The New York World-Telegram of Monday prints an article by one of its chief feature writers, Dr. H. Parker Willis, former secretary of the Federal Reserve Board, which points out that the enthusiasm for Roosevelt ballyhoo, which was quite pronounced the first two weeks of the new administration, is rapidly giving way to "some of the same old spirit of doubt and discouragement." Continuing he cautiously states:

Indeed, these are not lacking who incline to the view that fundamentally after all there is no great difference between the philosophy of the new and the former administrations as to 'relief', however much contrast there may be in the forms underlying ideas

The above is a clear admission of the correctness of what the Daily Worker time and again said about Roosevelt's demagogy being merely a cloak to cover the same fundamental policies that Hoover carried out. Such an admission condemns, by the same measure, the World-Telegram and the whole liberal crew who flocked onto the Roosevelt bandwagon and helped to sow illusions that the democratic presidential candidate and platform were fundamentally different from the republican administration that had carried forward an increasing offensive against the standards of life of the workers and farmers and other impoverished sections of the

Such confessions, however, do not indicate that the liberals have in any way abandoned their deceptive role. The eminent doctor, Mr. Willis, in the same article in which he records this "rather sudden change of heart" of large sections of the population in regard to the Roosevelt administration, tries to further deceive his readers by pretending to believe that Roosevelt may yet do something to vindicate his promises now already recognized as broken.

Roosevelt, nor no other capitalist executive, will do anything to relieve the suffering of the masses, unless they are compelled to do so by the most widespread and implacable struggle; a struggle that decisively puts before them the alternative of coming through with emergency relief and unemployment insurance or facing worse consequences.

The growing distrust of the Roosevelt administration also emphasises the Communist declarations that every attempt of the capitalists to overcome their crisis orly deepens it and makes clear, to ever larger numbers, that there is no purely economic way out of the crisis for the capitalist class. This realization, as it penetrates the masses, advances further the struggle for the working class way out of the crisis-the revolutionary way out.

Lehman Wage Law Legalizes Sweat Shop Conditions

minimum wage law sponsored by Governor Lehman and approved by Republican and Democratic politicians will soon be passed by the New York State Legislature at Albany. Representatives of capitalism are vieing with each other to appear before the masses as the benefactors of the toiling women and children. Officials of the A. F. of L., the Women's Trade Union League, reformist organizations as well as many employers give the minimum wage proposals their loud blessings.

The bill most likely to pass, the Wald bill, which has the approval of the Governor, does not really establish a minimum wage for the working women and children. It merely provides for a state "fair-wage" board authorized to investigate the conditions in each industry and to recommend the lowest wage level that the employers may adopt. The state board will be composed of employers and their friends among the labor misleaders, who will determine the minimum wage not on the basis of a decent living wage for every woman and child worker, but on a wage that will be pared down to the lowest level to permit the highest profits.

In presenting the proposal of a minimum wage law in a message to the legislature, Governor Lehman, who is the strongest advocate of the Wald measure, stated: "I am confident I voice the needs of industry in urging the necessity of assuring a bottom level of wages.'

A bottom level of wages means the lowest level of wages!

The forces now lined up at Albany for this law, have, luring the four years of crisis, worked in closest cooperation with the bosses in their merciless wage slashing campaigns which have driven wages down to present starvation levels. They have been responsible for the slugging of pickets, the break-up of picket lines and the issuance of injunctions to stifle every struggle of the workers against the bosses' attacks on their living standards. Only a few days before his message to the legislature proposing a minimum wage, Governor Lehman publicly stated that he would oppose any measure of unemployment insurance for the millions of starving unemployed in New York State, on the ground that it would work hardship on the employers. The minimum wage proposal must therefore be viewed as a demagogic maneouver to cover up the direct brazen reversal of the democratic campaign promises contained in the national platform which promised state unemployment insur-

The present legislation does not establish a minimum wage, but merely the machinery for investigating such a minimum, not on the basis of the needs of the workers, but on what the industry will bear. It will not provide a living wage to the miserably exploited women and children.

Men, women and children sweatshop workers who are eking out a starvation existence, can only achieve a decent living wage through organization and struggle. It is the task of our Party and our militant trade unions to organize and lead these workers in a struggle to put an end to sweatshop misery. The power of organization and the unity of the working class can put pressure on the state apparatus to force up the legal minimum established by the state and can compel the bosses to enforce the laws they har written. over the country to greater activity

ABOUT THE AUTHOR

BROUGHT up in a bourgeois ousehold-Youth Movement -1914. Volunteer-then four and a half years in the trenches. I met Hugo Haase—the first man from whom I heard something of "socialism" in the whole of my life, in the Railway Sappers' Barracks at Konigsberg, in the spring of 1919, the day I was demobilized. I understood very little about it at that time, but it sufficed to with-hold me from following through my intention of joining one of the East Prussian Detachments of the Volunteer League (a secret Fascist "Black Reichswehr" which was in existence at that time).

