SEAMEN! STRIKE EVERY SHIP ON ATLANTIC COAST EDITORIAL -

Response of crews of twenty-three ships and tugboats in five Atlantic ports to the strike call of the United Front Seamen's Strike Committee proves that they will no longer be fooled by the "truce" schemes of leaders of the International Seamen's Union and the arbitration plans of the

N.R.A. and the shipowners. After eighteen months of stalling by arbitration boards, after witnessing the strikebreaking maneuvers of the I.S.U. and I.L.A. officials on both the East and West Coasts, the seamen have learned that only through a policy of united strike struggle under rank and file leadership, can the marine workers win better conditions on the ships and Indeed, before the strike went into effect, the very fact that the Joint Strike Preparations Committee was mobilizing behind it thousands of seamen for militant struggle, forced the shipowners at least to pretend that they were going to deal with the workers. They broadcast the idea that they were considering granting some increases in wages "to head off the strike under left wing leadership.'

Fearing the temper of the men on the ships the shipowners have mobilized all their agencies in a frantic attempt to break the strike.

The capitalist press is doing its bit. The New York Herald-Tribune, in an attempt to minimize the walkout, states that the "Marine Strike Here Fails to Disturb Port." This was printed at a time when the entire New York waterfront was an armed police camp and when patrolling 13 docks.

Leaders of the I.S.U., resorting to Francis J. Gorman's language, are announcing that their agreement to call off the strike without winning one single demand for the workers is a tremendous victory. At the same time these leaders are acting as scab herders-shipping strikebreakers aboard the

Then, there is the Seamen's Church Institute, the business manager of which, Wesley Westerman, has openly admitted that he will ship scabs and lend a vigorous hand to strikebreaking.

The United Front Strike Committee, facing these difficulties and odds, but armed with the authority of the thousands of men who have signed the strike pledge cards, is leading and spreading the strike. Every ship struck, every action on the waterfront, is compelling the shipowners to consider the just demands of the seamen. Further actions will force them to grant concessions to the

To the degree that the strike is spread-to that degree will the demands of the maritime workers be won. The one thing that the shipowners and their agents, the leaders of the I.S.U. and the I.L.A. fear, is that the strike will be spread. They do not want to see more ships striking. They do not want to see the longshoremen join with the seamen in a sympathy strike. Knowing the trickery of the A. F. of L. leaders, the seamen should further strengthen their ship committees and the longshoremen their dock committees. Spread the strike. Workers in all trades, members of all unions, organized and unorganized workers-this fight is your fight. Join the seamen on the picket lines. Pass resolutions in your local union supporting the strike. Contribute to the strike relief fund. Help close the scab shipping halls.

The longshoremen have been held back from striking for their demands by Joseph P. Ryan's "truce" pact. But the "truce" pact has won nothing for the dock workers. Already longshoremen of Local 808 have overrode Ryan's plans and have struck in sympathy with the seamen.

House Parties Successful

Another means is the house party. House parties have always successful. Yet, though the Daily Worker has pointed this out day after day since the drive has been in progress, few have been arranged. This is a serious mistake.

Every Communist Party unit should arrange at least one house party a month for the drive. House parties should also be the policy of individual sympathizers and of organizations sympathetic to the paper. Not only may admission be charged, but collections taken.

Then we have the question of collection lists. Thousands have been distributed—yet few have been returned. A correction on this score is needed. Money should be turned in immediately, no matter how little the collection.

ACW Officials Ask Funds for Car Lost on Pleasure Trip

By a Worker Correspondent NEW YORK .- Sometime ago on a New Jersey highway. Three of the four occupants were injured, and taken to a hospital, where it was revealed that the two men were delegates of the Amalgamated Clothing Workers of America, of Newark, Local 24. One of the girls is a bookkeeper in the same local, the other works in a tailor shop.

It was later learned that the accident occurred on a pleasure rip to Atlantic City.

The delegates' automobile was smashed. It was rumored that they planned to take enough money from the workers for the ourchase of a new car.

And sure enough, they went around asking the workers to ionate, for men not less than $1. and for the women not less than

CHANGE

- By MICHAEL GOLD

THERE is an old story about a certain dumb, faithful slave, who was a building worker. Carrying some planks across the scaffolding of a new structure, he stepped through the unfinished elevator shaft, and dropped ten floors on his head.

