OHN L. LEWIS, Rinaldo Cappellini and other bureaucratic leaders of the United Mine Workers of America are enjoying the sunshine of Mexico, and being entertained by the Mexican government with Wall Street dollars. But Lewis is not too far away to render a service to his friends, the coal operators. For several months the miners in the Scranton, Pa., district were trying to have their officers take up certain greviances with the coal barons. The leaders refused. Finally the men took matters into their own hands and shut down the mines.

All signs point out however that the rank and file of the organization are organizing their strength for a concerted attack on the reactionary forces.

BRITAIN'S hold on Egypt will not be relaxed, according to a statement made by Col. J. H. Patterson, who built the British railroad from Mombassa to Lake Victoria Nyanza, in Africa. The colonel is on a lecture tour in this country and like all British lecturers outside of the Communists, who are not welcome here. he is under the orders of the foreign office and lose no apportunity to boost the employ. It defends the present British reign of terror in Egypt. Col. Patterson, however, deserves praise for not indulging in the nauseating hypocrisy so typical of the British ruling class. He says bluntly that England must protect the Suez Canal which he calls the empire's

A defeat of the British in Egypt and the Sudan would heighten the morale of England's colonial slaves and give them confidence in their own power to throw off the yoke. Patterson's frank admission proves that no oppressed subject race can ever accomplish their emancipation from slavery of any kind except by the exercise of their power. Those who want to be free must themselves strike the blow, and tyrants are convinced only by power.

APAN does not take kindly to the U Coolidge suggestion of another naval conference for further reduction of armaments. Not that Japan is not just as anxious for relief from the burden of taxation imposed by the necessity for maintaining a large navy, but she knows that the proposed conference is only a ruse on the part of the United States and another calculated step in the well conceived plan to bring the world under the hegemony of Wall Street. # ARE FOR HOWAT, Expulsions in Hard Coal MNERS INSIST Fields Is Biggest Issue in ON CONVENTION Miners' Election Tuesday

Ninety Per Cent of the JOHN L. LEWIS, THE TRAITOR, Members for Howat PLAYS GAME OF THE BOSSES

ARMA, Kansas, Dec. 5.— Revokes Charters to Disfranchise Miners in Union Election,
Three thousand coal miners in and to Break Anthracite Strike! and to Break Anthracite Strike!

(Statement by the Trade Union Educational League.)

NEWS from the anthracite coal fields that John L. Lewis, president of the United Mines Workers of America, has revoked the charters of ten local unions, in order to break the strike of 12,000 miners now going on and which threatens soon to include 20,000 more, is another demonstration of the fact that Lewis is an agent of the coal operators. Lewis got his hold upon the U. M. W. of A. with the help of the coal barons, he has consistently served the interests of the coal barons, and now he is openly entering the field as a strikebreaker in the anthracite field just a few days before the union election.

Lewis' action is dictated by two considerations: First, he must show the bosses that he is still their willing tool, in order to continue to receive their financial and moral support. Second, he must find some way to break up the sweep of the progressive sentiment in the election set for next week, and this way he finds in the wholesale expulsion of

This is but another action of the same kind as that in Kansas, District 14, where Lewis, in direct violation of the laws of the union, removed all the progressive candidates from the ballot by an arbitrary ruling, leaving no candidates to be voted for except his own hand-picked tools. And in Kansas, too, the 10,000 miners who will vote against Lewis and his gang are disfranchised.

The Trade Union Educational League calls attention to these latest betrayals of the mine workers by the traitor Lewis, and calls upon all militant and revolutionary miners to rally to the cause of the progressive miners. Fight against the expulsions and revocation of charters! Fight for the redress of the grievances of the strikers!

Vote for the progressive tickets, nationally and in every district. on Tuesday, Dec. 9, and see that your votes are counted!

