PEACE AND PROFITS

Was the atom split for J.P. Morgan?

By Tabitha Petran

N atom-smashing cyclotron costs you anywhere from $700,000 to $900,000, depending on size. For a reactor to produce atomic power you pay about $50,000,000; for a complete atomic energy plant, around $500,000,000.

plant, around $500,000,000. You pay the bills out of taxes because you have been led to believe that "atomic energy is publicly controlled." Actually it is controlled by big business. This is the story of how J. P. Morgan & Co. and other finan-cial combines control our split atom from ore mines through processing, production, research and development to policy-making at the national and international levels.

National policy

On Aug. 7, 1945, when headlines heralded the dawn of the atomic age, Henry Stimson (then Sccretary of War) named eight Americans to chart peaceful and military development and control of atomic energy.

trol of atomic energy.
MORGANS HERE ...: Of the eight members of the committee charged with this task, three were, and two later became, connected with the house of Morgan. They were:

Stimson himself: his law firm is attorney for Morgan's big utility outfit, Commonwealth & Southern.
Alternate chairman George Harrison: then president, later board chairman, of Morgan's New York Life Insurance Co.; director of Morgan's First National Bank.
James F. Byrnes, then Secretary of State: he left the government in 1947 to become a director of the Newmont Mining Co., big Morgan holding and exploration company in non-ferrous metals mining.
Ralph Bard, then Under Secretary of the Navy: he later became a director of the Chicago Corp., linked to the later became a director of the Chicago Corp., linked to the Morgan financial group and with interests in Middle State Utilities

5. Dr. James B. Conant, president of Harvard University,

5. Dr. James B. Conant, president of Harvard University, whose Board of Trustees is dominated by Morgan. The other members were Dr. Karl T. Compton, president of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, whose board is domi-nated by the DuPonts; then Assistant Secretary of State William Clayton; and Dr. Vannevar Bush, past president of the Carnegie Institution of Washington. Out of this committee, and others, came the general lines of the US atomic energy program. The burge investments re-

Out of this committee, and others, came the general lines of the U.S. atomic energy program. The huge investments re-quired for atomic installations, initial experiment and develop-ment were temporarily unprofitable. Wanting no part of them, big business accepted government ownership for which there was then great popular demand: the public thus footed the bill, while operation and management was delegated to private inductor industry.

International policy

The U.S. "public ownership" program at home was parallelled in the international field by the Baruch Plan. Propagandized as "the most generous gesture ever made by any nation," it was in fact—as is now widely recog-nized—a plan not to regulate military uses of atomic energy but to suppress its international development for social use.

MORGANS THERE ... : The plan was based on the Lilienthal Re-port, written by David Lilien-thal, two top officials of Morgan companies, the president of a Morgan-Rockefeller firm, and a physicist.

Bernard Baruch, head of the Bernard Baruch, head of the U.S.' UN Commission on Atomic Energy which put his plan in final shape, is a longitime asso-ciate of Secretary Byrnes and began his career as a stock mar-ket operator for Morgan-Guggenheim copper deals. His brother, Herman, was long a director of the Morgan-dominated Texas Gulf Sulphur Co. Baruch chose as his co-workers: 1. Fred Searls Jr., president of Morgan's Newmont Min-ing Co.

ing Co. 2. Herbert Bayard Swope, newspaper and public relations man. Swope's brother, Gerard, has been associated with Mor-gan since 1895, was president from 1922 to 1939 of Morgan's

General Electric Co.
3. John Milton Hancock, partner in Lehman Bros. investment banking firm.
4. Ferdinand Eberstadt, one-time Dillon Read partner, now operating the only investment trust which specializes in memicals.

Baruch was succeeded as U.S. representative at the UN by Frederick Osborn, a member of the Dodge copper family, whose firm, Phelps Dodge, is controlled by Morgan.

Atomic Energy Commission

In October, 1946, the President named the five-man AEC to administer atomic energy for the government. In addition to Lilienthal, members were a scientist, a broker, a former partner of Kuhn Loeb (which with the Rockefellers and Mellons controls (Continued on Page 3)

NATIONAL cents the progressive newsweekly

Vol. 2, No. 10

NEW YORK, N. Y., DECEMBER 19, 1949

Chief Justice Vinson Freedom or property — the Court must decide (SEE PAGE 3)

The Farm Bureau -JERSEY JUSTICE an immoral story PAGE 5 Trenton 6 judge bars Rogge, UN and Jerusalem bans evidence -who wants what

PAGE 9

PAGE 4

ALSO IN THIS ISSUE-

Page	Page	. Page
Books: J. T. McManus 11 Underfed America 8	Letters to the editor 2 Jennings Perry 4	Progressive on march
Coeur d'Alene story 6	Philippines: K. Goshal 10	Roundup of week's news 4-10
Dollar stretcher11	Chinatown and China12	Washington: J. B. Stone. 3

SUBSCRIPTION RATES: U.S. and possessions, Canada, Latin Amer-ica, Philippine Islands, $2 a year. All other countries, $3 a year.

First class and air mail rates on

First class and air mail rates on request. Single coples 5c. Entered as second class matter Nov. 23, 1948, at the Post Office at New York, N. Y., under the Act of March 3, 1879.

James Aronson Executive Editor F

Liberties in India

<section-header><section-header><section-header><text><text><text>

Guptevara Sinha Kumar Goshal writes: Violation of hieroty a passing phase but has been average of the second states of the second states of the second states of hieroty and the permanent law of the land. I refer Mr. Sinha to Article 13, clauses 2, 3, 4 and 5; Article 15; Article 61, clause 1; Article 14; Article 61, clause 1; Article 16; Article 7, R. Das in his presidentia dustices 8 at the Clvil Libertles Con-ference in July, 1949, Mr. Sinhar and abasive description of an un-manent particle articles of the second and abasive description of a mu-

Preaching's not enough MOXVILLE, TENN. If Congress would stop sending billions to Europe for another blood billions to Europe for another bloo

Feinberg fight goes on

<section-header><section-header><section-header><text>

Don't get squeezed

SAPETY HARBOR, FLA. Readers of the Dollar Stretcher may be interested to hear the low-down on orange juice from headquarters. The Mutual Citrus Assn., which now controls the bulk of the product The Mutual Citrus Assn., which now controls the bulk of the product in Florida, has set a price on orange juice at the cannery of $2.25 for twelve tall cans. This should make the price to the consumer, allowing for freight and the usual mark-up, about 280 per can. Grapefruit is priced at $2.60, but since the prod-uct could not be moved at a higher price than orange juice (seen if it costs more — curious system, isn't it?), expect a price of 29c with the four cents differential added to the orange juice, or 32.5c. Readers of the GUARDIAN will render a real public service by re-fundated for their citrus juices. Re-se are top retail prices. Bernard Raymon member the Live it down yet?

CARRETT PARK, MD. Please stop sending the GUAR-DIAN to me and please remove my name from your mailing list. I read Westbrook Pegler and listen to Ful-ton Lewis every day to try to live down the fact that I once (was it three times?) woted for F. D. R. Alfred K. Mitchell

Watch your pants!

Watch your passes. CHICAGO, HL. People accepted double-breasted without vest with such good without vest with such good we were during to est i single-breasted suits without vests. Well, we were during unly one-past suits-and now no vests. Maybe the next without seats-what a convenience that will be for the exploiters. K. M. Sens all it would be a masterpiece of im-modesty. If we an-swered them all, it would take a good part of a busy day.

Minnesota indicator

MADISON, MINN. The fact that eight out of nine Minnesota congressmen y o t e d

Report to readers

By James Aronson

CHRISTMAS is upon us and there's a lot of singing going on. Mind if we do a little caroling ourselves? About you?

A day doesn't go by but the mail brings in a couple of dozen fan letters from readers getting the paper for the first time; from old readers saying they just have to tell us again (who's blushing?) what a fine job we're doing. "Best gosh darn paper America ever had," says one. "Makes me feel clean after a week's community recreation centers, a good farm program and similar things, Ed Smogard Jr.

Canadian observer

ELGIN, MANITOBA A copy of your paper has fallen into my hands much to my delight. The old American Guardian was a

The old American Guardian was a favorite. Judging from appearance, both America and Canada have gone looney. The Atlantic Pact is a fool's pact born of greed, ignorance, envy. No man with a normal knowl-edge of history could honestly put his name to such a gangster agree-ment. Authority intoxicates, and Artuman is laboring under a seri-ous jag. G. B. Robinson .

Plateau of logic

Plateau of logic SARATOCA SPRINGS, N. Y. Thad a wonderful mother, a kind father and the usual Christian rural home background, typically Ameri-can. But at 50 years of age. I am repeting Christianity and all its or-panized manifestations in favor of humanism. The times of course are hounce such a stand, but in direct human minds, as more and more people achieve to such a plateau of on earth, good will universal peace on earth, good will to mene be casier to have and to hold. D. R.

Not so New Yorkish SEATTLE, WASH. The GUARDIAN is doing an ex-cellent job. I feel that it has a Want to be a year-round agent ?

Published weekly by Weekly Guardian Associates, Inc., 17 Murray St., New York 7, N. Y. Telephone WOrth 4-1750.

Cedric Belfrage Editor

John T. McManus General Manager

Bendiner, Fritz Silber, Barney Conal (Associate Editors), Robert Joyce Leon Summit, Regina S. Oshlag (business and circulation); Tabitha nee Emery, Robert E. Light, Egon Pohoryles, Adele Kravitz, Dorota STAFF: Elmer Bendiner, I (Art Editor), Leon Summ Petran, Lawr R. Mishkind.

A. MISHKING. CORRESPONDENTS: John B. Stone (Washington), Rod Holmgren (Chicago), Gene Richards (Los Angeles), Gordon Schaffer, Konni Zilliacus (London), Stanley Karnow (Paris), Emil Carlebach (Frankfurt), George Wheeler (Prague), Ralph Parker (Moscow), Peter Townsend (Shanghai), Max Werner (military), Richard A. Yaffe (roving), Ralph Peterson (books).

178

Vol. 2-No. 10

communism, absolutism, and totali-tarianism in an article in the Oct. 31 GUARDIAN. Those who have read Lenin at all know how far socialism is from absolutism and why. If totalitarianism were proved against the socialist government of Russia, the question would have to be asked: Totalitarianism for whom? Totalitarianism for the parasites of Germany against the workers was very bad. But if the exploited of Germany had won the Party fight against the domination of the world by . . . capitalism, colonialism, catholicism and com-munism. The only one which we are out to exterminate is colonialism. Of the other three we are tolerant as long as they are tolerent. . . ." Ed. as Ed.

DECEMBER 19, 1949

On the record

On the record DAVENPORT, IOWA We are striving to win the low first district next year. The present congressman, Tom Martin, is very unpopular. He should be very easy to defeat if we have the latest ammunition, that is, whether this fellow opposed the Brannan farm plan in Congress. It seems to me your staff could give us this in your columns — the record of all congressmen on the Brannan plan. Michael Kennedy

A reminder

CEDAR RAPIDS, IOWA I should like to comment on peo-ple who use the term "We shall not be moved." I'd like to remind these people that they can be moved by God Almighty whether they think so or not. Virginia Heerem

The whole wide world

The whole where works NEW YORK, N. Y. The pictures of Italian peasants seising lands (GUARDIAM, Dec. 42) were among the most dramatic and newsworthy jobs done by any photographer in years, but no other paper seems to have used them. Were they taken by a GUARDIAN photographer? If so, congratula-tions.

Maria Rizzo

They were Wide World Agency letures — avaitable to the wide world. Ed.

You said it!

You said it! JOPLN, MO. This is to report that the town that produced one of the country's top sub-getters for the GUARDIAN, Encet Sadler, has now blossomed forth with a GUARDIAN Readers' Club to get more readers and to support the Progressive Party. We suggest that other GUARDIAN Readers do the same. Organized effort can produce more than the single-handed type. Mrs. Dorothy Cowen against the arms program under the Atlantic Pact should be a pretty clear indication that the people are getting fed up with spending bil-lions upon billions of dollars in support of the tottering reactionary regimes of Europe and that the congressment know it.

WHICH Chinese?

SAN ANTONIO, TEX. The San Antonio Evening News ran this headline a few days age:

congressmen know it. Apparently only Judd in the House along with Humphreys and Thye in the Senate are supporting the stupendous arms program through which big business and the militarists milk the public and which makes Fair Deal promises impossible of fulfilment. It gets to me that in the public which makes Fair Deal promises impossible of fulfiliment. It seems to me that we should have learned our lesson in China. It won't work to try to force cor-ruption and reaction down the throats of poverty-stricken people abroad. Think what the $5,000,-000,000 we wasted on Chiang Eal-shek could have done here in this country in terms of Missouri Valley development, aids to education, lightness and a freshness in its treatment of serious problems that is all the more remarkable in that it is not attempted on the basis of semi-nude women, comics, sports, etc. This applies to its appearance as well as its writing.

