NEW YORK.-Nearly 1,000 delegates and members of unemployed and relief workers' organizations filled Webster Hall Monday night to plan action against the LaGuardia relief tax schemes and to prepare the mobilization of their members for a mass march to City Hall Sat-urday to demand adequate appropriations for winter relief.

Emanel Levin, organizer of the United Action Conference on Work, Relief and Unemployment, in the main report outlined the present for Saturday's march and exposed the LaGuardia tax program as one which prepares the way for future relief cuts by the very inadequacy of its scope, and at the same time lays the basis for further taxation of the masses.

The New Jersey dye house bosses have secured an injunction in the courts prohibiting the dye workers from striking or picketing.

The leaders of the U. T. W. dye workers' locals are delaying action, advising the workers to await orders from Washington, where action is being systematically sabotaged.

Such policies contribute toward the defeat of the textile workers as a whole. Certainly they prevent action by the dye workers at a moment when, together with the other workers in the textile industry, they have the greatest chance to force the granting of improved conditions.

MY HAT is in the ring. I don't mean as a candidate in the present election campaign. For some reason that I cannot fathom I have not been nominated for any office on the Communist ticket, although I should like nothing better except, of course, being elected.

Perhaps the comrades of District 2 feel that I would not make a vigorous campaign, but then they probably do not know that as far back as 1918 I was nominated for District Attorney on the Socialist ticket in an upstate county. I didn't make much of a campaign, it is true, largely because I had very little free time left after my school homework was finished, with the result that the Republican nominee won hands down.

Accept the Challenge

MAVING been barred from appearing before the electorate as a candidate for office, I will nevertheless make my contribution to the Communst election campaign anyway. That is to say, as soon as the Daily Worker Medical Advisory Board arrives at some decision regarding my appendix. Which brings me to the subject at hand. The aggregation of doctors which is conducting the "Workers'

Health" column has announced that, in a spirit of Socialist competition, they undertake to raise the neat little sum of $1,500 in the Daily Worker's $60,000 financial drive. And with that air of belligerence characteristic of professional men, they challenge the artists and column conductors of the "Daily" to shake up a similar sum. I'll let Burck, Gannes, Del, Ramsey and Luke talk up for themselves, but as far as this department is concerned, I pledge to raise $500 as my share in the campaign.

And if I don't raise the full sum, I'll count on Mike Gold to finish the job, since unconfirmed rumors persist in revolutionary literary circles that Mike is about ready to return to the job of carrying on this column

A Lurking Danger

IN ACCEPTING the challenge of the medicos I am not unmindful of a number of handicaps. In their announcement last Saturday they asserted that they are now in the process of repairing 14 of my cylinders. It is therefore obvious to me that if financial returns to this column become menacing, the doctors might not be averse to a little sabotage which might put me out of the running for a few weeks.

This is a minor worry, however, in view of the fact that the Daily Worker Medical Advisory Board consists of doctors who are at the same time comrades. Whether this is a guarantee of fair dealing one cannot be entirely certain, since there are certain hazards involved in a too great political consciousness on the part of the doctors.

However, I will confess that I am a little disturbed about something else. I encountered one of the more politically active medicos the other day on my way to work. I grew faint as he assured me that an appendix operation "is not merely a medical question; it is also a

The full import of his solemn declaration is still not entirely clear to me, but I hope it doesn't prevent me from obtaining an airtight and fool-proof diagnosis. And if the Medical Advisory Board can work out some method which will rid me of a pestiferous appendix by means of a thorough discussion, I pledge to put all my efforts behind the Daily Worker's $60,000 drive with results that are predictable with almost scientific accuracy.

Thirty Against One

IN FACT, no sooner did the 30 doctors make their challenge than two readers of this column came through with contributions for the "Daily" fund. One was a dollar donation from a reader up in Blue Mountain Lake, and the other was 25 cents from a comrade in Indianapolis who suggested that I take a potshot at Gen. Douglas Mac-Arthur and the Du Ponts. This comrade, after paying his respects to Gov. Green of Rhode Island, ends with this plea:

"May these fakers run up against a stone wall with nice red bricks all around them. Enclosed is 25 cents. Use it where it is needed most." The Indianapolis comrade didn't specify where he wanted the quarter to go, but I don't know a single place in the entire world where it is needed more than in the Daily Worker.

