Between 10,000 and 12,000 workers vesterday completely surrounded the building in which the Board of Transportation has its offices at 250 Hudson St. in a mass demand that the city enter into a signed contract with the Transport Workers Union.

Organized by the Greater New York Industrial Union Council of the CIO, the picket line and the mass street rally which followed it near the entrance to the Holland Tunnel was one of the largest demonstrations of its kind in New York City in recent years.

A score of other unions in addition to the TWU participated in the demonstration in support of the demands of the city's transit work-

120,000 GET WAGE BOOST

Terms Banish Service Department; Win Dues Check-Off, Seniority, Major Demands; Murray Hails Contract

> By Adam Lapin (Daily Worker Washington Bureau)

WASHINGTON, D. C., June 20 .- At four P.M., today the nation's toughest and biggest anti-labor citadel crumbled before the CIO as the Ford Motor Company signed on the dotted line a union shop contract with the United Automobile Workers.

The Ford Company agreed to pay wage rates "which would be at least equal to the highest rate paid" in the industry, to pay time-and-a-half for overtime and doubletime for Sunday and holiday work and to lay-off and rehire workers on a seniority basis.

One hundred and twenty thousand workers in all Ford plants, including rubber, cement and glass, will be covered by the contract which provides that union membership in good standing is obligatory on all workers except supervisory employes and that the company is to check-off union dues.

BANISH FORD SPIES

Banished under the new contract is the hated Ford service department which acted as a combined strong-arm and espionage squad. Henceforth the functions of plant protection "will be performed by employes identified by badges or otherwise as plant protection men.'

A further symbol of the smashing victory won by the UAW is the agreement of the Ford Company to display the union label on all its cars.

The signing of the new contract climaxed an heroic and bitter struggle of the Ford workers for more than a decade which wound up in a whirlwind CIO organizing drive, a successful strike and finally on May 24 in a 51,866 to 29,364 victory in a labor board election.

During the course of this struggle thousands of Ford workers were fired for union activity and hundreds more were beaten and maimed by service department thugs,

THROWS IN SPONGE

Edsel Ford, president of the Ford Motor Co., admitted in a formal statement that the anti-labor corporation decided to throw in the sponge after the CIO labor board victory and to "go the whole way" in bargaining with the

Simultaneously with the signing of the contract, the Labor Board announced that the Ford Motor Company had agreed to accept its decisions in more than 20 cases and cease its prolonged battle against these decisions in

About 4,000 workers who pioneered in the drive to unionize Ford, were involved in these cases. For most of them the contract will mean reinstatement with substantial back pay.

R. J. Thomas, UAW president, and George Addes, UAW secretary, declared that the Ford contract "completes the organization of the automobile industry by the United Automobile Workers, CIO. It brings the paid-up membership of our organization to 540,000 and the number of workers covered by our agreements to approximately 700,000."

MURRAY HAILS PACT

CIO President Philip Murray as well as Thomas and Addes hailed the provisions of the contract. Murray declared that "the pattern set by Mr. Ford in this contract might very well be followed by other leading industrialists in the United States of America."

It was an historic moment as representatives of the CIO, the UAW and the Ford Motor Company ceremoniously signed the contract at the headquarters of the United Mine Workers.

The contract was signed for the CIO and the UAW by Thomas, Addes, Alan Haywood, CIO director of organization, and Michael F. Widman, director of the Ford organizing drive.

Other participants in the negotiations which culminated in the contract who were present at the ceremonies were Murray, Richard E. Leonard, regional director of the UAW and William B. Taylor of the Ford Organizing Com-

Thomas and Addes singled out Murray and Haywood for particular praise for their role in the negotiations.

WORKERS PRESENT

Present both at the negotiations, and at the signing of the contract were 15 Ford workers, many of them veterans of the organizing drive, elected from their plants. These workers were:

Rouge Plant: James Sullivan, Pressed Steel Building: Martin Jonson, "B" Building; Percy Llewellyn, Motor Building; Frank Morgan, Jobbing foundry; O. Shelton Tapps, production foundry; George Shrinian, Gear and Axle Building: Alfred Bardell, glass plant; Anthony Leone, foundry machine shop; James G. Couser, Tool and Die Building; Joseph D. Twyman, Spring and Upset Building; J. Austin Lynch, rubber plant; William Ducharme, maintenance workers; George J. Buckwick.

FRIENDS... HESS AND The United Press reported Thursday from London that the Churchill Government had refused Parliamentary requests for information on the case of Rudolf Hess, former deputy to Hitler. The following article on Hess' flight to Britain has just arrived from London by mail-EDITOR'S NOTE.

Yonkers, N. Y.

By Ivor Montagu

LONDON, (By Mail).—"All kinds of surprises." On May 10, Nazi No. 3, the Fuehrer's Deputy, "above all, my brave Maurice, Hess" ("Mein Kampf," p. 417), descends by parachute outside a ploughman's cottage as cool as you please: "Will you kindly direct me to the estate of my friend, the Duke of Hamilton?"

The most extraordinary story in the world! At one moment, trusted and by Hitler's side, spokesman of the May Day message, seated with the Fuehrer at the Reichstag session; at the next denounced as a madman and seated in the camp of his enemies. Who believes a word of it?

The British Government exults over its "new recruit"-the apparent destined leader of the Free Germans. "An act of undoubted moral and physical courage," chants the B.B.C., stressing the accuracy of Hess's flight, the map with the chalked route right up to his spot of landing.

The press takes up the chorus: "The only honest Nazi," "The consistent idealist of the Nazi party"; "Tall, dark and handsome"; "Courteous in his bearing"; "Undoubted personal charm"; "Conversion comparable to those of Buddha and St. Francis"; the "knight from the

FOUR FREEDOMS'--- DO THEY APPLY TO GEORGIA

GOVERNOR TALMADGE of Georgia, no doubt, is all set to spread the Administration's "four freedoms" by force of arms.