UNION CHARTERS: FEARS ELECTION:

Cappellini Reported to Be in Hiding

By THOMAS MYERSCOUGH. (Special to the Daily Worker)

WILKESBARRE, Pa., Dec. 5. -The twelve thousand miners involved in the strike against the coal barons, who for months refused to pay any attention to their demands for a settlement of their grievances, are not frightened by threats of coercion from the bosses and by the action of John L. Lewis, international president of the union. in revoking the charters of ten locals. It is strongly believed here that the main reason behind the revocation of the charters was the imminence of the election for district and international officers of the union.

Lewis feared the opposition among the locals affected would endanger his machine in this district and tell heavily against his own presidential

Lewis' instructions to the district officers' charges strike leaders with saying that "charters cannot dig coal." The strike was not the result of a "conspiracy." It was caused by the accumulated effect of a long list of greivances. Miners were refused work by the Pennsylvania Coal company and actually removed from the payroll without formal discharge. Strike May Spread. There are also eighteen hundred Lehigh Wilksbarre company miners on strike. A meeting will be held today to decide whether the entire staff of that company shall be called out. Similar action confronts the Lehigh Valley and Hudson Coal companies. The miners say that they have sufficient grievances to strike regardless of any action they might feel like taking in behalf of their striking comrades. The miners have demanded of Lewis that a specialff convention be held. Intense excitement prevails. here. It is charged that Cappellini is in hiding, being too yellow to face the wrath of the coal diggers. Vice-president Isaacs, acting head during Cappellini's absence, was replaced by International Organizer Davis, on orders of Lewis. Isaacs failed to carry out Lewis' instructions.

The method used by federal operatives came to light thru the testimony of Dr. Ragabason, agent of the narcotic division, who testified that he and James Williams, an informer for the service, made a deal with Horton to go to Chicago and bring back fifteen ounces of morphine, which was to be disposed of thru Dr. Gibson, who posed as a

Truth Overtakes Lies As MEXICO PUT Soviet Rule Advances With Its Giant Strides

By J. LOUIS ENGDAHL.

TODAY, a few paragraphs of Associated Press correspondence seeps thru into the columns of the capitalist press admitting the giant strides forward taken by Armenia under Soviet Rule.

It has taken this little item, confessing that Soviet Armenia "is now on its feet," a full month to reach this country. Thus the truth travels slowly in the hands of the big American capitalist news agency. The lies about Soviet Rule, or about Communist activity anywhere, are put hot on the cables, and flashed everywhere as most important

In this instance, however, the truth will overtake the lie. The news that Soviet Rule has brought "peace and prosperity" to Armenia will gradually counteract all the malicious poison spread during the years since the Russian Bolshevik Revolution.

Most American workers know Armenia only as the victim of the Turks. While capitalism ruled alike in Turkey and Armenia, the Armenians were the unhappy victims of their more powerful neighbors.

This condition is now changed. Capitalism still sits enthroned in Constantinople, but the Bolshevik Red Army stands back of the Soviet State in Armenia, and the Armenians are safe, even as the "A. P." admits, "to live their own lives unmolested."

Armenia has a population of 1,100,000. That is about the population of some of our own agricultural states, like Washington or Nebraska; or an industrial state, like Con-

The Associated Press claims to get consolation out of its own figures that there are only 1,914 active Communist Party members in the country. That is a good percentage even accepting these prejudiced figures. It comes near to equalling the situation in Soviet Russia itself.

When the Workers (Communist) Party in this country establishes its strength, equal to that shown by Armenian Communists now, we will have 200,000 active, well disciplined American Communists in our ranks.

It is well, therefore, to present to non-Communists in this country some of the admitted facts coming even from the biased Associated Press about conditions in Armenia. Here they are:

"The people are better off today than they have been for many years. Officials of the government (Soviet) estimate that within three years the country will be self-supporting, and that within ten years it will be a prosperous community." "Crops this year have been good and there is an abundant supply

"The tens of thousands of orphan children which successive wars and massacres (under capitalist rule) left in their wake are especially

"With its limited funds, the government (Soviet) is doing notable work in the way of reconstruction, irrigation, hydraulic and electrification projects, the removal of marshy malarial lands, the establishment of agricultural and industrial schools, and the cultivation of cotton. silk, tobacco and vineyards."