Everyone thought he was killed. But he picked himself up, gathered up the planks, shock his head clear, and climbed back to his place. Sneaking up to one of his fellow workers, he whispered, "Say, Ed, did I make the foreman sore at me?"

How About a Murder?

THREE or four days ago the editor of the Daiy Worker suggested that I write a column on the Edwards murder case in Wilkes-Barre. It seems that a great deal of interest among the masses has been aroused by this case, and the Daily Worker ought to have some comment on it. But I couldn't work up an interest. And I have been sneaking around feeling guilty, and wondering if the editor is sore at me.

Dreiser's American Tragedy Again

T SEEMS that this young Mr. Edwards was the collegiate son of a mine boss. He was going around with a girl in his home town, daughter of another mine boss, and got her into trouble

Meanwhile he had fallen hard for another girl. What did he do? He took the first girl out in a rowboat and murdered her, a jury has found. And he will probably hang for it, It is all one of those sickening messes so common in this sort of society.

A New York newspaper engaged Theodore Dreiser to report the case, because the details so strongly resembled the murder case on which he based his famous novel, "An American Tragedy." Mr. Dreiser's sympathies were with the young murderer, as they had formerly been in the novel. For Dreiser, very properly, sees in such a case an indictment of society, and not of the criminal. Here is a typical American boy, in a situation not so unusual

Other such boys have gotten into the same mess, but haven't committed murder. There was evidence in this case enough to convince any unbribable psychologist that the youth was passing through a phase of adolescent insanity Many such young people under capitalism commit suicide, or take to drugs, or even occasionally commit murder. It is generally the more sensitive or adventurous types who are temporarily unbalanced by the There is no place for them in capitalist society. Even in the best of times, it is difficult for them to find out what they will make of their lives. Most of them must take any job flung at them, and be thankful. The mass of youth under capitalism is crushed in an iron mill until every ounce of talent, initiative and hope has been squeezed out of them, and they become "good citizens." There is also the budding sex urge, never more mysterious and powerful than at this period. And society forbids all lawful expression of it. These boys and girls can't afford to marry, usually; and they can't dare, in most American communities, to take recourse to illegal love. This also breeds a sense of desperation in them Futility as to their life career, suppression and shame in their sex life, growing up in a chaotic, cruel society, where every man's hand is turned against his neighbor, how can one do anything but pity the

More Dangerous Killers

THIS doesn't mean that Theodore Dreiser or the Soviet Union condone murder. But there are degrees in murder. I must confess that a murder like this one shocks and horrifles me, but doesn't make me feel vindictive, which is the way all Babbitts feel in such cases.

It is respectable murderers like the worthy directors of the steamship line which owned the "Morro Castle" that make me feel the necessity of social revenge. Such people would undoubtedly be shot in the Soviet Union, "as the highest measure of social protection." They are infinitely more dangerous, with their unholy lust for profits, than a million young Edwardses in a community. Where he has the entire output. VET I must confess again, it is difficult for me to work up much of production of capital goods now oc a genuine interest any longer in the sad, sordid American tragedies that fill the papers.

Murder for insurance, murder in a fit of insanity, murder in some sex complication, murder for robbery-don't they all fall into the same great pattern?

It is an actual fact that such crimes for profit have almost been eliminated in the Soviet Union. Such expert investigators as Dr. John Kingsbury and Dr. Frankwood Williams report also that the sex neuroses of adolescents are no longer found over there, and that all neuroticism has been almost completely eliminated.

It is easy to find hope, it is easy to work out one's career, the pangs of the thwarted ego have been dissolved in the healing ocean of a sane and socialized Soviet society.

Certain intellectuals like Ludwig Lewisohn and Herbert Hoover are fond of telling us again and again that the individual is crushed in the Soviet Union, but that in America he has a chance to express new industries like the artifical silk himself.

per harry here is filled daily with hundreds of examples of the tragedy of the individual, but in the Soviet Union, frustration is a forgotten thing in literature and life. Any individual ego you pick out of the great mass displays traits of heroism and exuberance such as one had never believed was in human nature. That's why murder cases in America seem boring after a while.

It is like adding up the numerals in a long column of addition. The ionochous; it has happened once before, as in this Edwards case, it will happen again and again until capitalism, the great murderer, is finally hung on a proletarian sour-apple tree.

