks of Daily Worker readers we must put the same eagerness, the same energy and stubbornness, that we would put into re-establishing our paper if the enemy should

THE circulation of our paper must be made to grow, to multiply itself. That is a task which should be near to the heart of each individual reader. Especially it should be task of constant attention by every unit of the Party, by every fraction, by every trade union and workers' club. With the growth of the circulation of the Daily Worker all our organizations will grow and flourish, every battle will win greater victories. With every new reader to our paper we take another step nearer to the great battles which will smash the power of capitalism and open up the growth and development of a new socialist society.

Forward to the proletarian revolution! This means, at this moment, forward in the fight to win new readers for the Daily Worker!

The War Debt Question-Two Class Views

THE entire capitalist press and all the alleged statesmen of the country, down to such "thinkers" on economic and political subjects as vice-president-elect Garner, continue to put the question of war debts in first place.

A canvass of the leaders of both houses of congress showed all sorts of conflicting ideas on the question. Henry F. Ashurst, blatherskite democratic senator from Arizona, opposes cancellation on the pretext of defending American taxpayers from more Blaine, republican senator from Wisconsin, and ornament of the LaFollette machine, takes the same stand as the Arizona democrat; so do Dill, democrat of the state of Washington and Hatfield, republican of West Virginia. But A. H. Vandenberg, republican senator from Michigan, repeats the campaign cry of the democratic presidentelect Roosevelt, and says a reconsideration of the debt question should be based upon "reciprocal American considerations", while the eminent Garner blurts out (in conflict with Roosevelt's stand) that he opposed the first moratorium and is opposed to an extension of it.

Roosevelt's "views" as expressed in his campaign speeches, were that debt arrangements be concluded with foreign nations upon "international trade compacts and other international trade rehabilitation proects", or, in the words of the New York Times, that "we give up something in order to gain more.'

The position of the United States government on debts will not be decided by the paltry opinions of the senators and congressmen at Washington, nor by Roosevelt. The government is simply the executive committee of the capitalist class and these and all other important questions will be decided by the Wall Street gang, again emphasizing the correctness of the profound observation of Lenin who said: "Bourgeois parliadecides the most important questions in a bourgeois democracy, as they are decided by the stock exchange and the banks. (Em-

IT is quite obvious that the utterances of Roosevelt on the debt question were echoes of Wall Street-that they were prepared with the active aid of such people as John W. Davis, Thomas W. Lamont and other eminences of the Morgan galaxy. The proposals of Roosevelt to reconsider the debt question on the basis of reciprocal trade agreements, tariffs, etc., with individual nations constitute an attempt to smash the "gentlemen's agreement" reached at Lausanne between Britain, France. Italy and Belgium and, of course, clearly reflects the tremendous sharpening inner imperialist antagonisms throughout the world.

In order to dupe the starving workers and the impoverished farmers the capitalist press and all politicians state that the only alternative to "favorable debt settlements", that is debt settlements satisfactory to Wall Street, is placing greater tax burdens upon the masses.

It is generally recognized that these debts cannot be paid. That is to say, it is not possible to gouge these billions out of the masses of European workers and farmers to pay back money their capitalist governments borrowed from the United States-money that was in past used to not for terror campaigns against the revolutionary masses in many countries, especially Italy, Poland, Yugoslavia, Rumania, Hungary and to support war and interventionist conspiracies against the Soviet Union. But the Wall Street shylocks insist that even though the masses Europe are bled white they must still get their pound of flesh. And in e comments of the press and politicians upon this, there is not one who questions the demands of the Wall Street jackals Not one of those who pretend to be concerned about the tax burdens upon the American masses utter one word about the complete wiping out of these debts, say nothing of the billions of dollars of private loans floated through the House of Morgan, the National City Bank and other such institutions.

S against all this trickery, this imperialist policy of utilizing the debts A arising out of the past war to juggle for position as the world swings into a new round of wars and revolutions, the workers and farmers must the demand for complete cancellation of all debts-both public and private. That means to wipe out of existence the boxes now held by the bankers and speculators. The fight against the decise is an inseparable part of the fight against the whole Wall Street program of hunger and war.

