The hearing was marked by almost interminable petty and underhanded questioning by the former strikebreaker J. B. Matthews, who is an investigator for the committee. Most of his questions were aimed at smearing the New Deal, trade unions or progressive organizations. A number of them were of a petty, personal nature and while revealing nothing, sought to impute illegal or inethtical practices by insinuation.

The hearing also brought a sharp clash between committee members and on one occasion the atmosphere fairly simmered when Rep. John J. Dempsey, New Mexico Democrat, accused Rep. J. Parnell Thomas, red-baiting New Jersey Republican,

(By United Press) Reflecting the first effects of the European war upon foodstuff prices in this country, Dun and Bradstreet reported yesterday that the index of wholesale commodity prices recorded its sharpest advance on record in the week ended Sept. 5. The index-which is the sum total of the wholesale price per pound of 31 food commodities-was placed at $2.32 for the latest week, 16 cents over the preceding week and the highest since the first week of the year when it stood at $2.33.

Only three weeks ago the index had reached a five-year low at $2.13 Dun and Bradstreet has been compiling the index since 1916. Increases were noted for flour, wheat, corn, rye, oats, barley, mess pork, bacon, lard, butter, cheese, sugar, cottonseed oil, cocoa, eggs, potatoes, rice, steers, hogs, sheep and lambs. The other ten commodities were unchanged.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Sept. 6 (UP) -Hog prices advanced $1.00 to $1.50 a hundredweight today in the most sweeping single day upturn since the World War. The advance brought the market top to $8.60, a new high for the year.

Coastal Batteries Fire on Own Planes in Nazi 'Raid' Alarm

LONDON, Sept. 6 (UP).—Nazi air reached England's east coast this mistakenly opened fire on planes of the Royal Air Force.

"This accounts for rumors of heavy aerial engagement," the official statement said.

Residents of the vicinity of Chatham and Southend, some 30 miles east of London, had described fighting between 20 Nazi airplanes and British pursuit craft and anti-aircraft batteries. The official version said there was

"The enemy air reconnaissance off the east coast, referred to in this morning's bulletin, led to the dispatch of fighter aircraft," the official statement said.

"Contact was not made with the enemy, who turned back before reaching the coast. On returning some of our aircraft were mistaken for enemy aircraft, which caused certain coastal batteries to open fire. This accounts for rumors of a heavy aerial engagement."

What witnesses had believed to be a furious air battle between German and British planes near the important Chatham naval base appeared therefore to have been the dodging of British pursuit ships to avoid the fire of their own Army Control ground batteries.

(The official explanation was not given for many hours. The air raid alarm sounded in London at 6:42 A. M. (1:42 A. M. EDT). Cables giving the official version were dispatched from

Markets Dep't Is Probing Profiteering in Sugar Here

By George Morris

Officials of the Department of Markets of the City of New York revealed yesterday that an investigation is being made of reports of profiteering and an unjustified sugar shortage in certain districts of the city, supposedly because of the war in Europe. At the same time, Commissioner of Markets William Fellows Morgan, issued an appeal to consumers in a broadcast yesterday morning, urging that all cases of war profiteering be promptly reported to his department. There is no shortage, nor any tendency toward a shortage as long as this country is not involved in the European strife," the statement of the Department of Markets declared. "Moreover, we have sufficient faith in our government to believe that food profiteering will be outlawed in the United States. "If your local dealer is now taking unnecessary advantage of the condition abroad by boosting the price of any food, we urge that you bring the matter to our attention immediately and give us all the facts."

TROTZKY WEEPS FOR SPLIT AXIS; ANTI-SOVIET WAR GAME EXPOSED

By Harry Gannes

Now they trot out Trotzky.

The Wall Street press here having nearly exhausted its slanders against the Soviet Union's peace policy, has dug down to the depths of its intellectual cesspool and fished out Leon Trotzky.