"The Armenian (Soviet) Government has established a splendid university at Erivan, employing 75 professors and accomodating 900

"In 1922 Armenia had only 1,250 acres of cotton under cultivation. In 1923 it had 12,500, and in 1924 this number increased to 40,000

These are the developing conditions favorable to the Armenian masses that allied imperialism seeks to destroy in its attacks on Soviet Rule. It was in the neighboring state of Soviet Georgia, where, as in Soviet Armenia the workers and peasants are making big strides ahead; that not only the scattered remnants of the czarist regime but the agents of the Second (Socialist) International recently sought to carry out an abortive counter-revolution.

"Peace and tranquility," favorable to the transition period from capitalism to Communism, now prevails in Soviet Armenia, in Soviet Georgia, and in all the units of the Union of Soviet Republics. The fist of the workers and peasants under the Dictatorship of the Proletariat is allpowerful against all capitalist foes.

What a contrast to conditions in Germany, under the "Socialist" Ebert; or in England under the capitalist-supporting labor rule of MacDonald.

In these, and in other unhappy lands, the traitor socialdemocracy aids the big capitalists to hold the working masses in subjection. The triumphs already achieved by Workers' Rule thruout the Union of Soviet Republics must awaken oppressed labor in all capitalist lands to the struggle to sweep aside the capitalist state, establish their own dictatorship, and usher in their own Communist social order.

Guatemala Protests. Even the hand-picked representaives of Central American labor chosen by the Gompers-Morones machine to sit in the so-called "Pan-American" Federation of Labor convention, cannot entirely stifle the cry of the oppressed Latin-American workers oppressed not only by their own capitalists, but literally crushed by the imperialism of Wall Strett, and Wash-

The representative of Guatemala has introduced four resolutions which gave the labor lieutenants of American imperialism a few uncomfortable minutes while being read. They will go the same path to innocuous desuetude as did the protest against the occupation of Haiti by American troops passed thru the last Pan-American convention, as long as Gompers and Morones rules.

Free Speech for Labor.

The first resolution is one demandng that the United States not recognize any government of the Central-American republics, unless the workers in such republic are allowed free speech, free press and the right to organize and to strike.

The second resolution asks that the Pan-American Federation of Labor should send mixed groups of organizers, with those from the A. F. of L. to go together with native organizers, into every Central-American country to organize the workers there. Labor Laws Violated.

The third resolution asks that the Pan-American Federation agitate and spread publicity for the enforcement of the eight-hour law and other labor laws which are formally on the statutes of Central-American countries but which are not enforced.

The fourth resolution of Guatemala asks that the Pan-American Federation of Labor demand that the execution of radicals and horrible tortures in prison of labor organizers be abolished in all Central-American republics. The resolution tells of radicals whose offense was merely that of organizing workers, being hung up by the thumbs in Guatemala.

Communist Party Driven Underground. The Communist Party of Central America was formed in Guatemala in the summer of 1923, out of the group called "La Unificacion Obrera Socialista," and still is compelled to work ilowing to the terrible persecu tion by the satraps of American im-

The representatives of Panama have introduced a protest against the discrimination not only permitted but advocated by Gompers against the Latin-American workers in the Panama

s land absolutely stolen by armed force from Colombia. It was a boast of President Roosevelt that he took the land without legal right by engineering a fake revolution and then sending in marines to "restore order" and seize the territory and never give it back.

Advocates Race Discrimination. Gompers, in a report made in March, has the gall to term these natives of the canal zone "aliens" and he goes on to recommend that they be discriminated against, "all-American" workers to be hired for all good jobs, and if hired at all, these "aliens' should be paid from 25 to 35 per cent less than the "citizens of the United States" working at the same jobs. It is this discrimination at which the Panama resolution is aimed.