Those Yacht Races

CUCH conspicuous waste, these yachts, whether the pleasure cruise Svariety or racers," writes El. "Worse if they're racers. Take all the bright work, for instance, which means brass and varnish work. It all has to be polished and mopped up scrupulously at a certain time each morning, too late for more dew to mar it and early enough that the sun won't dry the drops in spots on the precious decks and rails. There's always lots of bright work on yachts.

"Bright work helps keep the crew busy, of course, when the master's aboard. The crew may be only two, or between 80 and 90, as on Mr. Pirate Morgan's 'Corsair.' Often the crew stands by the year round, waiting for several voyages a year, whether crossing the Atlantic for the Scottish grouse season or a conference with Sir Montague Norman. The 'Corsair' can almost equal a big liner in a quick crossing.

"Many a master may spend only a week or two aboard his yacht each year, although some spend most of the summer cruising. The longer he stays, the worse for the crew. There are always parties to cook and shake cocktails for and clean up after. And there are all sorts of flags and pennants to run up and down: 'Master Not Aboard,' 'Master Dining,' his yacht club insignia, his private signal, etc. Morgan used to let a skull and cross-bones pennant be his personal flag, but changed to a slightly more discreet star and crescent.

"Yachts cost a darn sight to buy or build and more to maintain. To build a really good racer runs up into the fancy thousands, of course. Harold Vanderbilt has an unused racer boarded up with tarpaper on the ways at Greenport, L. I .-- there for two years. He built the half-million dollar racing 'Rainbow' to meet the new British challenger, 'Endeavor,' in a game of rich men's toys. It's a race of Vanderbilt's railroad, shipping and real estate millions against the war-time and post-war British aircraft millions of T. O. M. Sopwith.

"The workers will have a lot of fun with the yachts in Soviet America and Soviet Britain, but what will we do with the bright work?' We'll keep that, too, El.

Justice to Poets

JOHN ADAMS, Chicago marine organizer, who was recently released on bail from the Hillsboro jail, has had something on his conscience for months judging from a note I received from him today

"I just got out of the Hillsboro jail," Adams writes, "and I want to take the opportunity to extend, through your column, my apologies to an unknown poet.

"Sometime ago you published a poem on the West Coast Strike by John Adams. Having a lively news sense, you carried an editorial note stating that the author was now in the hoosegow in Hillsboro. Fact is, it was a swell poem (judging by the innumerable compliments I have received), but unfortunately I was not the author.

"In all fairness to the real author of the poem, I should like you to publish this correction."

Peonage Conditions on F.E.R.A. Jobs Revealed in Savannah, Ga. Survey

Sharecroppers Driven Off the Land by Owners

By HOWARD BOLDT

CTUAL peonage exists on the A F.E.R.A. projects in Savannah, Ga., according to authoritative information received here. In the nonth of August, many of the relief workers were handed two cuts, one of 25 per cent, and another of 10 per cent. Out of the starvation relief budgets to each family is taken the price of milk to babies. In the past Spring, the unemployed were urged to plant backyard gardensand the price of seed and fertilizer was taken from the work relief pay.

Most of the unemployed on the relief lists are forced to work on the F.E.R.A. projects for their relief budgets, which on the average are $7.20 a week. In the case of smaller families, work is staggered every other week. An average family here usually numbers about seven

The relief workers are packed into trucks, anywhere from twenty-five to fifty in a truck, are charged fifteen to twenty cents each for the ride, and driven from five to fifteen miles to work. If he hasn't the cost of the truck ride, the worker loses the day's work, since the project is too far to walk.

Poison Ivy Toxic Isolated

Sufferers from polson ivy will be interested to learn that the toxic agent in the dreaded three-leaved courge has been isolated and identified by Professor G. Albert Hall of Wesleyan University. He reported to the current meeting of the American Chemical Society that the harmful chemical in poison ivy which harrasses campers and picnickers is urushiol.

Many years ago the Japanese chemist Majima isolated the toxic agent from Japanese lac. It will be remembered that during the mah jong craze in the late twenties quite a number of persons were poisoned In this same period, the numbers by the lac used on their imported

Support the Workers of the Philippines

WALL STREET'S guns were unloosened against Filipino strikers, just as they are in the South and in New England against American textile strikers. Three striking cigar workers lie dead in Manila because they took part in a flying picket squadron attempting to close down the Minerva cigar factory, a scab plant. Twenty-two others were wounded.

