WORKERS! ANSWER THE TERROR! SUPPORT YOUR STRIKING BROTHERS!

TEN textile strikers have been butchered, mur-L dered! Scores are suffering bullet wounds, many are jailed, and still more have been clubbed and gassed. The toll of dead and wounded of those of our brothers on strike has been heavy. The employers and capitalist state governments have opened up a furious and savage reign of terror against the textile workers in an effort to defeat the strike and to beat the just demands of the workers. Every worker in the country should answer this vicious, murderous attack on labor! Textile workers in every part of the country should protest now. All locals of the strking workers should wire protests to the governors of Georgia, South Carolina and to President Roosevelt vigorously protesting this slaughter of unarmed men, and the murderous attack on pickets. The whole working class should come to the support of the textile workers in a gigantic protest against this most brutal and vicious onslaught on men and women fighting for their most elementary rights as human beings and for better living conditions. Protest the fascist terror unleashed against the textile strikers! Workers! Raise your voices in support of your striking brothers and against the savage assault of the bosses against the textile strikers!

outset, rejecting all the tricky, dangerous and sell-out arbitration

Arbitration is just the other face of the terror which is raging against the textile strikers, splattering blood in front of scores of textile mills. Arbitration means death for the strikers' just demands, just as the bullets of Roosevelt's supporters deal out death to militant strike pickets for the crime of fighting for bread, a chance to live, and better living conditions.

The heroic strike of the textile workers is an inspiration to the whole American working class. Textile strikers! Keep your ranks firm! Pull out every mill. Shut down the whole textile industry. Reject arbitration. Keep up the mass picketing and the flying squadrons. Push on until complete victory for your demands are won!

you win this strike, and hundreds of thousands are battling on bravely to win the demands for which you came out on strike. Arbitration strike-breaking schemes must be defeated. They can defeated by rank and file action.

Textile workers. Seventeen of your brothers have died to help

Take the strike into your own hands by electing rank and file strike committees in every local. Every step should be taken now to organize regional strike conferences in every textile area, in New England, New Jersey and Pennsylvania, and in the South. Workers representing every mill in the region should be sent to these conferences. The regional conferences, fighting against arbitration, mobilizing a real 100 per cent walkout and mass picketing, should elect delegates who really represent the workers.

These delegates from the regional conferences should hold a national meeting, and act as the only genuinely elected representatives of th hundreds of thousands of strikers, with authority to act for them, to meet and negotiate with the bosses in order to insure the strike will lead to a victory for the workers.

This is the most effective way of blocking arbitration strikebreaking maneuvers. Do not let Gorman & Co. through his General Council, which is prepared to arbitrate in 24 hours, decide the outcome of your strike or under what conditions you go back to work. That should be put up to the strikers themselves, and decided by them.

It is the workers who came out of the mills, who are facing the bayonets and machine guns of the bosses, who are losing their lives in the struggle. It is the rank and file of the workers who should have the say on how this strike should be run and under what conditions it shall be negotiated and settled!

As a rule the reverse is true. Women usually complain that their breasts are too large and they use all sorts of contraptions to make them appear less conspicuous. The "bovish" form and the "silhouette" figure were all the rage not so long ago. Has the matronly shape come into style again?

"You must wonder why I don't write to you and yet you must know that only the most urgent tasks keep me from writing. I have always been active, but the way I am kept busy now cannot be compared to my activities in the states. I come home at ten in the evening and then I have to do some work yet. I do not complain. It is the sort of work and activity that keep me in a state of elation, nothing less. Let me tell you about it.

"School closed on June 20. From the first of June until the 20th, we took exams before the school commission, the result of which is naturally sent to the Party Nucleus of Work. This is how school and work are connected in the Soviet Union. I got ten days off from work during examinations (with pay of course).
Our group finished brilliantly. Out of 14 students, 11 were made "Udarniks" (Shock Brigaders). I am one of them, too, so you don't have to be ashamed of me!

"We have, at our work, so-called 'Polit-days' at which a report is given on the existing situation, both abroad and in the country. Discussion follows from the floor. I was assigned by the Party to give a report on the International Situation, in Russian, mind you. It was the hardest task I had to carry out.

