Budget Message Continues Attack on Toilers

Hoover's message to the 72nd pankers' congress which called for further attacks upon the standards of life of the toiling masses was favorably received both by republicans and democrats. Yesterday the Congress was awaiting the Hoover budget message which would contain the same bankers' program in the terms of dollars and cents. The outstanding points of Hoover's message are:

the price of commodities. It takes the burden of maintaining their own bandit government off the big capi talists and places it upon the poor.

the future.

False Statistics Given Again Hoover repeated his deceptive campaign lie that recovery from the economic "depression" had already set in as a result of the activity of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation which placed billions at the disposal of the banks and industries while denying relief to the workers and farmers.

In the face of mass starvation undernourishment, with its accompanying disease and death, and the great drop in the birth rate. Hoover tried to make it appear that public health was advancing and that the infant death rate was declining.

While the republican politicians praised the speech, some democratic members of congress pretended to be The next night to a large group of dissatisfied because it was not specific enough and made no concrete proposals for recovery. However, none of them assailed it on any fundamental point for the simple reason that their own program is no different from Hoover's. They endeavor to help Wall Street put over its program and try to defeat the mass movement against hunger and war by fostering the illusion that Roose-velt will be different from Hoover when in office.

Democrats in Senate Plan Fake Move for 'Broadened Relief'

WASHINGTON, Dec. 7 .- Forced by the demonstration of the 3,000 representatives of the 16,000,000 unemployed to make some gesture at meeting the demands of the starving, the democrats in the Senate are planning to start a fake move for what their press agents call "a greatly broadened relief program."

This "greatly broadened program" consists chiefly of removing federal loans to states from the jurisdiction of the Reconstruction Finance Cor-poration. This is entirely a tech-nical question and will not provide an ounce more food for the starving

Of the $300,000,000 which the R. F. C. has at its disposal for lending to states for direct relief, only $50,000,000 has actually been granted, while tremendous sums have been to the banks and relieved.

GIBSON FUND IS BUT HALF RAISED

Flu Epidemic Starts; Death Rate Up

NEW YORK .- The Gibson Committee admitted yesterday that less than half of its proposed $15,000,000 fund for emergency work had been raised, and "prospects look less bright than in the beginning." Most of what is raised is contributed by corporations who check it off the payrolls of their workers—and fire them if they object.

At the same time, the Gibson comnittee admits a great increase in the number of homeless boys. This is confirmed by the Children's Aid Society, which finds an 88 per cent increase in the number of homeless under 21, between October and No vember. The November total is th largest in the history of the society

GREET THE DAILY WORKER

To All Workers & Organizations!

Dear Comrades: SUNDAY, JAN. 8, 1933, MARKS THE NINTH ANNIVERSARY OF THE DAILY WORKER. These were nine years of hard struggle in the life of our paper. During these years, the Daily Worker has made itself indispensable in the various struggles of the American working class.

As the central organ of the Commu-nist Party, it has rallied the workers for the support and defense of the Soviet It has constantly earried on the fight to mobilize the workers in the struggle for better living conditions, against wage cuts, for unemployment insurance and for the ort of the Hunger March. It fights against the oppression of the foreign-born workers, against deportations, for equal rights of the Negro masses, and for the freedom of all class war prisoners—Tom Mooney and the Nine Scottsborn Boys etc. Scottsboro Boys, etc.

This celebration is a great event for all workers. We ask you to express your solidarity and support the Daily Worker by sending Greetings to the only Revo-lutionary Daily in the English language.

2 Messages to Congress

TWO messages were delivered to the country on Dec. 6: 1 The message of Wall Street to Congress delivered by President Hoover and the message of the suffering millions delivered by the 3000 delegates represented by the Hunger March

Mr. Hoover once more declared in his message "The acute phases of the crisis have obviously passed"; he once more appealed to the need of "restoring confidence" as the force which will bring back prosperity. This in a different form has become the theme for the Roosevelt song of "Happy days are here again".

The election of Roosevelt, the opening of Congress, were supposed to put the country in the happy mood of cheerful waiting and new hope, thus preparing "public opinion" for a new vicious, murderous attack on the standard of living of the toiling masses. By creating a spirit of false confidence and hope, through the two Party system by which Wall Street rules, the capitalists hoped to demoralize and disorganize the working class, and to weaken its growing fighting mood. The march of 3000 Hunger March delegates throughout the country, its presence in Washington, has, to say the least, seriously interfered with and disturbed, the strategy of the bourgeoisie following the election of Roosevelt and the opening of Congress.