All things considered, the GUAR-DIAN is reasonably successful in coping with the provincialism al-most inherent in a New York-published progreasive paper. It would be well for the editors to remember Leningrad and Shanghal. They are no longer the centers of their re-spective countries. With the excep-tion of the military analogy, the maturing of the democratic process in America will very likely find New York in a similar position. William J. Cor

. Totalitarianism

CHICO, CALIF. There was confusing reference to victory in 1933, the big parasites would have fied the country to en-joy their filthy lucre and maybe to plot counter-revolution. The para-sites left in Germany would join the workers and become useful members of society, a classiess so-ciety of equals. It would be stilly to use the word totalitarianism to describe a society in which nobody is robbed and exploited and sup-pressed. is rob pressed. The political party that has led the workers of Russia and of China to victory knew where they were going and how to get there, and the leading party of the new democ-racies in eastern Europe has the same clear ideas. Contrast this with the confusion and unhappiness of Marshall Plan countries in westorn Europe. Isabel Martin

The writer apparently refers to the Philadelphia speech of Henry A. Wallace, reprinted in the GUAR-DIAN of Oct. 31. What Mr. Wallace said was: "We of the Progressive

Chinese Now Fleeing Chengtu BY ASSOCIATED FRESS The Chinese Nationalist rnment appeared Monday uiling out of Chengiu—its

And here we thought the China were about to take Chengta d stead of fleeing it. Harry Kor -10-

.

Tyranny exposed COLUMBUS, OHIO About the present trend toward negation of our civil rights by the Foley Square affair, Ghandi ence aid:

said: "Time runs always in favor of the sufferer (oppressed) for the simple reason that tyranny becomes more and more exposed to it as it is continued." Anna Botsford Hartman

This year we're sending out another letter This year we're sending out another letter which most of you will find in your mailbox about the same time that this issue reaches you. Not to 7,500 readers, but to 75,000—all that the budget will bear right now. Those figures are their own testimonial. The letter, signed by John T. McManus for the Editors and Staff, is putting a proposition up to you. It says that you must know dozens for exception provides hun-

the Editors and Staff, is putting a proposition up to you. It says that you must know dozens of people in your neighborhood (perhaps hun-dreds) who feel the same way as you do about peace and progress: who will want to get the GUARDIAN and find out how many people are standing with them.

WELL, we're asking you to go out and see these people and sign them up as GUAR-DIAN readers. Unlike some tough assignments we've given you in the past, this one is a lot ensier—and will even be profitable to you. With the letter you will find a few simple, postage-paid subscription cards which will make it unnecessary Tor you to collect any money. We will bill all new subscribers. We have established a special discount sub-money. We will bill all new subscribers. We have established a special discount sub-scription rate of $1 a year, less than 2 cents a copy for the 52 issues. On each subscription you send us we will give you a 25% commis-sion. If you can't use the commission pass it on to some group that can. A few phone calls, a little buttonholing on the job a walk around to a friend's house

A few phone calls, a little buttonholing on the job, a walk around to a friend's house after supper—and you'll be surprised at the results you'll get. We'd like you thus to become a year-round agent for the GUARDIAN. Are you with us? A ten-fold response will put us pretty close to that goal of a million readers. If we get that million it will be the surest indicator that the Century of Progress will have a lot easier sledding in the second half. What we always say is the first 50 years are the hardiest. the hardest.

LET'S go back one Christmas. Last year, when we were barely two months old, we sent out a holiday letter to our readers—all 7,500 of themi—asking them to help us boost the circulation of the GUARDIAN. We got a wonderful response, a response that has kept up all through 1949. Our new friends have been just as enthusiastic as the winter soldiers of the first frost-bitten months. (Last week our circulation man came in waving an envelope with 166 subscriptions from one reader.)

ET'S go back one Christmas, Last year,

warmth of contact with our readers is in large measure responsible for our being able to do as good as a job as we have done. That goes for the whole staff.

X

Fundamental freedoms or property rights? It is time for the Supreme Court to decide

The law is the last result of hu-man wisdom acting upon human experience for the benefit of the public.

-Samuel Johnson

Laws arind the poor, and rich men rule the law. -Oliver Goldsmith S.

By John B. Stone GUARDIAN Staff Correspon

WASHINGTON EVERY Monday at neon the justices of the U. S. Supreme Court hand wn decisions interpreting the law of the land. How they decide sets the choice between liberalism and reaction. The court is now heading into a criti-cal decision period which will severely test the strength of its devotion to human rights as against propertied inter-

Among those waiting for its rulings are the Hollywood Ten, pilloried for "contempt" in refusing to discuss their pelitical beliefs before the House Un-American Activities Committee (see Civil Liberties); Communist Party Sec-retary Eugene Dennis, "contempt"; Dr. Edward Barsky and his co-defendants of the Joint Anti-Fascist Refugee Com-mittee, "contempt"; Heman Marion Sweatt, a Texas Negro who seeks an education in his state's for-whites-only education in his state's for-whites-only w school.

THE TRUMAN FOUR: The Supreme Court is men, and President Truman has appointed four of them. Harold H. has appointed four of them. Harold H. Burton's conservative Republican rec-ord has been consistently maintained in his opinions. Sherman Minton has shown signs of liberalism in the past but appears to be trying to overcome the reputation. Tom C. Clark has only that respect for free speech, equality and labor rights which is forced upon him. Chief Justice Vinson has voted steadily on the right. Thus, if Minton lives up to his mild-

Thus, if Minton lives up to his mild-ly liberal record, Truman's contribu-tion to this crucial court is three justices on the right and one on the mod-erate left. This may seem relatively unimportant, but a study of past de-cisions reveals several significant 5-4 splits. One liberal vote could have changed the pattern.

However, lest liberals lose heart, the record shows that the court does not function in a vacuum. Tom Clark's recent and sudden self-removal from the cent and sudden self-removal from the Dennis case, reversing his earlier indi-cation that he would participate, was one evidence. The mid-New Deal re-versal of the conservative trend after Fresident Roosevelt's famous court fight was another. Justices do read the papers do hear the monie if the voices papers, do hear the people if the voices are loud enough.

LIBERTY VS. ORDER: Those who know Truman best say he would not make an appointment deliberately to kill the New Deal. He probably wouldn't, consciously. But if eircum-stances forced him to choose between liberty and orderly 'dangerous" "dangerous" liberty and orderly rule by big business, most observers think he would pick the latter. That seems the most likely effect of his Supreme Court appointments. No fixed patterns can be extracted from a reading of court records. But there are definite visible trends and a clear indication that the court is close-clear indication that the court is closeinvolved with developing governly

FATHER TERMINIELLO Another Peekskill?

ment policies—sometimes by curbing the intent of Congress, often by setting a line which Congress will later follow.

The unmet issues

Required study for all who are inter-ested in civil rights should be this year's pamphlet by the American Civil Liberties Union, The Supreme Court and Civit Liberties. The report by Os-mond K. Fraenkel shows the following: • The court made a significant de-parture from precedent in its 1948 de-cision holding restrictive housing covenants unenforceable, having previous-ly refused to face up to the issue.

Recent decisions reversing convic-tions because of improper detainment

• The court ruled in a series of 1948 cases that convictions based on un-reasonably long questioning could not stand

• In the 1941 Bridges and Los An-geles Times cases, the court held that punishment for contempt may violate constitutional rights.

REAL TESTS WAIT: But the ACLU study emphasizes that important issues have not yet been faced by the Supreme Court. There is, for example, the fun-damental constitutionality of the Taft-Hartley Act. There is also the matter of constitutional right of the Un-American Activities Committee to pry into personal beliefs. The cautious and piecemeal probing of side issues, with consequent eva-sion of basic questions, was illustrated vividly in the Terminiello case, where the court reversed the conviction of a fascist-type orator in what many lib-erals considered a notable free-speech victory victory

But the court failed to meet a vital But the court failed to meet a vhal test: can the law continue to hedge on fundamental rights of free speech as envisioned by Jefferson—the free mar-ket-place for the exchange of ideas— while permitting murderous libels to be uttered in deliberate efforts to incite violence acqueet minorities such as Neviolence against minorities such as Negrees and Jews?

IFS, ANDS, BUTS: Terminielle had advised his listeners to wipe out the Jews. Vielence resulted. Yet Justice William O. Deuglas' majority opinion eulogized free speech even while nar-rowing the scope in which it is permitted.

ted. Progressive lawyers (one spokesman is Samuel Rosenwein in the National Lawyers Guild Review) hold that Jef-ferson believed, with popular backing, that freedom of speech was the free-dom to exchange ideas, not including the freedom to libel minorities and in-cite violence against them. This concept was limited by Justice Holmes' "clear and present danger" doctrine, in which ideas could not be freely expressed if they constituted a real and imminent peril to the state. peril to the state.

That, say the progressive lawyers, was bad enough. But in the Termini-ello decision Douglas stretched the ban against a real exchange of ideas still further. He added the words: "... Un-less shown likely to produce a clear and present danger." This means that present danger" This means that Communists, Socialists and Progres-sives could not speak if their thoughts were "likely" to produce a danger.

A QUESTION DUCKED: The Douglas A QUESTION DUCKED: The Douglas opinion, Jackson's dissent and other opinions in the Terminiello case make fascinating reading. Despite all the basic issues raised, the court acted on none. It reversed the conviction be-cause the trial judge had given im-proper instructions to the jury. Said Justice Frankfurter: "For the first time in the course of 130 years . . . this court is today reversing a sentence . . . on the ground that was urged neither here nor below and that was explicitly dis-claimed on behalf of the petitioner" below and that was explicitly dis-claimed on behalf of the petitioner..." The nine men had been face to face with a mighty question; they had dodged it by breaking a legal prece-dent, thus freeing another racist to stir up another Peekskill.

LABOR: WHOSE RIGHTS? Nor has the court faced its bedrock responsi-bilities in labor cases. Richard F. Watt, an assistant law professor at the University of Chicago, made a study two years ago of the Taft-Hartley Act and its relation to Supreme Court decisions. His conclusions indicate that Truman's court may leave its imprint on labor legislation for years to come.

Registration for years to come. Watt's study, published by the Na-tional Lawyers Guild, found that the wartime spirit of cooperation between, industry and labor had vanished. It. found, too, that the courts had gained "an augmented power to review" which endangered all the labor decisions built up which the New Deal was alive up while the New Deal was alive. On the basis of 13 key decisions, Watt concluded that Justices Black, Doug-las, Reed and the late Frank Murphy were definitely pro-labor. The late Wi-ley Rutledge almost qualified. Frank-furter, Jackson, Burton and Vinson were definitely anti-labor. ley

CAPITAL ALWAYS WINS: "Finally," said Watt, "the court has yet to equate labor values with capital values. When the chips are down in a crucial con-test where the rights of labor conflict with important business-property in-terests, the rights of labor are likely to give way."

OLIVER WENDELL HOLMES The danger must be clean

Watt found that violence and law-breaking had become especially repre-hensible to the Supreme Court when committed by unions. He added: "The thought never seems to occur to the judicial mind that labor violence is a reaction to employer intransigence. And even if it should, such intransigence would never be viewed judicially as a justification..." Watt found that violence and law-

The big tests are coming for the Supreme Court. And the people of the U. S. have the right to ask: will the law be interpreted to safeguard fun-damental freedoms or the propertied few? It is time for the Supreme Court to decide.

National security

NATIONAL GUARDIAN . 3

ROUNDUP OF THE WEEK'S NEWS

THE NATION

Trenton Six judge bars Rogge, bans vital new defense evidence

COR 22 months six Negroes have been FOR 22 months six Negroes have been in jail in Trenton, N. J., for a mur-der they could not have committed. For much of that time they sat in the death house, until the Civil Rights Congress, representing three of the six, entered the case. O. John Rogge, former As-sistant U.S. Attorney General, and his associates, William L. Patterson of CRC and N. J. attorney Solomon Golat, fought for and won a reversal of the conviction. conviction.

For a year these three have steadily punched holes in the State's case, showing it to be a shoddy fabric of forced "confessions," suppressed evi-dence, disappearing witnesses, false ac-cusations—a prime example of a legal hynching lynching.

Last Friday CRC defense attorneys, holding a trump card, went into Mercer County Court to confront again Judge Charles P. Hutchinson, the man whose conduct of the original trial had been found grossly in error.

YOU CAN'T TELL THAT: With them was a surprise witness, a Trenton pri-vate detective hired originally by one of the court-appointed local defense lawyers who somehow never saw fit to use his damaging story. His testimony, had he been allowed to give it, would be this: The State's sole witness lied when she "identified" the Six.

With this evidence, backed by a wit-ness, on the record, the last prop of the state's flimsy case would have been gone. A demand for immediate release of the Six on bail would have been hard to deny.

The witness' story didn't get told. Judge Hutchinson on Friday listened impatiently to defense arguments and denied all motions but a minor one. Then he summarily removed CRC at-torneys from any further participation in the case, set Monday, Jan. 9, for the

64-senator guestion To smash the filibuster and pass legislation providing

To smash the filibuster and pass legislation providing free elections and fair employment in our Land of the Free, it takes 64 U.S. senators standing up to be counted. Where, oh where can they be? Sen. Kenneth Wherry, the minority leader, says the Republicans have 35 of them but will not name them. Hugh Scott, chairman of the GOP national committee, will not name them. Val Washington, head of the GOP civil liber-ties (Negro vote) section, will not name them.