Shortly after r broke with my family in Berlin—I sought to learn, read a great deal in a planless sort of way, attended meetings and ectures, and earned my living as an office worker and by writing mediocre short stories, which were occasionally published here and there. My actual political development really began a few years later when I was an "oppositional" member of the Factory Council in the District Council Office at Kreuzberg. Berlin. (The Weimar Conution decreed the establishment of Factory Councils in all establishnents employing more than thirty workers).

I followed various occupations, worked amongst other things as a hand on a small North Sea vessel, and finally became a Communist as a result of a brief and accidental sojourn with comrades during the period of illegality. (The German Communist Party was illegal from 1923-1925). From this period onwards the revolutionary workingclass took over my education. It was active as an editor for the Workers International Relief, or-ganised later an Agit-Prop Troupe for the "Artists' Aid," which existed at that time, and went with it on tour through the Ruhr Valley, and was finally accepted into the edi-torial staff of the "Welt am Abend" (Berlin's great workers' evening paper). Followed two years in hospitals and health resorts, which can be laid at the door of the World War. After a lengthy stay in the Soviet Union, I returned to Berlin, and have worked since then as an active Party worker, and revolutionary proletarian writer in the ranks of the working class.

With regard to the novel which follows, I want to state that neither the personages mentioned therein nor their deeds have been "invented," but have all been taken place in the Koslinerstrasse during the May days of 1929. Changes have been made only in those cases where there existed the danger of subsequent attack on the persons concerned by the hirelings of class justice. In particular, the police attacks which are described are taken from the documents of the Investigation Committee, which were placed at my disposal, all of which are vouched for on oath and can be legally verified at any time.

THE STORY

"NETTELBECKPLATZ . . . !" The Nyoung man peered with a sleepy stare through the glass panes of the tramcar.

"That your newspaper . . . ?" A woman pointed to one lying at his feet. He thrust it into his pocket; in another moment he was outside. The yellow lights of the gas lamps were reflected on the wet pavement. The shock of wind and rain enlivened him. A loud-speaker boomed from a restaurant at the tram-stop. He was freezing. "A man ought to have an overcoat,' he thought, turning up his coat collar. He spat, put his hands in his pockets and walked slowly home. He hurried from the Pankstrasse, into the dark alley where he lived. The slum shops were already shut. Only the saloons showed signs of life, blurred streaks of light in an empty street illuminated by a few gas jets. Behind the windows of the tall dark houses-mostly curtainless—gleamed here and there a miserable oil lamp. From an open cellar came the warm smell of washing. A few more houses and he was home. "ANNA IS HOME" Two women stood at the house door. He nodded briefly at their greeting and vanished in the dark passage. Not till he saw the window of his dwelling from the yard did he pause. "Good . . . Anna is at home," he thought, and reassured, he passed his hand over his tired face. This happened every evening as he walked across the yard. He rejoiced at the sight of the bright window. Nothing more. He felt his way up the few steps of the parrow stairway and opened the door.

"Evening, Anna."
"Evening, Kurt."

He hung his cap on the door hook and dropped into the kitchen chair. The young cement heaver, Kurt Zimmerman was at home.

There was just enough room beside the fireplace in the kitchen for two to sit at the table. Kurt leaned his elbows on the table and looked at Anna busying herself with the dishes. He was too tired to speak, but it gave him pleasure to sit there and look at her. She handled everything so deftly and

Mass Revolt In Colonies.

There have been many rebellions recently against forced labor oppression in the Philippines. There was an uprising of the Tayug peasants in January, 1931. Hundreds of men and women armed only with clubs and cane knives marched into the town of Tayug, Pagasinian province. They set out for their direct exploiters, those who collected the taxes. In spite of the fact that the workers had no guns, they were fired upon. One was killed, whereupon the angry peasants and laborers killed a lieu-tenant and several soldiers who were responsible. A pitched battle ensued, lasting two days.

A sympathetic soldier helped the rebels break into the storeroom where arms and ammunition were kept. After they were thus armed, they took over the city of 15,000 in-habitants and held it for several days. All deeds and records of mort-gages were burned. The movement was entirely spontaneous. The im-mediate cause of the Tayug uprising was the decision of the Philippine Supreme Court which legalized the seizure of land, belonging to 1,000 peasants, by the foreign-owned Esperanza estate which already contained 100,000 acres.

There have also been many fights against forced labor and imperialism in Cuba, carried on especially by the agricultural workers on the sugar plantations. Big strikes were waged in 1906, 1920, 1925, 1926, and in more recent years. During the 1925 and 1926 strikes hundreds of workers and peasants were slaughtered.

But in spite of all this repression the Cuban workers and peasants are now moving in a new revolutionary The bloody battles in Havana streets on December 14, 1929; the political strike of January 10, 1930 the general strike of some 200,000 employment and against the perse-cution of the unions; the demonthe getting of as many workers as strations on May 1; the strike of possible in as concentrated a terri- over 15,000 tobacco workers which 1.—Bring the question of carrier routes up in the organization you belong to. of Cuba and the Communist Partythese mark a long and persistent 3.—Place yourself on the Daily struggle against imperialist exploita-vorker carrier route.