Beer and war debts were to be made the main issues. Hoover and Roosevelt hurried to confer on the debt question. With a slight difference of form, unanimity was easily reached by the representatives of monoply capitalism. The debt question, reflecting the growing imperialist conflicts, particularly between Great Britain and the U.S., was used as a means of letting loose the poison of chauvinist propaganda and ideology. For what purpose? To divert the attention of the masses from the struggle for bread, to manufacture public opinion for war as the capitalist way out of the crisis. With the growing taxation, the debt question is also being utilized as a means of putting the heavy taxation program of finance capital on the shoulders of the toiling masses. Garner, the running mate of Roosevelt, rushed into Congress with the beer question. But the menacing fist of the toilers, rising from below, broke through the iron ring of military blockade, and upset the little game of the Wall Street politicians. THE HUNGER MARCH IN WASH-INGTON, REPRESENTING THE STARVING MILLIONS, DEMANDED FROM CONGRESS BREAD BEFORE BEER, DEMANDED THAT THE WAR FUNDS BE TURNED INTO THE FUND FOR UNEMPLOYED IN LOOVER in his message to Congress, said. "In the provision against distress during this winter, the great private agencies of the country have been mobilized again". Here once more the 16 million unemployed are condemned to death from starvation from the charity relief administered by the "great private agencies". And the army of the unemployed is steadily growing. The representatives of the unemployed marching in Washington exposed the charity starvation relief headed by the leading democrat Newton D. Baker, to demand from the demo-cratic congress that the election promises for unemployment relief be made good. THE HUNGER MARCH IN WASHINGTON SERVED NOTICE ON THE RULING CLASS THAT IT WILL DEVELOP SUCH A STORM OF STRUGGLE THROUGH THE COUNTRY THAT CON-GRESS WILL BE COMPELLED TO GRANT UNEMPLOYMENT IN-SUPANCE TO THE STARVING MILLIONS.

Hoover in his message demanded the passage of sales tax. He called for drastic wage cuts. On these points there is touching unanimity between the Republican and Democratic Parties who just went through a "bitter" election "struggle". Starvation relief, wage cuts, taxing the poor, war preparations—a program for the murderous capitalist way out of the crisis. THE HUNGER MARCH IN WASHINGTON DEMANDED THAT THE RICH WHO ARE RESPONSIBLE FOR THE CRISIS BE

The presence and unparalelled spirit of the Hunger March in Washington shoved into the background the cheap demagogy of the Wall Street politicians. The demands and issues raised by the Hunger March, the heroism and determined spirit of the 3000 elected delegates, exposed fake issues of congress and its capitalist program for solving the

A feeling of fear and panic seized the rulers of the land. Admiration and pride ran through the working class, for THEIR representatives in

The unyielding spirit and determination of the Hunger March delegates in Washington shook the complacency and smugness of the representatives of finance capital. The example of working-class discipline, d by the Hunger March in Washington, will be of lasting inspiration to the workers in the country and steel them for further battles.

THE very announcement of the Hunger March was met with a declara-I tion of war on the part of official Washington. At first they tried to strangle it in the localities. They miserably failed in that. Bravely did they announce that they would never, under any circumstances allow the marchers to enter Washington in a body. But the mass struggles accompanying the Hunger March brought it to Washington. Then the Hunger Marchers were held as virtual prisoners. Official Washington announced that the Hunger March would never be allowed to parade, to demonstrate, to present its demands to Congress. The greatest military force and display in peace time ever assembled was organized and sent against the Hunger March. But all in vain. was compelled to yield and retreat and further retreat. It retreated with an army equipped with all the modern paraphernalia, before the Hunger March which was only armed with revolutionary leadership, proletarian discipline and organization.

What made the ruling class yield? The struggle and the demands of the millions as represented by the Hunger March. The growing radicalization of the masses which found concentrated and conscious expression in the heroic behavior of the Hunger March in Washington.

The Hunger March raised sharply before the entire country the struggle against hunger. It has stirred up the masses. It has already forced serious increase in local relief in many cities. It has increased and inspired the confidence of the workers in their own strength and class solidarity. It has developed a wave of local struggles which in many cases already brought material results.

The lesson of mass pressure, mass struggle, militant leadership and organization registered in the Hunger March, will stimulate the growing struggles in the country in the fourth winter of the crisis.

Engdahl Remembered the Prisoners

J. Louis Engdahl, national chairman of the International Laber Defense, died in Moscow, November 21, 1932. A mass memorial meeting in his honor will be held in the Bronx Coliseum, December 18.)