Jennings Perry

start of a new trial, and reappointed as defense attorneys the same court-appointed lawyers who lost the case iginally.

"YOU'RE UNETHICAL": The judge read a long prepared statement. It was a defense of his own overruled conduct, a venomous attack on the Civil Rights Congress. Attorney Golat was threat-ened with possible contempt proceedings later.

Judge Hutchinson told the attorneys heir "conduct consistently violated the canon of ethics" because they de-nounced the original trial as "unfair, biased." He said: "You have deliberate-ly distorted facts to stir up unfavorable comment."

To him it was obvious that since the Trenton Six had no funds, the CRC at-torneys were "not employed by the de-fendants" but that "the real client is an organization." Funds raised for the defense, he charged, were "far in excess of the amount required," and were used for other purposes.

His final word: ". . . You must termi-nate the relationship."

FIGHTING ON: The Civil Rights Congress planned an immediate protest to

New Jersey Governor Alfred E. Driscoll, mapped a legal fight to protect the in-terests of the innocent Trenton Six.

In a statement to the GUARDIAN William L. Patterson charged that "this attempt to throw us out of the case was made also because we have exposed a vicious frame-up, which is a sample of the state of New Jersey's policy of enforcing jimcrow and segregation by ter-ror against the Negro people, even in the courts. We will not be intimidated."

the courts. We will not be intimidated." John Rogge had this to say: "We were on the verge today of uncovering in open court so much of the crude frame-up that there would have been nothing left of the case. Is that why on this day Judge Hutchinson retaliates by throwing us out of the case, thus depriving the men of their chosen counsel and simultaneously setting a trial date for three weeks hence?"

In their jail cells the three Negroes represented by CRC said they wanted to retain the CRC lawyers. Collis English, as spokesman for the three, said: "I won't trust a state-appointed lawyer."

POLITICS

THE 1950 SCRAMBLE The Republicans look for an argument

"IF you have to have an argument to get people to the polls we are going to start an argument," vowed Guy Gabrielson, chairman of the Republic can National Committee. Republican strategists, gathered in Chicago last week to plan their party's future, stub-bornly insisted that it had one.

bornly insisted that it had one. The recent defeats, some Republicans said, were due to their failure to learn their zoology lesson. It seemed impos-sible to go to the people with the claim that an elephant, however sprightly, could make a better donkey of itself than a donkey. Somehow the Republi-cans would have to find a disagree-ment with the Democrats and start an argument. argument.

HOW TO DO IT? Where to start was a touchy problem. They had to be for economy, yet they dared not attack vote-getting social security measures. They could grow cool to the Marshall Plan (now that its slip was showing) but not to the cold war or the Atlantic Pact or the arms program.

Republicans could fight the Brannan Plan; but what could they offer farmers? They could call the Demo-cratic bluff on civil rights; but how would they keep their congressional allies in the poll-tax states?

THE TIGHT ROPE: Republicans had tackled these problems before and failed. Last week the high command in Chicago hoped for success. At least two of the contradictions that plagued them were being solved. Big business (which has the money) and big labor (which has the workey) and big labor (which has the votes) were no longer far apart. Labor's new emphasis on pensions in-stead of wages made it possible for a versatile party to make friends with both. The Democrats had proved that. And the southern politicians, eager for alliance with the Republicans, were ready to compromise on the poll-tax to stave off more significant advances of civil rights.

MANY FENCES: But no hard and fast formula for victory could come out of Chicago. Each strategist had his own fence to mend.

Out of the farm belts and the hinter-land of industrial states came men like Sen. Kenneth Wherry (Neb.) and Sen. Styles Bridges (N. H.). Traditional Re-publicans, they speak for farmers and old-line conservatives whose distaste for the Democrate scene hoak to clivil the Democrats goes back to the Civil War. They have least to fear at the polls.

Representing big and little business are men like Sen. Robert A. Taft (Ohio) and Sen. Arthur Vandenberg (Mich.). They have grown canny in the cease-less scramble for votes. They need a program.

Lastly there are the "enlightened conservatives" like Sen. Wayne Morse (Ore.), Gov. Earl Warren. (Cal.), Sen. Irving Ives (N.Y.). Their leftward-moving electorate forces them to adopt every progressive catchword they can find. They have to be light on their feet, swift to sidestep, feint or duck. A program might weigh them down.

Each strategist recalled the people back home and in his mind saw work-ers and farmers, storekeepers, clerks and businessmen as so many ballots. Each category was tagged as "ours," "theirs," "doubtful" or "progressive."

Of all places!

(Continued on following page)

The 35 (out of 40) Republican senators are supposed to have pledged themselves in caucus to stand up and fight the filibuster "this time" for sure. But they will not say so out loud.

r takes 64 votes to smash the filibuster, and here are but 52, with the showdown ess than a month away.

that is all.

The Democrats have three senators from the South— Pepper (Fla.), Kefauver (Tenn.), Graham (N. C.)— against the fillibuster, and all the rest from the South on the other side. They have

13 senators from the North and West (14 if Lehman can be counted) "for sure" against the filibuster, and

No man would stake his life on the steadfastness of all of the 52. Yet it is into this apparent trap that the U. S. civil rights program is being marched—not with its best foot forward. Senator Lucas, the majority leader who can count on the sup-port of less than half of the Democratic members, has up first. Brought up, one hopes, not to simple slaughter. At the same time it would be stupid not to understand that in provoking the filibuster on FEPC instead of on free elec-tions (anti-poll tax), the Administration is playing into the hands of the filibusterers. It is leading from weakness announced that the fair employment bill will be brought and inviting defeat. FAIR employment is of course important. But both in the order of importance and in order of practicability the free elections bill obviously belongs ahead. It is a veteran measure, already sifted and clarified by a decade of debate in Congress.

There is no good reason why the Administration should have decided to bring the filibuster fight on the issue of non-discrimination rather than on the grander issue of the right to vote. The truth is that the lever of political pressure applied on the fulcrum of free election will do more to wipe out discriminatory practices than any statutory prohibition.

Admittedly it would be cute of the Administration to prove, by forcing the showdown on fair employment leg-islation opposed in parts outside of the South as well as the South, that the filibuster cannot be broken under the "Republican rule" requiring a two-thirds vote for cloture in the Senate. This would save civil rights for Administra-tion chempioning in cill another comparison former tion championing in still another campaign. Conceivably it would be cute of the Republicans to make monkeys of the Democrats by insisting on the free elections bill—the rights bill that has best chance of passage—at a later date themselves.

BUT among the people only the, fatuous could afford to be amused. The rest—those who perceive that political democracy cannot even begin in our country without uni-versal free elections—will urge that the fillbuster be broken with the handiest tool, in order that rights laws to which both old parties are pledged may go on the books.

If both old parties are pictured may go on the books. If both old parties between them cannot produce 64 of 96 senators to respect their parties' pledges, to say nothing of the basic rights of the people, both are too decrepit— or too dishonest—to deserve to be continued.

(Continued from preceding page)

EISENHOWER

Smile, smile, smile

"A S of now: It looks more and more like Truman vs. Eisenhower in 1952," said the U.S. News & World Report.

General of the Army Dwight David Eisenhower had build a political repu-tation by keeping quiet. In 1948 he had artfully dodged questions on his political views and was boomed by both Republicans and Democrats. This year the General seemed to be talking his e General seemed to be talking his putation to death. He made Fourth of July speeches in rep

He made Fourth of July speeches in November, addressed women's clubs and businessmen's luncheons, spoke on radio forums, wrote public letters to congressmen. From it all a "philoso-phy" seemed to be emerging. At Valley Forge, Pa., like other cam-paigners before him, he said: "The American dream can and will survive every threat and challenge." Then the heritage of Valley Forge dropped away. He gave a $1.500 prize to Judge Harold He gave a $1,500 prize to Judge Harold R. Medina for his handling of the Foley Square trial. Other prize winners: Herbert Hoover, James F. Byrnes, John Foster Dulles and Little Orphan Annie. The contest was sponsored by Freedom Foundation, Inc., which is run by a New York advertising firm.

IKE'S CREDO: There were other as-pects of the emerging Eisenhower DISASTER:"If we all believe there is a trend abroad in the land to accept government as the only cure of social problems, then eventually there will be no corporations."

 SMILES: Americans who go • SMILLES: A merican's who go around with long faces worrying about business or taxes or "wondering what the hell the Russians are going to do next," have the wrong slant. They ought to smile. "I'm talking as a soldier.

• SOCIAL SECURITY: It will lead to "slothful indolence" and destroy liberty. People seemed to want "cham-here y. People seemed to want cham-pagne and caviar when they should have beer and hot dogs." It seemed a platform calculated to win all smiling executives or suds and sausage factories. Last Thursday Eisenhower again de-nied that he was ready for a Presiden-tial mean incident de was only a college tial race, insisted he was only a college president. The same day it was an-nounced that U.S. Ambassador Philip C. Jessup, State Dept. expert, was re-turning to Columbia. He would teach international law to students. As a sideline, the columnists said, he might give the General a course in how to run for President.

FARM

'Tyranny' of plenty

THE war was on between the American Farm Bureau Federation and - can Farm Bureau Federation and the Dept. of Agriculture. From its four-day convention in Chicago the Bureau leaders opened full-scale hostilities against Secretary Brannan and his plan to equalize farm income while reducing food prices for consumers. The Secretary was pointedly uninwited.

More than one top leader of the Bureau conceded that though the delegates might be unanimously against the plan the membership was far from united. But this did not deter its president, Allan B. Kline, from hurling against it every brickbat in the arsenal of big business. To him it was a "political scheme to get the votes of both farmers and consumers"; it was dan-gerous to "a dynamic free enterprise system"; it was "the road to tyranny, the end of personal liberty." More than that: "People who propose such a proposition to farmers are very dumb or downright dishonest."

UNFILTERED: Secretary Brannan fought back. He wrote at length and bitterly to Kline, hoping to reach over his head to the membership. At the annual meeting of the Dept. of Agri-culture's Production and Marketing Administration in Memphis, Tenn., he said: "The leaders of some organiza-tions... apparently take the view that they and only they speak for the they and only they speak for the farmers. They seem to feel that far-mers and the Secretary of Agriculture should be gagged and muzzled unless their voices are filtered through the purifying plants of a particular or-ganization ganization

At St. Paul, Minn., speaking to the convention of the Farmers Union Grain Terminal Assn. attended by 4,000 dele-gates, he warned that U.S. agriculture is already caught in an economic pincer with farm income dropping while prices of products farmers must buy remain at record heights.

at record heights. SUNNY-SIDE UP: While spokesmen of big business (Eric Johnson, Paul G. Hoffman) and political opponents of Brannan plumped for the interests of the huge factory farm and corporate landowners at Chicago, a sample of grass-roots sentiment turned up in Vineland, N.J. More than 500 local poultrymen met to insist that Brannan maintain egg prices at 90% of parity, in direct opposition to those arguing that south Jersey poultrymen favored low-level flexible price supports.

THE ECONOMY

STEEL PRICE RISE

'Pensions did it'

BENJAMIN FAIRLESS, president of B the U.S. Steel Corp., producer of a third of the nation's steel supply, last week hiked the price $4 a ton. Prices of steel, backbone of industry, affect some 5,000 commodities, from automobiles to garbage cans; a price rise at the factory snowballs to formidable proportions be-fore the concurrence prove for it correst. fore the consumer pays for it across a U.S. Steel blamed the price rise on the cost of the pension and insurance programs recently granted the CIO United Steel Workers. But President Truman's Steel Board reported in Sep-tember that steel companies could put. pension and welfare into effect without raising prices

40 years of reaction The Farm Bureau and the U.S. -a most "immoral marriage"

By Lawrence Emery

ALLAN B. Kline, president of the A American Farm Bureau Federa-tion, was an enthusiastic supporter of Thomas E. Dewey in the last presiden-tial election. His enthusiasm was un-doubtedly heightened by the thought that if the Republicans won he might become Secretary of Agriculture.

That lost hope may account for ome of the bitterness with which Kline now attacks the Brannan Plan and the vigor with which he keeps his organization, largest of its kind, subservient both to the interests of big business and the political for-tunes of the Republican Party.

A 40-YEAR TALE: But the story of Farm Bureau reaction is longer and older than that. It goes back to its formation in 1909 under the sponsor-ship of the Binghamton, N. Y., Cham-her of Commerce ber of Commerce.

Railroads, interested in continuing to overcharge farmers, helped the young organization financially. The Chicago Board of Trade backed it so liberally that it has been described as "a cost of grandfather" as "a sort of grandfather."