Why were these strikers shot? They were fighting against hunger, against long, unbearable hours. Their wages averaged 23 cents a day. Yet in the Philippines prices of goods are almost as high as in the United States. They were demanding wage increases to the sum of 45 cents a day. For this they

Over 5,000 cigar makers are striking in the Philippines. Their fight is the fight of the whole American working class against the rotten, imperialist conditions of slavery imposed by the Roosevelt government and the native landlord-

Dominating the Filipino government is the skilled enemy of labor, Governor General Frank B. Murphy. Murphy is an old hand at countenancing the shooting down of workers. While Mayor of Detroit, dominated by the General Motors Corporation and the Ford Co., he countenanced the murder of four workers in the Dearborn Hunger March.

WHEN the three Filipino strikers were killed in cold blood, Murphy ordered the United States Army to be ready to shoot down still mom Filipino workers. He called for the arrest of all the strike leaders, and eighteen men and four women were thrown into prison.

These are the conditions Wall Street brings to the Philippine Islands. This is the "independence" that Roosevelt grants

The fight of the Filipino strikers is the fight of every American worker. The same New Deal is shooting them down, for the same reasons that it shoots textile, steel, coal miners and auto workers. We must raise our voices now in protest, in sympathy and in fighting solidarity with our Filipino Wire your protest to Roosevelt today. Demand withdrawal of the armed forces from the Manila strike. Demand the freedom of the strike leaders.

Demand an end to the murder of Filipino strikers. All workers' and anti-imperialist organizations should cable Murphy, protesting against this murder reign and against the arrest of the Filipino

Negroes in Textile Strike

THE striking textile workers would do well to consider seriously the proposals of the League of Struggle for Negro Rights for cementnig the solidarity between the Negro and white workers.

Reports from the South show that in many places Negro workers are engaged actively both in spreading the strike and in solidarity actions against the terror. In addition in several places they have voted to give material relief to the textile strikers (Carolina tobacco workers, Alabama share-croppers, etc.).

To further strengthen such solidarity between the white and Negro workers it is necessary for the white workers to consider the persecution and brutal exploitation of the Negro masses and to give strong and direct support to the fight of the Negro masses for equality. It is with this aim that the textile strikers should adopt as their own the following demands of the League of Struggle for Ne-

1) All jobs in the textile mills, without exception, to be open to white and Negro workers alike; the fight against the stretch-out, which carries with it the hiring of thousands more workers, should help to provide for the entrance of Negro workers into all jobs in the mills.

2) Abolition of the differential between wages in Northern and Southern mills.

3) The inclusion of outside workers, cleaners and helpers (now largely Negro workers) in the minimum wage schedules established in the strike settlement, with a maximum of 30 hours a week as for other textile workers.

4) Abolition of segregation and discrimination in housing, transportation, etc.

5) Abolish the so-called "colored" locals in the U.T.W.; admit the Negro workers to all locals of the union on the basis of full equality with the white workers, with the right to hold all offices.

6) The election of Negro workers into local, regional and national strike committees, and the placing of a Negro textile worker on the national executive committee of the union.

The Communist Party urges all textile workers, and in the first place the white textile workers, to fight for these demands as proposed by the League of Struggle for Negro Rights. Such a stand by the textile strikers would strengthen the bonds of solidarity in the workers' ranks and increase the chances for a 100 per cent victory in the strike.

Support the Workers' Bill

WIDE-SPREAD unemployment in the textile industries, injuries and sickness sustained as the result of the stretchout, total destitution at the moment of engaging in strikes and the refusal of the relief administration to grant them relief brings sharply and clearly to the textile workers the need for unemployment insurance as embodied in the Workers' Unemployment Insurance Bill.

With the constant increase in the speed-up, draining the workers' health, and increasing injury, the textile workers should join with the millions of other employed and unemployed workers in the to obtain a measure of social security.

The Workers' Bill, again re-printed in full in vesterday's Daily Worker, provides that all workers, unemployed through no fault of their own, whether the term of unemployment is occasioned by sickness, old-age, strike, maternity, or any cause, shall receive weekly benefits not less than weekly average wages in their locality, in no case to be less than $10 weekly plus $3 for each dependent.