Sacco and Vanzetti Are Innocent!

1113 W. Washington Blvd.

The evidence adduced in the latest effort of the Sacco-Vanzetti defense to secure a new trial for these worker victims sheds a great flood of light on the mental processes of capitalism's judges.

The defense brings an affidavit of an eyewitness of the payroll murder for which Sacco and Vanzetti have been sentenced to death-one Roy E. Gould who was within ten feet of the actual murderers and whose overcoat was pierced by one of their bullets. Gould says that Sacco was not one of the robbers. He had a good view of both of them and says that Sacco does not even resemble them slightly, altho the prosecution says he is the man who fired the fatal shot.

What does the noble judge say to this unequivocal exoneration of the defendants?

Simply that they were convicted on CIRCUM-STANTIAL evidence and not on that of eyewit- other low cost countries is proof that American nesses and therefore the testimony of Gould is workers are forced to compete with lower paid without value in support of a motion for a new labor in a much more vicious manner than if untrial. When a union arouses this kind of a reaction in the ranks of the bosses it is no far-fetched conclusion to say that it is no longer a real union but a part of the organization of the employers, because the interests of unions and bosses are fundamentally opposed. Otherwise the class struggle is a figment of the imagination and unions, or any other form of working class organization, is unnecessary.

We are inclined to believe that many members of the International Ladies' Garment Workers in Cleveland will tell an entirely different story of the conditions there if the honeymooning of the bosses and union officials has not resulted in destroying completely the militancy of the members without which a union becomes a mere dues collecting and class-collaboration agency-glorifying officialdom at one meeeting and the bosses at the

The Cotton Industry and Asia

There is a crisis in the European cotton industry and the unstable condition of the entire textile industry in the United States is a matter of record.

The above figures show the reason and show also that in a short space of time the Asiatic cotton industry is bound to drive its western competitors to the wall.

The figures show further the tremendously rich field for the investment of western capital in low wage enterprises in Asia and the reason underlying the bitter rivalry of the western capitalist powers for the power to exploit these peoples.

Immigration laws may fool the workers of this country into believing for a time that the bosses want to keep up their living standards. But the constant flow of American capital to China and

But what interests us in this policies, as Cleveland garment bosses are doing, it instance is the comparison. The junior section of the Y. W. L. in Detroit has been organized for two months and now has one hundred members, every one of whom will participate in this program. From the very start the juniors have been marked for their activity. They contribut ed to the success of the seventh anniversary celebration in Detroit. They have made meetings of both the party and the league more enthusiastic by their singing. The only fight in Detroit against American educational week was waged by the juniors. This program, their latest effort, is a glorious demonstration of what the freed energies of childhood can achieve.

RAILROAD LABOR BOARD DECISION ROBS ENGINEERS AND FIREMEN OF CONCESSIONS WON IN BITTER FIGHTS

By LELAND OLDS. (Federated Press Industrial Editor)

Long standing rules won by engineers and firemen on western railroads thru years of organized efforts have been eliminated in a railroad labor board decision rushed thru in face of a strike vote on the Southern Pacific. The board grants the men a compensating 5 per cent increase in rates of pay. The carriers themselves were willing to grant this to secure abolition of working conditions which they felt expensive. Refused Proposed Changes.

The controversy began in January when the two brotherhoods asked vestern carriers for the wage increase granted by the New York Central.

SALZMAN TOUR FINE RESPONSE

Brings the Y. W. L. Program to Mining Section

Preparations are being made for a nass meeting for Salzman in Christopher, Ill., on December 8 and 9. The meeting will be held at the French Club, near Eastman, Local members of the United Mine Workers of America are making preparations for Salzman to speak before the local inion of the U. M. W. of A.