The Farm Bureau began its on a county level to spread scientific farming methods as developed by the extension services of the land-grant colleges—services sponsored by the Dept. of Agriculture and paid for from

VERY MUCH INTERESTED: In 1914 Congress adopted the Smith-Lever Act which offered grants for extension work to states that would match federal funds. The matching funds could come from state, county or local funds, or, most interestingly, from "interested groups of citizens."

The Farm Bureau promptly became The Farm Bureau prompty became such an interested group and, with its big business backing, put up money to match federal grants. As a result, the organization has secured a large measure of control over the government's county agents system. By 1922 the Farm Bureau had grown to some 1,250,000 members. The active members are big and middle farmers. Today it controls farm organization at least 11 key states through its with government farm apparatus. This relation is described by the Farmers Union as an "infamous and immoral marriage [which] should be immediately dissolved."

THE FERTILIZER LOBBY: "We

ALLAN B. KLINE Business before Brannan

have the spectacle," says the Farm-ers Union, "of a government agency supporting a private farm organiza-tion [which] uses federal money to maintain itself as a private farm lobby.'

How well it lobbies was discovered in an early congressional investiga-tion which revealed its Washington representative, Chester Gray, to be an agent of the American Cyanamid Co. and the fertilizer trust in an effort to deliver Muscle Shoals to private business interests. [Muscle Shoals, a fertilizer developing and power project on the Alabama-Tennessee border, was one of the early TVA projects.]

Gray had opposed government op-

NATIONAL GUARDIAN

In fact, the board (conservative in makeup) held that the industry's mod-ernization program, with its resulting higher productivity and lowered costs, made price reductions possible without cutting into profits. It maintained that the union would be justified in renew-ing wage demands "if these profits do not result in benefit to the consumer in the form of lower prices." the form of lower prices."

AND UP AND UP: U.S. Steel's UP profits in the first nine months of 1949 have been 50% higher than in the same period in 1948, the previous all-time high; Bethlehem Steel's profits, 54% higher; Republic's, 18%. Executives of the U.S. Steel Corp. re-fused to say how much the CIO welfused to say how much the CIO well-fare program is increasing costs. But economists estimate that the take from the increased prices will be at least five times the cost of the welfare program. The CIO said it was "appalled." Sen. Joseph O'Mahoney (D-Wyo.) called for a congressional investigation. For consumers, a two-word headline in the Wall St. Journal told the story: "Price Pattern.

WATER SHORTAGE

Parched prophets

"WHOLE civilizations have been wiped out for lack of water," the Washington Post observed last week. John J. O'Neill, N.Y. Herald Tribune science editor, wrote: "The dust bowl may be . . . advancing across the country."

Westerners talked urgently of a (Continued on following page)

eration of Muscle Shoals because "certain reductions in prices are of-fered the farmers below cost of pro-ducing the fertilizer."

"And," asked a senator, "you didn't want the farmer to get his fertilizer reduced that way, did you?" "Not through a gift, not through a dole, not through a pension," Gray. said

FOR THE RIGHT PRICE: A few years later another congressional in-vestigation discovered that the Farm Bureau was against gifts and doles for farmers but was perfectly willing to support gifts and doles to shipowners, for a price.

For $94,000 the Farm Bureau offered to sell itself to the American Steam-ship Owners' Assn. in its campaign to ship Owners' Assn. In its campaign to get huge government subsidies for carrying a few pounds of mail. The entire apparatus of the Farm Bureau, with 15,000 community units, 1,837 county units, 70,000 volunteer lead-ers and workers, 6,000 paid employes, and lobbies in Chicago and Wathingand lobbies in Chicago and Washing-ton was to have been used as propa-ganda channels for the special inter-ests of the shipowners. The deal fell through because the price was too high.

But similar services had been per-formed by the Farm Bureau for the National Lumbermen's Assn., the Portland Cement Assn., the Copper and Brass Research Assn., and the National Automobile Chamber.

LOVE THAT TAFT-HARTLEY: Long ago the former Sen. George W. Nor-ris of Nebraska was prompted to prophesy of the Farm Bureau: "The time will come when the rank and file of American farmers will begin to re-alize by whom they are being de-ceived in Washington."

The Farm Bureau hasn't changed much in recent years. The top leaders, much in recent years. The top leaders, in direct defiance of the views ex-pressed by most of the members, are still against "gifts and doles for farmers" but support every grab of big business. They are anti-labor and not only blessed the Taft-Hartley Act but are militant in their efforts to prevent what Allan Kline calls a "po-litical alliance" between farmers and labor unions. labor unions.

The Farm Bureau is using its heaviest artillery now for a concen-trated attack on the Brannan Plan.

(Continued from preceding page) planned development program for dis-tilling sea water. Eastern states inti-mated approaching "water wars" like those which have long irritated the West. Critical water shortages dotted the country from southern California to New Jersey. Cincinnati, Memphis, Peoria and Chicago suburbs were counting the gallons. counting the gallons.

RAIN-MAKERS: In New York church-goers prayed for rain. Some fell but not enough. From Muscatine, Iowa, reader E. A. Eaton wrote to the GUARDIAN: "Read in the papers last week that Cardinal Spellman had asked the faithful to pray for rain in New York State

And what do you suppose happened? Right away it started to rain out here in Iowa and kept it up for two days. I always did think that the Cardinal had his wires crossed and now I know Rationing and lower water pressure ere threatened by city officials. Friday as proclaimed "Bathless, Shaveless Day.

Newspapers emblazoned the motto: "Let the beards bristle," but skirted the big problem: Had the water been drained away in leaky faucets or in government bureaus which for years failed to plan for conservation?

LABOR WEEK

THE CIO TRIALS UOP-test case

CIO leaders had singled out the CIO leaders had singled out the United Office and Professional Workers and the United Public Work-ers as the first of ten to be kicked out They were to have been tried last week for opposing top-level CIO policy. On Monday UOPWA leaders went to court to restrain the CIO. They claimed the constitutional amendment making their acts illegal was passed after the acts were said to have been committed; that their basic right to make decithat their basic right to make deci-sions had been impaired; that their original agreement with CIO guaranoriginal agreement with CIO guaran-teeing autonomy had been broken. In Philadelphia a federal judge con-sidered the arguments. The fate of the nine other unions hinged on the UOPWA decision. UOPWA President James Durkin

The Coeur d'Alene story Mine-Mill holds together despite Murray's wreckers

By Henry Horowitz GUARDIAN Special Correspondent SALT LAKE CITY SALT LAKE CITY ON THE same day (Nov. 3) that the CIO convention expelled two left-wing unions—and others, including the Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers, looked like they were going to travel the same road—three men walked out of the offices of the Bunker Hill & of the offices of the Bunker Hill & Sullivan Co. at Kellogg, Idaho, major operator in the rich lead-silver-zinc producing district known as the Coeur d'Alene.

d'Alene. The three were top officers of Mine-Mill's Kellogg local, and mem-bers of a joint negotiating committee representing some 3,000 hardrock miners and smeltermen who had been on strike for 75 days. Long-standing opponents of Mine-Mill's militant policies, all three had often echoed national CIO attacks on the union's officers and program. officers and program.

From the Bunker Hill offices they went to a local union meeting, to de-mand an immediate end of the strike on terms proposed by Bunker Hill and representatives of the district's other strikebound operators.

THE WRECKERS: What happened in Cleveland, Ohio, and Kellogg, Idaho, that day wasn't just coinci-dence. In Cleveland national CIO was laying down policy dictated by the Truman Administration and Wall St. In the Coeur d'Alene the policy was being carried out.

In Cleveland, too, the small rightwing minority of one union had just been set up as the "official" organi-zation with CIO blessing. In the Coeur d'Alene a similar minority thought their turn was coming within a mat-ter of days—provided there wasn't something like a strike in progress to impede the blitz necessary for swing-ing 3,000 members out of Mine-Mill overnight.

FARMER ALLIES: Maybe the miners and smeltermen at Kellogg didn't know what had been happening at Cleveland, but they did know what had been happening in the Coeur d'Alene. They knew that a militant policy on clear-cut issues could win powerful allies. Farmers and farm or-ganizations throughout the northwest had sent the strikers 163 tons of flour, spuds, fresh fruit, meat, beans and onions, and had organized collection centers to keep the grub coming in all winter if necessary. Businessmen and merchants all over the district had extended strikers as much credit had extended strikers as much credit as they could, pledged not to repossess cars or refrigerators, foreclose on homes or cut off lights or water. Miners at Kellogg also knew they had begun their strike jointly with the Mine-Mill local at nearby Wal-lace and had conducted all their nego-tiations through a joint committee; and that they still needed the wage increase, health and welfare fund and mine-safety code for which they had struck. struck.

BACK TO WORK: They said all this on the union floor the night of Nov. 3, with the result that the demand of the three officers for an immediate on the union that that the demand or with the result that the demand or the three officers for an immediate vote to end the strike was postponed ten days. In the meantime the Wal-summed up for all in a letter to Philip Murray. He said: "We believe that we have contributed to CIO's growth and accomplishments and that we have a right to be in CIO and that our mem-bers have a right to maintain their democratic control of their union. We firmly believe that expulsion of unions . . . will only serve the purposes of anti-union employers."

ORGANIZE: The United Electrical Workers (unaffiliated) for its part went on organizing. In Chicago 3,500 workers at the Sunbeam Electrical Co. voted to join UE. Signing Taft-Harley non-communist oaths permitted UE to par-ticipate in National Labor Relations Board elections for the first time.

LUMBERMEN

Strike martyrs free

N 1946 AFL lumber and sawmill workers began a strike for a union shop lace members declared the terms "weren't worth considering."

But by the time the referendum date rolled around at Kellogg, hun-dreds of miners who had been work-ing elsewhere flocked back into the camp, assuming the strike was over and primed to go back to work. The referendum carried—by a majority of only 224 votes out of a membership of measure 2000 nearly 2,000.

A week later the Wallace local voted to end its strike, but only after it had proved that gains were to be had in the Coeur d'Alene—by improving on the non-economic provisions of the "Kellogg formula."

DEFEATISM IS DEAD: Today nearly all of the 3,000 Coeur d'Alene miners and smeltermen are back on the job. They didn't achieve their economic objectives, but the plans of the right-wing to pull them out of Mine-Mill under the banner of a "pro-CIO" holy crusade failed dismally. Instead of paving the way for a quick bolt out of Mine-Mill, the would-be secessionists have "pulled the chute" on themselves. In four Kellogg membership meetings held since the strike ended, the rank and file hes ambarrased the officers and file has embarrassed the officers with questions about the strike settle-ment, and instructed them to take immediate steps toward amalgamation with the Wallace local.

Those who tried to tailor the Coeur Allor the Coeur d'Alene strike settlement to match the new look in national CIO have already seen the end of the apathy and defeatism they nurtured in the local since they took office three years ago. The important fact established in the strike—that the farmer is ready ago. The important fact established in the strike—that the farmer is ready In the strike—that the farmer is ready to stand as a powerful ally in future economic battles—has laid the base for a far-reaching program of 'far-mer-labor cooperation on the poli-tical front comes the next session of the state legislature.

The strikers found out—even if it was the hard way—that there's more than mere coincidence between "fol-lowing CIO policy" and the selling out of a strike. More important, they have now got a union that's on the way to becoming the spitting image of that fighting organization born right there in the Coeur d'Alene some 56 years ago, and known today as Mine-Mill.

December 19,

tin grea and Rigition une

Aug

com

jail

in California's redwood empire. It lasted a heartbreaking 27 months, grew bitter and violent. When it was over in 1948 four unionists, Robert Moore, John Bundte, William Phillips and George Sherrard, had been tried and convicted on assault and riot charges. The fore-man of the jury was also the foreman of a struck lumber company. The case was quietly appealed and

WHATTIFIEL ENDERITTERANCE

The case was quietly appealed and quietly lost. The forgotten four faced sentences of 1 to 10 years in San Quen-

What does it say

On Monday the N. Y. Times reported; "If I stitute a 'no-day' week for the present three steps of their own to force him to strike." S sion fund payments, force a walkout and t Taft-Hartley. Miners George Brandi, George seem pleased to read about the operators' s away at the operators' front. During the w substantial wage and pension increases. A the big operators the big operators was a U.S. witness in the trial of Gerhart Eisler. He testified about a "secret meeting" allegedly attended by two Canadian Communists. The defense immediately proved that the two were in prison at the time. The U.S. prose-cutor conceded his witness had lied, but Johnson was never prosecuted for perjury.

THE TR

HARRY BRIDGES

Perjury by whom? ON July 18, 1947, Manning R. Johnson

HALLINAN AND BRIDGES It was a devilish week

ag wa tri he Co 193 Br za m TI ra Fo pe of pl w su sid "T st

Uith

bu de

h as an de

P G of S a wh

ber 19, 1949

tin when West Coast labor and progressive forces remembered them. AFL and CIO unions, together with the Civil Rights Congress and other organiza-tions, waged a militant campaign for unconditional pardon (GUARDIAN, 29). Aug. Last week Gov. Earl Warren responded to the pressure: the sentences were commuted to time served in the county jail pending appeal, and "labor's for-gotten men" were free.

it say about us?

ted: "If Mr. (John L.) Lewis does not sub-ent three-day week, the operators may take strike." Strategy would be to withhold pen-out and then ask President Truman to use i, George Cattley and Don McGregor (above) reators' squirming. Lewis continued to pick ing the week he signed up several more for reases. At the weekend negotiations with perators continued.

