A Smashing Blow at Munich Treachery and Aggression

A MERICAN public opinion, letters to the capitalist press are beginning to show, is penetrating through the screen of falsifications of the Soviet Union's great stroke for world peace.

The American people are beginning to see and will more fully understand as events rapidly unfold that the Soviet Union has made one of the most valuable contributions to the peace of the United States and the world.

As one reads the text of the non-aggression treaty between the Soviet Union and Germany, its effectiveness as the major obstacle to a new Munich becomes more emphatic.

Observers of world affairs are pretty well convinced by now that the British Prime Minister Chamberlain and his French Foreign Minister, Bonnet, had no intention of concluding, before this, a peace front with the U.S.S.R. This signified, if it signified anything at all, that the Anglo-French appeasers were prepared for a more disastrous Munich.

By compelling Germany to sign a nonaggression pact, the Soviet Union not only tremendously limited the direction of the Nazi war aims, but thereby bolstered the possibilities for the peace of the world.

Still sticking to their fervent hatred of the whole move which has upset the Municheers' plans-that is to say the plans of encouraging and egging on the aggressors-the reactionaries and all of their anti-Soviet stooges seek to misread and misinterpret the plain wording of the nonaggression pact.

Article II, for example, follows in the whole spirit of the Soviet Union's peace front proposals to the Anglo-French governments when it says that the signatories to the non-aggression pact "will in no way support" a third power if it carries on "warlike acts" against the signers of this treaty. The objective of the peace front proposals of the U.S.S.R. was never to provoke war-like acts, but rather to unite the forces of the world in order to bar the way to aggression.

SPECIFICALLY, in his address to the Supreme Soviet, May 31, 1939, Vyacheslav Molotov, Commissar of Foreign Affairs of the Soviet Union, addressing himself to the Anglo-French stallers, de-

"The pact proposed (by the Soviet Union) on these conditions is intended EXCLUSIVELY FOR DEFENSE AND DIFFERS FUNDAMENTALLY from the pact concluded between Germany and Italy.' It is this FUNDAMENTAL DIFFER-ENCE of the present non-aggression pact between the Soviet Union and Germany from the alliances which the imperialists and fascists generally make that the reactionary press refuses to acknowledge, thereby trying to distort its great advantage for world peace.

As to what the situation would be in the event of aggression on the part of Nazi Germany against any nation, the Soviet Union's policy is crystal clear, not only in words but by repeated action as in China and Spain. It is in no way modified or altered by the terms of the present non-aggression pact.

Besides lessening the tension of international relations, the non-aggression pact, as in Article IV, expresses itself against the combination of any powers aimed at either of the signatories of this pact, and by implication any other parties.

It seems that the reactionary press refused to learn the plain meaning of Soviet foreign policy, reiterated in the greatest detail by Joseph Stalin at the 18th Congress of the Communist Party of the Soviet Union, March 10, 1939.

It is within the following first two points of that foreign policy of the U.S. S. R. that the non-aggression pact was

"(1) We stand for peace and the strengthening of business relations with all countries. That is our position and we shall adhere to this position as long as these countries maintain like relations with the Soviet Union, and as long as they make no attempt to trespass on the interests of our country.

"(2) We stand for peaceful, close and friendly relations with all the neighboring countries which have common frontiers with the U.S.S.R. That is our position; and we shall adhere to this position as long as these countries maintain like relations with the Soviet Union, and as long as they make no attempt to trespass, directly or indirectly on the integrity and inviolability of the frontiers of the Soviet state."

BUT having achieved a great victory in this respect, that by no means erased or disturbed by so much as a single dot the rest of the unified peace policy of the U.S.S.R. In fact, it strengenthed it. We have reference to the concluding points of Stalin's foreign policy declaration, the first part of which we have already quoted. These final points state:

(3) "We stand for the support of nations which are the victims of aggression and are fighting for the independence of their country.

(4) "We are not afraid of the threats of aggressors and are ready to deal two blows for every blow delivered by instigators of war who attempt to violate the Soviet border."

Those principles apply with as great force as when Comrade Stalin first ut-

Let us not forget when considering the achieved non-aggression pact that Comrade Stalin at the 18th Party Congress also declared that it was the apparent aim of the Munich authors "to incense the Soviet Union against Germany, to poison the atmosphere and to provoke a conflict with Germany without any visible grounds."

Since this provocation has failed is it not a victory over the Munichmen and directly, also, a victory over their fascist

Then, too, Comrade Stalin warned the Munich plotters and inciters of a fascist attack against the U.S.S.R. that their game "may end in a serious fiasco for them."

Pravda, in its editorial yesterday (published in today's Daily Worker), was a thousand times right when it said that by clearing up the poisonous atmosphere between Germany and the Soviet Union this non-aggression treaty will help disperse the present international tension, and that "it will serve the cause of the universal strengthening of peace."