As against the capitalist "solutions" for the debts question and for vercoming the crisis of capitalism we fight for the revolutionary way out-the overthrowing of capitalism and the establishment of a workers' and farmers' government—the only final solution,

The Homeless Youth and Relief Fight

By SADIE VAN VEEN

IN the United States at the present time, nearly half a million boys between the ages of 12 and 21 are roaming the country in search of food. According to the registra-tion department of the Bureau for the Homeless, 5,000 of these young boys are in New York without food or shelter, eating and sleeping where they can—a prey to every danger, disease, accident and starv-

Many thousands of these homeles wanderers, hopping freight trains across the country, are in danger of being crippled or killed. On one railroad system more than fifty boys were killed last winter. The toll of accidents and death is not known. Railroad officials in Kansas City report that in one month alone more than fifteen hundred boys passed through the city on freight trains.

NO FOOD AT HOME

This great army of the youth of the United States is forced out on the road because there are no jobs Thousands of the boys are fresh from grammar and high schools. Many of them are college graduates. Others have had jobs for years, but are now in the army of the unemployed.

In many cases the boys belong to families that have broken up each member out in search of food and shelter. Sometimes the mother and the youngest child are taken in by relatives or friends while the rest of the family goes on the road.

THE instances of cruelty and callousness on the part of city and charity organizations in bringing misery and despair to the families of the unemployed are too numerous to go into here. The unemployed of every city in the land could tell many tales about it.

HOMELESS WAIFS

The greatest number of the homeless boys are forced to leave home for the reason that there is not food enough at home to go around and they go on the road hoping to find some way to provide for themselves and hoping also to be able to get some work and send a few dollars home to the family.

The nine Scottsboro boys are typical example. They left home looking for work. Mrs. Wright, the mother of two of the Scottsboro boys was not anxious to see her boys leave home-even though she was earning only six dollars with which to provide food for herself, her two boys and her little girl.

The frame-up of the Scottsboro boys and the danger of the electric chair are typical of the dangers of all the Negro boys on the road. Both white and Negro boys in the south are picked up and sent to the infamous chain gangs.

PRISON authorities have reported that the jails of the country are filled at the present time with young boys of 21 and under. While thousands have been picked up on the road for vagrancy and sent to jail, many others, according to the reports turn to theft as the only way left to provide food for empty

These millions of children belong to the unemployed and face cold and hunger this coming

This is the situation of the youth of the working class in a country bursting with piled up food shoes clothing, and with thousands of empty houses and apartments. This is the way that the billionaires of the country deal with the children of the workers. This is capitalism in the richest country in the world.

Hearst's New York American suggests that the homeless boys be recruited into military camps. They would like to make soldlers out of the boys and bribe them with food and shelter, to shoot down other workers who fight against unemployment and starvation.

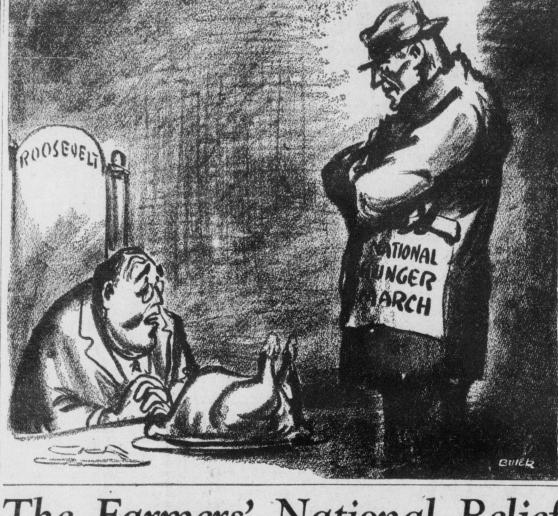

Unemployment insurance would save the children of the workers and the tens of thousands of homeless boys. Unemployment insurance and winter relief would mean food, shelter and clothing for them and their families

WILL JOIN

In the forthcoming hunger march to Washington many of these boys will take their place along with other thousands of unemployed The hungry and homeless unemployed, men, women and children of the country are fast learning that they have nothing to hope for from this system and its Wall Street government. They are learning that while the millionaires and high officials are pretending to for the unemployed, they have their jails and chain gangs ready. The rich capitalist government has bullets, not bread, for the starving.