Like the Munich bourgeoisie who hired Hitler for an attack on the Soviet Union, Trotzky, who was exposed as being in the spy service of both the Anglo-French plotters and the Nazi warmakers, is enraged no end against the peace victory of the U.S.S.R.

The non-aggression pact is no more to Trotzky's liking than it is to the British Tories, the French 200 ruling families and Mussolini, Generalissimo Franco and the Mikado.

Moreover, while on Sept. 5, Trotzky tried to shout away the true significance of the German-Soviet non-aggression pact by calling it "capitulation" to Hitler, his own sheet in the U. S. was forced to admit growing Soviet strength. The same admission comes even more fully from the French reactionaries, allies of Hitler at Munich, who together with the Nazis have made use of Trotzky's spy and wrecking services.

The Trotzkyist sheet of Sept. 6 unwillingly has to admit: "The Soviet republic, it may however be said, is much stronger today than it was in 1918. That is unquestionably true, in more than one sense."

This strength, so grudgingly and distortedly admitted by those who incessantly worked for and continually "predicted" the "collapse" of the U.S.S.R. arose out of the fact that the leadership of the Bolshevik Party with Comrade Stalin at its head, was able to wipe out the Trotzkyite-Bukharinite spies and agents of the Munichmen and

It was the growing might of the U.S.S.R. and the weakening of fascism that compelled Hitler, Trotzky's main employer, to recognize the invincibility of the Red

Hails Pact as Axis - Breaker

Author Points to Bad Faith of Daladier, Chamberlain

Vincent Sheean, internationalally famous journalist and author of the recent best seller "Not Peace But A Sword," in an address Monday night over a national hookup, said that the Soviet-German pact was a blow at the forces of fascism, and that the pact, contrary to the scurrilous interpretations made in some quarters, in no wise indicates that the Soviet Union contemplates a military alliance with Nazi Germany, nor is the U.S.S.R. obliged to give military aid to Hitler.

Sheean spoke over the National Broadcasting Company network. He said at one point of his address, regarding the consequences of the Soviet-German pact, that "the first result was to shake Japan loose from the Berlin-Rome Axis with great speed.

"The second," he commented, "was to produce declarations of neutrality from Franco's Spain, in spite of its ties of alliance to Hitler and Mussolini." The neutrality of Italy, he added, may also have been influenced by the "uncertainty set up in Italian minds by this new move."

'I believe a few facts about the Soviet-German pact are established for the present and can be taken for granted," Sheean declared.

other power against Germany ent, and except that it has been accomplished by means of negotiation instead of by proclamation, it does not essentially differ from the neutrality to be proclaimed by the United States."

There is no evidence, the author said, "that this paet of nonaggression, this treaty of neutrality, contains the germ of alliance. This first interpretation was a false conclusion to which many people jumped as soon as they heard such a pact had been signed, and in the ten days since then no evidence to support it has appeared in the actual events."

Sheean said that the Soviet Union "failing to obtain a satisfactory treaty with the western democracies and haunted by the fear that she was to be maneuvered into who returned to this country from tional! a destructive war single-handed abroad on the S. The British supported Poland and the negotiations broke down. "There is a good deal of doubt, he continued, "not only in Russia, but also in Paris and London, as to whether the negotiators sent to Moscow were really ready or able to make a solid treaty.

"The Sovies Lane Minister, Molotov, in his speech last Thursday night to the Supreme Soviet, said that the British and French negotiators were officials of low rank, without proper power to negotiate, and that they had not even presented any written credentials until the conversations were on the verge bars, but more, much more in trade of a breakdown.

Army, Navy Officers Are Warned on War Utterances

Both Services Issue Instructions Cautioning Officers Not to Compromise U. S. Neutrality in Speeches, Writing

WASHINGTON, Sept. 6 (UP) .- The Army and Navy today cautioned its officers against making utterances affecting belligerents as a safeguard of the neu-

The instructions were distributed throughout both services by Acting Secretary of the Navy Charles Edison and Secretary of War Harry H. Woodring. They apply to active and retired officers.