"Yesterday we were mobilized by the District Committee to go to different factories and give reports, etc. I was assigned to the 'Red Metalist.' Let me tell you that there is where you come face to face with life, construction and workers. MOBILE, Ala.—Last night, Axtell, from the International Seamen's Union (I. S. U.), spoke at a meeting of seamen. It is significant to note that this meeting was to have been held at the court house steps, which most of the seamen and a lot of Negro longshoremen thought would be in the open. However, it was held inside of the court house. Evidently this phoney knew of the militancy of these Negro longshoremen and therefore preferred to have a jim-crow meeting where there would not be much opposition, because the city judge and two or three other lackeys were there obviously to keep down "trouble."

After having knocked the M. W. I. 50 EAST 13th St.

IN THOSE days when the giant corporations were beginning to squeeze the smaller business men out of existence, a whole school of writers developed whom the late Theodore Roosevelt contemptuously duobed "muckrakers." Included in this group was Miss Ida Tarbell, who is soon to celebrate her 77th birthday.

Time was when Miss Tarbell lifted the lid off the malodorous activities of the Rockefellers and their Standard Oil Company in a book which created a minor sensation way back in 1904.

In thick, heavily-documented, profusely illustrated volumes Miss Tarbell gave the story of the Rockefeller piracles, rebate schemes and cutthroat methods. In fact, so vigorous was her expose of the oil king and his gang that the liberal "Nation," in a review published early in 1905, chided Miss Tarbell for her book and described her expose as a series of "railing accusations."

Those Trust-Busting Days

MISS TARBELL and her muckraking companions lived and thrived in that period when trust-busting was one of the chief activities of the liberal journalists. In the pages of the American Magazine and similar publications they attacked monopolies and called for "regulation of the trusts." Their frantic pleas represented the dying gasps of the small business men and middle class groups being crushed by the giant corporations of the country.

While some of the muckrakers traveled over the length and breadth of the country exposing corruption in municipal government and private corporations, others-carrying hymn books in their handssought valiantly to persuade the "Captains of Industry" that they could get along much better if they tried practicing the Golden Rule in

As for Ida Tarbell, she seems to have discovered in later years that her expose of the Standard Oil Company was an indiscretion of youth. For in later years she made amends for her brashness by writing a whole series of books which showed the more "kindly aspects" of those Captains of Industry about which she had written so harshly and unsympathetically.

In 1916, for example, Miss Tarbell emerged with a book called "New Ideals in Business: An Account of Their Practices and Their Effects Upon Men." This, however, was only a prelude to her masterwork, a eulogy of that notorious labor hater and union-buster, the late unlamented Judge Elbert H. Gary, former chairman of the United States Steel Corporation, who was the leading figure in smashing the Great Steel Strike of 1919 with the aid of the Executive Council of the American Federation of Labor.

The Spirit of the Golden Rule

THE magic spirit of the Golden Rule dominates Miss Tarbell's "New Ideals in Business." It is full of—oh, so many—wonderful things. She becomes lyrical, for example, about "an organization modeled after the Progress Club of the German-American Button Co., the Quality Club of the Hickey-Freeman Company of Rochester, N. Y." This organization is truly a wonderful thing. "It is made up of the officers and directors of the firm, and the heads of the departments and an elected representative of every 50 employees." Miss Tarbell goes on to say that "a list of committees will give a fair idea of the range of the club's interests-the kind of look-in on the business which it gives. There are committees on 'Quality of Merchandise,' 'Service to Customers,' 'Efficiency,'" etc.

I may be all wrong, but my guess is that this marvelous organization is just a company union by another name. But it's nevertheless the same kind of a rig-out which organizes clambakes, Hallowe'en parties for the boys and which announces that conditions in the plant

It was in 1925 that Miss Tarbell published her book on Gary. It was set up in fine, large type, was beautifully illustrated and the publishers, with a sense for the artistic, put it out in an elegant binding. This is easy to understand, for this biography was achieved with the kindly co-operation of Mr. Gary, and there is no doubt that even if the book were not a best-seller, the steel-master would see to it that the publishers were not left in the lurch.