The National Convention of the Textile Workers' Union endorsed the Workers' Bill. Textile workers must actively support the Bill and demand that their union officials actively support it. Demand that Textile Union officials answer the call of the Arrangements Committee for a National Congress for Social Security, which will meet in Washington at the time the 74th Session of the United States Congress convenes.

Textile workers, the Communist Party is the nitiator of the Workers' Unemployment Insurance Bill, it is the leader in the fight for the enactment of the bill. Join and support the Communist Party.

Motta's Anti-Soviet Speech

CIUSSEPPE MOTTA of Switzerland, U speaking the heart and mind of all the imperialist powers, opened a virulent attack against the Soviet Union on the question of its entry into the League of Nations. Yet, despite the fact that Motta expressed what all the capitalist bandits felt, they are forced to admit the U.S.S.R. into the League.

This still more emphasizes the great victory of the peace policy of the workers' fatherland. Against the hostility of the imperialists, because of their conflicts, they are impelled to recognize the power of the land of Socialism. They are forced to recognise it as a factor in the determination of world

Just as the United States, which recognized the Soviet Union but not for a moment relaxed its hostility, so the imperialist bandits, when approving of the Soviets entry into the Council of the League, do not for a moment forget their hatred of the workers' fatherland.

The United States, as the arms inquiry shows. helps to arm German fascism and Japanese imperialism for war against the Soviet Union. The Roosevelt regime, despite recognition, puts every obstacle in the way of economic relations and settlement of debts. The Roosevelt State Department aids the arms manufacturers supply the foremost anti-Soviet enemies with war supplies for attack on the U.S.S.R.

THE task of mobilizing for the defense of the Soviet Union is not weakened in any way, either by United States recognition or entry into the League of Nations.

The Soviet Union, as "Izvestia" in its leading article points out, is strengthening its own mighty arm of defense of Socialism through the Red Army, the armed victorious working class, ready to defend itself against any adventures of the imperialists no matter from what source. The greatest strength of the Soviet Union lies in the vigilance of the militant toiling masses throughout the world, who are ready to spring to the defense of the victorious proletarian revolution.

In this country we must redouble our efforts against Wall Street's arming of the outspoken enemies of the Soviet Union. We must demand a stop be put to shipment of arms to Fascist Germany, to Japanese imperialism. We must rally the masses for the defense of the Soviet Union.

One of the chief questions before the U.S. Congress Against War and Fascism, to open in Chicago on September 28, will be this very point, brought out in the arms' inquiry, of American bankers and munitions' manufacturers, now making huge fortunes out of arming Fascist Germany and the war

After One Month

NE month ago the Daily Worker-Party Anniversary drive for $60,000 began. To date $5,263.56 has been received.

At this pace the drive would have to continue for twelve months before the $60,000 would be reached. This would compel the abandonment of all plans for the improvement and enlargement of the paper. More than that, the very existence of the paper would be placed in jeopardy.

Our plans, as our readers know, call for the beginning of a distinctly New York Daily Worker on October 8. We plan on continuing and improving the national edition, and on putting out two editions, one at 7 P. M., the other at midnight, of the New York paper.

These plans are now endangered by the slow response to the financial drive. No district has as yet shown real energy in the campaign. The New York district, the chief beneficiary in the extention plans, has fallen down woefully.

The entire Party must now give its immediate attention to the $60,000 drive, rallying the sympathetic organizations and the broad mass of the workers for the trebling of the daily returns without further delay. Certainly it is not too much to ask that the New York comrades must lead the way.

We know that our comrades and our Party units have been deeply involved in the textile strike and in the other struggles of the workers. This has occupied the time of comrades, and has diverted the limited resources of our organizations.

The Daily Worker has also been in the forefront of the textile struggle as it was in the Toledo, Minneapolis, Milwaukee, San Francisco and other struggles. Each of these has caused us greatly increased expense because always we placed the needs of the struggle ahead of any narrow financial consideration. We sent correspondents into the strike areas; we increased our telegraph bills; we distributed thousands of papers free. We always realized that our job, our reason for existence, was to aid the workers win their demands, striving at the same time to transform them into conscious revolutionary fighters against capitalism and for socialism. The pressure of the struggle therefore can not cause us to weaken our efforts to guarantee the existence of the Daily Worker. On the contrary, the very development of the struggle makes the paper more necessary; it makes its enlargement and

couldn't suggest some remedy in are now being used to murder workers—today—committee memers took the attitude that they were being brave enough in centering public attention on the facts.