This meeting is only one of the seres being arranged by the Young Workers League thruout the entire Southern Illinois territory in its cost mining campaign. The Young Workers League is rallying the young miners on the basis of specific demands and slogans such as:

No contract shall be drawn up by the union containing discriminating clauses against the young miners, such as boys' wages clauses,

No initiation fee for miners under 21 years of age.

The enforcement of the objective of the union which calls for the abolition of all employment for children under 16 years of age.

Abolition of all employment for the youth in dangerous occupation n and around the mine.

Immediate establishment of day and night school under the supervision and control of the miners themselves.

The six hour day and five day week.

Utilizing these demands as a basis of rallying the young miners around our organization to lead them in strukgle and develop these into broader political channels the league will arous the young miners of Illinois and organize them into the Young Worker's League, the only organization capable of representing the interests of the American young workers both on the political and economic field.

Position and Prospects of Soviet Industry

(A speech by P. Bogdanov, chairman U. S. S. R. Supreme Economic Council, delivered end of August.)

HE industries of the U.S.S.R. have long since passed thru the period when the fear could be entertained that some economic disturbances, some particular shortcoming in one direction or another could bring about their collapse, partially or as a whole. So firm indeed is the foothold which has been gained, that it has become impossible to speak of the possibility of any sort of catastrophe. The sales crisis of a year ago proved a crucial test, which showed that, in a crisis, Soviet industry could exert a decisive-influence by appropriate use of the resources which were acquired during the previous period of accumulation of working capital.

Our light industry has obtained an increasingly tenacious command of the market in proportion to the extent that it has adopted a correct policy for the reduction of prices. Depression exists now only in the realm of heavy industry, but even here the day is long since past when we were obliged to tremble at the threat of ruin in the Donetz coal fields, or the oil fields. Now all that we have to consider is simply the adoption of proper plans and methods whereby the results secured can be strengthened and lished in a very invorable position.

The Metal Industry.

As regards the metallurgical industry, the question of increasing sales s a matter of considerable importance While our light industry has advanced to 40 per cent of the prewar level, while the textile industry, in accordance with the plan of development adopted by the supreme economical council, is reaching a figure of 50 to 60 per cent of pre-war production of cotton fabrics, the metal industry has remained backward, and still shows less than 20 per cent of the pre-war output.

The disproportion in industry is due to the high cost of our metal The enlargement of the metallurgical market is bound up with the problem, of price reduction. The calculation worked out by the special Dzherzhinsky committee announces that a price of 80 to 90 kopeks per pood of metal should be adonted. This is a big reduction in comparison with prevailing prices, and with its adoption we can expect that there will be a great move forward in the sale of metal. While he general market does not consume more than 20 per cent of the metal output, leaving all the rest to transport and building industry-vet experience shows that the demands of he peasantry for articles of agriculcural and domestic utility are very large. Every instance of cheapening metal should mean a larger metal market, which in turn should permit the starting of extra blast furnaces which tion of the price for metal. The islanders call it Mikura Jima, or the Treasure Island, and the island is worthy of its name. You can walk from one end of the island to the other in less than one hour: about four miles in diameter, it is situated at the farthest south of the Izu, the seven island group, which belongs to the jurisdiction of the province of Tokyo.

When modern industry invaded Treasure Island, the islanders were able to respond to its call without destroying primitive Communism and thereby enjoying its beauty and happiness from the vague past to this era of capitalistic anarchy which prevails thruout the civilized nations. About 600 years ago, they were told that they have one more treasure in addition to fish, fruits, and roots of plants. The Mikura boxwood with plenty moisture and good athletic exercise against tropical tempest, has fine grain for comb material, from which Japanese girls contrive hair ornaments.

The people do not have to pay taxes to the village community. Instead. they receive what they need and today each family of the island population would own well over 20,000 yen if the properties of the boxwood industry were divided among the villag-

THE SOVIET TRADE UNIONS AT THE SIXTH ALL-RUSSIAN TRADE UNION CONGRESS

The report made by Comrade Dogadov, secretary of the All-Russian Central Council of Trade Unions, at the Sixth Trade Union Congress on November 12. gives the following picture of the present status and work of the trade unions of the U.S.S.R.