LL these facts are known to the A government and its officials of New York and every other large city are fully aware of all these things. But they have no intention of yielding up part of the wealth that they have hoarded, to the millions of the unemployed and their families. They will not dig into their dividends and incomes and treasuries unless they are forced to do so by the militancy of the unemployed.

Unemployed workers, organize and march! Demand immediate cash relief! Demand Unemployment Insurance at the expense of the Government and the million-aires. Join and support the National Hunger March!

DAY by day the overwhelming mass of American farmers are being pounded more savagely against the rocks. Farm products hit new lows under the vicious pile driver of the crisis. Wheat prices strike the lowest level in history Oats are so cheap and gas so high that the Oklahoma farmer hitches his horse to pull his car. Whole lambs sell for twenty-five cents. Thousands of orchards are full of rotting fruit it does not pay to pick; wasps get fat, drunk, while the number of hollow-bellied unemployed mounts from coast to coast. Within the last twenty years taxes have shot up two hundred per cent in many of the southern states. Out of a total of a billion acres in farms, more than two hundred million are tax delinquent now. In Mississippi in one day forty thousand farms go under the hammer. Only about one-fifth of the total farm land in the country owned by the working farmer. And to add to this dark picture. hundreds of thousands of men and women from the stilled factories flock back to the farms from which they so eagerly escaped.

THE FARMERS

Times are bad and going to be worse. This winter will be a terror for there's no cash on the nomesteads. Farmers are aroused. They feel like a bull tied to a crowbar in a poor lot and left to dig and paw the same old eaten circle At Camp Hill, Alabama, during the summer of 1931, the Negro croppers revolted and organized a croppers' union. Attacked by a white posse, one Negro was killed and several "disappeared." A denuty sheriff told the newspapers, "They went to cut wood." In spite of the reign of terror, the croppers won their demands. In Janu ary 1931, Coney, a tenant farmer, led five hundred starving farmers into the town of England, Arkansas, demanded, and got food.

IN Minnesota two hundred farmers stopped an eviction in the snow, eighteen below zero. In Elgin, Nebraska, on October 6 five thousand farmers, representing ten counties, spiked a mortgage sale on the farm of a widow with seven children. The farmers elected three men to bid. Every one else kept still. They bid 35 cents per head on the cattle, 15 cents on the hogs. cents per set for harness, and 25 cents for all farm implements such as wagons, plows, etc. The banker was forced to sign the release of the mortgage and cancel the notes.

"EVEN IN NEW ENGLAND"

The yeast is working even in the hard sour lump the New England farmer has seemed to be. The following is taken from a letter by a New Hampshire farmer: "I saw Rufus today. One of his cows got thru the fence into my pasture. He came up and I helped him re-pair the fence. We had quite a talk. He says that he has about 70 cows, has been selling milk at a great loss to a big dairy firm, that he has had to do without farm help, and is broke. He can't even sell his cattle at a decent price, half a decent price. He blames his troubles on the middlemen who, he says, are getting vastly rich on his losses. They make their spread, he says. He has been farming for 30 odd years, and has seen a steady slow descent all that time, one greatly accelerated in the last three years. As he loses more, his time of work increases until he now works from 4 a.m. till 10 p.m. and may lose his farm this winter. He just won't stand for that." And last, most indicative of the awakening and growing militancy of the American farmer is the Iowa milk strike. Followed in a half dozen states, it has jolted a million heads into hard thinking.