It Is Better To Hope

EURTHERMORE, during the days when I served as a reporter on capitalist papers, I believe I covered no less than fifty murderson the trail after the crime, in courtrooms, etc.

All that naked American horror helped make a Communist of me, which is perhaps all to the good. But even then, while reporting a case, I would take good books with me to read at the press table while pretending to make notes.

After a while, one sickens of all this capitalist decadence; the mind turns more and more to the way out, and longs for the promises of a new creation. The struggles of a trade union rank-and-file to get rid of its racketeer leaders, or the battle of some forgotten Communist unit in a small and hostile American town to bring light to the workers, is infinitely more interesting and important to me now than a hundred such murder cases. So I hope the Editor will forgive me.

The building which formerly housed the Governmental institutions were all given over to the workers to be used as dwellings. Thus the living space of the workers considerably increased.

We already have electric stations in the districts; they work on peat. This fuel, which is one of the major fuels in Soviet White Russia, is being produced in large quantities. This year the peat production will amount to 1.500,000 tons, of which 70 per cent is produced by machinery of our own making. We have factories that produce cast-iron tubes; we also have automobile repair plants. These industries are enumerated only by way of example."

We must now ask the following question: Where did Soviet White Russia get its metal industry? We have neither deposits of iron ore, nor deposits of coal; still the metal industry develops. Obviously we deal

The Message of Stalin To American Workers

DECENTLY it was said that there is no N man to whom the toiling millions of the world listen with more eagerness than Comrade Stalin, great disciple of Lenin, leader of the Communist International and the world proletariat.

Certainly the interview which the Daily Worker printed in full yesterday between Stalin and the English novelist, H. G. Wells, makes it clear why Stalin's words are so full of meaning, so precious to the working class of the world, particularly to the workers of this country.

In a profound, yet simple way, Stalin was talking to the workers and impoverished farmers of the United States on the basic problem of their liveshow to end the crisis and provide themselves with work, security and peace.

In speaking to the American workers, Stalin does not ignore the fact that many workers still harbor illusions about the Roosevelt "New Deal" as a solution for the crisis. Stalin does not fear to define the traits of Roosevelt which make him a peculiarly effective agent of the Wall Street capitalists at the present moment, his shrewdness, his ability to maneuver, his capacity to wield mass

But once having demonstrated that his approach to Roosevelt is not a narrow, unhistoric one, but a Marxist-Leninist appraisal of a capitalist class figure. Stalin, with unsurpassed clarity and richness, proceeds to outline the class relations between the Roosevelt government and the Wall Street monopolies which make Roosevelt's "New Deal" the program of Wall Street profits, a program which can never solve the tremendous problems of a planned economy or find a sure way out of the

ON EVERY immediate, vital question, Stalin's interview enriches the understanding of the

On the question of the "similarity between the 'New Deal' planning" and the planning of the Sovet Union, a question upon which the Norman Thomases seek to bring such obscurities, Stalin gave a razor-sharp definition

'The United States has a different aim from the U.S.S.R. Americans want to get rid of the crisis on the basis of private capitalist activity without changing the economic basis. As you know, in our country, in place of the old economic base, which was smashed, has been formed an absolutely new economic basis.'

"The old basis which was smashed"-here is the revolutionary lesson of the October Revolution, which Stalin makes clear to the American working class. If the crisis is to be solved the Wall Street, rule must be smashed. There can be no "peaceful transition to Socialism.

Why is the Roosevelt-New Deal "planning" doomed to failure as a solution for the anarchy of capitalist production? Stalin answers: "You cannot ever compel a capitalist to cause himself loss and consent to lower rates of profit for the sake of satisfying public requirements. Without getting rid of the capitalists and abandoning the principle of private ownership in the means of production you cannot create a planned economy," and end the crisis. Again the revo-

How simply and truly Stalin defines the relation of Roosevelt to the Wall Street capitalists:

"I have had some slight experience in the field of the struggle for Socialism, and this experience teaches me that if Roosevelt really tries to satisfy the interests of the proletarian class at the expense of the capitalist class, the latter will replace him by another president.

If necessary, the Wall Street master, says Stalin, will replace his servant.