It was emphasized that they were not intended as "gags" nor were they rigid orders. They were offered merely as suggestions.

It was explained that any utterances by an officer. even if a personal opinion, might be construed as representing official policy and might compromise American neutrality. The instructions apply to articles and statements for publication, radio talks, speeches and similar forms of expression.

'PEACE WITHOUT HITLER' IS CRY OF YORKVILLE GERMANS

The action of the crew was entirely an individual matter, Joseph Curran, National Maritime Union president, said.

"The NMU has been attempting to negotiate the war risk compensation and other related matters for several days," he declared, "but to date the company has refused to agree to any set

"Today's action was carried out by individual members of the crew. They realize what it means to sail ships through waters insubmarines and mines. No doubt they didn't feel like taking the risk without some compensation for their families."

AGREE TO SAIL

The crew finally agreed to take the ship out when Curran and Howard McKenzie, chairman of the ise from the International Mercantile Marine, holding company for the United States Lines, that whatever war risk compensation was finally agreed on for all American seamen would be retroactive for Six days ago, the NMU presented to the American Merchant Marine Institute four demands relating to war zone trips. They were for $250 monthly compensation, $25,000 life and disability insurance, 40 per cent increase in the manning scale and continuance of wages in case the ship is interned.

So far, only the first two demands have been discussed and the Institute has agreed to both "in principle." The amounts are still Roosevelt, members of the crew began packing their belongings and Eire, returned to Dublin today from quitting their jobs.

CALL CURRAN

Company officials called Curran and asked that he bring the men back on the ship. They were told that the union could not force a man to take a job. The only thing the union could do, under its contract, was to replace anyone who left the ship.

Finally, the crew asked permission to hold a meeting at the union hall and asked Curran to attend. The meeting ended when Curran succeeded in wringing a promise from the company that the compensation agreed on later would be retroactive to this voy-

The crew agreed to take out the ship on that condition.

The companies, union officials say, plead poverty. The union, on the other hand, points out that insurance and freight rates are leaping upward and that the crew is always the last to leave a torpedoed vessel. Some provision, they argue, should be made for their families in case they do not return.

Food Costs Take Record Jump Here

Giving the first indication of how food prices are soaring here with the start of the European war, Dunn & Bradstreet reported yesterday that the index of wholesale commodity prices recorded the sharpest advance on record for the week ending Sept.

The index, which is based on the wholesale price per pound of 31 foot commodities, stood at $2.32 or 16 cents above the preceeding week. Only three weeks ago the index was $2.13.

So now the goateed Cato, who always ends his diatribe and his plottings with the slogan, "The Soviet Union must be destroyed,' laments the awful reality for him, that the Nazis have been compelled to call off for the present their war compromise with the Munichmen for a war exclusively against the Soviet Union.

Trotzky has built all his hopes on this Nazi plan for a war against the U.S.S.R. He has spied for Hitler, wrecked for him, offered him Ukrainia and other juicy slices of Soviet territory in order that he may hope some day to ride into a despoiled U.S.S.R. on a Nazi war charlot.

Trotzky's agents had been nabbed and destroyed in the U.S.S.R.

Karl Radek a Trotzky agent, had testified in Moscow, Jan. 24, 1937, that Trotzky then had pledged Hitler the Ukraine in any Nazi attack on the U.S.S.R. Radek revealed "that as a result of the defeat there would arise the inevitability of making territorial concessions, and he specifically mentioned the Ukraine. . . It was planned to surrender the Ukraine to Germany and the Maritime Province and the Amur region to Japan."

When the Nazi-Trotzkyite- Bukharinite war plot had been shattered and Munich had once again brought the flush of expectation to the cheeks of Chamberlain, Daladier, and Trotzky, then Trotzky again dangled the picture of a severed Ukraine before Hitler. In an article in his American sheet, under the innocent title. "The Problem of the Ukraine," Trotzky proposed a Ukraine torn away from the U.S.S.R., which he draped with his usual spycovering phrases as a "free, and independent" Ukraine.