Young testified that his corporation ships munitions to National Guard units "all over the country, and he proudly reported that they served the owners and soldiers and police in the recent Pacific Coast general strike, and in the Auto-Lite strise in Toledo. The corpora-tion is owned almost entirely by banks and trust companies and steel barons. One of its directors is an official of the infamous Weir-Steel Corporation.

With samples of the death-dealing machine guns, tear and sicken ing gas bombs, "incendiary bombs," "demolition" bombs made of T. N. T. being passed around among the Nye-Vandenberg Com-mittee, Stephen Rauchenbush, Committee investigator, introduced some of Young's literature, boasting of the use of his products in industrial "emergencies" or strikes.

"Has your business picked up since the textile strike started?" Senator Clark asked. Young replied confidently. "About five to ten per cent, I'd say." 'Was it your plane that dropped in the Alleghenies while carrying gas to Rhode Island?" The pilot was killed.

"Yes," said Young. "I'm sorry it didn't get there, because the National Guard had to use their rifles and kill two or three people." The Senators failed to point out the lie in that statement—failed to point out that the workers killed were defenseless, in a cemetery. "Do you sell to anybody?" Clark "Not on your life," exclaimed

Young, explaining that purchasers must have permits from police or "What would be the effect of this gas (tear and sickening gas) upon men long underfed?" asked Senator Bone. "I mean on men who were suffering from malnutrition and physically weak—on strikers?" "Far less than lead bullets," Young blandly replied. Then he launched this attack upon the working class in an effort to morally justify his business: "There comes a time when men like ourselves under the influence of mob osychology do things a sane man wouldn't, and the police have to bring them back.

"Never mind that," Bone finally came back, but without nailing Young's attack.

"Would this gas have more effect on a man not well fed, such as a striker, than on a well-fed mill owner?" asked Clark.

"If he weren't fed," retorted Young, still unabashed, "he'd have a hard time vomiting."

"We've witnessed a great many strikes lately—have your products been used in all of them?" Bone

"We've shipped all over the country, to the National Guard," Young He pointed out also that the government has absolutely no restrictions upon the shipment of these munitions to industrialists, police, etc., in interstate commerce.

The Communist Party, he declared, does not believe in acts of individual ter Communists fought for workdemands through organizing them and leading them in mass actions.

The real criminals, he said, were the directors of the Ward Line who brought on the disaster because of their greed for profits. He concluded by saying:

"They say there were Communists aboard the Morro Castle. I don't know whether there were any Communists there or not; but I say it is a great compliment to the Communist Party that they bring forward before this official investigating committee as evidence that here were Communsits on board, testimony that some members of the crew were not satisfied with the rotten conditions on the boat, and were trying to change them. That is some evidence, because while it is not always true that when workers fight for better conditions that they are Communists it is always true that if there are any Communists there, they will always fight for better conditions."

The Most Burning Question ---Unity of Action

By BELA KUN-

(Ninth Installment)

WHAT is the peculiarity of the petty-bourgeois poltoy? Shortly expressed, it is: vacillation between labor and capital, vacillation between the struggle for the interests of the toilers against capital and the defense of capitalist private property against the proletariat! From this vacillation it follows that the petty-bourgeoisie would like to avoid the class struggle and wants to reconcile the interests of labor and capital. Such reconciliation, however, is impossible. This is shown not least by the so-called abolition of the class struggle by the National-Socialists in Germany which has led only to a tremendous accentuation of class contradic-

By striving to attain a reconciliation between capital and labor, the petty-bourgeois policy serves the capitalist class, which is interested in seeing that the workers do not wage a class struggle. It is just this which constitutes the reactionary element in the petty-bourgeois policy.

What was the result of the petty-bourgeois policy of Social-Democracy in Germany?

WHAT HAPPENED IN GERMANY?

It did not deal a death blow at monopoly capital, the banks, the factory owners, the Junkers; it showed that it desired peaceful collaboration between all classes and all social strata of the Weimar Republic. It therefore placed itself on the side of the bourgeoisie against the working class. This alone provided a basis for the policy of Noske, Ebert, Zoergiebel and Wels. Social-Democracy participated in the bourgeois governments; it "tolerated" the bourgeois government. Whom did the Social-Democratic Party of Germany tolerate? The governments which looked after the business of big capital and the Junkers and which also exploited the petty bourgeoisie and small peasants. This petty-bourgeois policy of Social-Democracy with the big capitalists and big agrarians thus denotes a collaboration not only with the class enemy of the proletariat, but also with the enemies of the urban petty bourgeoisie and the peasantry.