MOST significantly, the majority of comments from Poland, the nation most threatened by aggression, continues to be to the effect that the Soviet Union's action hinders aggression. Indeed, it is admitted that it further weakens the aggressor and goes a long way toward removing the danger of another Munich. One need only see yesterday's N. Y. Times' Warsaw dispatches to be convinced

But the deliberate distortion of the frustrated reactionary press here over the meaning of this non-aggression pact for the security and peace of the United States is really revealing.

The American people fervently desire peace and welcome every firm step in the direction of helping the maintenance of world peace.

When President Roosevelt sent his peace appeal to King Victor Emanuel of Italy it was important more than anything else as the reflection of the American people's will for peace. Yet, at the same time, it demonstrated the ineffectiveness of such messages because of the lack of any concrete American foreign policy. It demonstrated its sad shortcoming because the American isolationists. who were playing the game of the Munichmen and the fascist aggressors, sabotaged and obstructed any participation of the United States in collective efforts to preserve world peace.

However, the ineffectiveness of this move cannot be blamed upon the President but the guilt falls squarely on those now howling against the Soviet Union. those who encouraged Chamberlain to continue inciting Hitler against the U.S. S. R. and world peace.

Each passing day will more convincingly prove to the American people that the Soviet Union's great achievement in Nazi Germany's forced signing of a nonaggression pact with the U.S.S.R. redounds to the benefit of the peace of the United States.

Primarily, this is accomplished because of the Soviet Union's shattering blow to the Axis and triple fascist war alliance. This fascist combination was threatening American security not only by planned European aggressions but also by fascist intrigue in South America and incitation of Japanese fascism against the peace of the Pacific.

IT IS no accident that Tokio now is A scurrying to obtain the "friendship" of the United States and Great Britain, nations she was insulting, menacing and provoking only yesterday. This dramatic and crushing blow to the Japanese aggressor, moreover, will aid China tremendously and this country as well, will feel its beneficent effects.

It is not out of the order of things to find the newspapers of big capital in the United States, those papers which most closely voice the opinions of the Morgan, Rockefeller, Mellon, and other banking interests, repeat word for word the Trotskyite aggression-aiding slanders against the Soviet Union.

Indeed, the reactionaries' din against the U.S.S.R. in chorus with all of the enemies of the Soviet Union along with the bleating of some misled sheep is, in a historical sense, a gauge to the great gain of Soviet prestige, power and initiative in the cause of world peace.

Besides their anguish over the fact that the Munich game is being spoiled, the reactionaries everywhere are gnashing their teeth over the mighty growth of the

1926 Soviet-German Treaty of Neutrality

The text of the Soviet-German treaty, first negotiated in 1926 for five years, and later extended in May, 1933, to run indefinitely until denounced by one or the other power which is referred to in the new Soviet-German non-aggression treaty, follows:

ARTICLE 1

The basis of the mutual relations between Germany and the U. S. S. R. remains the Rapallo Treaty. The German Government and the Government of the U. S. S. R. will maintain friendly contact with the object of the attainment of the concordance of all questions of political and economic character alike concerning both countries. ARTICLE 2

If, in spite of its peaceful conduct, one of the contracting parties shall be subjected to the attack of a third power or group of third powers, the other contracting party will observe neutrality during the duration of the whole conflict

ARTICLE 3 If, in connection with a conflict of the character described in Article 2, or also when neither one of the contracting parties will be involved in armed collisions, there shall be formed among third powers a coalition with the aim of subjecting one of the contracting parties to economic or financial boycott, the other contracting party will not adhere to such coalition.

The present treaty is subject to ratification, and the exchange of ratification documents will be accomplished in Berlin. The treaty enters into force from the moment of the exchange of ratification documents, and is effective during five years. In good time, before the expiration of this term, the two contracting parties will agree between themselves on the further forms of their political mutual relations. Berlin, April 24, 1926.

$2,500 A DAY -- TO SMASH THE LIES OF MUNICHMEN

Declaring that Munich-inspired lies and distortions surrounding the Soviet-German non-aggression pact must be immediately answered in leaflets, pamphlets and radio broadcasts, the New York State Committee of the Communist Party today appealed for record-breaking contributions to its $250,000 fund drive.

"The new national and international situation that has arisen as a result of the Soviet Union's brilliant blow to Chamberlain appeasement and fascist aggression requires that for the first period of the drive we exceed the normal rate of fund raising," the Committee declared.

The hundred-day plan for the drive calls for the raising of $2,500 each day.

"If progressive, peace-loving peoples are to reap the full benefits of the Soviet move we must immediately bring to them our clarifying literature and analyses. We must circulate the Daily Worker in larger quantities than ever before. We must have many hours of radio time on the air."

The statement pointed out that never in the history of the Communist Party has the public had so large a "thirst" for the literature and statements of the Communist Party. "The opportunity for the Party to extend its prestige and influence among the masses of people is at high tide today," the Committee asserted.