THESE explosions appear to be merely sporadic. They shake a certain locality for a time, and then the old rural hush in which the farmer lives set in again. In many quarters it was the impression that these scattered uprisings would be as little effective as the agrarian revolt of the eighties with its battle cry, "Raise more hell than corn, boys." The effects of the Iowa farmers' strike on farmers throughout the country, and the calling by rank and file farmers of a Farmers' National Relief Conference to be held in Washington show there is no basis whatsoever for such impressions.

THE STRUGGLE IN IOWA

During the height of the farm strike in Iowa, 1,000 farmers met in a small Sioux City Hall. They decided to issue a call for a conference of farmers from every state in the union, the meeting place Washington, the time December 7 to 10. One of them expressed the spirit of the meeting when he said: "The National Con ference of rank and file farmers to formulate a national relief program and to decide on united ac-tion by all militant farmers of the country is our answer to the bankruptcy and ruin which threaten the farm population. Eviction and foreclosures are just around the corner for the majority of us Since our leaders, both those elected by us to represent us in government and those who head our farm organizations, have shown that they cannot or will not help us. we, the farmers, must take matters into our own hands' In the call for the Conference farmers summed up their grievances in these four demands 1. Debts, rents, taxes, mortgages remain high. Prices are ridiculously low. Therefore we demand a moratorium on all these debts 2. With 15,000,000 unemployed and no hope of jobs in the cities, we proclaim our right to remain on our farm homes. We demand that all foreclosures, tax sales, or evictions be stopped.

3. We demand from the dealers, middlemen, food trusts that a deep cut into their swollen profits be used to raise farm prices. We insist that the rise in the price of food products come of these middlemen, and not from increased prices to city con-

4. Our crops are bringing no cash return but sell for a loss. Without money, millions of us cannot buy food or clothing. Our children are slowly starving, contracting pellagra and other hunger diseases. To insure at least bare necessities of life, we demand cash relief for all poor farmers.

THE farmers rolled up their sleeves higher. They wrote to Lem Harris, Pennsylvania farmer (now secretary of the Call Committee for the National Farm Relief Work), to become their executive secretary: "We have no funds and no salaries. We have all we can do to raise, feed and fuel to move our covered wagons. Help us to come to Washington, and we will tell the world as well as the government." Lem Harris accepted. A Call Committee of seven farmers from such widely scattered localities as Ft. Lauderdale, Florida and Sanish, North Dakota, was elected to assist him. Like loud bugles, organizers were immediately dispatched throughout the country to marshal all militant farmers for the march to Washington. They were instructed to invite all farm ormembers. This include the Grange, Farm Bureau Federation, Farmers' Union, the United Farm ers' League as well as unorganized

MEETINGS THROUGHOUT UNITED STATES

Meetings are being held all over the country. Delegates are elected, one to represent every twenty-five farmers voting. Delegates are banding in tens. At least one farmer will not be in use around the farm early in December, and so will be used on the march. Farmers are being taxed forty cents a piece Each delegate must be supplied with $10, which means $100 per truck, enough to cover gas, oil, and some of the expenses on the road and in Washington. Routes which the caravans of trucks will take have been mapped out already. Sympathetic farmers on the way have been organized to provide meals and overnight sleeping places. Many private citizens have offered accommodations in Washington. Delegates are to hold meetings on the road to recruit new members and so insure nationwide representation at the conference.

Whether three hundred or five hundred farmers will reach Washington is difficult to say at the Even 300 representative delegates, however, can speak for 30,000,000 people on American farms just as well because from Maine to Arizona and from Oregon to Florida the reasons for discontent are the same. The farmers are not coming to Washington to shake Hoover's hand or gape at the eyeless needle of the Washington Monument. They will place their demands against foreclosures, against evictions for debt moratorium, for cash relief before the President and Congress. They will formulate a national farm program which will meet the needs of farmers throughout the whole country. They will meet in smaller group to tackle sectional problems. They will listen to delegations of unemployed and draw up a joint fight ing program for the unemployed and the small and middle farmers. They will lay plans for future conferences. Immediately after the Conference, farmer speakers will be sent to a thousand one-horse towns and cities to report on the work of the conference, to line up sympathizers and farmers for further mass action.