The first notable thing is the increase of the trade union membership. Two years ago, at the time of the Fifth Congress, the All-Russian Central Council of Trade Unions had an affiliated membership of 4,547,000; now at the Sixth Congress, the membership has reached 6,060,000. This membership comprises 62 per cent of manual workers and 38 per cent of brain and office workers. The per cent of women members has decreased since the Fifth Congress from 28 to 24 per cent, the number of young workers has been lowered from 3.7 per cent to 3.1 per cent. However, this was not due to an actual decrease of women and young members, but to the greater rate of increase of male members. There are only 391,000 workers who are not members of the trade unions, thus making up 8 per cent of unorganized workers in Soviet Russia. The unorganized belong chiefly to trades in which the work is largely seasonal.

There are 35,000 shop committees thruout the U. S. S. R. The shop and local committees have 120,000 elected members, of whom about 50,000 are free to devote their entire time to trade union activities.

The financial situation of the trade unions has greatly improved since the Ffth Congress. Beginning with October 1, 1924, the Ail-Russian Central Council of Trade Unions has been managing its affairs without deficit. While during the Fifth Congress only 11 out of the 23 Central Committees had a stable financial basis, now practically all of them, with the exception of two or three balance their budget without a deficit, quite substantial savings.

wile a number of them have As regards wages, two periods have been noted since the Fifth Congress. The first lasting up to the beginning of 1923, was a period of an intensive growth of wages. The second period which is still continuing, was a period of retarded growth of wages. On the whole, wages thruout industry have increased since the Fifth Congress by an average of 63 per cent. Taking individual industries, we now have the following wage level: 56.6 per cent of prewar in the metal industry, 91.7 per cent in the textiles, 52.2 per cent in mining, 89.2 per cent in the chemical industry; the average wages thruout the U. S. S. R. are equal to 75 per cent of the pre-war wages.

twice in a year-spring and fall. The | girls above 15 years of age are bound | only have to work 40 days in a year. Do you think if you were told to play, study or do whatever you prefer thruout the year, except for 40 days, that this would be bad? The boys in the Treasure Island engage in fishing industry only. This is a custom adopted from the remote past, and 40 days of fishing season in the summer time, is more than enough to supply the whole population of the land. That is so because they do not have any people called capitalists who swallow more than they can produce.

By Nishimura Yoshio

The boxwood industry being comparatively new to the island, girls are entrusted to take care of the forest health service—picking off undesirable plants which may happen to grow by the boxwood. The wood is cut once in year.

Youth has all it's freedom of ronance in the Treasure Island. When ropical night steals in and spreads ender shadows over the field, you will find the triumph of youth in the home where good-natured parents smile at the paper screen which keeps all privacy beyond.

When the group of youths head their fishing boat toward the volcanic island in the setting sun, the brave cean riders with immense joy, sing: One glance from rolling waves, You look like devil shaped:

Oh, the Mikura! The Treasure Island. Your real treasure is love."

Also the girls, spining cotton in the warm rainy day with the primitive tools, which sounds like B-e-e-e sings: "Who is knocking?

Lore and the Comintern By Moissaye J. Olgin

FIRST ARTICLE. Against Comrade Lore-The Serrati Case-Serrati and Paul Levi.

In the theses of the Comintern on of the Communist Party in America there is contained the following para-

"The Executive Committee of the Communist International calls the attention of the C. E. C. also to the dangerous tendencies signalized by the articles of Comrade Lore and some of his followers who, in their estimation of the problems of the Communist International, in their estimation of the labor government of England and of the events in Germany, are manifesting remnants of views of the Two-and-a-Half International. The C. E. C. must carry on an ideological campaign against such a tendency."