"But the independence of the Ukraine," he wrote, "would mean the separation of Soviet Ukraine from the U.S.S.R. . . . What is so terrible about that?"

After all, he can't offer Hitler the Ukraine without separating it from the U.S.S.R., even if he has to use phrases about "self-determination" in order to attempt it. Doesn't Hitler use the same slogan of "self-determination" in order to enslave the Polish nation? It's a trick that the Nazis and the Trotzkyites have in common.

President Roosevelt, in a letter to the National Advisory Committee of the National Youth Administration, which began its annual meeting at the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel yesterday, declared that the main responsibility of the Committee is 'to guide the activities of the youth of the country into ways in conformity with the spirit of our neutrality as a nation.'

Writing in the same tenor of his radio speech to the nation last Sunday night, the President said: "You must see to it that the minds and hearts of the youth under your influence are so trained and molded that they will not be misled by false propaganda."

False Neutrality

· President Roosevelt has invoked the "Neutrality" law which the Tory coalition foisted upon Congress. The "so-called Neutrality Act," the President scornfully called it yesterday. And the majority of the American people will agree with him that this criminal law of the "isolationist" crowd has done plenty of damage already.

During the fascist raids on small nations, this "isolationist" law made the United States a partner of the Chamberlain schemes which were encouraging this fascist aggression. This law helped Chamberlain and Hitler to strangle the Spanish people, just as it is now giving aid to the Japanese war makers. The law automatically embargoes all arms shipments to belligerents, victims of aggression as well as the aggressor.

The crime of the Neutrality Act is that it takes America's decisions out of her hands, handcuffs the country with automatic "isolationist" decisions which discriminate against the victims of aggression; it permits the Chamberlains, Daladiers and Hitlers to decide our foreign policy instead of our doing it ourselves.

How shall America act in a world where, in the words of the President's radio speech three nights ago, "when peace has been broken anywhere peace is threatened every-

The people of this country deeply sympathize with the struggle of the Polish people for the independence of their country. They sympathize equally with the aspirations of the British and French people to crush the fascist aggressor who menaces their national independence and democratic progress. But the American people have seen enough of Chamberlain and Daladier to view their actions with suspicion. What this country wants to do is help the Polish. British and French peoples secure peace and

What is needed is a positive policy in which America can work, as Roosevelt declared the other day, "for that kind of peace in other lands which will not jeopardize peace at home."

To do this requires that the United States give every possible moral diplomatic and political aid to the Polish people and those who aid Poland in defending its independence; that America embargo all shipments to Germany and Japan for the defeat of fascist aggression, and that the U.S. collaborate with the Soviet Union and Latin-American countries for a world conference that will strive for a democratic peace.

The "true neutrality" of which Roosevelt spoke requires that America acts in such a manner as to make it easier for America to stay out of any spreading wars, by exercising its leading role for world peace.

Who Will Pay For the Stock Market Boom?

· It took the outbreak of a war in Europe to jolt the monopolists who control American industry into a sudden fil of activity. Orders are pouring in, and the Stock Market is booming.

Wall Street monopoly has persistently refused to expand industrial activity; it has sabotaged economic advance on the ground that it requires the smashing of social legislation first before it gets any "confidence." But the spread of war and all its misery has given Wall Street industrial monopoly an infusion of more "confidence" than it has had in many years.

It remained for the Herald Tribune yesterday to remark smugly and happily on the "irony" that "the corporations will be permitted to keep the lion's share of such profits as they make." The Tribune does not fail to notice that the "speculative spirit" of industry which "was far too quiescent" during the past few years is now galvanized by the war. Only the latest opportunity for fantastic war profits has unloosened any interest among the Monopolists who control American

But it would be a mistake to assume that the current fever of war profiteering will mean the end of monopoly sabotage or improvement in the economic situation. On the contrary, with war profits in their hands the Monopolists will have more weapons with which to combat the Government and the progressive majority.