TRIALS

25

Last week Johnson, an ex-Communist Last week Johnson, an ex-Communist who on his own admission has testified against progressives "18 or 20 times," was the star U.S. witness in the perjury trial of Harry Bridges. His story—that he had seen Bridges elected to the Communists' National Committee in 1936—was designed to prove that Bridges lied in 1945 in telling naturali-zation officials he was not a Com-munist.

-

THE SEA GETS ROUGH: Johnson THE SEA GETS ROUGH: Johnson ran into trouble on cross-examination. Forced to admit he never met Bridges personally, he spun out an explanation of tactics he said Communists em-ployed to conceal Bridges' identity. When defense counsel James MacInnis suggested that he might be a "profes-sional" witness, Johnson fumed: "That's a flagitious insinuation!" (Web-ster defines "flagitious" as "grossly wicked.") wicked.")

"No man could serve Stalin and Uncle Sam," said Johnson, any more than he could serve "God and Beezle-bub." Defense counsel Vincent Hallinan demanded an identification. "Is Beezledemanded an identification. Is becau-bub a government witness or who?" he weed. When the prosecutor identified his as "Beelzebub, one of Satan's chief his as "Hallinan retorted: "You associates," Hallinan retorted: "You and the witness should use the same devils."

PITY THE POOR JUDGE: Judge George B. Harris, borrowing the robe of plous judicial martyrdom from Foley Square's Medina, showed himself an apt pupil of the New York judge now

A cross-country report Progressives round out '49 with a spurt of activity

STATE conventions, state-wide job conferences, civil rights battles, debates, support to strikers, action against private power rates, aid to migratory workers are some of the activities currently keeping Progres-sive Party members busy around the U.S. from Maine to Arizona. A GUAR-DIAN survey showed these things happening:

VERMONT: Delegates met in a state convention in Rutland heard guest speakers Cedric Belfrage, GUARDIAN speakers Cedric Belfrage, GUARDIAN editor, and Florence Luscomb, vice-chairman of the Massachusetts Civil Liberties Union and treasurer of the Progressive Party in that state, then enacted this program for Vermont: State power authority, action on the St. Lawrence seaway project, the Brannan farm plan, a special session of the legislature to increase jobless benefits. benefits

In Burlington, Progressives were backing the battle of locked out union backing the battle of locked out union printers of the Burlington Daily News and St. Alban's Messenger. In Bennington, a fund drive for strikers at the Bijur Lubricating Co. was sponsored by the Progressive Party.

MAINE: A state convention in Portland adopted a platform for peace and plenty, demanded the development of the old Passamaquoddy power project, mapped a fight against a local shoe manufacturers' association's demand for a 12% wage cut, and vowed to make themselves heard in the 1950 elections.

COLORADO: From a half-dozen or more cities and towns came delegates to a Progressive Party Conference on Jobs and the Economic Crisis. Discussion panels helped work out a comprehensive program for dealing with unemployment. To the governor went a demand for a special session recuperating in Bermuda from the Communist leaders' tail. Scolding the defense, Harris said: "I have strength enough left for one more admonition. ... I regard such statements as mis-conduct."

ALGER HISS Men of character

THROUGHOUT his government career, climaxed by important roles at the Yalta and San Francisco confer-ences, Alger Hiss moved quietly among the distinguished men. Last week his friends moved across the witness stand at Foley Square to open Hiss' second perjury defense against the U.S. and Whittaker Chambers.

Among them were John W. Davis, one-time Democratic Presidential nom-inee; Francis B. Sayre, former Assistant Secretary of State; Stanley Hornbeck, former State Dept. Far East chief; Philip Jessup, UN delegate (by deposi-tion). Only one big name came up against Hiss; Hornbeck said that William C. Bullitt once called Hiss a Communist. Sayre and Hornbeck bud the Sayre and Hornbeck had been the defendant's bosses; from them the government could extract no indica-tion that they believed Chambers' story that Hiss had stolen documents for a "Communist apparatus."

COPLON-GUBITCHEV

Tappers trapped

WIRE-TAPPING is illegal under U.S. law. Last week the FBI was ex-posed as a law-breaker. It was forced to admit that it had tapped the phones and intercepted the mail of Judith Coplon and Valentin Gubitchev, whom the government hopes to convict of FBI agents and U.S. prosecutors in-sisted that no worthwhile evidence was of the legislature to deal with the situation.

IOWA: A jimcrow fight of the Pro-gressive Party dating from July, 1948, was finally won. The Katz Drugstore in Des Moines, part of a big midwest chain, agreed henceforth to serve Negro customers "as courteously as others." Court action, led by Charles P. Howard, keynote speaker at the founding convention of the Progres-ive Party, and a succession of Saturday afternoon sit-ins at the drugstore lunch counter, won the battle.

In Sioux City, the PP, with many other organizations, pushed the fight to free Terry Lee Sims, young Negro framed on a rape charge and sen-tenced to 40 years. The problem: mustering funds and public support to carry through an appeal to the state supreme court state supreme court.

NEW JERSEY: In Newark Assemblyman T. James Tumulty, co-author of Jersey's recently-outlawed loyalty oath law directed against the Progressive Party, debated O. John Rogge, former Assistant U.S. Attorney Gen-eral and civil rights champion. eral and civil rights champion. Midway in the contest Tumulty leaped to his feet, scattered his papers, shouted "Lie!" and stalked red-faced from the hall. This Rogge remark prompted the explosion: "I am op-posed to the authoritarian principles of the Catholic Church. The church declared a holy war on Mohammed-obtained from the taps; only "leads." Attorney General (now Supreme Court Justice) Tom Clark himself authorized the illegal taps, they pointed out.

IT'S GOT TO BE LEGAL: Federal Judge Sylvester Ryan ruled that the Judge Sylvester Kyan ruled that the government must prove its evidence came from legal sources; otherwise he must throw out the indictments. To Gubitchev the turn of events offered hope that he might escape trial completely. For Miss Coplon there arose the possibility that her conviction in Washington might be successfully chal-Washington might be successfully chil-lenged. That court had barred all questions on wire-tapping.

CIVIL LIBERTIES

CHICAGO

Police-landlord terror defied by ex-GI

N Chicago last week it seemed that land was a club with which to beat one's neighbors, or a prize for politicians cians. In the Park Manor district, on the South Side, white property owners inciting violence to keep Negroes out. Police had to guard the home of Roscoe Johnson, a Negro buyer whose family was terrorized by mobs last summer. Recently the Alarm Clock, a Park Manor racist sheet, called attention to "Emil Kvatek of 6961 S. Eberhart, who sold to colored; we have not located his anism. Now it has declared a holy war against Communists because they war against Communists because don't think like the Catholics."

ILLINOIS: Expanded activities in preparation for 1950 elections forced the Progressive Party into larger Chicago headquarters, with its own meeting hall. New address: 170 W. Washington St. Phone: RAndolph 6-9270. The same expansion led to formation of a Women's Division headed by Lillian Larvanette and Rose Rose. Pauline McGrath is secretary. Rose. Pauline McGrath is secretary, Elaine Steinberg, treasurer.

NEW YORK: In Hempstead the American Labor Party has long fought racial discrimination in Levittown, the huge private housing development headed by William J. Levitt. Last week, using the recent Federal Hous-ing Authority ruling on discrimina-tion, the ALP demanded teeth in the ruling to make it an foreable planned ruling to make it enforceable, planned new steps at Levittown itself.

ARIZONA: Amazed at the size of a dividend declared by the Tucson Gas, Electric Light & Power Co. ($126,000), the Pima County PP dispatched a resolution to the State Corporation Commission demanding that "extor-tionate rates" be promptly reduced. It mapped a campaign to back up the demand demand.

PENNSYLVANIA: The Alleghany County Committee of the PP elected as regional director for western Penn-sylvania Alexander Wright, prominent Negro labor leader and his party's candidate for city council in the re-cent elections.

cent elections. TEXAS: Progressives tackled a big local problem: San Antonio ("Where the Sunshine Spends the Winter") is one of the south's greatest mobiliza-tion centers for migratory workers. In winter, when the fruit, vegetable and cotton crops are in, they come "home" to San Antonio. One result: the city has the highest tuberculosis death rate of any large city in the U.S. Progressives are campaigning for a program to end the killing poverty a program to end the killing poverty and lack of public aid—health, hous-ing and compensation—for migratory workers.

new residence yet."

INVITATION TO MURDER: But the racists knew that a Negro family, Thomas Phillips, his wife and small son, had moved into the Kvatek house. GUARDIAN's Rod Holmgren reported GUARDIAN's Rod Holmgren reported what followed: Windows were smashed, an attempt made to burn the garage. Phillips de-manded police protection, didn't get it. A crude bomb landed in the front hall, burned a rug and part of the wall. Phillips phoned City Hall, and told officials he was taking his family's pro-tection into his own hands. Within two hours Police Commissioner Prendergasb hours Police Commissioner Prendergast himself stood at Phillips' door to cau-tion the angry man. Replied the 29-year-old war veteran: "I thought you were out to cut down murders in Chi-cago. I'm a peaceful man, but you're making a murderer out of me." Fifteen minutes later two policemen were stationed at the home, have been there nightly since.

RACISM IS THE FOE: Phillips told RACISM IS THE FOE: Phillips told his story to a weekend meeting of the Conference to End Mob Violence, or-ganized in the wake of S. Peoria St. rioting incited by real estate racists against the home of Aaron Bindman and William Sennett. The Peorie St victime obtained courts

The Peoria St. victims obtained court (Continued on following page).

(Continued from preceding page)

warrants charging 37 rioters with conspiracy and assault, instead of "dis-orderly conduct." None has been arrested yet. Leading roles in the fight against racist mobs are being taken by Richard Westbrooks, a Negro at-torney of the Cook County Bar Assn., and Max Naiman of the Civil Rights Congress

Arvey's good earth

Jacob M. Arvey, Democratic Party boss and acting national committee-man, had turned a neat trick with some real estate but last week seemed unhappy at the resulting publicity. The Chicago Sun-Times reported that an Arvey syndicate had bought Loop property across which the city was to build super-highway.

The syndicate bought it for little: the city, with taxpayers' money, paid a lot to the syndicate when it condemned the property. Profit to Arvey and com-pany: $300,000.

N. CAROLINA

Land is a weapon

NORTH Carolina landlords dictate N the sharecropper's production, keep the records, pick the sheriff, control the courts. No landlord gives his tenant anything in writing.

Mrs. Alice Daniels raised a good crop of corn, peanuts and cotton on shares. It would have brought enough to feed the children living with her near Greenville. And there might have been some left to help her win the freedom of her son, Lloyd Ray, and his cousin Bennie, framed last year on false charges of killing a white cab-driver.

earning family heads, 2,620,000 are over 64 and 1,330,000 are women un-der 64.

PEOPLE: A substantial portion of the income of these families, Thurs-ton said, comes from the social insur-ance program. One-fifth of the bene-ficiary families have less than $150 annual income in addition to their benefits. Ten per cent have no addi-tional income. tional income.

The benefits are meager. In June the average monthly payments for the aged were: single person, $25; retired worker and wife, $41; widow with three children, $53.

Thurston tried to suggest the mean-ing of these dry "heads of families" figures in terms of shaping people:

"Nobody really knows how many millons of children are mentally or emotionally maladjusted. But esti-mates by some authorities are apnates by some authorness are ap-palling—perhaps three children in every average classroom of 30 pupils are destined to spend a part of their lives in a mental hospital... Two mil-lion boys and girls from 6 to 17 years of age are not in school at all; mil-lions of others are getting a substand-ard education." ard education."

CONGRESSMEN: This was the sage comment of Sen. Ralph E. Flanders (R-Vt.) on Thurston's testimony: "A good spanking at some stage might prevent all these mental cases." On the train from Boston the Senator had seen many television aerials on low income farm family houses. Why, he wanted to know didd't they use that wanted to know, didn't they use that money to send their children to school?

Rep. Robert F. Rich (R-Pa.) was unimpressed by the talk of mental disturbances in the nation at large. disturbances in the nation at large. He thought it should be applied to government: every employe over 60 from the White House down ought to be given a test to determine is compus menti."

The Daniels Defense Committee, P.O. Box 1601, Durham, N.C., has appealed for contributions and for letters urging Gov. W. Kerr Scott to find the real killers and halt the inhuman treatment of Mrs. Daniels

PEEKSKILL AFTERMATH

The legal challenge

COUR months ago Paul Robeson and the people who had come to hear him sing stood in Peekskill while vet-erans and teen-aged hoodlums bom-barded them with rocks and policemen looked on—or helped. State officials said it was the fault of Robeson and his supporters. Peekskill super-patriots congratulated themselves on a job well

Last week, in a federal court in New York, Robeson and 27 others filed dam-age suits for $2,000,000 against the Peekskill Veterans Joint Council, the Associated Veterans Council, West-chester District Attorney George M. Fanelli and state police officials. Un-der the 14th Amendment to the U.S. Constitution the suits charged perder the 14th Amendment to the U.S. Constitution, the suits charged per-sonal injury and loss of civil rights. They also demanded that the inciters be permanently enjoined "from further conspiring and interfering with plain-tiffs and others who hereafter may peaceably assemble in Westchester County for the purpose of holding dis-cussions and assemblies."