But in the state of Georgia, this Democratic politician shows what he has in mind. He has assailed a Georgia educator who proposed a school where Negro and white students would both attend.

"While I'm Governor there'll be no Negroes in the same schools with white folks in Georgia. And there'll be no white men in our school system who advocate it," he roared yesterday.

(As a matter of fact, Governor Talmadge supplies very few schools for whites either).

But this raw Ku Klux sentiment is not peculiar to the lynch system Governor. The majority of his Democratic Party colleagues in the South, and if the truth be told, the majority of the Republican Party politicians are of the same mind.

If President Roosevelt is concerned with the "four freedoms" thousands of miles away, as he says, then why does he not act against the vile Jim Crow and poll-tax system of which Governor Talmadge is a typical specimen?

The establishment of the "four freedoms" in Georgia first is a prerequisite for any pretentions about spreading them to Dakar, Africa. Otherwise, many Americans will strangely suspect that it is the lynch system we are spreading far

BROWDER SAYS ---

"When we proclaim our Party as the party of the working class, we do not mean to say that we have won the whole class, nor its majority, to our support. No, only the first beginnings have been well begun in this great task. We must always have this goal clearly before us, must be conscious of the big gap between our present position and the goal; and must know that the crossing of this gap calls always for certain qualities which we need consciously to cultivate, namely: modesty, patience, persistence, endurance, enthusiasm, self-sacrifice and heroism. -"The Communist Party of the U. Desert Hell of Heat and War Told by Writer

Blistering Sun, Thirst British Troops

By Richard D. McMillan

(United Press Staff Correspondent) WITH BRITISH FORCES IN NORTH AFRICA, June 19 (UP) .-(Delayed).—The entire area of Sollum, Halfaya (Hellfire) Pass and Fort Capuzzo appears to be in German hands after a four-day battle waged in the blistering desert under indescribably bad conditions.

There were few spectators. The desert belonged to the fighting men and their weapons. There were no altogether inadequate sketch of the he declared. way things were while the battle was fought:

The heat was so intense that a rifle barrel burned like a poker taken out of the fire.. Thirst became a parching ache in the throat, eased somewhat with nearboiling water from a gasoline can, a salty, brackish, filthy looking liquid. Hunger meant opening a can of corned beef, and the meat came out in lumps, cooked by the sun to a tasteless, greasy mass. Cleansing operations consisted of finding a little tainted water and rubbing sand and grit along with soapy lather into smarting skin and eyes. Weariness meant lying down amidst prickly camel thorn and risking the bites of scorpions. The only shade during the day was under a hot munitions truck.

Even the desert snakes and lizards seemed torpid because of the heat, but the soldiers sweated under their tin hats and carried on.

EXCRUCIATING CONDITIONS

The men who did the fighting were mostly clerks, shop assistants, bus drivers, insurance agents and the like a year ago. They have lived and marched under excruciating conditions for months on end without complaint.

The battle showed that the Germans had landed strong mechanized units in North Africa. Else they never would have been able to stem the onslaught

The Germans fought and died and were replaced in countless positions between the mass of rubble the baked plain below. Every time the Imperial forces mopped up outposts they found more the next morning established in ravines among boulders, and behind piles of rubble in the desert.

The readnig was done in a low sing-song by assistant district attorney Sol Gelb who droned out long passages to the evident antators, all suffering in the drowsy courtroom heat. Gelb's voice was all but lost on occasion amid the whir of electric fans and the rumble of trucks in the street below.

However, he varied the monotony by pronouncing Stalin's name as "Stayleen" and repeatedly tripping over the meaning of the initials,

But it was when he came to the word "proletarian" that Gelb made the day's contribution to political science. He interrupted his reading and glanced over at Kuntz. "Proletarian," he suggested,

Strong Demands Action On Jobs in 'Defense' Industries

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., June 20,-President Roosevelt was charged today with trying to "silence the mounting protests against discrimination" toward Negroes and Jews in defense industries by his recent letter on discrimination to OPM Associate Director Hillman.

In slashing comment upon the President's entire attitude toward acial minorities, Edward E. Strong, executive secretary of the Southern Negro Youth Congress, accused Roosevelt of "playing with words' and of throwing a "sop" to win Negro support of the war. Strong's statement came after 160 prominent Negro leaders had signed a widelycirculated protest against American involvement in the war and as housands of Negroes throughout the nation were planning to march on Washington, July 1, and to demand defense jobs. President Roosevelt spoke against discrimination only to still tremendous pressure from Negroes and progressive labor organizations, Strong intimated, saying that:

FORCED ON PRESIDENT "The statement of President Roosevelt on Jim-Crowism comes very late and says, upon close analysis, very little. The significant fact about it is that at last the President has been forced to speak on this subject because of the growing unity of the Negro people in their struggle for jobs and against war and because of the ever increasing support from the progressive labor movement in this struggle "The fact that the statement was issued proves that the organized power of the American people can defeat Jim-Crowism. From its contents, however, the statement of the President seems rather designed to silence the mounting protests against discrimination than to put an end to the practice of Jim-Crowism." President Roosevelt, the government, and big business were linked together by Strong as maintaining "widespread discrimination

HOW ABOUT THE PLEDGES TO MAINTAIN SOCIAL GAINS

IN URGING war involvement upon the people, President Roosevelt has repeatedly pledged that there will be "no loss in social gains."

Even in his "unlimited national emergency" radio broadcast on May 27, he referred to "social progress" and said; "We propose to maintain that progress and strengthen it."

But the President's words, in respect to the social gains of the people, do not gibe with his deeds. They are in direct contradiction, the one to the other.