It will be the American people, not only the foreign buyers, whose buying power will be reduced by the extortionate prices of the speculators who are cornering

America's commodities and industrial products.

It is logical that the Wall Street groups who stand to profit most from prolonged and spreading war will lose no time in getting their Congressional puppets to oppose the President's peace policies. Stock market profits will explain many of the speeches that the Tories will be making in Congress

The farmers will get little of the increase in wheat prices; they have sold their crops in advance to speculators, and they must take whatever prices the speculators give

If the country is not to feel the pinch of profiteering prices, action must be taken. A program of taxing war profits, and a program for the regulation of prices needs to be worked out. The Wall Street men on the War Resources Board ought to be replaced by labor, farm and peoples representatives. Consumer groups in the communities can begin to watch now for any profiteering and call for community action to stop it.

But a national program to curb profiteering would seem to be in order as the Stock Market boys trade in death.

The Daily Worker and War News

· Insistence of the capitalist press in editorials that it will treat the news of the war situation fairly by trying to present the matter as a technical, journalistic one misses the main point. That is, the class interests of the millionaire newspaper proprietors with their many connections leading into every section of the reactionary monopolists in this

How can the truth of the war situation be known? Can the people get both the most reliable war news and a correct means of interpreting it?

We firmly believe that despite the larger number of columns of the capitalist press the Daily Worker performs just these functions. One has only to recall the days of Munich when the press here almost unanimously lauded Mr. Chamberlain and his fellow Munich conspirators for bringing "peace in our time." Although the capitalist press then fairly bulged with "news" the larger portion of it was misleading and official propaganda.

Take the most recent instances of class distortion of news by the reactionary press here. In passing it might be pointed out that every speech of Mr. Chamberlain or M. Daladier finds ample space in the New York Times. But this holier-than-thou, all-thenews-that's-fit-to-print advocate shamefully slashed and tried to hide what history will prove was the most important news of its

We refer to the interview of Marshal Klementi Voroshilov, exposing the Anglo-French conspiracies with the Polish Pilsudskyites to reject Soviet military aid so as not to interfere with the anti-Soviet plans they had worked out for the Nazis. Also, the failure to publish greater portions of Vyacheslav Molotov's speech on the Soviet-German non-aggression pact.

That is why those who wish to get the most vital news and a guide to what is behind it all, an interpretation of events, are more and more turning to the Daily Worker.

Actually, there is little of value in the capitalist press in the way of news that the Daily Worker does not have. And more. In all leading European capitals we have our own correspondents closer to the people and more critical and fearless of the forces that are bringing such disaster on the people.

Because of the virtual censorship at this end in the capitalist press on Soviet news, one cannot really tell what is going on in the U.S.S.R. without reading the Daily Worker.

Further, the Daily Worker is indispensable to those who would know the truth of our times and read the most effective ways of meeting the grave events.

Finally, the opportunities to circulate the Daily Worker among many thousands who have never read it is greater than ever be-

The G. A. R. -- Still Fighting For National Unity

· It's about time that someone planted a good solid whack upon the vicious hate-raising picture "Gone With the Wind." So there can be nothing but applause for the action of the Grand Army of the Republic which voted the other day to boycott it.