ONE phase of the life and work of J. Louis Engdahl should be especially noted-his devotion to the interests of the class war prisoners. No matter what his other duties in the International Labor Defense, he always kept the prisoners and their families constantly in mind. Largely as a result of his planning and insistence, the Prisoners' Relief Fund was set up last year to make special efforts to reach new groups of sympathizers who would help in this prisoners relief job.

In connection with our campaign at that time Comrade Engdahl wrote a special article called "Rethe Prisoners", in which he said in part; of the working class is to its prisoners. This also involves our duty to their families, left 'on the outside' without the breadwinner.
"One of the first obligations

This task has been too mi neglected in the past. The International Labor Defense, which organizes and carries through this special task, has met with considerable indifference, even within its own ranks, in developing the relief of prisoners and their dependents, in uniting the workers on the outside with the class war prisoners through corremondence, the patronage avetem, visits wherever possible Generally, the task is to show every victim of capitalist class justice entombed in prisons that they have not been forgotten."

Then Comrade Engdahl told his readers precisely what they could do about it: (1) Send an immediate contribution to the Prison ers' Relief Fund. (2) Pledge to pay a definite and regular amount to the Fund.

No more timely excerpt from the varied and forceful writing of Engdahl could be quoted than this appeal for the class war prisoners and their dependents. Were Engdahl still with us he would be making such appeals right now. especially in connection with the Prisoners' Winter Relief Campaign of the I. L. D. (80 East 11th St., New York City).

Engdahl's memory is warm and inspiring to all those engaged in any form of working class relief but especially to those engaged in class war prisoners' work. For he was the outstanding figure in this type of work, a work that must be carried on now with more than redoubled energy. New workers must be brought to help in this work. Comrade Engdahl was always looking for fresh forces to

There should be scores of those who will want to help carry on where Engdahl was forced to leave Their slogan of work must be his own words: "Support the class war prisoners and their depend-We cannot forget a single prisoner for a single dam"

"MEAT" FOR THE BANKERS!

By BILL DUNNE.

THE MAGNIFICENT revolutionary morale, mass protest and sup-port throughout the country and unbreakable working class discipline defeated the most elaborate attempt yet made in the United States in peace time to provoke ut-terances and actions that would have furnished an excuse for a wholesale massacre of the 3,000 Hunger March delegates in Wash-

Victory on this issue is with the working class.

The entire capitalist press joined in the campaign to picture the Hunger March as an armed invasion of Washington organized by the Communist Party for the purpose of provoking bloodshed which it could "capitalize.

PROVOCATION BY PRESS

Every sheet from the dignified tory New York Times, the staid and ultra-Republican and reactionary Herald-Tribune, the Hearst and Scripps-Howard press to the gutter tabloids like the New York Daily and Sunday News, exxceeded all previous efforts in their attempts to create a moral and political background for any and all attacks by the police and military forces organized against the National Hunger March and the interests and demands of the millions of unemployed workers which it voiced.

During this whole period there has been shown the indispensability of the Daily Worker and the revolutionary press as the main weapon in exposing this tactic of the enemy, at the same time mobilizing mass support for the whole struggle and for the defeat of the campaign for denial of elementary political rights and forcible suppression.

"REDS Threaten Bloodshed on Capital March," said the Sun-day News in a two-column black headline on Dec. 4. But even this lying and murderously provocative slander of unarmed elected delegates of the working class victims of the Republican-Democrat starvation regime in the richest country in the world, does not characterize adequately the provocative content of the story. It bears all the earmarks of having been written or inspired by agents of the notorious department of justice and is quite typical of the mouthings of these and provocators

FAKE BENJAMIN SPEECH The agency responsible for this story—whether it be the copy desk of the Sunday News, the reporter, or the government—actually describes a speech of Herbert Benjamin, secretary of the National Committee of Unemployed Councils, which he never made! Under a Baltimore date-line the story begins: "Plenty of bloodshed and more than one killing is expected when the Hunger Marchers invade Washington tomorrow, a Government official predicted tonight."

"'There's going to be shooting and somebody will die," declared a Federal undercover agent who has been mingling with the Reds since they left New York." "There's more than one gun hidden in that mob. The sleuth indicated nearly 2,000 surly Communists who hooted and jeered every mention of Uncle Sam at their rally in Tom Mooney Hall." We understand they're coming into the capital this year primed for trouble,' he continued, 'and the police will oblige them when they cross the District of Columbia

THEN the Sunday News proceeds to write a speech for Benjamin:

"The cops can't put us out. There aren't enough of them. . . . we'll break into the capitol by brute force!" the agitator declared. "They will listen to our demands or we'll stage a riot right on the spot. . . If Hoover brings in the troops there'll be a masacre. Pennsylvania Avenue will run red with blood!"