As one of those present at the discussions of the Executive Committee of the C. I. on the American question the writer deems it his duty to give an account of the circumstances wherein the decision concerning Comrade Lore was adopted and of the meaning of that decision.

At the meetings of the E. C. C. I where the American problem was discussed, there were three delegates from the U.S. representing three different points of view on the American situation. The members of the Executive Committee also held varying shades of opinion concerning the American party. But while the discussion was extended and very animated, while the clash of tendencies was at times quite sharp, especially among the American delegates, there was unnanimity in the attitude to wards the tendency which makes it self manifest in the writings of Comrade Lore. After more than three weeks' discussion, the American commission appointed by the Executive Committee of the Communist International adopted as a general basis for its decisions the memorandum on the American situation and the outline of the party's activities in the future, which were presented by Comrade Foster. (There was only one section in Comrade Foster's memorandum with which the commission disagreed).

Paragraph 18 of Comrade Foster's outline read:

"The right wing and opportunist tendencies of the Lore-Volkszeitung group shall be censured and corrected by the Comintern."

One of the other two delegates prac tically withdrew his own memoran dum in favor of Comrade Foster's (with the above exception), and as to the third delegate who was fundamentally opposed to Comrade Foster's memorandum and outline of activities he was pleased by the paragraph which proposed the censuring of Com-

After mature deliberation, the American commission framed, and the Executive Committee of the Communist International adopted, a policy and a plan of work for our party. The theses on the American situation were adopted by the Executive Committee unanimously. The censuring of Comrade Lore and the declaration of the necessity to carry on an ideological campaign against the tendency represented by Comrade Lore is, thus, a unanimous decision of the Executive Committee of the Communist International. The decision was adopted before the Fifth Congress of the Communist International, but having been present at the sessions of the congress and believing I understood the spirit of the overwhelming majority of the congress delegates, the writer is quite certain that, as far as Comrade Lore is concerned, the congress the highest governing body of the Communist International, would have fully agreed with the Executive Committee.

What, then, were the points of ac cusation against Comrade Lore? Let it be understood from the very start that the E. C. C. I. did not under es-

b. In Comrade Lore's support of Paul Levi against the Comintern:

c. In Comrade Lore's siding with what he understood to be the Trotsky policy against the majority of the Russian Communist Party in the discussion of last year;

d. In Comrade Lore's attitude towards the German revolution in the fall of 1923;

e. In Comrade Lore's estimation of what the Communist International was and what, in his opinion, it should not have been in the first five years of its existence.

Communist International took the position that if the same general tend- cupied in the party as leader and ediency manifests itself in the writings tor of the Avanti. of the same comrade in the course of four or more years under varying circumstances, if the comrade only seems to be waiting for an opportunity to express his opinion in opposition to the stand of the Communist International and if he persists in his opinions, never repudiating what he had erroneously defended before, then this comrade must certainly be termed a centrist. The Executive Committee, further maintains that the writings of a comrade form a good basis for judging his basic position. "Why should we not judge on the basis of articles, quotations and resolutions?"

Comrade Zinoviev said in his concluding speech at the Fifth Congress. 'Theses, quotations and articles exist just for the purpose that on their basis -of course, not on this alone-we may judge." As nearly everyone of the comrades in the Executive Committee reads German fluently, it was possible for the Executive Committee o get first-hand information on the nature of Comrade Lore's writings and on the general character of the Volkszeitung, so that the decision cannot be attributed to "lack of information" on the part of Moscow, as is often

In order that those American comrades who do not remember the cases of Serrati, Paul Levi, etc., may clearly understood the Lore issue, it will be well to recall those startling moments in the history of our Communist International.

The keynote to Comrade Lore's attitude was struck as early as September 29, 1920, in a Volkszeitung editorial entitled: "Let us not allow nonessentials to make us forget the basic problem." In this article which is directed against Hillquit, Comrade Lore writes:

"We also think (like Hillquit) that Comrade Zinoviev should here and there be more careful (grossere Diskretion ausuben) especially in his instructions to foreign sister parties. And we also agree with Hillquit that it does not belong to the prime necessities to designate everyone who differ from us in opinions as a traitor."