Miss Tarbell, the rebel of the early '90's, was mellow and broadminded in tone as befits a biographer of Judge Gary, one of the most ruthless exploiters of labor in the history of industrial America, "Judge Gary," wrote Miss Tarbell, "is a likeable man, approachable, interested in everybody's problems. His personal qualities have made him acceptable when, if he had been dictatorial or pompous, self-seeking or vain, he would have made far less headway than he has."

He Loved Horses

BUT this is by no means all. "He loves horses but keeps no racing stable. It would not, in his judgment, be a good example. He is generous, particularly in what concerns the steel towns, the body of iron and steel workers. Hundreds know this, but the last thing in the world the public knows or what he would have it know, is what he gives."

I am willing to take Miss Tarbell's word on the late judge's love for horses, but if you want first-hand details regarding the love that he displayed for the workers in the iron and steel towns in Western Pennsylvania, just read William Z. Foster's "Story of the Great Steel Strike of 1919." Also don't fail to gaze closely at the photograph of the mutilated body of Fannie Sellins, the steel organizer, who was beaten to death by hired thugs of the United States Steel Corporation.

The same writer who exposed the highway robberies of the Standard Oil Company unblushingly wrote that Gary "has great concern always about the personnel of the corporation. He knows the men from top to bottom, in a quite surprising way, and looks cut for them, foresees situations and is constantly warning his executives to look ahead."

Undoubtedly it is the same kind of "warning to look ahead" as Steel Trust officials gave to their executives to set up barbed-wire entanglements and bring in an army of gun thugs on the eve of the steel strike which William Green and his cronies in the A. F. of L. blocked several months ago.

What a Fine Man!

AND of course we must not forget to mention Miss Tarbell's perfectly sweet book on Owen D. Young, big boss of the Morgan General Electric Company, who helped fasten a 60-year debt yoke on the German people. Miss Tarbell described Young as "a new type of industrial leader," for which she was rewarded by having her book placed in the "Owen D. Young Library of English Literature for College Students."

I think Miss Tarbell is really entitled to a nice, quiet birthday. She has worked long and tirelessly in recent years, and has more than atoned for her ungracious remarks about the Standard Oil Company.

Will Testify Before American Inquiry Commission

Ernst Kruse, Storm Trooper No. 134,522, and personal aide of the executed Captain Ernst Roehm, former Storm Troop leader, has confessed to his complicity in the firing of the Reichstag in March, 1933, as one of an arson squad organized by the official Nazi criminals. He will repeat his story in October, before the members of the American Inquiry Commission, among whom are Clarence Darrow Senator Edward P. Costigan, George Medalie, Stanley High and Roger Baldwin.

Gorman's Agreement

GORMAN, the leading U. T. W. official in the present textile strike, has just offered a proposed agreement to the textile employers upon which he offers to end the

Every textile striker now fighting for better wages and against the killing speedup should discuss this proposed agreement with his fellow workers on the picket lines.

Every striker should ask himself the question, does this agreement adequately protect my interests? Does it give me what I and my family need in our fight for better wages and for the end of the frightful stretchout in the mills?

The very heart of the textile strike is contained in the demands on the wage scale and the limitations of the speed-up formulated at the recent United Textile Workers Convention.

It is fundamentally on the question of wages and speed-up that one million textile workers are now out on strike.

AT THE recent convention of the United Textile Workers Union a program representing the minimum wage demands of the rank and file membership of the union was forced upon the officials by a unanimous vote.

These demands define exactly what the rank and file textile workers want. What they are fighting for on the picket lines. They want a minimum wage of $13 a week with the rates rising up to $30 for highly skilled workers. They listed very definite demands on the number of looms and spindles to be worked by each worker in every

And yet it is on just these definite convention demands of the rank and file on wages and stretchout that Gorman's agreement leave the field open to victory for the textile employers!

It is just the question of wages and speed-up that Gorman's proposed agreement offers to "arbitrate" with the employers through the Roosevell Mediation Board. Gorman lists all the other convention demands just as they were originally passed. But he does this only to detract attention from the fact that on the central issue of the strike, wages and speed-up, he drops the convention demands, and leaves the way open for concessions and Gorman's agreement merely proposes that wages and work loads shall be discussed with the employers and the Mediation Board.