It was also pointed out that swift response to the financial appeal would be "convincing answer to utterly ludicrous charges by the New York Post and other metropolitan newspapers that Communist Party members were 'demoralized' by the Soviet-German treaty."

New Safety Motored Plane Will Be Boon to Flying

By Leonard H. Engel Science Service Aviation Writer

Copyright, 1939, by Science Service

Four-motored airliners, able to fly safely with only two power plants turning over, are coming into aviation's tomorrow with a promise of safer, more comfortable and speedier air travel.

By the spring of 1941, the first of the superairliners, just ordered by a leading airline, and en route from engineer into everyday air transport, will be hurtling coast to coast in 13 hours. In two years more, four-engined planes will be standard on main lines.

NEW PLANES QUIET

A 33-ton giant by Douglas, so quiet inside you have to pause a moment to realize its four motors are coaring outside the cabin window, sets the pace, but it is not the only one in the new class. A big Boeing, with seats for 33 passengers, and a smaller Lockheed, which can carry 28, are also harbingers of travel on the new style. Large twin - engined craft now used by most airlines and still too new to scrap will be rebuilt in many cases into quadruple - engined planes as well. Their maximum altitudes on any two engines will range between 8,000 and

By not flying in weather worse than pilots and planes are capable of handling and by painstaking care, the airlines have hammered the accident rate down until their record for the last year stands at 42,000,000 passenger - miles for every passenger death, about three times better than any year

before. GREATER SAFETY

An outstanding cause of trouble in the few recent accidents has been motor failure. The four-motors failing is much less than the chance of both engines of a twinmotored plane going out of order. The smaller motors made possible by using more of them are also more reliable. They have been used for years longer than larger er.gines, and the industry has had more experience building and using them. Airline executives are talking about the day when they will fly 200,000,000 passengermiles per passenger death as a result But that is not the only reason why the rapidly growing flying public will take to tomorrow's planes. The prototypes already flying or in factory jigs show that they will be far more comfortable as well. Little things count, for which there is no room on a small

Take, for example, the Douglas DC-4, the three-wheeled 33-ton flying hotel. Sound and vibration control on it and its four-motored rivals have been vastly improved as engineers have learned that quiet airplane structures can be built, as well as soundproofed by the addition of padding. But the things you will notice are hardly these.

COOK MEALS ALOFT

Reading lamps on today's craft still leave a lot to be desired. But not so on the DC-4. Every seat has an individual lamp which can be plugged in and which shines right over your left shoulder in approved lighting style. Or consider breakfast? All meals now served aloft are prepared on the ground and kept hot or cold in vacuum containers until mealtime. But there are some foods for which that does not work. One of them is eggs. So, there is kitchen enough on this 42-passenger plane to cook the eggs to Even an airline ticket agent will admit that present-day berths on the overnight sleeper planes are not as large as one might wish. On the DC-4, not only are gered that a seat is provided with each berth.

With its tricycle landing gear greater safety and level landings Alice Quinones, 11.

that do not slide the sleeper down to the end of his berth, the DC-4 stands high off the ground. So the first airline to order it plans to build mobile escalators for moving passengers and baggage into its spacious interior.

Much has been said of supercharging cabins to keep low altitude air pressure inside and flying at high altitudes over the weather. Flying above the weather has proven to take a lot more altitude than aeronautical engineers had hoped, but the new planes-Boeing, Lockheed and Douglas-will all have special sealed cabins.

Air pressure will change more slowly in the cabin than outside when climbing or descending. This spells virtual elimination of any sensation in the ears. It also means the plane can come down more rapidly because the present standard rate of descent of 300 feet a minute is set by the fear of causing discomfort to passengers. This will save time and enable planes to fly higher at smoother levels on short trips. And even at 20,000 feet, the highest altitude at which the airlines expect to use the substratosphere airliners, plenty of bad weather is below instead of ahead.

You will see the largest super-

When Mr. Olsen told the magistrate he was celebrating the birth of a child the magistrate asked when the birth took place. Mr. Olsen said momentarily.

transports such as the DC-4 and the Boeing Stratoliner only on the longest routes, where their long range enables them to make the fewest stops, or on extremely busy short ones, such as between New York and Washington or Chicago. Until there is enough traffic to fill smaller planes every hour, the airlines and the public prefer that service be more frequent instead of carried out with larger planes. But once the ships are departing every hour with capacity loads, then the airlines must think of bigger planes. They are reaching that point already on several routes.

The public will, however, demand four-motored safety on all main lines. So the plan to rebuild the twin-motored 21-passenger Douglas to make it a fourengined craft fits into the picture, giving the advantages of four motors in the smaller plane.

Air transport is not a mass transportation industry. Its customers can still be counted by the hundred thousand and not the tens of millions. Their number. however, is skyrocketing today. Add to that factor the new equipment. The result is the dawn of a new day in aviation.