UN-AMERICANISM

Dies alive

DURING the Roosevelt era a notorious name caused confusion among newspaper readers confronted with such headlines as "DIES IN CELL," "DIES IN HAIL OF BULLETS," "DIES AT DEMOCRATIC DINNER." Martin AT DEMOCRATIC DINNER. Martin Dies, cause of the confusion, never died; the Texas Representative and first chairman of the House Un-Ameri-can Activities Committee retired in can 1944

Last week he emerged from obscurity ir a role that made people rub their eyes. In Fort Worth, Tex., Edwin A. Elliott, regional director of the National Labor Relations Board, was summoned to a government loyalty hearing on charges of being a Communist. He defended by Martin Dies, who declared: "The whole procedure is un-American."

DEMOCRACY IN ACTION Freedom, but-

"As long as information is free in this country we have no fear for our institutions. No dictator ever ex-isted without censorship or no democ-racy with it."

racy with it." Students at Duke University ap-plauded as George V. Allen, retiring Assistant Secretary of State for For-eign Affairs, hit this high spot of his address on Dec. 10. Some members of the Board of Education in Washington, D.C., were embarassed. The day before, Superintendent of Schools Hobart M. Corning had ordered all conject of the Corning had ordered all copies of the Corning had ordered all copies of the Soviet Information Bulletin removed from school libraries. The Bulletin, a slick-paper picture magazine on life in the U.S.S.R., has been published twice a month for the last nine years by the Soviet Embassy. In Russia the U.S. puts out a corres-ponding magazine with a circulation of 50,000.

In Texas, Indiana, Massachusetts and elsewhere school officials have burned the Bulletin. Copies have been de-stroyed by school librarians. The Hous-ton Chronicle objected because "dicta-tor Joe Stalin is not called a dictator in this publication."

RELIGION

LEGION AND CHURCH

A pastor's courage

REV. Albert Wallace Kauffman, "Lincoln Republican" who says h is "sometimes ashamed of being s is "sometimes ashamed of being so right-wing," teaches Latin and English at the Sunfield, Mich., high school (of which he is superintendent) on week-days; preaches at the Congregational Church in Vernon, Mich., on Sundays. He practices what he preaches year in, year out. After World War I, in Ver-mont, he was attacked for supporting the League of Nations. During the '20's in Youngstown, Ohio, he fought the Ku Klux Klan. Last October, in a letter to Soviet Russia Today, he wrote: "If only we can live through the

"If only we can live through the present Truman Administration and until the fervor of the radical and foolish patriotic organizations cools off, I am sure there will be no war with Russia . . . The greatest promoter of war with Russia is the Vatican and the United States in an effort to put the Roman Church in power here."

SOMETHING TWISTED: In a fuming sometimine twisted: in a fuming nationally-syndicated column George E. Sokolsky last month warned: "There is something very twisted in the Rev. Mr. Kauffman's thinking," and asked: "How can patriotic organizations be foolish?" The ire of the American Le-gion was aroused, and Kauffman's susension from both the church and the school board was announced.

When Kauffman took to the pulpit on Sunday, Dec. 4, his church was ringed by members of the Legion. Said one spectator: "I saw the Legionnaires drive up in front of Jack's beer garden, get a beer, come out, and wander around in front of the church in a disaround in front of the church in a dis-gusting way." Kauffman told his con-gregation that the letter that caused the storm did not refer to any specific group of "patriots" nor reflect on "any group of law-abiding veterans." He ad-mired and had cooperated with the American Logical's more for arithmed American Legion's work for crippled children.

We've ot to lick this thing, we can't them interfere in the church," We verget to next this thing, we can a let them interfere in the church," Kauffman told parishioners after serv-ice. Last week a majority of church and school boards voted to cancel the suspensions. "Rural citizens of this area," a local citizen reported to the GUARDIAN, "are not impressed with the Mighigan Dent of the American the Michigan Dept. of the American

FATHER DUFFY

Telling the Monsignor

THROUGHOUT the fall, Roman Catholic Father Clarence J. Duffy campaigned for the Progressive Party. Op-ponents whispered that he was not a priest. In last month's run-off primary priest. In last month's fun-on primary in predominantly Catholic Lawrence, Mass., he stumped for the Rev. Amos Murphy, a Protestant minister. Edward R. Gaffney, Vicar General of the N. Y. Archdiocese, took a hand in the cam-paign. He tried to make the whispers official and announced that Father Duffy was not a priest in good that Duffy was not a priest in good stand-ing. Last week Father Duffy wrote to Msgr. Gaffney:

Msgr. Gaffney: "You know it to be untrue. You know, if you know anything about Canon Law, and the only person outside of the Pope who can deprive me of my good standing . . . is the Bishop of Kil-more (in Eire)." (The Bishop of Kil-more died last April. His see has not yet been filled.) Demanding public re-traction, Father Duffy warned the Monsignor of "the strife and the scan-dal that will arise from your failure to dal that will arise from your failure to observe, or your contempt for, the Com-mandment: "Thou shalt not bear faise witness against thy neighbor"."

LLOYD RAY DANIELS Christmas behind bars

THE RULE OF TERROR: But Alice The ROLE OF TERROR: But Ance Daniels' landlord, Bruce McLawhorn, has announced that she will get noth-ing for the crop and must leave the farm. "I'll see to it," he said, "that no money made on my farm goes to help that boy."

While the nation's press ignored the case and Mrs. Daniels and her family case and Mrs. Daniels and her family ate the remnants of the peanut crop and wondered where to go, Lloyd Ray and Bennie Daniels waited in the Raleigh death house for a sign of hope. The State Supreme Court stalled on their appeal, though it was clear the teen-age boys were convicted almost a year ago only on "confessions" ex-tracted by beatings.

Low income America 3 kids in 30 mentally ill - millions get bad schooling

Special to the GUARDIAN

WASHINGTON THE figures on what Gen. Eisenhower and Sen. Taft call the U.S. welfare state were shocking. John L. Thurston, acting administrator of so-cial security, gave them last week to the subcommittee of the Joint Congressional Committee studying the status of low-income families.

The committee was interested, said chairman John Sparkman (D-Ala.), because lack of purchasing power among low-income families probably has a bad effect on the economy.

Thurston, serious and obviously sin-cere, kept trying to picture the suffering behind the figures. Committee members listened, but rarely saw.

STATISTICS: "Perhaps," said Thurs-ton, "3,500,000 people under 65 are now out of the labor force because of disability. Probably 1,000,000 or more of these are family heads . . . In April, 1949, there were, all told, some 5,500,-000 families in the country headed by a non-wage-earner."

This figure doesn't turn up in the latest Census Bureau report which listed 3,409,000 unemployed as of Nov. 6 to 12 this year. It is hidden in the figure of 45,701,000 individuals listed "not in the labor force."

Actually, of the 5,500,000 non-wage-

版 ALLERA # 1 ALLA # 17. 51

NATIONAL GUARDIAN

THE WORLD

WESTERN EUROPE

The barons dine: neighbors are jumpy

N the ornate dining room of the luxurious Breitenbacher Hof in Dues-seldorf, the industrial and financial arons of the Ruhr dined and chattedbarons of the Ruhr dined and chatted— the war. The British watched nervously, concerned, they said, about the growing activity of the Ruhr owners who pow-ered Germany through two world wars, and were now back at their old stand.

The Ruhr barons had reason to celebrate. A colleague of theirs. Herman Abs. director of the Deutsche Bank, which financed Hitler's rearmament and directed the Nazi looting of Europe, directed the Nazi looting of Europe, was in Washington on important busi-ness with important men. The presence in the U.S. of Abs, one of Hitler's most important financial backers, was kept secret for three weeks. It was revealed finally by Senator Guy Gillette (D-Ia.) when he could get no satisfaction from the State Dept. on the reasons for Abs' visit.

REICH PREFERRED: On the Zurich stock exchange German industrial shares soared. Swiss operators ex-

"Well, I wonder what the ECA shipping to us now . . .

GUARDIAN UN corres

LAKE SUCCESS N the evening before its adjourn-ment the General Assembly saw a spectacular revolt of the majority against Anglo-U.S. pressure, and against the tricklest motion for ad-journment ever submitted to prevent the majority from prevailing. The question of Jerusalem arouses pression among among among passion among reporters as among delegates. Some papers predicted until the last moment that internationalization of the city would be rejected, although it had been approved twice previously by committees—by 35 to 15 (11 abstentions) in the Special Poli-tical Committee of the 59 member

Within the "for" and "against" camps were some strange allies. Here's why they voted as they did:

Contra

ISRAEL wants Jerusalem's New City as its capital for sentimental, strategic and prestige reasons. In apparent de-fiance of UN it moved its government Ist week from Tel Aviv to Jerusalem. "For the State of Israel," said Prime Minister Ben-Gurion, "there is, has been and always will be one capital only—Jerusalem, the Eternal." He added: "Israel is aligned against the whole world."

whole world." JORDAN, whose armies fought Is-rael, wants the Old City (which it occupies) as its capital. Jordan, too, announced it would not comply with the resolution on Jerusalem. BRITAIN, opposing internationali-zation in the debate as "impracticplained that confidence in Germany industry stemmed from U.S. backing of German reconstruction. The Mar-shall Plan had rebuilt Germany. But other "beneficiaries" were faring badly. British issues on the Swiss exchange sank to the lowest level since devalu-ation. Stock exchange experts saw no Britain's dollar earnings from exports, they said, had shrunk since devalua-tion and Britain's future looked bleak.

TOO BEAUTIFUL: In Paris U.S. offi-TOO BEAUTIFUL: In Paris 0.5. Ont-clals were startled by the results of a poll on the Marshall Plan in western Europe by the N. Y. Foreign Opinion and Market Research. It revealed that in France only four persons in every 100 credited the Marshall Plan with being a factor in French recovery; only 38% thought it had been good for their country. One U.S. official remarked: "These people are absorbed by the thought that there are strings to this too beautiful thing."

European officials talked loudly of the expected benefits from the pro-jected economic union of Britain and Scandinavia, and of France, Italy and Benelux. But a N. Y. Times dispatch from Paris revealed that European ex-perts conceded the proposed trade blocs "will not achieve a great deal toward freeing trade within Europe" but "will embellish the report that Paul Hoffman, Economic Cooperation Ad-ministration, will make to Congress, which is considered their main pur-pose." European officials talked loudly of SURPLUSAGES: In Washington Congress was already preparing to write new restrictions into next year's Mar-shall Plan appropriations. Funds, said the Journal of Commerce, will be earmarked "for specific purposes," reflect-ing the "determination of farm state congressmen to insure a market for at least a portion of American surplusages whether the Europeans want the com-modities or not."

The Administration was cracking the whip on its Marshall Plan-Atlantic Pact satellites. As the price of military assistance, it demanded the virtual right of veto over their export trade, under the guise of controlling shipment of war potential moterial. of war and war-potential material. To this, Britain and France protested.

ADENAUER: "Please, Santa, just a teentsy-weentsy army . . ."

THE STERLING SQUEEZE: The U.S. was squeezing Britain hard. The new was squeezing Britain hard. The new battleery in the U.S. economic war was that Britain must be relieved of the "huge burden" of the "sterling bal-ances," that is, of her war-contracted debts to other members of the sterling area, particularly India and Egypt. These amounted to about $15,000,000,000 at the old rate of exchange, about $10,-000,000,000 at the new.

The U.S. has long objected to Brit ain's efforts to pay off these debts. The reason is that these creditor areas cre-ated a protected market for British goods that are owed them, and for additiofial British goods at higher than world prices. This has helped Britain maintain employment.

The U.S. wants to take over these debts or at least part of them in order to break into Britain's empire and com-monwealth markets. British experts were in Washington last week discus-sing this and related problems.

CHINA

The pets leave people remain

TWO terriers, a young Irish sefter, four cats and 20 people boarded the S.S. Lakeland Victory off Tientsin, China. The people were Angus Ward, former U.S. Consul General at Mukden, Manchuria, and his party. Ward said: "We left absolutely nothing behind." To waiting newsmen, he complained that though he had asked for first class accommodations for the trip from Mukden to Tientsin, the Chinese gave him third class passage, charged $7,000 to transport the whole party, livestock and people; that his trial and convic-tion for beating up a Chinese servant was a "brutal disregard" for law and justice. Ward insisted that the servant had not been beaten; in "pure frustra-tion" he had banged his own nead twice against the iron stair rail of the twice against the iron stair rall of the U.S. Consulate.