This is tantamount to letting the employers know that the U. T. W. officials are ready to act in the spirit of McMahon, U. T. W. president, who declared two days ago that the union officials are willing to "give way here and there"that is to say, on the most vital issues for which the textile workers are now so bravely fighting.

Any strike settlement that goes convention wage scale, leaving the textile workers as hungry as before, as driven by the stretchout as before, is a defeat for the workers and a betrayal of their struggles.

THERE must not be one single settlement of any question involved in the strike without a vote taken by the strikers themselves. It is the strikers, the pickets, who must have the real authority to decide all agreements. The strikers must see to it that they have the final vote on every settlement, rather than leave the decisions to the upper

No "arbitration" of any wage or speed-up demands! All questions of settlement to be submitted to the strikers for a general vote! The convention demands are clear and definite. The strikers will see that they are not betrayed.

The Aluminum Strike

TEDERAL labor conciliator Fred Keightly and Dave Williams, official of the American Federation of Labor, were both working at great speed yesterday to conclude a betrayal of the one-month strike of 8,700 workers at six plants of the Aluminum Company of America.

According to Keightly, top union officials and representatives of the company have agreed in a secret conference to end the strike today. The strikers have had no say in the matter, and, indeed, none of the points of settlement were

But the fact that the secret agreement is a rank betrayal of the worker' interests is clear. Dave Williams, who is aiding in the negotiations, let the cat out of the bag.

"You can't say anybody won or lost anything now," declared Williams. "To say what decision has been reached might cause another strike before

What more evidence is needed than this?

Fearing the resentment of the rank and file over an agreement kept secret and which rejects the demands of the workers, the union leaders hope to break the backbone of the strike by herding the workers back into the mills, and after this is accomplished and the workers are demoralized, they feel, a restrike movement will be impossible,

In short, the aim of the government mediators and Mr. Williams is to give the aluminum bosses, who are now ready to retreat before the militancy of the workers, a breathing space, a chance to rally their forces for a heavier and more concerted attack on unionism and the workers' conditions.

The demands of the strikers are simple and just trade union demands: Recognition of the union and a universal wage scale. The bosses in their conferences at Washington have continually refused to agree to these demands. But just when victory is in sight, the government and top A. F. of L. officials step in and conclude an agreement without the consent of the workers, which will give the workers none of the demands for which they

It is not necessary, however, for this strike to end under any such secret agreements and plans, which are favorable to the bosses and not the workers. The workers should and can decide the

The aluminum workers should set up their own rank and file committees to take charge of the strike. Mass picket the mills. Demand that only a democratically elected committee of the rank and file shall negotiate with the manufacturers. Demand that all questions of settlement be taken before the membership of the union for a vote. Do not allow government mediators and Mr. Williams, who have proven themselves agents of the posses, to decide the matter. That is the job of the strikers, and the strikers only.

Settlement through a secret agreement, a strikebreaking settlement, must and can be defeated by the aluminum workers. Textile workers, too, should take note of the kind of a settlement government officials are trying to put over on the aluminum workers. It is this same kind of a settlement that Mr. Roosevelt's Mediation Board is trying to put over on them.

Sloan's New Line

MR. SLOAN, spokesman for the textile employers, now has a new line to explain away the tremendous sweep of the textile strike.

"The mills are being closed by intimidation," he states now.

During the first day of the strike he belittled the walkout with the aid of his fake stasistics, "proving" the trike only 25 per cent ef-

And the capitalist press gave him all the help he wanted in his poison campaign against the strike by featuring his doctored publicity on all the front pages in the headlines. But, apparently, Mr. Sloan's hopeful statistics no longer console him. He reads in today's papers such headlines as this, "New England Mill Cities Hit by 100 Per Cent Tie-Up."

And Mr. Sloan admitted sadly today that the mills are closing so fast," that he cannot count fast enough to figure out the new percentages.

So he drags forth his latest piece of stupidity and poisonous provocation against the strikers, charging that a "minority" of textile workers are "preventing the workers from entering the mills."

COULD anything be more ridiculous than this dea that a "minority" of the textile workers are "intimidating" the majority to join the strike?