Sophie Tucker Suspended by Actors Equity

Oropped for Treason; Action Bans Part in 'Leave It to Me'

Sophie Tucker, last of the "red hot mama's," was yesterday suspended by Actors Equity for treason to her union

This definitely bars her from starring in "Leave It To Me" which is scheduled to open after Labor Day. There were indications, however, that the play wil open with a substitute for Miss Tucker.

Miss Tucker was absent from the trial which was heled at 45 West

The main charge against her was accepting a charter from the stage hands for her expelled group, the American Federation of Actors, the unit of the Associated Actors and Artists of America in the night club, vaudeville and variety field. She is president of the A.F.A.

The AFA was expelled and reorganized as the American Guild of Variety Artists, with Eddie Cantor as its head, after it was found that its secretary Ralph Whitehead misappropriated funds and had been plotting with the stage hands to hand their union jurisdiction over

Meanwhile, despite the ruling of the A. F. of L. executive council that 4A's has exclusive jurisdiction over all performers, George E. tional Alliance of Stage and Theatrical Employees, issued a letter to to "see to it" that performers are forced to join Whitehead's group, now a part of his international.

If the IASTE persists in its raid into the performers field, 4A officials predict a sharp jurisdictional war with serious consequences for many employed in the industry.

A Smashing Blow to Munich Treachery and Aggression

Soviet Union's weight in the scale of world affairs and mankind's destiny.

Lastly, these are critical and fast-moving days, fraught with the most dangerous outlook for mankind. The set-up is as much the product of the Anglo-French ruling cliques as it is of the fascist warmakers who received succor and sustenance from Paris and London finance capital.

But if mankind has cause to look ahead with hope and expectation of peace and progress, by far, head and shoulders above all else, it can do so because of the gigantic achievements of the Union of Soviet Socialist Republics, the rampart of world peace, and because of the wisdom of the Communist Party of the Soviet Union, whose guiding genius is Joseph Stalin.

Keeping Faith With the People

• Three weeks ago the smug magazine "Editor and Publisher" blandly boasted that the defeat of President Roosevelt's job-lending measure was a credit to influence of "newspaper comment."

Once more the press has mobilized all its big guns of lies, slanders and distortions in order to wilfully confuse the international situation. This time it is feverishly trying to discredit the Soviet Union, which has just wrested a non-aggression pact from Nazi Germany. That the Tory jackals howl so loudly and unscrupulously is due to the fact that this victory of the Soviet Union is one of the greatest strengtheners of the forces of world peace and democracy in modern history. It was a powerful blow against the traitorous Municheers.

So where will the people find the truth? You said it—the Daily Worker. Never before were the Daily and Sunday Worker so essential to the reading public. They alone carry the real facts about the Soviet Union; they alone carry the correct analysis and explanations of events abroad as they affect Europe—and America.

The responsible and informative news about the day to day developments on the tense international arena, are eagerly desired by every New Yorker, every peace-loving person. We—especially every Communist Party member—should see that the "Daily" reaches every home in his community.

But more. The "Daily" is in the midst of its $100,000 sustaining fund drive. This sum is necessarily not only to meet the greater demands upon the paper, but to continue its very existence. Keeping faith with the people requires spreading the "Daily"—and putting the financial drive over the top.

The Negro Elks Stand Up for Civil Rights

• The tremendous emphasis placed upon the fundamental issue of civil rights by the national convention of Negro Elks here (the Independent Benevolent Protective Order of Elks) reflects the progressive role which the Negro people are playing in American life today.

A special symposium on the subject was held the other day at which the general theme as expressed by one speaker was:

"Negroes face a tremendous responsibility, not only for the preservation of democracy in America, but for the job of seeing that it works—everywhere."

Other speakers among whom were Mrs. Mary McLeod Bethune, Negro woman leader and member of the National Youth Administration, spoke out against the forces of reaction and urged a fight in behalf of civil liberties "on every front." They condemned the rise of fascist anti-Semitism, urged the passage of the anti-lynching bill, insisted upon an end to discrimination of every sort, and called for the abolition of the poll tax which disfranchises white as well as Negro in the South.

The militancy with which the symposium resounded for the rights of the Negro people is likewise a positive contribution to the fight for progress and democracy for white Americans also. And the fight for Negro rights is the united responsibility of all who would stop the forces of reaction which menace the entire nation.

Let the Enemy Howl—Says USSR Light Shines Brighter

Brooklyn, N. Y.

Hits Lowell Thomas Lie; Cites Soviet Peace Role

Editor, Daily Worker:-

Boston, Mass.

I listened recently to Lowell Thomas, who speaks for the Sunoco Oil Company and I heard him call Russia a double cross-

I would like to ask Lowell Thomas if he forgot the way Russia was ignored during the Czechoslovakia crisis. How hard Chamberlain tried to have Germany fight Russia. How England organized the invasion of Russia soon after the Revolution. How she tried to hurt Russia by breaking commercial and diplomatic relations with her. How she helped Franco in order to defeat the Loyalists. How she tried to have Japan fight Russia. I wonder if Thomas forgot to remember?