This report is made up out of wholecloth. It is the kind of speech the department of justice WANT-

DISSAPOINTMENT IN BOSSES' CAMP

There is great disappointment in the capitalist camp and in the stool pigeon rendevous frequented by the hangers-on of the capitalist parties and their press. We must also ator Metcalfe of Rhode Island, beneficiary of the strikebreaking Manville-Jencks textile corporation who sent one of his secretaries to enlist in the Hunger March as a seaman, to leave the March in Balti-more and report on foreign born workers to Secretary of Labor Doak and other high-salaried stool pig-

The 2,000 capital police, the hundreds of city firemen, the semi-official organizations of businessmen and underworld elements, the 4,000 troops held under arms in Fort department of justice agents and other armed forces against the Hunger Marchers, were pictured as self-sacrificing heroes ready to lay down their lives in smashing a threat of civil war.

"Invading Red Horde Marches on Nation's Capitol," screamed the Sunday News.

THE Hunger Marchers were not hungry. This was the general note in the press. They did not represent the interest of the millions of hungry unemployed. This was another note. The leaders were "living in luxury." This was another note. The Hunger Marchers needed no financial aid from other workers. This was a note struck again and again. "From a bankroll the size of a head of cabbage Benjamin paid in-cidental expenses here for his followers. His money was crisp new notes and when asked where he got it he laughed: 'There's plenty of money behind our march to Washington—we're well financed this time.' " (Sunday News, Dec. 4.) "With a suite of rooms at the expensive Hotel Raleigh . . . where comely Communist girls about like a Follies troupe in a tryout, Benjamin has been living the life of Riley while he prepared for

"Capital Musters Big Defense Army," said a headline in the Daily

"Reds to Defy Troop Threat," said the New York American. ANOTHER ANGLE

The Hunger March was violent but was defeated and demoralized as it neared Washington. This was another angle of approach by the enemy press. "Quit Wilmington Under Guard After a Night of Rioting," said Hearst's New York Journal.

"WILMINGTON, Del., Dec. 5 .-Escorted by grim police, the Red Hunger Army began the retreat Wilmington today after a night of rioting, tear gas barrages and bloodshed."

The police, of course, were innocent of any brutality. They had merely driven marchers into a vacant building and then thrown tear gas bombs among them.

The New York Times correspondent reported some of the results of the government-inspired press provocation and incitement to violence against the Hunger March "CUMBERLAND, Md., Dec. 3 .-Confronted by an imposing array of Cumberland city officials, who were supported by a 'citizen army' with a National Guard company mobilized in reserve, 1,300 Hunger Marchers, comprising the 'Western Division' that will converge on Washington tomorrow, abandoned late yesterday their original plan to 'occupy' Cumberland for the Bales of hay were piled high along the road for use as barricades to frustrate any attempt to rush the defending line. The defense forces took up position at a strategic point.

. . where the highway winds between two mountains of solid rock. At that point one man, with a lever, could unloose enough tons of rock to annihilate an army." (New York Times, Dec. 4.-All emphasis is ours).

"At Buffalo Lick Run . . Trooper R. E. Bayliss placed his car directly in the path of the oncoming columns and ordered a halt. He drew his shotgun from his car so as all could see it." . . . "Tomorrow, when a clash appears inevitable, Major Brown will have every available policeman guarding the Capitol and the White House.' Hearst's Washington Herald, Dec.

The self-described liberal World Telegram did its bit: "WASHINGTON, Dec. 5 .- Several ndred of the demonstrators coralled by the police marched in line toward the guarding forces this morning, as though intending to make a break for the city, but they were quickly turned back." There never was any such plan of "making a break" through the s of heavily armed police, with batteries of tear gas and machine guns trained upon the Hunger Marchers." The authorities and the newspaper correspondents knew that the Hunger March delegates and their leadership were depending upon the mass pressure from workers throughout the country to break down the campaign of ecution and suppression. But the World-Telegram gleefully reported:

"Lines of heavily armed policemen, reinforced by 400 firemen, confined them in a roped-off section of boulevard on the edge of the city. At nearby army posts 4,000 troops stood ready for a double-quick mobilization.

hunger marchers today were determined to try to overcome by legal writ OR FORCE the cordons police who barred them from the halls of Congress."