Mr. Sloan refers to the flying squadrons of strikers who are marching from town to town and from mill to mill spreading the strike call. Mr. Sloan is vainly trying to conceal the fact that in every case these striking workers are greeted with the greatest enthusiasm by the workers in the mills, who immediately respond to the leadership of their fellow workers by joining the strike.

Could "intimidation" by a "minority" shut down the entire New England textile industry? Could "intimidation" by a "minority" bring 60,000 new strikers onto the picket lines in the South within 24 hours after the first strike call?

It is the bitter anger of the textile workers against the most brutal exploitation and wage slavery in the mills that is sweeping one million workers into the greatest battle for better conditions in the history of American labor!

The intimidation comes not from the strikers, but from the employers and the Roosevelt government with its police and armed forces, who are attempting to terrorize the workers back into the yoke of the $8 a week starvation wage and the killing stretch-out at the looms.

It is the Roosevelt government which tries to starve the strikers back to work by inadequate relief rolls, that is guilty of intimidation and terrorism; not the textile workers who are using their power of organization to better their conditions.

No one will be fooled by your stupid lies, Mr. Sloan. The working class of America stands solidly behind the greatest textile strike and laughs to scorn the lies of your capitalist colleagues and their

The falsehoods and slanders with which the Japanese-Manchurian press is filled are best illustrated by reports in a number of Japanese newspapers alleging that the Manchurian government decided to discontinue transportation on the Chinese Eastern Railway of Soviet arms and ammunition.

Considerable successes were achieved this year by the collective farms of the Middle Volga and Saratov regions, notably in local construction of irrigation works.

The Peoples Commissars instructed the Soviet organs in the district to help collective farms to complete the construction of irrigation systems before the end of this year on an area of more than 78,000 acres, in addition to the area hitherto irrigated.

For this purpose the collective farms receive credit without interest to the amount of four million rubles for four years. At the same time, the Peoples Commissars instructed the Land Commissariat to prepare a plan for the construction of local irrigation works on collective farm fields in 1935 and to complete the present surveying work and the making of plans for irrigation of Volga regions with local water reserves on an area of 300,000 acres, as provided for in the Second Five-Year Plan. This will be the beginning of more extensive irrigation work in the Volga region to combat drought.

The Most Burning Question ---Unity of Action

-By BELA KUN-Member of the Presidium of the Communist International

FOR over a year and a half Adolf Hitler, chief of the German fascists, has been wading in blood. The incendiaries of the Reichstag, Hitler, Goering, Goebbels and the rest, are trying to instigate a new imperialist war. The military-fascist clique of generals and admirals in Japan is holding its army and navy ready and waiting on the eastern borders of the Soviet Union. The international political situation may be subject to great variations, but one fact remains certain: Every imperialist country is already preparing for an imperialist war.

Fascism has become the principal instrument in these preparations for a new war. The offensive of capital on the living standard of the working class is designed to cover the costs of armaments. By robbing the working class of its rights and breaking up its organizations, the capitalists want. to throttle the resistance of the working class against wars and robbery,

WORKING CLASS RANKS SPLIT

In the face of this threatening new catastrophe, the ranks of the working class have been split since 1914. Unity is a crying need. Only the unity of the working class against the instigators of war, against fascist oppressors, against the source of imperialist wars and of fascism-capitalism-can alter the relation of class forces in favor of the

The Communist Parties in all capitalist countries are waging a dauntless struggle to restore the unity of action of the working class, this being the necessary condition for drawing over the middle strata in town and country to the side of the proletariat. The Communist Parties have also addressed themselves to the leaders of the Social-Democratic Parties in order to achieve the united front of the working class. The results as yet are insignificant. Only in France, in Austria, and in the Saar region have agreements been come to between Communist and Social-Democratic workers. The difficulties are still great, but they are not insuper-

DESTROY CLASS COLLABORATION

However great these difficulties may be, the Communist Parties will dauntessly continue their struggle against fascism and imperialist war, against the offensive of capital. The rejection of united front proposals by a number of Social-Democratic Parties may make this struggle more difficult, but it can never hold it up. Class collaboration with the bourgeoisie is the obstacle in the way of establishing unity of action. The natural condition for establishing the unity of action of the working class is to break the class collaboration with the capitalists. This does not mean that the contradictions-in tactics and in matters of principlebetween Communism and Social-Democracy will be done away with. Nevertheless, the common struggle of Social-Democratic and Communist workers in the factories, in the trade unions, among both employed and unemployed, is the first prerequisite for overcoming the split in the ranks of the work-

No one who is against the splitting of te proletariat, no one who wants the liberation of the working class, can refuse this common struggle against the dangers with which the working class is directly threatened.