In the accounts in yesterday's Daily Worker, this contradiction was made manifest. In one brief period of 24 hours, the Administration was guilty of four major acts against the people's living standards:

1. TAXATION: The House Ways and Means Committee, dominated by the Administration, adopted a tentative plan for boosting taxes on small incomes 300

2. UNEMPLOYMENT: As a result of Roosevelt's reduced budget for WPA, 415,000 workers will be thrown out of employment on these projects in the next three weeks.

3. WORKING HOURS: The President officially suspended the 8-hour day in three territories - Puerto Rico, the Panama Canal Zone and Alaska-and this was looked upon as a prelude to the attempted ending of the 8-hour day on "defense" work in the United States.

4. STRIKEBREAKING: The Administration through the Navy Department, is using armed Coast Guards on the Great Lakes to "raid" the National Maritime Union strikers in an effort to break their strike.

Do such acts "maintain social progress and strengthen it"? To the contrary, they constitute a BLITZKRIEG AGAINST THE PEOPLE'S LIVING STANDARDS.

These acts demonstrate that in pushing into the war abroad, the Administration is waging war upon the workers at home. Such is precisely what the Daily Worker said would be the case.

Quill, as a climax to his fiery speech, announced that a demonstration of 50,000 workers will be staged at City Hall at 5 P. M., on Monday, June 30, the day the present union contracts covering transit workers expires.

Curran said the picket line, which he declared was not only one of the biggest in the city's history, but one of the most peaceful, demonstrated the determination of the CIO that collective bargaining in New York shall not be destroyed.

"NO" SHOUTS AUDIENCE "The issue," he said, "is simple, Shall the Transport Workers Union and its gains remain, or shall they be wiped out." He was answered by a thunderous "No" from the huge audience.

Gov't Strikebreaking

(Special to the Daily Worker) WORCESTER, June 20.-The Worcester CIO Industrial Union Council at its last meeting voted to pass several resolutions around the issue of government strikebreaking. These resolutions were passed in spite of a small group of disrupters who tried to prevent their passage. The resolutions passed condemned the use of the Selective Service Act to break strikes by withdrawing deferments of striking workers; and resolutions calling for the defeat of the Vinson Bill, the Connally

Following the Regular Pattern

• The latest move in the tit-for-tat diplomatic wrangle between Washington and the Axis powers follows the well-known pattern with monotonous regularity.

Berlin says American consuls acted as spies; Washington declares Nazi consuls acted as spies. In Germany, it is considered "subversive" to doubt what the Nazi press says; in our own country, the war propagandists are trying to create the same atmosphere.

We may be sure that the Government has clearly in mind the next moves after the suitable atmosphere has been created by the spy-consul incidents. These "you-shove-me-I-shove-you" tactics are the bricks that build the path directly into the "shooting stage." They are blandly intended as such.

Of course, they do not reveal a single important fact concerning the real motives of the war itself. They are the outside trappings intended to create "morale." The real sordid rivalries-over markets, profits, colonial empire-are hidden away. The people must be deceived into thinking that they are dying for something that really concerns them. When the war is over, it is discovered that it was even more sordid than the previous one.

It is plain that the American people have got to guard themselves against imminent propaganda assaults against their calm, their reason, and their determination to stay out of the war.

For the Unity and Progress of the CIO

· Harsh criticism by the monopoly press and its echo, the Social Democrats, has greeted the declaration by President Philip Murray of the CIO that there will be no "witch hunts" or "purges" in that organi-

The New York Sun, whose hide-bound Bourbonism is a matter of record, ironically dubs Mr. Murray's message to the CIO affiliates "a Bourbon letter." The columnist Raymond Clapper is commissioned by Roy Howard to devote two essays in succession to berating Mr. Murray and to praising Sidney Hillman's red-baiting designs as a contrast to the CIO president.

The New Leader, organ of the Social Democratic Federation, flings the term "dummy president of the CIO" at the executive head of the Congress of Industrial Organizations, and rants about "appeasement of the Communists" in its anger.

The bitterness of such criticism serves to reveal how great has been the desire of the reactionaries to split the CIO asunder through red-baiting and that internal factionalism and chaos which results.

Every die-hard Open Shopper and profascist has been disappointed by President Murray's letter to the CIO unions. These enemies of labor gnash their teeth in the columns of the monopoly press at this stand for unity because such action by the CIO's president greatly narrows the opportunity which the Open Shoppers thought was theirs, to split and weaken this progressive union movement.

Fortunately for the workers, the CIO has learned a lot from its experiences with redbaiters in the past. Under the regime of Homer Martin, red-baiting brought the powerful United Auto Workers Union to a practical standstill. The man who later turned out to be an open agent for Henry Ford, and those who associated themselves with his red-baiting, threw the union into turmoil and disruption. But the rank and file of the auto workers defeated Martinism, rejected red-baiting, reestablished unity and put the union on its feet. Then the UAW blazed forward, strengthened and invigorated, to win its greatest victory in the Ford citadel at Dearborn.

Red-baiting has proved itself to be the deadly enemy of that unity which has made the CIO so triumphant in its march forward. Red-baiting has also shown itself as the germ which kills off those progressive tendencies within the union movement, which feed the life of the CIO and make it flourish. By its very nature, red-baiting is not merely an attack on the Communists but on everything progressive in the labor movement. President Murray's statement against "witch-hunts" will be welcomed by the CIO membership and by the workers in general, because it has been a contribution toward strengthening the unity of the CIO. It has thereby increased the strength and effectiveness of the CIO movement. The statement has also been of value in safeguarding those progressive ideas and tendencies which help the labor movement to mature and expand. It is a statement which should be consistently followed in practice.

The Telegram Spills The Beans

· Behind the din of "Soviet-Germany" war rumors which clutter up the press is wishful thinking on the part of the monopoly publishers and the imperialist warmongers.