ALBERT BELMONTE

Hails Pact as Soviet's Blow to Aggressors

New York City

Editor, Daily Worker:

The non-aggression pact between Russia and Germany is hailed by the capitalist press as a proof of Russian "duplicity" and a blow to the movement for peace. Careful analysis however, will demonstrate that the truth is exactly to the contrary.

The pact is consistent with Russia's peace policy. At the 18th Congress of C.P.S.U., Stalin proclaimed for all the world to know that the Soviet foreign policy included a desire for peace and the strengthening of business relations with all countries, bar none. Russia has a non-aggression pact with Fascist Italy and has repeatedly offered a similar pact to militarist Japan. If Russia refused to enter a similar non-aggression pact with Germany, then the only inference would be that Russia contemplated and sanctioned the possibility of aggression against Germany. Thus Russia's present action is seen to be not only consistent but absolutely necessary for the consistency and truthfulness of its publicly announced peace policy.

The pact actually aids the movement for peace. In the first place, it strengthens Russia in the Orient and has the necessarily resulting tendency to immobilize Japan in that area, thus preventing the flare-up of a major war there between Japan and Russia, England or the United States. In the second place, it shows the weakness of Hitler to his subjects, for Hitler must now disavow formally his oft-announced intention of destroying Bolshevism and appropriating the Ukraine. In the third place, it destroys the claim of solidarity between Germany and Japan in their aggressive intentions against the Soviet Union. And finally, it strengthens the spirit of the masses of German workers and peasants by concretely demonstrating that Russia has no warlike aims against them.

The pact is simply the last of a long series of demonstrations in practices that Russia really wants peace and will act against aggression. It should always be recalled that it was Russia alone which stood ready to fulfill its pledge to save the Czech people from Nazi aggression if France would only fulfill her preliminary pledge to enter the fray, that it was Russia alone (of all the European nations) which aided gallant Spain in its fight against German-Italian aggression, and that it is primarily Russia alone which is aiding the suffering Chinese in their noble struggle against Japanese aggression.

Let the truth be known! Russia truly is the spearhead and leader in the struggle for world peace and against aggression.—M. P.

'Brilliant Triumph for Socialism' Says Reader

Brooklyn, N. Y.

Editor, Daily Worker:-

I should like to add my voice to the thousands who are today praising the Soviet Union for its consistent peace policy and the brilliance of its leaders, Stalin and Molotov. Even in the field of diplomacy, Socialism has become triumphant.

If proof were needed of the correctness of the foreign policy of the Soviet Union, we need only observe the rantings of all the jackals and renegades throughout the world.

Leon Blum is "stupified" by the Soviet "audacity." Leon Blum hand in hand with Chamberlain, slaughtered the Loyalist government in Spain, calmly permitted the Italian and Nazi hordes to overrun and massacre the Spanish people—and all in the interests of "peace"!

The Trotzkyites, those working-class traitors, now scurry back and forth in wild frenzy. But who can forget their work in Spain, the nefarious POUM, the fifth column, the vile and wretched surrender in the last days of the war. These are the people who now slur the Soviet Union. But the people of Spain, the working class of the world will not forget. Nor will they forget the active aid, the sympathy and support which they received from the Soviet Union throughout their struggle. Only that country fought consistently in the defense of democracy against the aggressor nations. How puny indeed, are the Villards, the Thomases, the Lores, the Coughlins, when they storm against that noble nation.

Mr. Chamberlain and Mr. Daladier are very glum, the papers report. Of course, they are. How they were preparing for a second Munich. How feverish were their efforts to sell out Poland, to egg on Germany into Russia with the hope of delivering a death blow to the land of socialism and the entire international working class. But they reckoned without their masters. The working class triumphed—and a blow has finally been struck at the international imperialistic fascists.

I say sincerely and one doesn't have to be a member of the Communist Party to say—Long Live the Soviet Union! Long Live the great working class leaders, Stalin and Molotov. Long Live the working classes of the world.

SAM WINTERS

Crime and Reaction in The Auto Empire

• Apparently, Detroit is on the verge of another police graft scandal similar to the one in 1933 when Mayor Charlie Bowes was recalled as the people sought to break the underworld grip over the city. The Federal Bureau of Investigation has already admitted that it is conducting an investigation in the city. Attorney General Murphy, whose offices recently began a nationwide clean-up of crime, has had agents at work there for some time.

Things began to move when a woman suicide left letters to the FBI charging that the head of the police rackets squad was the "go-between" for the Police Department and Detroit gambling rings. Then labor, liberals and the people in general got into action, demanding a real investigation.

All of this stench coming from the forces of "law and order" in Detroit will surprise few, least of all Detroit people. This city has been the notorious hotbed of reaction openshoppery, and the gangster persecution of labor. In a word, this is the bailiwick of Henry Ford, wearer of Hitler medal, arch defier of the Wagner Act and the other laws of the land.