THE TIMES injected a new note in a dispatch from Cumberland Dec. 4. The Hunger Marchers were "quarreling among themselves. Police early today reported fighting among the marchers, but this was stopped." Presumably by the intervention of the humane police. Defeat and discouragement for the Hunger March and what it stood for was the note struck by the New York Herald Tribune: "Hunger Army Bivouacked; Police Watch—Icy Wind Swirls Dust, Sky Threatens Rain; 2,500 at Journey's End. Dismal Camp Near Cap ital-Stern Cordon Bars Further Advance," the Herald Tribune headline shrieked on Dec. 5.

ITS PURPOSE.

The purpose of this barrage of press provocation, of which we have recorded only one-thousandth of one per cent, is made clear by the actions of the police detailed to intern the 3000 Hunger Marchers. Obviously acting under or-ders, they tried by insult, of scene verbal abuse and physical attacks on individuals and groups to provoke an outbreak that would give a plausible public excuse for turning loose the murderous array of

"Yeah. Nothin' to do 'cept wuk out yo' time-or die out." "Or run out.

"An' git ketched an' put in de sweat box." "Lots o' convicts run out."

Yeah. Whey? Tell me dat? Whey dey run?" "Houn' dogs on lan' an' wild cats in de swamps.

"Yeah. Dey ain' no 'scape fo' niggers." BUT even to think of escape makes it easier when the guard curses and the sweat dribbles down your body while you bend and rise, bend and rise, fourteen shovelsful to the minute, hour after hour, under a tropic sun. Shackles are off and a free body runs in the fields, in the fields, in the swamps, on the highway, hunted by man and dogs but-free. In the noon period Ebenezer dropped tiredly beside David at the roadside and stared morosely at the spikes.

"I got de blues," he said. boy nodded sympathetically. "I'd lak ter see my two chillun, but I doan even know whey dey is."

David did not answer.
"I could fine 'em if I was out." THERE OUGHT TO BE TWO

The sun's glare hurt the boy's eyes and he covered them with his hat. The guard and the walkingboss sat with their backs to a tree, watching the convicts.

Mules grazed on the seared grass. "I foun' 'em once w'en I run out an' I kin do hit again.'

DAVID shook his head. "How you git ten minutes start?"

"Dat's whut I got all figgered out," Ebenezer said triumphantly. "Jes a li'l mo'nin' on Con's grave. It was a simple scheme and in its very simplicity lay the chance for success. Police Chief Brown had for two days been telling reporters and other inquirers the Hunger Marchers 'are like anvone else. But at no time were they treated like anyone else."

The police singled out Negroes for special abuse. They tried to arouse hatred of Negroes. Here is one incident:
"No less than 25 policemen, including a lieutenant. surrounded (There were eight men in it, two of them colored.) out of there, you lousy white trach, traveiling around with blecks', shouted a policeman. Four of the men were roughly hauled out 'Tried to get out on us, hey?' And a stream of unprintable language tumbled from police lips. 'Well, it don't work. Get back in the car you— and drive in where you belong. Sick, are you? Get back swamps, everyone in Buzzard's Roost knew enough not to try for them. Two had fled there once and two weeks later a trapper had found what the wild cats had left of them. The warden would have no fear of a break in that direction, not with chains and spikes on their legs. Only the open road held hope for escaping convicts in this camp, and on that the hounds would find them

WORTH THE RISK Against capture and punishment was the chance of success, of shedding spikes, and the fear of shackle poison that might cost him a leg and leave him a helpless cripple, unfit even for a white man's farm. The thoughts raced through his mind. To the excited imagination

The sun sank behind the fields and the guard shouted "Lay 'em down!" In the truck Ebenezer sat at his side and while the car shook its way through the gloom, pressed his foot gently, a friendly pressure. Bill Twine called "Come by me! Lemme smell you!" under the reddish flares. In the mess hall

David knew what to do. He had been told in a few swift sentences and he raised his legs over the bench and followed him into the yard. The boy walked slowly to the kitchen. He saw the warden and the night guard talking to-

FACTS AND LIES.—The official reports of the wardens of southern prison camps are concected in order to conceal the terrible conditions under which thousands of prisoners, Negro and white live. Above is an official diet report of the Monroe Count, Ga. chain gang, containing a glowing account of the food given the prisoners. Five-sevenths pounds of bacon and one pound of beef per prisoner, various vege-tables "without stint", "fresh meat or fish are given twice a week with out stint". Below is semething of the real situation as contained in a letter from a prisoner on the McDuffie County, Ga., chain gang. This prisoner writes: "Boss men knock and beat up the prisoners and some time we don't get enuff to eate—don't get but 2 meals on Sunday. We don't get but one slice of meat each meal." The quality of the "fresh" meat can be judged from the documents published yesterday on this page which showed that a Negro prisoner was actually poisoned by the