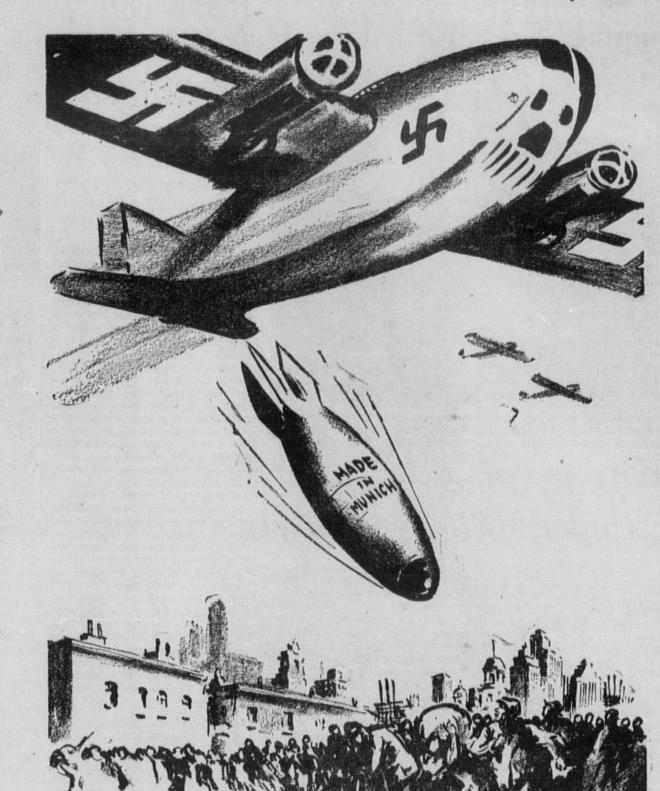

The G.A.R. pointed out that the picture slanders the Union soldiers during the Civil War as a "hideous marauder, attacking women," and thus tries to rekindle the flames of sectionalism. The Union forces under the leadership of the Great Emancipator Lincoln, as the G.A.R. stated, were "for the purpose of aiding in the preservation of the Union and putting down the rebellion." But "Gone With the Wind"-the book and picture-fights the war all over again giving victory to the reactionary slave owners who sought to split and destroy the nation.

The book is, morever, notorious for its vile slanders against the Negro people, its "justification" of the Ku Klux Klan, its glorification of slavery.

Who should be more qualified to pass on this insidious piece of propaganda than the G.A.R. patriots? They shed their life blood to unite the nation on the foundation of freedom, demcracy and progress. Now they live once more in a day when the national unity of the American people is in grave danger, and when that unity is more than ever necessary to preserve the peace and safety of the country. The enemies of democratic national unity this time are the heirs of the slaveowners-the Hoovers, Garners and Vandenbergs-who threaten the well being of the American people, North and South. Let us hope that the healthy American action of the G.A.R. will become contagious.

of making a "cheap political speech."

Rep. Martin L. Dies, on the other hand, on several occasions sustained objections by Browder or his counsel, Joseph Brodsky, against petty and personal questioning by Matthews and accorded Browder an opportunity to make fuller explanations on questions when the committee questioner sought to silence

The first reference to the Soviet pact came early in the hearing when Rep. Joe Starnes of Alabama asked about the presence of a Soviet "military mission" in Berlin.

"I am sure you have been misinformed," Browder said. "I do not know of any military mission."

Representative Joseph E. Casey of Massachusetts asked, "If Daladier, acting on behalf of France, had made a non-aggression pact with Germany, would you oppose it?"

"Daladier emphatically did make a non-aggression pact with Germany," Browder said, "and Czechoslovakia last September was destroyed as a result of it."

Applause came from the witnesses.

"But England and France were willing to pledge Poland help," Rep. Casey said.

"The Soviet Union went much farther than that," Browder replied. "The Soviet Union offered a defensive alliance with three powers, England, France and Poland. But Poland and the Baltic countries refused to accept its help. "It becomes clear," Browder said, "that Chamberlain and Daladier was letting the world slip into war without any agreement." "But," Rep. Casey persisted, "there would not have been war now if the pact had not been signed." WAR COULD HAVE BEEN

AVOIDED

"I think there would not have been war," Browder said, "if Chamberlain had perfected the peace front with the Soviet Union."

Rep. Dies: "Now gentlemen, let's get on with the hearing. I think this line of questioning has gone far enough.

Rep. Vocrhis, however, returned to the topic again near the close of the Learing.