It is here that the Ford thugs have carried out the worst brutality against the auto workers in a vicious effort to smash the CIO United Automobile Workers. Besides, it is in Detroit that the Black Legion spread its terror, and it is here that the unholy alliance between Ford and the fascist Coughlin maintains its subversive base.

Wherever the open-shoppers and the labor-haters are permitted to reign supreme, there, invariably, will be found an alliance of reaction and crime against the people as a whole. The sensational disclosures in Brooklyn—to cite a single example—are testimony to this. And unquestionably in Detroit, if the authorities wish to dig deep into the basis of the charges of a police-underworld alliance, they can start with the anti-labor empire of the flivver king.

Munichmen's Eleventh Hour Munich Attempts; U.S.S.R. Peace Move Stands in Their Way

• Why is the international situation so thick with tension you could cut it with a bayonet? Because the Chamberlain and Daladier clique which up to the eleventh hour laid the traps to catch the world in another Munich appearement betrayal are still desperately trying the same game.

Chamberlain's intrigue and hypocrisy, however, were shaken to the foundation by the Soviet Union's non-aggression pact with Germany. The British Tory Prime Minister's aim of sacrificing Paland, like he did Czechoslovakia, in order to hurl the Nazi army at the Soviet Union, was upset.

Yet that did no inhibit Chamberlain's Berlin envoy, Nevile Henderson, from crawling after Hitler pleading for another Munich try. And this while Chamberlain was writing his yesterday's House of Commons address about Anglo-French preparation to go the limit to "help Poland."

Why should anyone presume Chamberlain is any more sincere now than he was when he made similar speeches and then proceeded to try to dupe the Soviet Union by the vilest prograstinating tactics?

Take, for instance, the final "obstacle" which Chamberlain put up against a peace front before Mr. Strang left Moscow. That was the question of guaranteeing the integrity of the three Baltic States on the Soviet Union's northwest border from "direct or indirect" Nazi aggression. This Mr. Chamberlain refused to concede, yet the principle is conceded in the non-aggression pact which Germany was compelled to sign with the U. S. S. R.

Have the Polish Pilsudskyites yet prepared really to resist. not by a haphazard defense in case of attack but by taking all the available measures to defend Polish independence? They have not. Josef Beck, Warsaw's Foreign Minister, yet sees eye-to-eye with the Munichmen despite the fact that overwhelming Polish opinion admits Poland's opportunities for successful defense are now better than ever because of an exposed weaker Nazi Germany.

"The Nazis paid a heavy price for the pact," said the Wieczor Warsawski, an organ that expresses the opinion of the Beck crowd. "The return will be out of proportion to the investment. Russia will profit from the pact, not Germany."

When Russia benefits world peace also gains heavily.

In a cable from Warsaw yesterday, the United Press further reported along these lines:

"Polish political quarters professed not to be dismayed by the signing of the Russian-German pact. They expressed the view that the pact does not preclude Russian aid to Poland, at least economically, if Poland was attacked."

But, as Earl Browder said, the Polish Pilsudskyites do not ask for and do not yet want Soviet aid.

While the air is still filled with a thick fog of misrepresentation and hysterical rumors it is well to point out a few facts which show trends. The United Press reported that London authoritative sources denied that the Anglo-French military mission had been recalled from Moscow, and added that it was unlikely that it would be.

Whether they are or not, the road to peace still lies in the direction of Moscow. When the Munichmen are ready to throw away their burglarious appearement baggage they know tow to get to Moscow as quickly as Mr. Chamberlain flew to Berchtesgaden.

Von Ribbentrop had no difficulty finding the way when the Nazis were forced by the relation of forces to give up their scheme of attacking the Soviet Union. In this respect, the story of Genevieve Tabouis, famous French foreign commentator, writing in L'Oeuvre, that the Nazis have some wax records of Mr. Chamberlain's conversations with Hitler urging an attack on the U. S. S. R. as a way out, was practically admitted but not so dramatically by the London Economist many months ago.

Today's Daily Worker deals with the text of the non-aggression pact and President's Roosevelt's peace appeal to King Victor Emanuel. But the effectiveness of such an appeal has been reduced virtually to zero by the American isolationist friends of aggression; and if the message does have any value whatever it will be because it comes to a badly bent and broken Axis. And that Axis was cracked by the hammer of Soviet foreign policy.

All of the anti-Soviet enemies who are now consoling Mr. Chamberlain and the Munich gang by trying to revile the U. S. S. R. still hope that the appeasers can yet revive the game of inciting Hitler against the U. S. S. R. But that conspiracy has been destroyed, not by the non-aggression pact, per se, but by the factors of Soviet towering strength and its tremendous contribution to world peace, which forced the Nazis to sign.

When the press seethes with war news let us pay heed to the calm and forceful yords of the Pravda editorial which declares that the non-aggression pact is more than a general powerful contribution to peace.

As a peace factor this non-aggression pact will do more than anything else in the world to ease the present international tension, or to direct its outcome, whatever it may be, into channels desired most by peace-loving and progressive humanity.