EXIT CHIANG: The Chinese Nation-EXIT CHIANG: The Chinese Nation-alist government also embarked—like Ward, leaving nothing behind but the Chinese people. The last straws came when two Szechwan generals, Sikang Governor Liu Wen-hai and Yunnan Governor Lu Han, went over to the Communists. Chiang Kai-shek had been in Yunnan, barely escaped cap-ture. He vowed to carry on from For-mosa and shot 11 alleged Communists to prove he still had morale.

Control of Yunnan put Communist armies right at the boarder of Viet-Nam, which frightened Leon Pignon, French High Commissioner. He said he (Continued on following page)

Burma, China, India, Liberia and Ethiopia supported their Arab friends.

THE LUNCH THAT FAILED: When, during the 48 hours preceding the final vote, the Anglo-Americans saw their pressure efforts failing, they consulted with Mexico, Uruguay and a few others at lunch-time. As a result, just before the vote after de-bate was closed, Dr. Fabregat of Uruguay moved to adjourn discussion: not for a day or two—until some time next wear during a special session next year, during a special session called for the purpose.

That was too much, even for the French delegation which frankly favored internationalization only on government instructions and person-ally didn't like it. Time after time Charles Malik of Lebanon went to the dent—Carlos Romulo of the Philip-pines—that Uruguay's motion was pines-that Uruguay's motion was preposterous: that sincerity could have won a postponement but such a tricky move couldn't. When the resolution on internationalization fi-nally was voted on, such was the Assembly's temper that it got more votes than in committee: 38 in favor instead of 35, 14 against, 7 absten-tions.

It was a strange victory—for no-one knows how to make Jerusalem a UN Trusteeship against the determination of Israelis and Jordanis already in-stalled -there. But it demonstrated that the Assembly can—if the major-ity wants it—resist Anglo-U.S. pres-sure and shape astonishing new sure and coalitions.

How the strange lineups came about on Jerusalem able" because UN has no armies to able" because UN has no armies to enforce it, has a definite practical interest behind its opposition: its treaty with Jordan, under which it can maintain troops in Jerusalem. THE U.S., needing to please Israel,

Chicago Sun-Times "Well, Rome wasn't built in a day, either."

Britain and the Arabs at the same British and the Arabs at the same time, managed to support Israel, the British and one Arab power (Jordan) by opposing the plan as impracticable. Uruguay, Guatemala, Norway, Sweden, Canada, South Africa, Iceland, Den-mark, Costa Rica, Yugoslavia and Turkey took the same stand.

THE VATICAN exercised pressure on Latin American and other Catholic countries. By its very nature it could not accept division of the Holy City among one Moslem and one Jewish state—transformation of it into two political capitals with exclusion of Christians from its administration.

THE SLAVS (Soviets, Poles, Czechs) favored internationalization because, if Jerusalem is put under UN trusteeship, the Soviet Union (a member of the Trusteeship Council) will have a voice in its administration. They also opposed the return of Britain to Jerualem through the back door of THE ARABS regard Jerusalem as an Arab city; if it can't be that, they want it internationalized. They de-spise Jordan's Abdullah for being a British puppet and for dealing with Israel behind their backs. Pakistan, a Moslem country, felt the same.

Pro

Jordan.

United Nations report LAKE SUCCESS

(Continued from preceding page) had 150,000 men to resist any berder crossing by Chinese Communist armies. Despite his 150,000 men (many of them ex-Nazi soldiers serving in the Foreign Legion) and four years of what the French call "Ia sale guerre" (the dirty war), Pignon had been unable to wipe out a Viet-Namese independence army out a Viet-Namese independence army led by Ho Chi Minh. Fleeing Nationalist soldiers already had crossed over into Viet-Nam. French authorities said they were disarmed. In Pehing, Chinese Communists warned the French against using the "dis-armed" Nationalists to fight He Chi Minh

EXIT EMPEROR: French army auth-orities looked around wildly for support, They asked Britain not to recognize the They asked Brhain hot to recognize the new Chinese government until it had guaranteed not to "molest" Viet-Nam. They also asked recognition for their puppet "Emperor" Bao Dai. The "Em-peror" himself looked across the border into China, decided to take a trip to Parie

Recognition pressure

. In London a mass conference attended by delegates representing 860,000 trade unionists demanded friendship and immediate recognition of the new China.

In Pacific Grove, Cal., Roger D. Lap-ham, former ECA chief in China, urged recognition as "the only practical way to keep the door open." (In Washing-ton, there was official silence on China, but Dean Acheson announced U.S. recognition of fascist-minded Fanamanian President Arnulfo Arias, although he voiced disapproval of the police coup he voiced disapproval of the ponce coup which had brought Arias to power.] The National Assn. of Manufacturers' Earl Bunting advised no recognition until the NAM could find out first whether the new Chinese government was stable and could be dealt with. NAM President Wallace Bennet said he new pothing church the webt knew nothing about China but thought U.S. money would not be welcome there.

BRITISH COMMONWEALTH

Imperial freeze

The contest [was] between a Labor Party, with hardened arteries, which had abandoned much of its faith in socialism, and a National Party whose

The land is for food to eat

These are unemployed, landless Italian farmers and their families seizing un-used land near Rome. Police arrested 300 in the area for "abusive occupation of private land and resistance to authoritics." They got off easy. In other places, police of Christian Democrat Premier Aleide de Gasperi used their guns to drive the farmers off the land. The land belongs to rich, absentee land-owners who don't have to farm for a living. These scenes are being repeated all over Italy and the government is afraid to use guns for fear of a civil war.

advocacy of free enterprise included unqualified adherence to the Welfare State. In these circumstances the political pendulum swings in a vacuum.— New Statesman and Nation (London) commenting on New Zealand elec-. tions.

There is no dynamic in the leader-ship of either Party [Labor or Tory] ... The rank-and-file discovers that the structure of society and industrial relations remains almost unaltered. ... Not only wages but the whole social structure has been frozen.— Same paper commenting on forthcoming election in Britain.

TORIES and Laborites gleefully held up straws last week which, they said, pointed to the triumph of their respective parties. The difference was that Tories had to find their straws 14,000 miles away in Australia and New Zealand; Laborites picked up theirs four hours by train from London.

After 14 years in power, Laborites in New Zealand were defeated by a Con-servative coalition. Australian Labor-ites lost after eight years. But in a by-election in South Bradford, England, by-election in South Bradford, England, Labor's candidate polled more votes than the Tory and Liberal candidates combined, although Tories increased their vote by 25% at the expense of the Liberals. Labor lost 1% of its vote. It was the 35th by-election won by Labor, the first since devaluation. Labor spokesmen said it was "a convincing demonstration of confidence in the government."

Unconvinced London bookmakers re-duced Labor's chances for re-election from seven to four to six to four.

LOYAL TO THE OPPOSITION: No basic differences divided Labor from its opposition anywhere. Both would carry on the cold war. Labor had slowed nationalization almost to a standstill; Conservatives only promised to stop it altogether without undoing any of the reforms Labor had introduced.

Basic issues will be raised sharply in Britain's general election if Premier Clement Attlee sticks to his decision to seek election from the solidly-Labor constituency of Walthamstow West. Ex-Labor MP H. Lester Hutchinson, who toured the U.S. last year with seek

The Philippines today A billion U.S. dollars prop a corrupt and venal rule

By Kumar Goshal

N Manila's House of Representatives, ringed for the occasion by special olice guards, incumbent Elpidio Qui-no was formally named President of polic the Philippines for another four-year term last Monday.

Using the powers of his office with-out scruple, Quirino had got himself re-elected in an election marked by terrorism, bribery and fraud; In Occidental Negros, for example, voters could not leave their homes on elec-tion day until they satisfied police which candidate they would vote for.

From two districts of Lanao province the Manila Times reported, under the heading of "unusual returns," the fol-lowing: Pualas—Quirino 2,228, Laurel 0, Avelino.1; Madalum—Quirino 6,038, Laurel 0, Avelino 0.

PAYOFF FOR JOSE: In protest against the frauds in his own province of Cebu, former President Sergio Os-mena resigned from the Council of State. Voters there were intimidated by armed bands of special police led by Gov. Cuenco of Cebu, one of Quirino's Liberal Party leaders. In many ballot boxes simply disap peared.

Congress ratification of Quirino's ré-election was barely squeezed through by an 11th-hour deal with the splinter party of his rival Jose Avelino, whom Quirino had previously ousted from the Senate on charges of mishandling public funds. Avelino is now reported to be leaving for South America "on a diplomatic mission."

ROSY ROAD TO RUIN: President Quirino's new lease on Malacanan palace comes at a time when the Philippine economy—declining sharp-ly during the Roxas and previous Quirino administrations—has reached a critic point a crisis point.

A corrupt government with venal officials, complete lack of planning in and popular control over government, and the costly war against the Hukbalahap movement (which demands complete freedom from foreign control) have all been ruinous.

Unbridled conversion of the peso to dollars to cover profits and interest remittances has brought the Philip-pine dollar reserves down to $234,-000,000 from $400,000,000 in 1946. Flight of dollars during the first week of December amounted to about $2,000,- 000 daily. The $1,000,000,000 the U.S. paid the Philippines during the last three years in the form of compensation for war damages, military expenditures etc., have been squandered in buying luxury items such as automobiles, in-stead of capital goods to build a diversified modern economy for the benefit of the people. Only 15% of total imports in 1949 consisted of capital goods. The budget has been capital goods. The budget has been getting more and more out of balance. with an estimated deficit of $75,000,-000 for the fiscal year 1949-50.

BRING ON THE BRIBES: Faced with this situation, and with an In-ternational Monetary Fund Mission ternational Monetary Fund Mission now investigating Philippine finances in connection with a request for an $80,000,000 loan from the World Bank, Quirino has ordered a "drastic" ex-change control and curb on imports of Juxury items. It is doubtful if this will have any more effect than the will have any more effect than the control order previously in force, ex-cept to increase illegal transactions and the quota of bribes to corrupt officials.

This is the Philippine government that Washington supports and offers to the world as an example of the democratic legacy of U.S. rule. As in India, so in the Philippines: the behavior of the respective governments exposes the fallacy of the idea that a genuinely democratic government can be gradually built up under benecan be gradually built up under bene-volent imperialist tutelage. The struggle for real freedom con-tinues. The recent violent outbreak in Batabgas, though precipitated by fol-lowers of the Nationalista Party, is symptomatic. The prestige of the Huk-balahap is increasing.

December 19, 1949

Henry Wallace, said he would fight Attlee for the seat. "As head of the government," said Hutchinson, "Mr. Attlee is responsible for the betrayal of Labor's 1945 pledges. . . . It is impossible to have a Tory policy abroad and a Socialist policy at home."

U. S. S. R.

Love and hate at 70

HIS pertrait hangs on the wall of a peasant hut in China; his statue marks a town square in Central Asia bis face appears on posters in Prague, Sefia, Warsaw. There are close to 600,- Sefia, Warsaw. There are close to 609,-600,000 eopies of his writings translated into more than 10 languages. To 700,000,000 people in the socialist world his moustached face with the beetling eyebrows symbolizes socialism triumphant. The honor they pay it mystifies millions behind the Dollar Curtain, who agree that the face is a symbol and for that reason hate it. In every part of the world his name is in every lasue of every paper.

in every issue of every paper. Last week the world prepared to celebrate in various ways his 70th birthday on Dec. 21. Five ten-ton railway cars were fitted out to carry gifts to him from Rumania. China was send-ing some of its ancient classic paintings. Soviet workers prepared to report higher production quotas. The would fire a salve of editorials. The U.S.

Joseph Stalin smoked his pipe and continued to work.

BULGARIA

Kostov must die

ONE after another, ten defendants in a Sofia courtroom admitted conspiring to tear Bulgaria away from the Cominform and the it to an anti-Soviet alliance with Yugoslävia. The names of and British diplomats U.S. and British diplomats were brought up frequently. Most of the ten named the 11th defendant, Traicho Kestov, former Deputy Premier and Central Communist Party, as leader of the also U.S. were the plot.

Kostov did not cross-examine the witnesses, as was his right. When his turn came to speak, he denied again that he had ever spied or plotted, said he "always had respect" for the Soviet Union. His lawyer told the court the charges against his client had been proved, and vehemently urged him to confirm his detailed pre-trial confes-sion. At the trial's end Kostov was, convicted and sentenced to be hanged. Five of his co-defendants were sent to jail for life, the others for terms of eight to 15 years.

TRAICHO KOSTOV Death by hanging

U.S. ANGLE: The trial had become U.S. ANGLE: The trial had become an incident between the U.S. and Bul-garia. In Washington, Bulgarian Charge d'Affaires Peter Voutov was summoned to the State Dept. for a lecture on dip-lomacy: the lesson was that Bulgaria should stop implicating U.S. diplomats in its trials. in its trials.

In Yugoslavia, ten Russian emigres began sentences ranging from three to 20 years at hard labor after conviction on charges of collaborating with Nazis during the war and spying for the Soviet Union after it.