These gentlemen are eager for a war between the Soviet Union and Germany, because they feel that it will offer the longsought opportunity to organize a joint imperialist attack upon the land of Socialism.

Striking proof of this appeared in a World-Telegram editorial yesterday:

"It's too bad that all the talk of war between Germany and Russia seems to be nothing more than rumor, so far. That's one war we could really favor. . . . "

(One might pass up the sheer bloodthirstiness of the proposal that another 200 million people - in the Soviet Union - be thrown into the slaughter to satisfy Roy

The Telegram editorial reveals what kind of war Washington and Wall Street wantan anti-Soviet war. The Daily Worker has said this all along. The Telegram considers the present slaughter the "wrong" one and they hope to "correct" it by turning against the Soviet Union. This is a striking commentary on how "anti-Nazi" Wall Street and the Administration are. How quickly they could swing around to support a Hitler attack against the neutral Soviet Union!

The wisdom of Stalin in pointing out to the Soviet people to be prepared against "surprises" from all imperialist sources becomes a thousand-fold apparent.

Some of the provocations in the war newspapers have reached fantastic depths. According to the New York Post, it can't quite be decided whether Germany should take the Soviet Union by "invasion" or by "peaceful conquest." In still other stories, the Soviet Union is confronted with the demand that it liquidate the Red Army, turn over the Red Navy to German imperialism, and surrender the Ukraine. All of these imminent conquests have been won by the same typewriter generals who had the British-American stooge Mannerheim conquering the Soviet Union during the Finnish hostili-

In the unbreakable unity of its people around Socialism, the Soviet Union will be quite able to take care of itself, and the capitalist press will not deceive or provoke it. The Soviet Union has been faced with a constant stream of imperialist provocations ever since its existence. The American people will see clearly the anti-Soviet war dreams of the imperialists, and will recognize in the Soviet Union a defender of peace and humanity.

An Attack Upon Anti-Fascist Refugees

· The State Department's new rule with regard to the admission of anti-Nazi refugees is one of cruelty, and attacks our democratic tradition of asylum.

If, as the Administration holds, no refugee will be permitted here who leaves close relatives in Nazi Germany and in Nazi occupied territories, then very few indeed will be admitted.

The bogus theory behind this rule is that relatives, left behind, exert pressure causing those who leave to become Nazi spies. Not only does this tend to create more war jitters and discriminations, it points the finger of suspicion toward those anti-Nazi refugees who have arrived in the country before this reactionary order was promulgated.

Valtin, who by his own hand admitted his Nazi spying, first pronounced this theory at his deportation hearing. The man whose sewer book furnished material for the Administration's red-baiting anti-Soviet policies, cannot conceive of any honest people coming from Nazi oppression. Valtin evidently thinks everyone's political integrity is as putrid as his.

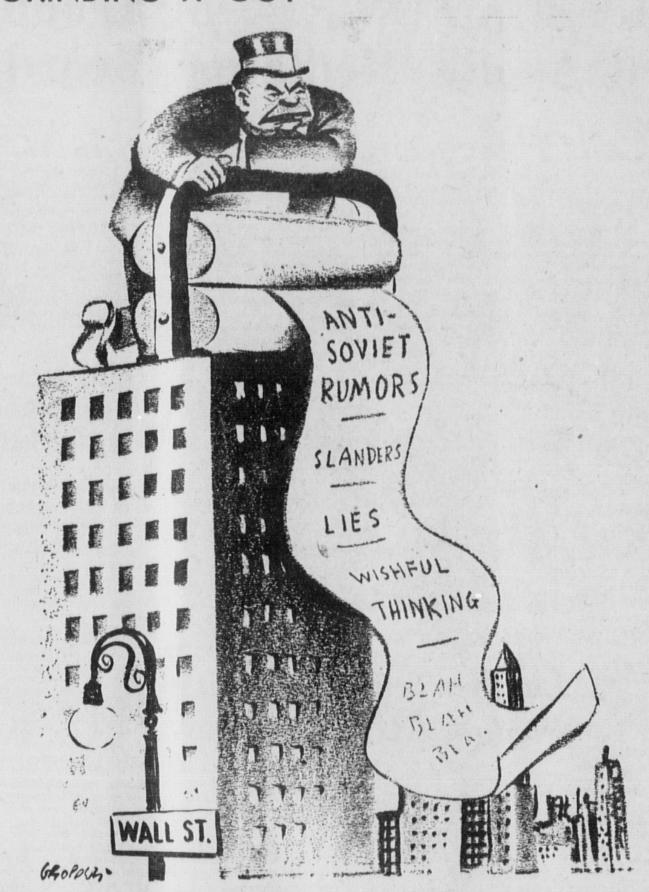

Let the Administration look among the titled royalty-from Germany, Italy, Great Britain and other countries-for the spies, royalty which has been wined and dined by the White House and Big Business.

The State Department's new rule is a continuation of the present drive against foreign-born Americans and of the callous policy which barred thousands of heroic Spanish refugees. It should be protected by labor and democratic citizens.

Mrs. Wood's Conviction Insults Instincts of All Decent People

· Oklahoma has had another black mark placed against its record. In Mrs. Ina Wood's conviction for criminal syndicalism Thursday, America has been presented with a further reminder of the bitter persecution which the war has unleashed. The verdict is one which insults the instincts of decent people.

The Oklahoma measure under which Mrs. Wood was prosecuted is one of that series of repressive laws which were put upon the statute books of various states during the mania of World War I and the Palmer raids. Long ago American public opinion recognized these measures as anti-American and antidemocratic. The people's pressure caused such legislation to be erased in a number of states.