Matthews, using mainly outdated Communist Party pamphlets and sectarian phrases and slogans, led the Committee on a fruitless chase for an admission of un-American

Matthews launched into a long ating tone by the smirking Matthews. Finally Brodsky raised an objection and Dies sustained it, say-

by Ellis

"There must be some line drawn somewhere as to the scope of this investigation."

Rep. Thomas wanted the questioning continued and Dies asked Browder if he would consent.

"I agree with the chairman," Browder said, "I think the line must be drawn somewhere." Dies nodded and the questions were abandoned.

CLASH HOLDS ATTENTION For the spectators, the highlight of the hearing, next to Browder's development of the significance of the Soviet pact was the clash between Rep. Dempsey and Thomas, the red-baiting Republican.

Thomas read a long list of progressive organizations and asked if Browder could tell why some leading New Dealer had addressed the national conventions of each one

At this Representative Dempsey exploded. "I think it is highly unethical," he said, "for a member of this committee to say that he has been waiting for an hour to ask a question and then to make a cheap political trick."

Thomas said something in reply, but it was lost in the applause which followed Dempsey's rebuke. On occasion both Dies and Matthews, the former by statements and the latter by insinuations, tried to make Browder admit that the Communists were "abandoning Socialism" as a goal

This Browder steadfastly refused to do. He cited the Party's consistent support for progressive measures and policies, as proof of its uncompromising struggle for a better life for all the people, looking ultimately to socialism

On one occasion committee counsel Rhea B. Whitley dragged in one of the 1929 "Zinoviev papers" in an attempt to discredit Joseph Brodsky, Browder's lawyer. The document was prepared by the British Government at the time it was attempting to prevent the British Labor Party from coming to power. After reading from the spurious document which sought to imply that Brodsky had helped bring "Moscow gold" into the United States, Whitley asked: "You don't doubt the authenticity of this, do you, Mr. Brodsky?" "I certainly do," Brodsky said,

"I wouldn't put anything past the British Government.' Browder was excused as a witness at the close of the day's hearing. Members refused to reveal, and surrounded with an air of mystery, the name of the witness to

United States would be an aggressor nation," Browder said. "I absolutely refuse to make that assump-Matthews, smirking at committee members and the audience, pressed the question.

"Then if you use the assumption," Browder said, "there's no reason why I should not. I will say unequivocably that if the United States engaged in an aggressive war against the Soviet Union I would do all in my power to oppose that "I cannot say my country right posing it," Rep. Starnes asked. "I would probably go as far as I went in 1917. I would speak against it and I would probably go to jail as I did in 1917.

Browder vigorously protested against giving "yes or no" answers to questions on political theory. In one such case he said, "If you want understanding that's one thing, but if you simply want a distortion, that's another."

Rep. Dies sustained him in insistence upon the right to give significant answers.

Because it is practically impossible to get a copy of "The Grapes of Wrath" at any public library without waiting months, unless you are related to the mayor, or have other effective means of inducement, the majority of the reading public are depending on circulating libraries. Information gathered at the lending library in the Emporium, San Francisco's largest department store, is typical of the reaction discovered elsewhere. With 175 copies in stock, the library is absolutely incapable of keeping up with the demand, and the librarian stated that more copies would have to be added soon. Attempt to Censor Novel Increases Sales

'Grapes of Wrath' is like trying to cure disease by denying its existence and punishing the doctor who has diagnosed it. This is a characteristic piece of stupidity by the Associated Farmers who are a screaming disgrace to California. Here is the best evidence that Steinbeck's book has struck home. Also it demonstrates again that the Associated Farmers have Fascist-Nazi minds/and are either ignorant or contrary of our Constitution and INSIDE ASIA by John Gunther. Harper Bros. 599 pages. And this is what Stuart Meigs, president of the State Board of Agriculture, has to say on this moot

"Reports issued by both state and Federal agencies indicate that The up this companion volume to Inside Grapes of Wrath is essentially correct. Even the Associated Farmers admit that a migratory labor problem exists. Suppressing the facts down through Manchuria, China, about the problem will hinder a solution. Steinbeck has performed a valuable service by bringing these conditions to the attention of the public.