Those anti-histamine pills are no cure-all for colds

THE newest so-called "miracle drug"-the little anti-histamine pill claimed to stop colds before they start—is being plugged one of the biggest advertising campaigns ever known.

Most independent investigators feel that these new pills may have some value, but consider that extravagant claims must be wed with caution.

HIT THE SYMPTOMS: It has not been adequately proved that the anti-histamine drugs actually cure a virus cold. Taken early enough, they do stop cold symptoms: running nose, sneezes, etc. These symptoms may be caused by allergies other than a true cold.

true cold. Certainly if the new drugs can at least stop these symptoms, they're of some help. There is quick relief for the sufferer and less risk a cold will be passed on if sneezes are eliminated. The danger, however, is that because of the "cure-all" type of advertising and the lavish plugs, people will neglect the known techniques for combating virus infection, such as building up resistance by proper rest and diet. Already complaints are appear-ing that in some cases anti-histamines seem only to "delay" a cold. a cold.

WATCH THE EFFECTS: The anti-histamines do not appear to help everybody, even to the extent of relieving sneezes. Some 20% of the test patients in experiments so far indicated they were of the test patients in experiments so far indicated they were not helped. One important caution is in order: some people get definite toxic reactions from various types of anti-histamine drugs now on the market (not all of the pills on the market are concoted from the same anti-histamine drugs). Often these take the form of drowsiness or dizziness, sometimes nausea. It's risky to take anti-histamines before you drive a car, for example, or work with marking the same and the same time of the same times of our times. machinery. Investigators also report that some types are over-stimulating, and therefore not advisable for people with high blood pressure.

Physicians have noticed such reactions particularly in the case of larger dosages. The various anti-histamine pills now on sale without prescription usually contain from ten to 25 milli-grams of the drug in each pill. Larger dosages should be taken only under a doctor's guidance. The true value of the anti-histamines will not be fully estab-lished for some time. Meanwhile, take them only with reservations and caution.

Shopping question Ernest Schechter, a N. Y. dealer in raw furs, writes as follows: "I must criticize your item on cut-price fur sales. The cost of it is this: The fur business is now suffering because of the new Internal Revenue ruling prohibiting sale of tax-exempt fur garments after March 1, and unseasonably warm weather. So you say, let's wait two or three months with our buying and create say, let's wait two or three months with our buying and create distress in this industry. "Your advice can be applied to any industry. Let women wait two or three months in purchasing their spring suits and they'll buy them for much less—and bring disaster to the coat and suit industry and its workers. Let them wait to buy summer footwear and they'll buy for less—and bring suffering to workers in the shoe industry shoe industry.

shoe industry. "Your article is primarily hurtful in its appeal to the woman who has capacity to buy today, but to whose bargain instinct such propaganda appeals. What will this woman accomplish in saving $25 to $50 by waiting until February or March to buy? She will not have the use of her coat for most of the winter, and will have a 1949 style next season."

THE ANSWER: Mr. Schechter makes an important point. Under present conditions, if consumers hold off buying because of high prices, the workers in an industry suffer. But for people with little money, waiting for late-season sales is necessary; otherwise many will not be able to buy at all. And a woman who does save $25 or $50 or a coat will then be able to buy shoes and other items or another coart scorer than otherwise and thus help production or another coat sooner than otherwise and thus help production

-Sidney Margolius

dents 75c. Call JU 6-3335.

New Jersey

INEW JEFSEY CHRISTMAS PARTY, sponsored by Young Progressives of America, Dec. 33. 8:30 p.m., Blue Mirror Room, Masonic Temple, 188 3eimont Ay, Newark. Dramatic presenta-tion by YPA Players and Chorus, effig. refreshments, dancing. Dona-tion: 50c.

Chicago

Chicago CHRISTMAS PARTY, proceeds for gifts to Ingram family. Sat. Dec. 17.430.p.m., the Elam home, 4728 S. Partway, gonosored by Status of Women Commission, Congress of American Women. Donation: $1-or new item of clothing for ages between 2 and 22. Contact: Con-gress of American Women, 179 W. Washington St., Boom 906.

WEEKLY CALENDAR

New York

ENEW LOFK SVMPOSIUM ON STALIN, The Man and His Works, auspices National Council of American-Soviet Friend-ship, Tues., Dec. 20, 8:15 p.m., Siefen-way Hail, 119 W. 57th St. Speakers: Dr. Harry F. Ward, Dr. Howard Sei-sam, William Mandell. Chairman: Dr. W. Alphaeus Hunton: Subscrip-tion 75c.

TEMPORABY AMERICAN ART short and Reception, sponsored by EP, at new cultural center, 129 Iontague Street, Brooklyn. Meet Bilip Zwergood, Rapised Soyer, wry Gottlieb and others, Sate: ec. 17 and 18. Philip Harry Dec. 1

SIX FHANS, presented by World Documentary Theatre, Bec. 27, 28, 29, Barbizon Plaza, 101 W. 66th St. Two performances: 7.45 and 9.45 p.m. Tickets: $1.56 incl. tax. Stu-

The Communist Trial A stinging whodunit of Foley Square

By John T. McManus

GEORGE MARION is a brilliant New York reporter with guts to match.

He has covered every kind of news, from lice court to the United Nations. He knows fix, and has watched stoolpigeons perform from the old days on the N. Y. vice squad's fa-mous Chile Acuna to the FBI's present-day array of Budenzes, Hewitts, Nicodemuses, Elizabeth Bentleys, et al.

Marion's The Communist Trial: An Ameri-can Crossroads is not a political tract. It is journalistic coverage, lowdown and whodunit written with the zest and sting of a Dashiell Hammett underworld yarn. (Hammett, inciden-tally, contributes an introduction.) It has the guts to challenge the slants and biases of press coverage of the trial and to hit at the Medina. myth as well myth as well.

THE SORDID TOUCH: It opens, for example, with a man and a red-headed woman who was not his wife registering at a Pittsburgh hotel. They are picked up by detectives, two guns are found. The FBI moves in. The man and woman are convicted on guilty pleas, then allowed to withdraw their pleas and have an acquittal substituted.

The FBI, with help from the Pittsburgh cops. have netted stoolpigeon No. 1 in trumping up their case against the Foley Square defendants.

"What scabrous souls the informers' trade produces!" Marion comments. Charles Nicode-mus, the Pittsburgh pickup, is only one of many. William Cummings, planted by the FBI, recruited an in-law and two cousins into Com-munist membership, then turned them over to the FBI. John Victor Leblanc was planted in the labor movement in Detroit to win the confi-dence of workers and them recruit them into dence of workers and then recruit them into the Communist membership as a result of his apparent work on grievances. He recruited some real people, some imaginary, but in all cases collected his bounty from and turned over the records to the FBI.

WHO CAN KEEP SILENT? A baker's dozen of these were paraded before the Foley Square jurors, protected by Medina like a mother hen from defense attempts to show them up.

The stories of this "reptile tribe" you did not read in the daily papers reports of the trial. You can read them all in Marion's book, along with the role played by Medina in the farce of es-tablishing their testimony as truth and admis-sible evidence.

Marion's book makes swift, exciting, irrefut-le reading. At the conclusion he boils it down to this:

"A discussion, published in newspapers and magazines, took place within the Communist Party of the United States; a meeting was held at Madison Square Garden. That is all the force and violence the government ever proved at Foley Square.

"The Nazis at least felt it nece sary to have a burning building as a pretext for suspending the constitution. Our cold war mongers manu-factured an occasion out of thin air ...

"Silence in the face of this decicion would be an invitation to fascism."

ANOTHER 'MUST': Additional "must" reading for accurate knowledge of Foley Square is the pamphlet Due Process in a Political Trial, pub-lished by the National Non-Partisan Commit-tee to Defend the Rights of the Twelve Communist Leaders, headed by Judge Norval K. Harris of Indiana.

Printed side by side are the decisions and rulings of Judge Medina, first with respect to the prosecution, then the defense, concerning the admission of testimony, the badgering of defense witnesses as against kid-glove handling of the prosecution's.

Also, the pamphlet makes clear the absurdity the contempt charges against the defense attorneys.

THE COMMUNIST TRIAL: AN AMERICAN CROSSROADS. Fairplay Publishers, 25 W. 44th St., Suite 414, New York 18, N.Y. Cloth, $3; popular, $1.25.

DUE PROCESS IN A POLITICAL TRIAL. Na-tional Non-Partisan Committee, 23 W. 26th St., New York 10, N.Y. 25c.

The Quaker Report

Last summer the American Friends Service Committee published a report calmly tracing the origins of the cold war and proposing a concrete program to end it. The result of an "working party," this report by the Quakers (summarized in the GUARDIAN, July 25) is the most significant contribution to peace from an independent, non-political source since the cold war began. It has now been published complete in book form under the title The United States and the Soviet Union: Some Quaker Proposals for Peace (Yale Uni-versity Press, $1). Progressives should see that it gets the widest possible distribution.

What New York's China thinks about China's China

MULBERRY STREET CHILDREN: Chinese and Italian children play happily together on Mul-berry Street, where the Chinese and Italian communities meet unaware of cold wars and international crises. But the parents of these first-graders ask when the city will get around to replacing their ancient, dilapidated, overcrowded schoolhouse.

SIGN PAINTER: A work of art is Chinese lettering and this Chinese sign painter, Wesley Chan, is also the creator of the portrait in the background. He has designed some of the most dramatic signs that flash their lights on Chinatown.

By Esther Handler

GUARDIAN reporter-photographer WHEN asked what he thinks WHEN asked what he thinks about the situation in China, the man on the street in New York's Chinatown is likely to tell you he's not in-terested in politics or is strictly neutral. What he really thinks might thus be veiled, but he's taking no chances.

This is understandable since This is understandable since most Chinese-Americans have no legal status in this coun-try and the FBI has an-nounced that it is rounding up for deportation Chinese non-citizens found to be "espous-ing communism." A favorable word for the New China might come under that heading. Yet the nicturesque Chinese

Yet the picturesque Chinese community with its cross-section of merchants, workers and intellectuals is anything but a neutral zone. Despite the shadow of immigration authorities, people are taking sides. DON'T DISTURB: This fact DON'T DISTURB: This fact hit the public in a burst of fire-works on Oct. 10 when the Chi-nese community celebrated its "Fourth of July." For the first time the flag of the new Peo-ple's Republic flew from win-dows in Chinatown. Angered, Nationalist Consul General Dr dows in Chinatown. Angered, Nationalist Consul-General Dr. P. H. Chang called upon Mayor O'Dwyer to force removal of these flags. He said they would "arouse the anger of patriotic elements... and become a se-rious cause for local disturb-ances..."

In a countercharge, the Chi-nese Hand Laundry Alliance, ances . . .

an organization of 2,500 which an organization of 2,500 which had displayed one of the flags, told the mayor. "No-one in the Chinese community was aroused to anger except Dr. Chang." They called him "a de-funct official of a defunct gov-ernment." ernment

SUCCESS IS THE THING: SOUCCESS IS THE THING: The new Chinese five-star flag —made the day before from a newspaper picture — flew un-molested throughout Chinese Independence Day. No violence was reported.

The laundrymen's enthusiasm for the new government is not shared by New York's more affluent restaurant own-ers, according to Raymond Tong, secretary of the Chinese-American Réstaurant Assn. He said the members have no confidence in the Communists. He indicated, however, that should the new government succeed, they might change succeed, they might change their attitude.

One prominent businessman, who didn't want to be quoted, volced vehement opposition to the Communists but spoke with the Communists but spoke with equal bitterness about Chiang Kai-shek: "He let us down when he didn't defend Can-ton," he said. "Instead, his sol-diers looted the city and fied, blowing up its largest bridge at a time when many people were on it." Like many New York Chinese, he had come from Canton and still has re-latives there. RECOGNIZE THE FACTS: While many Chinese-Ameri-

While many Chinese-Ameri-cans expressed the hope that the U. S. would soon recognize the new Chinese state, few were optimistic about it. Editor Chu Tong of the China Daily Chu Tong of the China Daily News, which urges recognition, pointed out that it took the U. S. 13 months to recognize the first Chinese Republic es-tablished in 1911. He felt it would take much longer now, with Truman's policy of cold war in the Pacific.

He says: "With the new Chinese government's main objective to repair the broken down economy and build in-dustry, the American people have much to gain from trade with China. This could put many unemployed back to work."

work." The opinion this reporter found typical was that ex-pressed by an editor of the China Tribune, a newspaper which originally favored the Kuomintang but gradually switched its support to the Communists, "We are non-communist," he said, "but we are against Chiang's corrup-tion and for a genuine demo-cratic coalition government. We think this can be achieved under the new government." under the new government."

CHINESE TYPESETTER: (above) This young Chinese typesetter has to know where to find some 3,000 pieces of type commonly used in a Chinese newspapers. The type is all set by hand. Four Chinese-language papers are published in New York.

STREET SCENE: (right) The man on the street in New York's China-town keeps his polities to himself but you can be sure he is interested in what is happening in China. He's a target of heavy propaganda barrage from Kuomintang agents now swarming into the United States.