It is true that the Communists have said hard things about the Social-Democratic Party; they have said that it pursues a petty-bourgeois policy which is directed against the working class but also against the middle classes. The Communist Party has put forward and steadfastly upheld a proletarian policy against the common enemies of the working class and of the middle strata, against the trust magnates, against the big agrarians. It wanted united action on the part of all workers and all middle-class elements against capitalism. The German working class was not split on the question of whether it should join hands with the middle-class elements against capitalism, but on the question of whether it should collaborate with the big bourgeoisie in the interests of big capital, the enemy of the workers and of the middle classes. This collaboration of Social-Democracy with capital has not only split the working class, but has also driven the middle class to the side of capital.

CITES EVENTS IN AUSTRIA

The effects of a petty-bourgeois policy on the relation between the proletariat and the middle classes in town and country may be seen still more clearly in the case of Austria.

Austrian Social-Democracy veiled its policy with revolutionary phrases. It declared that its main reason for rejecting the Bolshevik policy was that this policy repelled the petty-bourgeois masses from the workers. It even proclaimed that it would realize Socialism through its policy in Vienna. It boasted of the fact that by means of the taxation policy of the well-known Viennese City Councillor. Breitner, the costs of "socialist construction" would be covered without the expropriation of the capitalist enterprises. What actually took place? It was unable with its "democratic socialism" to destroy the sources of capitalist exploitation, of the unearned income of the capitalists. The famous progressive taxation, by means of which Breitner tried to cover the costs of the Viennese municipal policy, did not touch one hair on the head of the Rothschilds; whereas the banking house of Rothschild, with the aid of Social-Democracy, was subsidized at the expense of the small taxpayer. This was also the reason why the small man-the innkeeper, the small shopkeeper, the small tradesman, the small pension-holder, the small and middle peasant-went over into the camp of the National-Socialists, or, into that of the Heimwehr, of the "Patriotic Front." The Austrian Social-Democrats were also prone to regard the municipal enterprises of Vienna as "a piece of Socialism." But the great municipal enterprise did not compete with the great capitalists; the latter have even pocketed a fair portion of the profits of these concerns through their banks and through their business connections with the Arbeiterbank. "Democratic Socialism" was unable and unwilling to touch capitalist private property, and this petty-bourgeois policy was incapable of winning over the pettybourgeoisie to the side of the working class.

AGRARIAN POLICY PETTY-BOURGEOIS

The agrarian policy of Austrian Social-Democracy was likewise a petty-bourgeois policy, since it protected the interests of the rich peaants, who formed a community of interests with the big landowners which was bound in practice to work out against the agricultural laborers, the poor and middle peasants. In order "not to repel" the rich peasants (the village bourgeoisie) the Austrian Social-Democrats, when they were in power, did not expropriate the big landowners for the benefit of the poor and middle peasants. They pursued a taxation and credit policy in the countryside which likewise spared the rich peasants and big land-

This petty-bourgeois policy, which left big capital and big landownership untouched, did not give the urban and rural middle classes what both wanted to attain. It could not give it, for this could only be won at the expense of big capital, of the big landlords, of the urban and rural bourgeoisie. This policy has driven large sections of the middle classes in Austria into the camp of fas-

CLASS-COLLABORATION WITH ENEMIES

On top of all this in both countries came the splitting of the working class in consequence of the class collaboration of Social-Democracy with the enemies not only of the proletariat, but also of the middle classes. A split working class could not summon sufficient strength to make it clear to the middle classes that the latter, in alliance with the working class, could assert their interests against big capital, against the big agrarians. This was the main reason why it was possible for the big capitalists and big agrarians, through the fascist parties, to make use of the anti-capitalist sentiments of the small tradesmen, small shopkeepers, small pension-holders, poor and middle peasants, office employees, etc., in the interests of capitalist private property and of the bourgeois state.

The example of the joint demonstrations of Social-Democratic and Communist workers since February 6, 1934, in France shows that it is not the fascist organizations, but precisely the working class which gains influence among the middle classes as a result of united action by the two

The proletarian revolutionary policy, resolute revolutionary action against capital by means of a firm united front of the working class paralyzes the vacillations of the middle strata and wins over sections of them for the struggle. The pettybourgeois policy, on the other hand, the policy of reconciliation with capital drives the middle strata into the camp of fascism.