SUMNER WELLES, who runs Latin American affairs for the State Department, is turning the screws sharply on democratic Mexico. Mr. Welles is more tolerant of dictators. It was he who once made that eloquent defense of Brazil's little Hitler.

Like the so-called "old China hands," those foreign businessmen, who have lived many years in China, and who tell you that China can never exist except as an imperialist colony, we have in America our "old Latin American" experts.

Mr. Welles is said to possess a remarkable fund of information about the literature, music, history and customs of Latin America. But what good is all the culture in the world if it is used as a weapon to maintain slavery? Mr. Welles must be a member of that school which believes firmly and aggressively in the dogma that Latin America can never rise beyond the Porfirio Diaz stage of dictatorship. They think of the Latin American peoples as some sort of inferior race doomed to eternal slavery. I doubt that Roosevelt's Good Neighbor policy has as yet converted a majority in Roosevelt's own State De-

This is not merely a fight over the confiscation of the oil wells. It is a struggle as to whether Mexico has the right to lift itself out of the incredible poverty and backwardness to which centuries of imperialism have condemned it.

The Wall Street adventurers who drained countless millions out of Mexico's natural resources, never leaving anything behind but a modicum of taxes, have been paid a hundredfold for their original investments in Mexico. Most of their titles are dubious, anyway, and were secured through graft, corruption and even murder, as anyone who ever spent a month in Tampico knows well.

But that is not the main point. These adventurers will fight on attend the Guild's sixth annual for their booty, naturally. What one fails to understand is why the United States government is supposed to use all its enormous moral and physical force to protect their shady enterprises. All of us are asked to fight and die for the oil corporations.

More American money was confiscated by Nazi Germany when they virtually repudiated all payments to American holders of the various German loans and bonds. But a strict "Mexican" sort of note was never sent to the Nazi regime. Indeed, the House of Morgan has recently been attempting to float a great new loan in America

PRESIDENTIAL election is coming up in Mexico, The fascists A have united on a candidate named General Alamazan. He also has the support of the Wall Street gang in New York and in Washington. The Cardenas government has been trying to effect a reasonable settlement of the oil question. Mexico is willing to pay. But the Alamazan's powerful allies here are preventing a settlement. They would rather have the oil question unsettled until they can put Alamazan in the saddle. Then they will get all they want, as under

It is obvious that the elements in our State Department who are throwing their weight for the fascist Alamazan against the progressive Cardenas, are the same people who rushed that hasty and shameless recognition of fascist Franco. Recently, they also wangled a gift of 14 million dollars in raw cotton to that miserable little tool of Mussolini and Hitler.

Franco has confiscated the American-owned telephone system in Spain. He also owes the United States some six and a half million dollars, and our government is now suing him for it. In spite of this, a group of New York banks have "persuaded" the government to guarantee this huge cotton sale. It is a virtual gift to the shabby little dictator, at a moment when his whole regime is in serious trouble.

We go out of our way to bolster up a Franco or a Vargas when they are threatened by their own oppressed masses; but we put the screws on a people's leader like Cardenas, the greatest man Mexico has produced since Jaurez. Maybe Mr. Welles wants to be our own Chamberlain.

It is sham the interests of American democracy will sooner or later be exposed and tried in the courts of the sovereign people.

Meanwhile, for the record, let it be noted that Nazi, Japanese and Italian fascist agents are working for General Alamazan, hand in hand with Wall Street. Arms are being smuggled over the Rio Grande, a fascist revolt is in preparation. Also, for the record, the press reported last week that Trotzky's chief lieutenant in Mexico, the painter Diego Rivera, was a guest of honor at a political banquet given by fascist supporters of Alamazan. Rivera is evidently making the usual Trotzkyite united front with fascists, since after all, your fascist is also red-hot against this dangerous phenomenon known as the "People's Front." So ends a man who was a great revolutionary painter until he was poisoned by Trotzkyism.

Book Notes

Celebrated this month is the twenty-fifth anniversary of the completion of the Panama Canal. tory of the Canal and its construction have afforded much fascinating material for books notable the Appleton-Century list:

"Sanitation in Panama" by Colonel W. C. Gorgas is of the utmost importance among the literature of the Canal because its author was the man whose work made possible the completion of the project. My wife, that poor dear sweet soul, is responsible for this column. Let me tell you about her. She's the kind of a dame who does her household chores to the radio accompaniment. But what kind of programs does she listen to? Does she tune in on symphony concerts and get exposed to culture? No! Western farm hours and learn how to avoid cowbugs? Decidedly not! Does she listen to distinguished speakers and get refined like? Not a chance. She doesn't like swing, so the record stations are out. Which of course brings us down to her passion—the reconstructed Eastern baseball broadcasts. She's got a regular chart. She knows how to switch from short to long wave and manages to pick up plenty of baseball during the day.