Oklahoma, where the farm population is being driven from the land and subjected to the iron heel of the big monopolists, did not follow this enlightened policy. The state has retained the measure and now employs it to "punish" a young wife for her efforts to organize and help the "Okies," whose condition has breathed out a national scandal in the pages of "Grapes of Wrath."

Mrs. Wood has been held "guilty" of criminal syndicalism solely because of her membership in the Communist Party. The sole evidence against her were Marxist-Leninist books, which the State of Oklahoma (acting for the big monopoly interests) holds it is a crime to read.

There was no act of any kind charged against her. She stands convicted only of "dangerous thoughts" and of "dangerous reading." Such a display of reactionary ignorance on the part of the authorities of Oklahoma smells of Hitlerism; it is foreign to the essence of democracy.

Such a conviction was obtained, in the only way it could be obtained—through a hand-picked jury. It was also obtained in the background of the terrorization of jurors, which is a common feature of the repressive regime which rules the home state of the "Okies." Through such methods has this young wife been put in the shadow of jail, to which her husband has been sentenced for ten years for the same "dangerous thoughts" on behalf of Oklahoma's common

The whole business is a shocking performance, against which every democraticminded person will express his indignation. Neither Bob nor Ina Wood can be permitted to be hounded off to jail. America will have to assert itself against such medieval procedure. The campaign for raising bail for Mrs. Wood should receive a rapid and warm response. Support to the International Labor Defense, which has carried on the defense against great odds and which continues the fight for the freedom of Oklahoma's victims, is the duty of all.

The final squelching of the indictment against Oscar Wheeler in West Virginia, which occurred about the same time that the verdict against Mrs. Wood was rendered, gives proof that battles for civil rights can be won. Let us make certain that the battle is won quickly in Oklahoma.

Favors Convening Pro-Peace

Labor Congress Editor, Daily Worker:

Enclosed is a copy of a letter sent to Philip Murray: "I wish to express my support of your statement denouncing the use of federal troops to break strikes. The use of such troops would, in effect, reduce labor's strike weapon to mere nothingness 'As a member of a trade union (Local 16, UOPWA) I feel very strongly about the government's use of armed force in the North American Aviation Company strike. I believe after having read the reports that that strike was justified and that the cry of 'insurrection' and 'Communism' is mere subterfuge-the aim of the reactionaries who raise this cry is to crush all trade "I applaud your vigorous condemnation of all antilabor legislation pending in Congress, but I cannot agree with four facile lumping of 'Communists' with fascists. This, too, is a trick used by anti-labor employers in order to pit union brother against brother, to split labor and destroy the trade unions "I also believe that there are persons in the Administration at Washington who wish to have the U.S. enter the European war. These same persons are making attacks against our unions. Therefore, I wish to inform you that I favor the convening of a Congress by the CIO whose purpose would be to take measures to mobilize American opinion against our involvement S. W.

Dollar Nature of Wall Street's "Defense of Democracy"

Brooklyn, N. Y.

Editor, Daily Worker: An article appearing in the financial section of the New York Sun of June 14, with its typically brazen callousness of statement and phraseology warrants, I believe, the attention of progressives and also of those who need further evidence of the profit-hungry nature of the current "defense of democracy."

Under the headline, "Steps Taken on Strike Menace Helps Market," the prediction is made that "Inflation (is) more than ever likely as long term windup to war."

"Commodities moved higher, and some under scarcity impulse, others . . (through) price-lifting notably farm products, and still others in response to . . . imflationary ideas and growing demand for war (no doubt from the source as the price lifting-S.G.) and other purposes." These are the only terms by which the Wall Street gang understand the increasing starvation, lowered standard of living and desolation of war.

"Invasion of Syria, sending supplies abroad by U. S.,

Yes, It Is--Quite 'A Problem'

· Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt, in her "Day" last Wednesday, twists her readers with the question: "This living in a democracy is a problem, isn't it?"

She throws up her hands in mock despair and is quite willing to let the matter rest there, hoping too that the people will probe no deeper.

Here is a subject that volumes could be written about. But it would all come out that the American people are living in a CAPITALIST democracy, which is a long way from real democracy, especially in the period of war capitalism and "unlimited national emergency."

When Mrs. Roosevelt asked her rhetorical question it was in answer to a terrible state of affairs which she felt compelled to highlight in her column.

She told of the deplorable situation of the Navajo Indians, whose reservation grounds of 81 years, have become exhausted. And these truly American peoples have been reduced by capitalist democracy to a state of sheer destitution.

"This means that a people, whose average cash income is only about $120 a year. must either go on relief, which they want at all costs to avoid, or starve to death. The only other solution seems to be the possibility of carrying through an irrigation project," Mrs. Roosevelt wrote.

Then she demolishes her own ray of hope continuing:

"The decisions on the irrigation is, of course, up to Congress. At the present time I can quite understand the argument AGAINST PUTTING MONEY INTO ANY-THING WHICH CAN BE SET ASIDE TO BE DONE WHEN THE DEFENSE PE-RIOD IS OVER." (Emphasis ours.)

That is, let the Navajos eat grass now -and after the "defense" period is over then there won't be any left to feed. Such is the economy of capitalist democracy.

Secondly, Mrs. Roosevelt deals with another very embarrassing question for her husband and his Wall Street backers. Of 2,845 Negro youth on the New York NYA, 1,245 are girls. "The Negro girls are fitted , to take training in as many different fields as the white girls, but in NEW YORK CITY AND THE STATE THE GREATEST NUMBER OF EMPLOYMENT OPPORTU-NITIES FOR NEGRO GIRLS ARE IN DOMESTIC SERVICE." (Emphasis ours.)

Faced with the stark facts of notorious job-discrimination against Negroes, and with the fight of the Negro people against it. Mrs. Roosevelt has to admit that the evil exists. So what is she going to do about it?

"This living in a democracy is a problem, isn't it?"—the refrain comes back.