And of the Socialist Party theory that Roosevelt's "New Deal" planning shows the growth of the state power over industry, Stalin states, with Marxist-Leninist precision:

"Economy is not in the hands of the state. On the contrary, the state is in the hands of capitalist economy."

It is not the Roosevelt government which is controlling the Wall Street monopolies, but the Wall Street monopolies which more and more control the government, teaches Stalin to the American working class.

STALIN'S fundamental message to the American working class is that the problem of bread, of working conditions, of security, of unemployment, of security and peace are now revolutionary questions, that the masses can never achieve a happy and secure life through any other path than the path of the October Revolution, the path of the revolutionary seizure of power, the path of "getting rid of the capitalists" and "smashing the old economic basis" of private property.

For this reason, Stalin's message, which the Daily Worker alone of all papers in the country was able to give its readers in a complete text, is a sharp weapon in the struggles of the American working class to win a better life, to end the yoke of the capitalist crisis.

The Battle Goes On in Spain

NEWS reports from Spain are marked primarily by the fact that after five days of fighting the workers are still continuing their struggle against the fascist Lerroux government, despite the repeated claims of the government that the insurgent forces had been vanquished. What the situation actually is cannot be told from the heavily censored cables from Madrid.

In several parts of Spain soviets were set up. In many other sections, from North to South, and in Catalonia, the workers seized power in a number of towns and cities. The most stubborn battle is going on in Asturias, a very important mining, industrial and shipping center. The government is massing its forces at this point in a desperate effort to break the backbone of the

Now the Lerroux government is calling the Cortes in session, the Spanish parliament, without the left republican, Socialist and Communist representatives. The main problem before the Cortes, meeting in the midst of civil war, is to set up a fascist military dictatorship and endeavor to destroy the workers' uprising.

The whole structure of the bourgeois-landlord government has been badly shaken by the workers' struggles. The armed forces of the capitalists are in the most chaotic condition. Thus far the army as a whole has not been used against the workers. because the fascists fear the consequences. Only picked troops were sent against the Asturias.

So desperate was the Lerroux government that it has transported thousands of its Foreign Legion from Morocco, bands of mercenary adventurers, to shoot down the Spanish workers and peasants.

As "Prayda" points out, the main weakness of the workers' struggles lies in the apparent lack of central, decisive directing forces, and a clear objective for the seizure of power and the setting up of soviets. The struggle also is marked by the greatest unevenness, outbreaks taking place in widely scattered sections and surging forward in some places, retreating in others, only to break out with greater fury.

Above all, Socialists, Communists and Syndicalists are fighting side by side, united in the main object of striving to defeat the fascist Lerroux

Gorman Covers Up

TRANCIS GORMAN, who betrayed one million textile workers in the recent general strike, flew to San Francisco for a speech to the A. F. of L. Convention. Gorman, United Textile leader, who was head of the U.T.W. Strike Committee, is attempting to maintain his leadership in the face of the wave of indignation against his sell out of the strike.

In order to quiet the rank and file. Gorman claimed that the strike "settlement," the calling off of the strike on the strength of the Winant Board's report, was "an amazing victory." He claims that the Winant report, on the basis of which Gorman ended the strike, resulted in "a plan to end the stretchout," and "the nearest thing to recognition of the union that it was possible to get."

WHAT is this Winant report which Gorman claims is an amazing victory for the textile workers? The Roosevelt board of three headed by Governor of Vermont Winant, which Roosevelt appointed, did not grant a single demand of the strikers. Regarding the stretchout, in fact, it even calls for increased stretchout. The Winant report recommends "that the respective codes be amended to provide that a special committee be created under the textile labor relations board to supervise the use of the stretch-out.

The Winant report proposes that "UNTIL FEB-RUARY 1, 1935, NO EMPLOYER SHALL EXTEND THE WORK LOAD OF ANY EMPLOYE EXCEPT IN SPECIAL CIRCUMSTANCES WITH THE AP-PROVAL OF THE STRETCHOUT COMMITTEE." A plan for "regulation" of the stretchout shall be proposed to the President not later than January,

In other words, the textile workers are now back at work under the same unbearable stretchout against which they struck. Furthermore, the Winant board proposes even INCREASE in the stretchout, by permission of the recommended investigating committee.

On wages, the Winant report had nothing to say. The textile workers are now working at the same starvation wages that prevailed before and a drive is on to further decrease the wages of textile workers.