FORCES IN SCOTTSBORO TRIAL DESCRIBED BY "DAILY WORKER" CORRESPONDENT IN DECATUR

(By Our Special Correspondent)

DECATUR, Ala., March 27 (By Mail) .- In the Morgan County courthouse is now being concentrated and expressed in the form of a court trial those social and economic forces which brought about the Scottsboro case.

Without the world-wide mass protest and action which proceeded the trial in Decatur, lifted Scottsboro and Decatur and thousands of Scottsboros and Decaturs out of the dark corner of the world and made them the common property of the toiling masses. The issues involved are issues which will eventually revolutionize the South.

ENROUTE SOUTH

No sooner do you leave Washington when you become sharply aware of these issues. The jim-crow railroad car makes its appearance. Railroad stations are divided in twoone side bearing the legend "This Waiting Room for Members of the White Race", the other, "This Waiting Room for Members of the Colored Race". Should you board a street car you will find it divided into a front and a rear. Drinking fountains, pool rooms, residential sections are all jim-crowed. Wherever Negroes and whites are likely in any way to come into contact socially this legalized segregation says in terms of law and order "You May Not Mix". The same is done in a more indirect way in the factory. Politically segregation has assumed the form of totally disfranchising the Negroes in the South from any direct part in political life.

Yet this iron-bound segregation and disfranchisement "NIGGERS AIN'T FITTIN' TO SIT ON JURIES"

As far as the Negro people go, the ruling class still stands on the general grounds of the civil war days.

THEIR CONCEPTION OF "STATE RIGHTS".

In front of the court house at Decatur is a memorial statue of a confederate soldier with the following inscription:

The term "state rights" is used here as it was used during the slavery controversy: to signify all that is meant by the national oppression of the Negro people.

In the courtroom the lawyers of the International Labor were no Negroes called to serve on the grand jury which On the defense motion to quash the indictment two sides handed down this indictment. NEW YORK, March 28 .- The volume of industrial employment in the United States since 1929 is down 43.4 per cent-that is almost half of those workers employed in 1929 are totally unemployed today. Wage rates of industrial workers have been reduced 19.3 per cent. Working hours of those industrial workers still employed parttime have been cut down 26.9 per cent. The purchasing power of the industrial population of the United States is only 46.3 per cent of what it was in 1929. To Continue Fight

Early in this afternoon's session the defense had won an important legal point when Judge Horton granted the motion of Attorney Liebowitz to subpoena the guardian of the Jack-son County rolls of the Scottsboro from which the Scottsboro grand jury was picked, as well as the guardian of the jury boxes from which the jury men in the first frame-up trial were picked.

The ILD lawyer said that he would call—if necessary—all those listed on the rolls to prove that not a single Negro was called for jury service. Negroes Testify On Jury System

The defense questioning of witnesss aimed to prove the systematic exclusion of Negroes from Alabama juries was followed by the cross-examination of John Sanford, a Negro, whom ILD lawyers had placed on the stand. Prosecutor Knight addressed him paternally as "John," at the same time seeking to bulldoze him. Attorney Liebowitz for the defense sprung to his feet and demanded: "Call him Mr. Sanford, Attorney-General." Knight replied, "I am not Knight replied, "I am not doing that."

The Negro witness retained his continual bullying by the prosecutor. At one time Liebowitz leaped up to demand that Knight "remain at a distance" and keep his finger "out of people's eyes."

at Montevideo AntiWar Meet

(EDITO'S NOTE:—The following is a first and partial report by one of the workers present at the Conress against war held in Montevideo. More complete details will appear soon).

MONTEVIDEO, Uruguay. - The Congress was opened Saturday evening, March 11. The speakers' stand was in the street in front of one of the Labor Halls. About 7,000 people were present from all parts of the city. They came in demonstrations along six different routes, to prevent police interference.

The first evening was devoted to greetings from the many delegates, and to an opening address by the president of the Committee calling the Congress, Micelena. Both the marine and student delegates from the United States, gave short greet-

The Congress then proceeded very stormily. Every now and then there would be a fifteen minute to a half hour interruption by the Anarchists, much to the disgust of the gallery and delegates. The Anarchist leaders brought forth a resolution signed by 33 organizations (of which 7 actually existed) which was referred to the resolutions' committee. The Anarchists were opposed to the Soviet Union.

PAUL HERTZ, SOCIALIST LEADER WHITEWASHES FASCIST MURDERERS

COPENHAGEN, March 28.—The Danish press yesterday printed an interview with Dr. Paul Hertz, German Social-Democratic Party leader, and member of the Reichstag, in which he attacked the campaign against Nazi atrocities now under way in foreign countries. Hertz said: "False reports about the Nazi terror can only injure German democracy in its battle to win back its political freedom."

Following in the footsteps of Wels and Otto Braun, Heriz now tries to shut off the mass protest against the Fascist reign of terror, hoping to get back the political jobs formerly held by the Socialist leaders by cowardly licking the boots of the Nazi terrorists