Perhaps Mrs. Roosevelt would like to chuck it all-even the limited democratic rights now existing-in favor of fascism. Already she calls for regimenting and uniforming young women at 21 dollars a month -and already her husband is headed toward a complete military dictatorship in preparation for a shooting war. That evidently is her solution of the "problem."

Under capitalism, democracy consists only of those limited rights which the people can wring out of the monopolies which control the life of the nation. It is ridiculous to talk of the people being equalized by the ballot, when ten million citizens don't have it (in the poll tax states), to say nothing of the Navajos and other Indian groups regarded as wards of the government-and when a half dozen newspaper owners and big politicians wield more power than millions of voters.

There is nothing wrong with democracy, it's what the people today most want, It's Mrs. Roosevelt's capitalist class which circumscribes it, and which threatens now to wipe it out altogether in preparation for imperialist war.

This living in what Mrs. Roosevelt calls democracy IS a problem for the great majority of the people, though it is a swinish paradise for a minority of monopolists. But living in a real democracy—the democracy of Socialism with peace and plenty for 130 million Americans—will be marvelous. This is the deeper consideration of democracy which the people are pondering. And it worries Mrs. Roosevelt, her husband, and Wall Street, who live off the people's tears and sweat under capitalist democracy.

clear evidence of further growth of gross income of corporations; disinclination of Congress . . . to put a greater tax burden on industry, sinking of an American ship," and nearness "to a declaration of war by United States" mean nothing in terms of human suffering and are important only insofar as their effect

"to disturb the market." "In a more cheerful light" is the grisly Pollyannaism used by this writer for J. P. Morgan's organ to describe "the action of the President in breaking up the strike at the North American Aviation Company's plant." "Salutary effect," deliverance from "strike bondage" are phrases used to describe the reaction of Wall St. to the President's use of troops to bayonet and terrorize a legal and peaceful attempt of workers to secure for their families a few more crumbs before the "scarcity impulse" engulfs them

How can anyone put his faith in these historic liars when they proclaim that they are defending democracy and fighting fascism? S. G.

Roosevelt's Bayonets Will Teach Workers to Study A Mysterious Subject

By MIKE GOLD

MARSHAL PETAIN recently made a speech to the French nation. He told the people what they already knew too well: that they were hungry, that bad times and little hope stretched before them. Nobody had betrayed France he quavered, unity would save the nation, and all must bear their cross and struggle on in the path of Petain.

Furthermore, said the old Catholic-Nazi militarist, beware of Moscow! Do not listen to this Communist propaganda that is abroad!

Yes, Petain blamed most of the troubles of France on that omnibus scapegoat of every reactionary, the famous "Moscow plot!"

The Japanese newspapers continually publish editorials and speeches in the same vein. The Japanese people are adjured to further belly-pinching and heroism. The beauty of fascist suicide is preached to them, and they also are warned against the insidious promises of Communism-"the Moscow plot."

In Spain, in Italy, in Germany, no week goes by without an official manifesto, a barrage of speeches and editorials, and a wave of arrests, persecutions, executions directed against "conspirators" in the famous

At a distance, how obvious becomes this most threadbare of capitalist demagogies, this universal red herring! Here across the Atlantic, everyone from a Roosevelt, down to the sweetest Chamber of Commerce orator can see clearly and tell you that Europe's evils are caused by fascism, and that if the people of Europe revolt, it will be out of stark necessity, not because of any foreign plotting.

Why, then, if we understand the effects of hunger and oppression in Germany, Italy, France, or Japan, do we shut our eyes to the same

There was for instance, a very simple reason for the recent wave of strikes in America's aviation and other war-industries. The bosses had been gorged with enormous profiteering contracts. Monopolists were sending up, for reasons of criminal profit, the price of food and other necessities.

The workers, caught in a vice between mounting prices and frozen wages, were almost automatically forced to defend themselves. Who can maintain a family on the American standard nowadays with wages of $20 and $25 a week, the average in these war-industries?

In fascist countries, such strikes are not treated as outbursts against short rations and economic exploitation, but as crimes against the state, as political demonstrations, as forms of the famous "Moscow

In America, a democracy, one expects a different procedure. But the industrialists and their governmental and press stooges, dragged the same fascist red-herring across the economic trail.

"Moscow plot! Moscow plot!" screamed the parrot chorus, which included most of the former liberals of America.

The New York Post, a liberal newspaper owned by a Jewish millionaire who should certainly be trembling lest fascism conquer America, was perhaps the loudest screamer in this typical maneuver of fascism. Mr. Backer did the dirty work of Father Coughlin and Henry Ford whom he fears and hates.

How these half-witted liberals repeat every suicidal folly of their counterparts in Europe! It is really extraordinary that they never learn.

When Hitler set the Reichstag fire, and blamed it on the Communists, the German liberals and "Socialists" gladly believed him. They helped spread the lie. Hitler came into power on this obvious frame-up, and the Reichstag fire set a pattern for all the fascism of our time. When fascists need to swindle the people in some new exploitation. their propagandists pour the usual gasoline and light torches to a new plot." And the Americans liberals help them. their own end like some feverish suicide.

It forms a new school of history, this shabby "Moscow-plot" theory. And it is about as useful a key to the complicated history of our time as the theory of witchcraft.

single group of yesterday's prominent "friends of labor" made the slightest attempt to investigate the economic causes of these strikes.

The war fever has turned most liberals into witch-hunters. And some liberals are even shameless about their change from scientific economists and historians into these Circean beasts. "If this will win the war, then let us use witch-hunting," they say, with an infatuated

But crushing the trade unions will not win the war. It will give bigger profits, temporarily, to the monopolists, but it will not speed production. Nor will it inspire the trade union boys in the army. It only shatters the nation's unity in a crisis. France taught us that

As for the Communist movement, it can be persecuted, but it is never eliminated by any Reichstag-fire hullabaloo, since it is no transplanted exotic, but a growth out of the people's needs. What really happens is that an association of ideas is set up in Food, decent wages, and justice become entwined in the popular imagination, with that outlawed word: "Communism."