The Communists, who are leading the liberation struggle of the working class, who, for this very reason reject all collaboration with the bourgeoisie, will continut to fight for unity of action. The success of this struggle depends first and foremost upon the Social-Democratic workers. They must decide: Either with the bourgeoisie against the members of heir own class, or with their own class comrades against the bourgeoisie.

These articles, written at various stages of this struggle, are designed, by way of persuasion, to help the Social-Democratic workers to make this decision.

The working class, which fights unitedly and irreconcilably against the bourgeoisie, is invincible; it will conquer.

THE STRUGGLE FOR UNITY OF ACTION

THREE Communist Parties have recently addressed themselves to three Social-Democratic Parties with the proposal for joint action in order to rescue the leader of the German Proletariat, Comrade Ernst Thaelmann, from the hands of the fascist hangmen. The fight to save Thaelmann is the fight for the release of all anti-fascist fighters in Germany, in Austria and in all countries where fascism has been victorious. The Communists have never hesitated for an instant when it was a question of defending the lives of anti-fascist fighters who were in the ranks of Austrian Social-Democracy, or who, thought not adhering to any party, carried on the struggle against the oppression of the working class.

The Central Committee of the Communist Party of France addressed a proposal to the Administrative Commission of the Socialist Party of France to organize joint demonstrations in a number of important industrial centers in France, epecially in those cities where the Hitler government has its official representatives.

SWISS C. P. PROPOSED UNITY

The Central Committee of the Communist Party of Switzerland likewise sent a delegation to the chairman of the Swiss Socialist Party with the proposal to organize joint demonstrations against German fascism and for the rescue of Thaelmann.

The Central Committee of the Communist Party of Great Britain made similar addresses to the Labor Party, to the leaders of the reformist trade unions and co-operatives.

In personal negotiations between representatives of the French Socialist Party and the Communist Party of France, the Social-Democratic delegates declared themselves ready to agree to the proposal of the Communists on the condition that during the period of joint action, the Communist Party of France should refrain from all polemics against Social-Democracy. The delegates of the Communist Party of France declared that they were ready to cease all criticism of Social-Democracy during the period of joint action in those places where the demonstrations were to take place.

SWISS SOCIALISTS REJECT PROPOSALS

The Administrative Commission of the Socialist Party of Switzerland rejected the proposal of the Communist Party of Switzerland in a malicious answer of which we will quote only one sentence:

"If the Communist Party of Switzerland invites us to take part in demonstrations before the German embassies, we challenge the Communist Party of Switzerland to demonstrate before the RUSSIAN EMBASSIES in those countries where it is still able to do so."

Comment on this proposal is superfluous. The leaders of the Labor Party have up to the present time (June 15, 1934), not yet answered the proposal sent them by the secretary of the Communist Party of Great Britain.

Such are the facts. BOURGEOISIE FEARS UNITED FRONT

To these facts we will only add one or two observations: The bourgeoisie, especially the German fascists, correctly estimate the importance of the unity of action of the working class as being the greatest danger for capitalism. They likewise correctly estimate the importance of the person of Comrade Thaelmann and of his defense in the anti-fascist struggle. In connection with the proposals made by the Communist Party of France to French Social-Democracy, the Berliner Boersenzeitung, one of the leading organs of big German capital, wrote as follows:

"We cannot, however, regard with indifference the fact that the French Communists are now preparing great meetings and street demonstrations in Paris, Reims, Lille, Strassbourg, Bordeaux, Marseilles and other cities for the rescue of Thaelmann, and have even contrived to induce French Social-Democracy to take part in these actions and to form a united front."