Every Social-Democratic worker or functionary can decide whether the unity of action of the Social-Democratic Parties with the Communist Parties against big capital, against the big agrarians repels the petty-bourgeois strata or draws them into the struggle.

New Deal in Philippines Revolt in Indo-China

China Red Army Reports

UNDER the reign of Gov. ernor-General Frank Murphy of the Philippines. formerly of the General Motors and Ford Empire of Detroit, the spirit of the New Deal moved into Manila with a vengeance. Three cigar strikers were shot dead. Twenty-two were wounded. And scores are being arrested under direct orders of Governor

According to the capitalist press, this is the first time in the history of the Philippines strikers were shot dead. Peasants have been slaugh-tered wholesale. Communists have been murdered. But it was left to the regime of Governor-General Murphy, under whose reign in Detroit, the Ford Motor Co. gunmen shot and slaughtered four workers in the Ford hunger march, to kill strikers also.

MURPHY, whom the American capitalist press calls a "friend of labor," called a special session of the Cabinet to deal with the strike. The proletariat of Manila are calling for a general protest strike. Murphy's answer is to order "intensive efforts be made to arrest radical leaders believed to be inciting the strikers."

What were these strikers guilty of? They used the same tactics the textile workers did in their flying squadrons to close down mills. Earning about 23 cents a day or less in American money the Filipino cigar makers went out on strike, demanding increased pay, lower hours, and unoin recognition — just what the majority of their American brothers are fighting for against the N.R.A.

THIS is the valunted "independence" the Roosevelt regime is granting the Philippines. Every worker, every anti-imperialist, should immediately protest. Send your wires to President Roosevelt against the slaughter of Filipino strikers. Send your cable protests to Governor-General Frank Murphy, Manila, P. I., demanding a stop to the arrest of the strike leaders; a halt to the shooting down of workers fighting for bread against feudal-imperialist slave conditions. Detroit workers especially, who know Murphy of old, should let him hear from their home town-with the bitterest and sharpest protests.

VOU wouldn't expect an exposure of imperialist oppression and organs of the Japanese trusts. But here we have one. The Japanese press which is silent on the slaughter of Manchurian workers and peasants, and on the oppression of the Korean masses (because all that goes on under the flag of the rising sun is above suspicion) does not hesitate to print an exposure of conditions in Indo China. The reason for this little indiscretion of the deeds of its fellow imperialist bandit arises from the French government's supporting the security pact with the Soviet government.

HENCE we get the following from Noburu Ogata, staff correspondent of the Osaka Mainichi in Indo-

"Ever since two companies of native soldiers, with rifles in hand, rebelled against the French In Northern Annam in February, 1930, anti-French movements on the part of the natives in that district have never completely ceased.

"With the government employing the army to quell these insurrections, several thousand casualties have already occurred to date. However, with the situation giving birth to further turmoil, the government has had to dispatch foreign soldiers to the scenes of disturbance. "Extremely cold-blooded are some of the methods used in subjugating the insurgents, their ranks being swept by machine gun fire or bombs dropped on the populace from airplanes, leaving a record whereby, in spite of the many killed and injured among the insurgents, there is not a single casualty on the part of the government forces."

THE flood of news from China, from Chiang Kai-Shek sources. about the imminent destruction of the Central Soviet Government in China, seems to have dried up recently. The reason is that the glowing promises of Chiang Kai-Shek were effectively smashed by the Red Armies of China.

The Chinese Soviet Government recently mailed to the Shanghai press a release which stated that the Red Army is in a position to occupy both Foochow and Amoy at any time, the leading cities in Fukien provinces. But this step is not taken for strategical reasons at this time. Furthermore, the Red Army has armed forces, numbering 20,-000 in that province. A list of six Red Army victories over the Chiang Kai-Shek armies

Reuter, British-controlled news service, reported from Canton that a Communist army of over 3,000, led by the woman comander, Ho Lan-ving, sister of Ho Lung, penetrated the province of Kweichow. The Red forces captured the cities of Shihnan, Yinkiang and Tehki-

Another large force of the Red Army suddenly appeared six miles from the city of Yenhua in the extreme north of Kwangtung, near the Hunan-Kiangsi border.