The Winant report does not grant or recommend a semblance of recognition in any shape, size or form.

board"-the textile labor relations board has been created-to have final say. Thus the Winant report recommends further Roosevelt compulsory arbitration and further investigation, which has availed the textile workers nothing in the past year and a half and against which they rebelled. The same dose is given them as was given the auto and steel workers.

The employers did not pay the slightest attention to the part of the report recommending "no discrimination," and blacklisted thousands. They stated openly that they will run the industry as

Certainly the decisions on which Gorman called off the strike were AMAZING to the workers, but the workers know that they were not a VICTORY, but a SELL-OUT and a betrayal.

The textile strike could have been won if militant mass picketing and strong rank and file organization had been established and if the leaders had mobilized the rest of the working class for supporting strikes and solidarity actions. But Gorman tried to limit picketing, to drive out the reds and militants. He did not allow holding of union membership meetings, and did not even allow all the textile trades to come out on strike, let alone seek to spread the strike to other industries. This is why the strike was not won.

Because of militant rank and file action, the strike was strong and effective when Gorman called it off on the bosses terms.

German, in his speech at the convention, praised the textile workers for their fight in the face of the troops and terror. But Gorman concealed the fact that when national guard troops murdered strikers in New England, his lieutenants, Joseph Sylvia, Riviere, etc., condemned the mass picketers as "reds, hoodlums and vandals" and washed their hands of the mass picketers. They sang the same identical song as the mill owners against the murdered

Gorman and his aides must bear responsibility for the murder of strikers on the picket lines, just as great as the responsibility of those who pulled the triggers and the employers and the government who unleashed the terror. Gorman and his aides deserted and condemned the strike's were picketing and fighting in the face of troops.

Fancy rhetoric and empty boasting will not save Gorman from the indignation of the rank and file. They know that the same desperate conditions prevail now as before the strike, with blacklist and terror increased. The rank and file must organize the re-strike movement, this time on the basis of rank and file control of the strikes and the negotiations. Only this rank and file action will prevent future Gorman-Green sell-outs

Party Life

On Relations Between The Communist Party and Young Communist League

N MY experience as section or-I ganizer of the Young Communist League I have noticed that where the Party is giving guidance, or at least understands the Y. C. L. in its role as the leader of the toiling youth, our League functions. But it is precisely in those places where the Y. C. L. is weak that clarity is still to be attained by the entire Party membership in order to resurrect the Y. C. L. which will then itself be a live factor in helping the Party to realize how it can give Earl Browder, in his convention report, says that the Y. C. L. "is looked upon as a sort of probationary kindergarten." This "belittling" and misunderstanding in general of the Y. C. L. manifests itself in many ways in the Duluth section.

Although the situation in Duluth was such that something drastic had to be done to rectify it, where we had about 40 functioning Party members and no Y. C. L., never-theless this recruitment of Y. C. L.'ers into the Party by the manner in which it was done, repre-sents problems which have to be met squarely.

T WOULD have been better in a couple of the cases in Duluth if the Party would have convinced its new applicants to join the Y. C. L. This would have eliminated the problem now where these new com-rades are bewildered when we want them to join another Communist organization, the Y. C. L., and they don't see the necessity.

There is the tendency to place recruitment into the Y. C. L. and the Party on an entirely "volunbasis or on the basis of "all best elements of the working class should be Party members." If a certain young worker wants to join the Party, the Party does not consider carefully whether or not it is for the best interests of that recruit, the Party, and also the Y. C. L., to take the fellow into the Party when he is of Y. C. L. age. Naturally if the Y. C. L. were strong, this would not be a problem, the young serious minded people would join the Y. C. L. But just because this situation exists, it is necessary for the Party to explain to the new applicant that the Y. C. L. is also a Communist organization, though still weak, and he as a young worker should belong to it and help build it, because the organization deals with his problems. If we placed everybody who was good enough for the Party as Party members, there would not, at the present time, be any Y. C. L. in Duluth, but every Y. C. L.'er would De a Party member Recruitment of young workers of Y. C. L. age and of Y. C. L.'ers into the Party for the purpose of building a Party core of Y. C. L.'ers must be controlled to ensure the fact that this core will held build the Y. C. L. I know of situations into the Party without making it Kalinin.