"The availability of underpaid migratory workers has encouraged absentee corporative speculative farming to the detriment of owner operators. THE football season is upon us tonight. Under the Polo Grounds lights that have yet to shine upon their baseball namesakes, the New York Giants, professional champions, take on the gaudy collection of last year's college aces known as the Eastern All Stars. This aggregation bids fair to make a better showing than the usual hastily thrown together star combination, as it starts with a ten man nucleus from the great Pitt team of last year and is directed by none other than last year's Pitt coach, the good Dr. Sutherland.

The good Dr., who annually molded the tough, coal mining region youngsters coming to Pitt on athletic scholarships into ground devouring, powerhouse outfits that took national ranking, has been given the boot by the Pitt authorities on the grounds of "purity." No tears need be shed for the good Dr., also known as Jocko. He can pick any of many coaching jobs out of the hat, and is probably waiting for the best offer to come along. According to the usually knowing advices of our astute West Coast columnist, Dave Farrell, Jocko is most likely to wind up at Stanford.

JOCKO SUTHERLAND

Wherever he lands, there'll be a sound, hard hitting, well-trained football team moving down the field behind sweeping interference, with players who know all the answers that they'll have to know in a football game. Which is a good brief idea of what you'll see from his All-Stars tonight, even with the handicap of just a few weeks coach-

Pitt's new "purity" means that the trustees, having paid on the stadium atop the hill and banked some extra on the feats of the Sutherland teams, now want to stop paying tuition to young huskies who couldn't afford an education otherwise, and bask in the shiny white light such a step gives them. Which of course, is the rankest of rank hypocrisy. Football is a hard gruelling game bordering on big business, and those who play it deserve some help in going through college-at least. The forthright Sutherland knew he wouldn't fit under the new setup and so informed the trustees. And the good football players from the hard-bitten mine regions of Pennsylvania will swap their blocks and tackles for a college education elsewhere-and there are plenty of colleges out looking.

The trustees, starting their fast one in mid-season last year, tried to set the stage by revoking all the promised financial aid to the members of the freshman team. Which was a miscalculation on their part. Those kids from the mining regions can smell those attempts to pull a fast one—they've seen their dads and neighbors get together effectively against chiseling by mine owners—so the Pitt trustees found themselves with the threat of football's first sit-down strike on their hands, and had to hastily backtrack and live up to the season's contracts.

This all has little to do with tonight's game at the Polo Grounds, except that ten of Jocko's ex-Pitt huskies will be on the field, aided and abetted by such lumanaries of the gridiron as Syd Luckman and Brud Holland-our idea of two dream players-the terrific Osmanski of Holy Cross, Bob Mac Leod and Wilmeth Sidat Singh. And of course there'll be the absolute professional champions of the world, the New York Glants,

ERRORS COSTLY After the Sox gave the ancient southpaw a one run lead in the third on successive singles with two out by Cramer, Vosmik and Williams-the 126th run batted in by rookie Ted-they kicked it back to the Yanks in the latter half. Cronin threw wild on Dahlgren's grounder. Gomez forced Babe, and Crosetti singled to left, sending him to second. Rolfe bounced to Grove, who wheeled play-but Cronin failed to cover and as the ball rolled out to center field, Gomez raced in. Then with bases full Grove got Di Magio on a pop and fanned

GOMEZ

Basil reversed Somers and called it foul, whereupon Gordon fanned and Powell popped. But it was too late-and Grove had bowed before Gomez, Di Maggio the Yanks, and his own team's ineptness.

Jenkins Wins Again Lou Jenkins, very good-looking young lightweight threat who blew in from Sweetwater, Texas, with a pretty wife and no dough six weeks ago looking for fights, won his 4th straight here Tuesday night when he kayoed the highly rated Ginger Foran of England in the fourth round at the Queensboro Arena. If 166 was Jenkins' fight all the way, and he's asking for the big ones now.