It is with good reason that this fascist paper agitates against the united front of Communist and Social-Democratic workers; it does so in the interests of German fascism and in the interests of capitalism as a whole.

New Outbreaks in Algeria Why Jews Were Attacked Between Anvil and Hammer

MHEN a number of Jews were killed in violent outbreaks in Algeria, a French colony, some weeks ago, the American capitalist press, as well as the Jewish Socialist press, was strangely silent on the fundamental reasons for this bloodshed. Now that the news from Paris indicates that bitter feeling is rising and new rioting is anticipated at any moment it would be well to go into the basis for what now and then suddenly appears in the American capitalst press as Algerians running amok, seemingly without reason.

The Jewish population of 80,000 out of a total population of 5,000,000 in Algeria has ben made the tool and butt of the policy of French imperialism. The Algerians are mainly poor peasants, bitterly exploited by the French imperialists and the owners of huge estates. Hundreds of thousands of them are without land and without means of a livelihood, reduced to the worst stage of beggary and destitution.

JUST before the Franco-Prussian war in 1870, the French Minister Olliver granted the Jews of Algeria, who had inhabited that land for generations, and who had been oppressed under Arab rule, French naturalization and a political status above the rest of the native popu-

Since the French and other European population today numbers only 42,000, the policy of French mperialism has been to utilize the Jewish population, with its special political status above the native Algerians, as a spearhead of imperialist oppression. The economic position of the leading strata of the Jews lent itself readily to the French imperialist policy. For the most part the Jews control the money-lending market, the usurious operations against the poverty stricken peasantry. The great maority of the Jews in Algeria are themselves poor merchants, or poverty-stricken handicraft workers suffering under the proddings of the French reactionary anti-semitic organizations, and in their plight as the French imperialist buffet against the Algerian masses. Their economic position is not much better than the exploited masses of Algerian peasants and workers.

At Constantine, for example, where the worst anti-Jewish attacks took place, a number of the Jews are the bourgeoisie, the government agents, grain dealers, usurers, big merchants and intermediaries or compradores of all sorts.

THE hatred of the Algerian masses against this compradore class is perfectly understandable. French imperialism has cunningly directed the hatred of the Algerian masses against its auxiliary force, its adjutants in the system of oppression and exploitation, the Jewish compradore and money-lending class. In attacking the Jews, the Algerian population did not distinguish in its bitter hatred of French imperialism between the great mass of the Jews (who themselves are not much better off than their attackers) and the real agents of French imperialism, the Jewish compradores.

Egged on by French imperialists, Jewish rowdies provoked Al-gerians at the Sidi Lakdar mosque, with the result that an anti-imperialist fury was unleashed against those whom the Algerians looked upon as the agents of French imperialism. Twenty-seven Jews were killed and 200 were

THE fundamental anti-imperialist nature of the attack was shown by the fact that in many other centers the rioting was directed not alone against the Jews but as well against the French imperialists as in Le Hama, Bizot, Kroubs, etc. The whole movement, in reality, was a spontaneous uprising of hatred against French imperialism and all its tools. It is noteworthy that in Constantine the bitterest attacks, as admitted in the French capitalist press (Paris Midi, August 7) were made against "those known as money-lenders and big business

French imperialism is now attempting to utilize the attack on the Jews as a means of discrediting the anti-imperialist movement of the Algerian masses, and justifying its murderous retaliations against the masses as "in defense of liberty."

THE Communist Party of France, 1 struggling against fascism and chauvinism, points out that the main significance of the Algerian mass movements is its anti-imperialist character. It further points out that the victory of the Algerian anti-imperialist and agrarian revolution over French imperialism, though overthrowing along with it the dominant position of the Jewish money-lenders and big merchant exploiters, would bring liberation and a solution to the national and economic problems of the bit-terly assailed Jewish masses who now caught between the anvil and the hammer.

The efforts of the Jewish bourgeoisie and petty-bourgeois Zionists in various countries in attacking the Algerian masses in their anti-imperialist upsurge plays directly into the hands of French imperialism and paves the way for still more bitter attacks on the Jews.

The victory of the Algerian anti-imperialist revolution, for which all exploited masses should work, would bring liberation to all oppressed peoples of Algeria, including the great bulk of the Jewish population.