OVERCOMING OBSTACLES

There are obstacles in the way of the Conference. The Church has been set against it. In Nebraska the Catholic Church arranged services purposely on certain nights when meetings were taking place in order to stop the election of delegates. Local, state, and federal officials look with disfavor upon the whole business. Washington's new Police Commissioner has sent a message to the nation's police to investigate this proposed "invasion by disgruntled farmers" The exclusion of the rich farmer and the so-called farm leader, whose income comes from other sources than farming has aroused intense antagonism. farmer's long isolation and suspicion of radical ideas must be overcome; he must be moved to break through the long thin promises spun by busy politicians, especially during election time. Despite such difficulties, the odds appear to be all for a successful Conference. The antagonism of church, politician, business man prove the essential soundness and militancy of this rank and file farmers' movement. This draws the class lines clearer. The plan to invite the unemployed and to send farmer speakers to cities will help emphasize the interlocking interests of producer and city consumer. It will strike home more forcefully the viciousness of a system which gives the farmers half a cent a pound for wheat, while it soaks consumers eight cents. The Conference does not intend to propose one more plan for juggling the tariff, raising prices by Farm Board action, debentures or allot-The exclusion of bankers and business men is evidence enough that the farmers have also lost all faith in the banker-business man-farmer cooperatives. pools from which foxy corporations flipped the farmer and crunched the last life out of him.

NEGRO SLAVERY TODAY

John L. Spivak's Stirring Novel "GEORGIA NIGGER"

NOTE.—"Georgia Nigger" is a smashing exposure of the hideous persecution sent mational oppression of the Negro masses. The Daily Worker is relentlessly opposed to the white railing class term, "nigger," and to the oppression and contemptuous spatment of Negroes which it symbolizes. The author shares this view, but, in order to paint a true picture of these horrible conditions, he considered it necessary to use this term as otherwise he would have put into the mouths of the boss lynchers terms of respect for Negroes which they do not use.—Editor.

INSTALMENT 18

THE STORY SO FAR: Legally kidnapped by the county authorities at the behest of the powerful white planter, Jim Deering, who needs cotton pickers, five Negroes, including David Jackson, son of the poor share-cropper, Dee Jackson, are forced, under threat of being sentenced to the chain gang, to accept Deering's offer to pay $25 fine for each of them as advances against wages. Deering's plantation is actually a slave camp ruled by terror. One of David's fellow-slaves is shot dead by the planter and another is savagely beaten. David decides to run away, and, aided by the cook, he manages to escape. He makes his way home and learns that the sheriff is already on his trail. While David goes into hiding in the woods, his father, Dee, decides to seek the aid of Ramsey, a white planter on whose farm the Jacksons had been slaves before the Civil War. Now read on:

Spontaneous meetings are breaking out and electing delegates in a mass way. A troop of fifty farmers is coming from North Dakota. Wyoming, Washington, California, Nebraska are sending strong delegations. In Minnesota they are planning a Farming Youth Conference November 19 in preparation for the National Conference. The State Conventions of the Farmers' Union in Montana and North Dakota have unanimously endorsed the Conference, in each case upon a motion from the floor. From the South a solid body of Negro croppers and tenants will be present. Farmers from Perkasie, Pennsylvania, have made arrangements to feed and house sixty-two delegates. greatly interested in the struggles of the farmers but are actively aiding the farmers in some of these struggles. This alliance, which is just being formed, must be cemented with further acts of solidarity between them. Labor unions and unemployed councils should help the farmers to stop eviction and sheriff sales, and also help them picket roads in strikes against the marketing monopolies. Farmers should give all aid to workers' struggles, including the donating of food for strike relief. From this alliance, which is now being started, between farmers and workers, will come vast might for the struggle against the food trust which ruins farmers with low prices for their products and starves workers to death with blok prices for the same products.