The international and the Italian sit uation must be remembered as the back ground of the Serrati crisis. The world in general was full of explosives The revolutionary tide was running high all over Europe. The Communist International had just come into existence as a leader of the world revolutionary movement. The Second Congress was practically the first real international congress of Communist Parties. The Second Congress had to draw not only ideological but also organizational lines between Communists and reformists. Only with the adoption of the 21 points could the revolutionary wing of the working class be organized as Communist parties.

The urgent historic necessity of Communist leadership became glaringly evident with the treason of the Italan reformists in the September, 1920. revolutionary movement of the Italian workers. > The Communist International was Levorno," quotes the above letter of the Executive Committee, then proceeds:

"In this last letter to the Italian party, the Executive Committee of the Third International demands, as we see, the expulsion also of Serrati who played a leading role at the Second Congress of the Third International. If the Executive Committee was right in declaring that collaboration with members affiliated to the Amsterdam Trades Union Intertaional-which resolutely condemned the Bolsheviki at its London congress in September-was impossible; if it was perfectly justified in demanding the expulsion of Turati and D'Aragona, it put itself into the wrong by demanding the expulsion of Serrati. Serrati may be a hothead and a bonehead, but nobody can dispute the fact that he is an honest revolutionary. Just as little can be disputed that he did enormous things for the labor movement. By throwing Serrati into one heap with Turati and Co. . . . one has injured the revolutionary movement needlessly and, without ground."

Comrade Lore thus declared that the C. I. was wrong, that Serrati was right and that his merits in the revolutionary movement were his justification.

It may not be out of place to recall what Lenin had to say about Serrati. In an article, "False Speeches on Freedom," published in the "Communist International," December, 1920, he wrote: "Serrati, Baratono, Zanaroni, Bacci, Jaccomo, have already proven with absolute clearness and beyond any dispute that they are fundamently wrong, that their political line (refusing to part ways with the reformists. M. J. O.) is basically wrong." "In such circumstances and at such a moment the (Italian) party will become a hundred times stronger, not weaker, if the mensheviki will leave

The Discussion on Party Tasks

VARIOUS FORMS OF THE UNITED FRONT our farmer-labor party tactic shows she is far more mild and innocuous that we initiated it only on the than you think we are. We know that

By EARL R. BROWDER.

What is the united front? Strange and weird ideas are finding expression on this subject, and they do not all come from the ignorant and uninform ed. For example, consider this gem from the thesis offered to the party by the minority of the C. E. C.:

"If we abandon the united front policy politically by abandoning the slogan 'For a Class Farmer-Labor

What does this mean? It means that our minority is revising the conthought, and the Comintern said, that the "farmer-labor party" slogan was one phase of the united front tactic; the minority says No!, the united front slogan is but a phase of the farmer-labor party. It would be easy to understand the statement if it said, "If we abandon the united front policy then we must abandon the farmerlabor slogan." That is a truism. But to say that by dropping one passing phase of the united front campaign we thereby abandon the united front idea itself, is to betray a fundamental misconception of the united front. There is infinite variety in the application of the united front; it is not, most certainly, confined in the straight-jacket of farmer-laborism. How is the United Front Applied Elsewhere?

Perhaps we have something to learn about the united front from other countries. What are the tactics of Communists in other countries? Do Communists everywhere stand for farmer-labor parties?

Only to ask the question is to expose the absurdity of it. Nowhere in the world do Communists make the united front mean "labor party" and nothing else. And only where the gle. Communists are faced with established labor parties has the united front any connection at all with the term of "labor party." But the united front tactic in Germany, in France, and in Europe generally, seems to be quite effective without this "magic" slogan. They do not seem to miss the "labor party" in Germany.

How is the united front tactic applied?