This happened under the Czar. It is now a fact in Europe, where every dictator still finds it necessary to name Communism as the chief peril. The witch-hunters, liberal and reactionary, are hastening the same process in America.

When a skilled mechanic who strikes for an extra two dollars a week is stabbed with bayonets and called a Communist, he is sure to lose some of his former prejudices against Communism, and even look into the mysterious subject a little.

How Hollywood Beat the War Drums For Mexican Intervention in 1913

By David Platt

This is the third in a series of articles on Films and Latin America.

The movie industry has been beating the drums furiously for big business interests in Latin America. They did it once before on the same scale in 1913. It happened this way.

In 1911 the great storm that had been gathering in Mexico for many years came to @of the tyrant Porfirio Diaz. To add to the complexity of the Massacre at scene, at the same time there came | Vera Cruz to a climax the long, smouldering strife between the British and American oil concerns having interests in Mexico. Herein lies the key to a full understanding of Mexican history between 1910 and 1917: In 1904 Mexico was producing 220,-650 barrels of oil. In 1910 production zoomed to 14,051,643 barrels. In 1913 it rose to 25,902,439. Within ten years. Mexico had risen from a negligible position to the largest petroleum producer.

Rockefeller's Standard Oil is said to have backed Madero for President of Mexico hoping thereby to gain a firm foothold in the oil fields at the expense of other American and British competitors. In 1913 Madero was assassinated and Victoriano Huerto-the Mexican landlords and British oil candidate was installed in the presidential palace American and British interests clashed and Wall Street reached out for all possible means to mobilize public opinion in their behalf.

New Book Gives Vivid Story of Bus Strike

By Art Shields

Pearl Bergoff used to boast that the right crowd could beat any transit strike. Hadn't every transit strike been defeated since the horse cars started rolling? Mayor La Guardia and the Hearst-Post-Sun-Times-Scripps Howard-Herald Tribune newspapers had much the same idea. And they all agreed with the mayor $that the bus workers of the big- so fast from headquarters to picket gest city in the world were "bull- line and down to City Hall that headed, obstinate and stupid" to the author often records events on think otherwise.

City Omnibus lines won a strike last March with the help of the public. They rolled up the first transit strike victory ever seen in New York. They made history, not only for labor, but for the populace of New York, that stood behind them in their fight against the ments reproduced in full, union

The bus strike, indeed, is an important chapter of the history that the workers of America are making in giant strikes in 1941. It was won against the combined opposition of all the enemies of labor without and within. And the victory inspired other workers to successful resistance to the bloated monopolies that "have confiscated the country" (the quotes are from Michael Quill, the young Irish-born president of the Transport Workers Union.)

But history needs to be writtenby competent historians, so the people can use the lessons of the past in the fights of the future. Each important strike against the monopolies is worth reporting with adequate detail in a pamphlet or book. made seven runs and seven hits. Hopp Goes to Left Field, Padgett Behind Plate in Shift

> Big John Mize and his war club are back in action with the St. Louis Cards. It pains the pennant 2 aspiring Dodgers and the world champion Reds to even think of it. They've been chasing the Cards without Mize. Now does anybody think they can catch them with Mize? Don't all yell at once,

The big Georgia slugger, who National League pitchers rate as the most dangerous hitter in their league, came off the Cardinal bench against the Phillies. The Cards trailed by 5-2 but Big John slammed out a single and two runs counted. Pretty soon another run came in

After pinch-hitting, Mize, who has been laid up with a finger injury since May 26th except for brief pinch-hitting jobs, returned to first base, and Johnny Hopp shifted to left field with Don Padgett coming in from the outfield to take over the catching. Manager Billy Southworth's problem from now on is to keep Mize, Padgett and Hopp in the lineup all at the same time-Mize and Padgett for their longdistance power and Hopp for his speed, aggressiveness and timely

DODGERS ROUT WALTERS, BEAT REDS 6-2

Camilli Homers. Riggs Clouts as Casey Wins 8th

The Dodgers opened the significant series with the Reds in Cincinnati yesterday in a significant way, beating the champions' ace Bucky Walters 6-1 behind Hugh Casey. The Reds have been showing signs of coming back.

Dolph Camilli led the attack with his fifteenth homer of the year, which came with one aboard in the sixth. Lew Riggs, ex-Red sub doing a grand job of spelling Lavagetto at third, did some timely clouting. It was Casey's eighth win against three losses. Three of his victories have been at the expense of the Reds.

The Reds took a 1-0 lead in the first when Casey walked Frey and Goodman with one down and McCormick singled to right to score the former. A fast double play started by Reese on Lombardi averted further trouble and Casey coasted through thereafter.

Riggs' double and Camilli's single tied it in the second, and the same combination made it 3-1 in the sixth with a single and homer. Walks to Walker and Casey and Herman's two-out single scored another pair in the seventh. Walker's double and Franks' single wound up scoring in the eighth.

Some 2nd Day The Score Afterthoughts On the Fight Board

By Lester Rodney

Just one more piece on the Louis-Conn fight. It was one of the great heavyweight fights and can bear a few afterthoughts.

The first day after the fight everybody is talking about Conn, and that's natural enough. Along comes the second day and the excitement has settled down and everybody begins realizing that after all Louis did win the fight, and if as everyone was saying the first day, Conn was so magnificent and courageous and speedy and deft (which he was-see the movies if you don't believe it) then Louis must have had to be a hell of a fighter himself to have BEATEN this guy. So you find a Johnny Ray, Conn's manager, walking into Mike Jacobs' office for Billy's check, and saying the very first thing:

"I never realized just how great a champion Joe Louis is until that thirteenth round. That's why Billy doesn't feel so bad about this first knockout of his career. He knows it couldn't have been done by a greater fighter."