So this evening as I trouped in, weary, full of weltschmertz what does she greet me with but, "Chump, it's time you got off the dime and squared yourself for your lousy picks on the Cards-and handed the rookie of the year prize to the guy that rates it."

"And who might that be?" said I as I all but fell onto a couch,

"Keller, Donald or Williams?"

"None of them, sucker," said little Moll, "The guy that goes to the head of the class this year-is none other than Ray Blades." "But Ray's no rookie," I interjected. (I'm good on interjections.)

'He's been around for years." "Not as a manager, he ain't," she said, showing an utter contempt for parsing. "It's his first year up there, giving orders instead of taking them. So go chuck that guy a handful of posies or you get no chow."

A threat like that worries me. I know what she can do when she feels ornery. So here goes:

Up to this season Ray is distinguished in my mind as being a pretty fair country outfielder not so very long ago, and for an invention. He's the guy that came up with those dark glasses that outfielders wear when playing the sunfield, the kind that are worn high and which can be flipped into place with a finger. I likewise knew that he was managing one of the Cardinal farms, Columbus, I think,

When Onkle Franz got the boots put to him by Branch Rickey before last season was quite complete, there was a lot of speculation as to who would get the job. Mike Gonzales finished out the season, but nobody ever thought that the canny Cuban would hold down the berth this season, even though to baseballers he's a one man brain trust. But whoever was to be elected, had the sympathy of most of us. That was a dreadful aggregation wearing the Breadon flannels.

It is an accepted fact among baseball men that Mike got Ray the job. Legend has it that Rickey asked Mike whom he thought should be hired. And Mike is supposed to have said with no hesitation at all, "Him Ray Blades dam' smart guy." If true this speech should go down with Mike's other crack when sent by McGraw to scout a player. Mac waited impatiently for the report and then got a wire that sealed the fellow's career,

But anyway Ray got the job. Reading the Cards in Spring training it became evident at once that these Birds had hustle. I, like most of the pickers, thought that Blades might pull a cute one and get the club into the first division, but no higher. And as the season went on I kept saying "the Cards are playing over their heads and would be more comfortable in the number four spot." And tripe

I knew what had gotten the club off to a good start—the rejuvenation of Pepper Martin. But when he was forced out of the line-up and it became evident that Paul Dean was through, I was sure they'd fall apart. I couldn't see the pitching strength. I knew that Stallings' Braves won the 1914 pennant with three pitchers, James, Rudolph and Tyler. But I hardly thought the Cardinals would be able to get by with only two, Lon Warnecke, Curt Davis and a lot of guys

But the lot of guys named Barney have come through. Whether it be due to Miguel's work or Ray's or both their combined efforts doesn't matter, Because Weiland, McGee, Clyde Shoun, who wasn't worth a bat-bag when he was with the Cubs, Tom Sunkel, Bowman have really been delivering.

Ever since Frisch had to hang up the glove and reach for the fungo bat, St. Loo's problem has been an infield. Even at this writing they've got nothing but a patchwork quilt. But Ray has been a master prestidigitator in the way he has shuffled Stu Martin, the old Pepper, Johnny Guttridge, Lyn Lary, Brown et al. around. How he has managed to keep them from falling apart, nobody knows. But he has. And that's what they pay

The club is playing inspired ball, winning 23 out of 25 games as this is being written. This club won't fall apart now-at least I don't think they will for two reasons. One, they smell pennant, what with the Cincinnati Reds falling apart—as my all too fresh son predicted-the second because Johnny Mize will shove them in. Johnny is a late starter. It takes him till early August before he takes off. But now that he is going-and leading the league-nobody will head him off. Even Medwick will behave from here on in, no matter what his inclinations are—because he's not going to kick that Series money away. Joe may be screwy-but he's not crazy.

Any club that picks up speed in August and goes almost as fast in September must win. This is the time of the year when the race belongs to the stretch runners. And Ray has brought that club of his along beautifully. I don't see the club that

Going Down! Giants Lose To Bucs

Butcher Holds Slumping Polo Grounders in 4-3 Win

The best place for a slumping team to get out of the doldrums is the Polo Grounds-that is any team but the Giants. The Pirates, who have been closing in on the Boston Bees for seventh place, were the latest club to find a haven up at Coogan's Bluff.

The Bucs had things a bit more difficult than the Cubs, who just took the Terrymen wo out of three,

Meanwhile the fight world and sport fans are pointing the finger at Donovan's weird exhibition. Donovan is almost definitely out as third man in the Lou Nova-Tony Galento fight in Philly September 7.

Both Nova and Galento had agreed on Donovan after his handling of Lou's fight with Max Baer and Tony's with Joe Louis. But Galento, who sat working press Tuesday night, said afterwards that Donovan went way overboard in taking five rounds from Armstrong.

Galento nad Jacobs will press for the appointment of George Blake, California official who did a fine job in de Louis - Jack Roper fight. Blake's rep is aces high and he'll undoubtedly be acceptable to Nova.