And that's why a veteran objective fight manager like Al Weill will muse on that second day and say:

"In years to come they'll rate Joe Louis for what he really is, a truly great fighter of all time. He gave one more proof of this the other night . . . only the truly great fighter could have come through in the spot in which Louis found himself. That's what makes the champion of champions, the fighter who wins out against practically any odds, and that's the class of fighter this champion is . . . only a Joe Louis of all the heavyweights I've ever seen could have saved his title in the way he did against the fast, winning fight put up by Conn."

Louis invariably makes his opponent a hero on the first day. Sometimes there's almost a tendency to forget that he WON the fight in the concentration on the guy who stayed so long, or like Conn came so close and put up such a magnificently game and clever fight. The memory goes back over Louis' eighteen successful title defenses this second day and you recall that he has beaten all manner of fighter-with all manner of style-and some once called him a "mechanical' fighter! . . . in the heat of battle he has adapted himself to the tactics necessary to beat a powerful 6 foot 6 giant like Buddy Baer, a crouching, dangerous little man like Tony Galento, a crawling crawfish like Arturo Godoy, a dancing master like Bob Pastor, and now a fine, speedy underrated craftsman like Billy Conn (we all underrated the Pittsburgh kid) . . . you think this second day of Joe Louis' adaptability.

Then you think of his courage. A lot is written about the courage of those who take his punches, but it's often slightly overlooked that he has no special type of chin or stomach different from any one else, and he has taken plenty of hard punches along the way and come back. The very night he won the title he bounced off the floor in the first round to beat Braddock . . . another night at the Stadium when he was met with a crushing left hook to the jaw from the unorthodox leap of Galento while the echo of the opening gong was still mingling with the roar of the crowd . . . staggered back to the ropes and then proceeded to bust up his opponent scientifically . at Washington being bounsed out of the ring by Buddy Baer amid the wildest hysteria in the very first round, landing on his head on the ring apron, coming back dazed to do a little bit of all right for himself thereafter . . . and of course the time he put an end for evermore to some of the Jim Crow inspired jibes at his courage was the night he waded into the man who had knocked him out after beating him unmercifully for twelve rounds and blasted him senseless in two minutes and four seconds of the first round while 200 specially imported Nazis who had been saying that Schmeling couldn't lose because he was superior to a Negro stood around in a daze.

Then too on this second day someone mentions his instinctively sportsmanlike gesture of stepping back when Conn slipped and was temporarily helpless in front of him . . . it was within the rules to have hit him then. And you think back and try in vain to remember any single time when Louis was anything less than sportsmanlike and fair and clean before, during or after a fight. You recall his modesty, his lack of name calling, and his ever ready tribute to the qualities of his opponent. And the honesty that disdains the corny, "He never hurt me . . . I had him all the time" line and says instead, "Did Conn hurt me in that twelfth? And how! I was groggy all right and glad the round ended. I knew I was losing the fight when I came out for the thirteenth."

You add him up as a fighter and think or say that when the time comes, as it well may, that Louis is beaten, he will have left the finest record of any heavyweight champion in history. You add him up all told as fighter, sportsman and man this second day and salute Joe Louis . . . a real champion.

And More Random Afterthoughts

As Louis climbed down the ring steps Wednesday night to star for the dressing room the first thing he said to co-manager Roxborough was "How many cigars did you swallow, John?" . . . for the "if Conn was bigger he'd have won easily" school . . . if Conn were bigger he'd be a different kind of fighter, he couldn't be as fast and elusive as he is. . . .

The Polo Grounds crowd was for Conn by a good majority . . . sports fans always go for the guy who is trying to knock over the supreme one . . . remember how Stadium crowds cheered on the Tigers and Indians against the Yanks in the fourth year of the wonder team's reign? . . . Conn had very little schooling, but he's a bright boy, quick on the uptake . . . and expresses himself fluently, if colorfully . . . when you see fighters say a few self-conscious words in the movies you don't see the tremendous array of lights and cameras massed up against them and you don't see the fighter relaxed, unless you get a natural actor like Maxie Baer.

And a rather humorous sidelight we didn't get around to mentioning yesterday was the introduction of Al (Bummy) Davis . . the slugger who was barred for frequently fouling Fritzie Zivic and who is now sanctified and beamed upon because he enlisted in the army. . . . As Announcer Harry Balogh began his baloghny introduction of Bummy to the crowd started its usual merry booing of the worthy from Brownsville. . . . Davis was standing down in the press section in his army uniform waiting for the proper signal to come up. . . . Balogh said, "Let's give him a hand, after all he's doing his humble bit for our national defense and for democracy . . . I give you Private Al Davidoff, better known to you as Al Davis" . . . "Better known as Bummy" called someone in the press rows . . . Bummy leaped into the ring and was met with the usual admixture of boos and cheers . . . about 10 to 1 favor the former . . . slightly taken aback he stood still a moment and then someone hissed, "The salute! The salute!" and Bummy went into an army salute from each corner of the ring while the pressbox howled with laughter. He definitely did not panic the joint . . . it was a case of "take it off, we know you,

And while finishing an all-fight piece it's apropos to mention the fact that we think a sidetracking of Lou Nova this fall by Mike Jacobs would be unfair . . . he rates next crack at the crown before anyone gets a return . . . those are also Louis' feelings, which will probably count much more than mine in the eventual booking, don't you think? . . .

Special note to all those who sent along some kidding on the two-round kayo prediction: Can I help it if Louis neglected to read the Daily Worker Thursday morning?
