Nineteen Hundred and Ten Was Born With "Red Hair'

By Victor L. Berger.

T is not often that the working class and the common people of any city have so good a chance to strike at their oppres-sors as they will have in Milwaukee in the coming election. They have a chance to strike at the trusts, at the local monopolies, the street car company and the others, and vote for a change in the conditions under which nine persons out of ten are nowadays forced to live.

Truly, the voters of Milwaukee, and especially the workingmen, owe it to their own intelligence, to their families and to the entire country to make the most of this opportunity.

For years we used to hear that old chestnut that workingmen threw away their votes when they voted for their own party, because they could not elect anybody—that therefore they ought to vote for a Republican or a Democrat. This condition has been entirely changed by the Social-Democratic party in Milwaukee. Not only is it now generally conceded that the Social-Democratic party has a better chance than either of the two capitalistic parties going it alone, but the following is the situation:

The Republican party is so completely split and demoralized that up to date it cannot even find a candidate willing to be slaughtered.

The Stalwarts and the corporation Republicans will continue in their trade with the Democrats. Besides, the Democrats have the advantage of the ownership of illiterate workingmen's votes. On the other hand, the idea is general that the Republican party is the organization of the big exploiters-an opinion which is confirmed by what La Follette and his following say about their own party. As for the Democratic party, it has been for a generation or so the organization of the small grafter, the boodler, the contractor, the ced light district man and the criminal. The rule of Dave Rose in Milwaukee has only been paralleled by the rule of Tammany in New

If there has been less outcry against graft and stealing in Milwau-kee during the last few years—if the shady work of old party politi-cians and contractors has been less brazen—this has been due only to the presence of the few Social-Democrats in the various councils, who acted as watchdogs for the people.

It is the Social-Democratic party in Milwaukee which has succeeded in raising a city election above the low plane of little meaningless promises and personalities.

Both the old parties know that there is no difference between 1. Both the old parties fear the light thrown upon them. Both the old parties fear our logic, our facts, our honesty.

That is why the capitalist parties want to combine in nine wards, as we are informed by the daily press, and were seriously considering a fusion on the city ticket.

For it is evident and denied by no one who knows our political conditions that the trusts own both of the old parties.

That there is absolutely no difference between Aldrich the Republican leader in the Senate and the father-in-law of John D. Rockefeller, Jr., on one hand—and Bailey, the Democratic leader and the agent of the Standard Oil Company, on the other hand.

And that Neal Brown, the last candidate of the Democratic party of Wisconsin for the United States Senate, is one of the most active defenders in the country of the water power grabbers and the land and

That John I. Beggs, Dave Rose and Vincenz Schoenecker are Democrats. That every thievish contractor doing business with the city is fully as well satisfied with the Democratic city administration as with Republican rule.

The Republicans will not put up much of a campaign in spite of the wealth at their disposal. Their battle against the Democrats will not even rise to the dignity of sham battle.

Eventually they will find a candidate for mayor. They must do so in order to hold the so-called "Progressives" (the radical Half-breeds, or what is left of them) in line, and keep them from voting the Social-Democratic ticket. These "Progressives" would, of course, never vote for Schoenecker or any of the Rose gang-and the moment the Republicans should fail to put up a "banner bearer," they would "red" for mere shame.

So the machine will nominate some loud-mouthed phrase-monger for them—some superficial "grandstand player" who will be just the right kind of a man to "impress" the petty bourgeois corner-saloon reformer. And after the "Progressives" are thus taken care of, the "business men" will turn in as usual and try to elect the Democratic ticket "in order to defeat the Socialists."

John I. Beggs and the street railway company and all the other service corpora cenz Schoenecker—who grew up in the school of Dave Rose, who was Rose's tool for many years—as Dave Rose himself. They fear nobody but the working class. They fear no party but the Social-Democratic party.

One of the great shortcomings of the past has been that for generations local politics have played a small part in our public life.

Working people especially have left municipal government to a small set of pothouse politicians who have turned it into a money

The working class in the past left higher politics to the capitalists and capitalistic lawyers. And the working class in the large cities left city government to the dive-keeper, the ward heeler and the professional politician.

That was the secret of the rise of Tweed and Croker in New York, Bobby Burke in Chicago, and Dave Rose in Milwaukee.

Now Milwaukee with its enlightened working class - enlightened by millions of pieces of literature, that have been spread during many years—is peculiarly fitted to be the place for the beginning of the new

The voters of Milwankee have tried Social-Democratic aldermen, Social-Democratic supervisors, Social-Democratic school directors and not one of them has been found wanting.

Milwaukee, while one of the greatest manufacturing centers of Milwaukee, while one of the greatest manufacturing centers of the country, according to a late report of the United States Census Bureau, is the least congested of any large city of the United States. Milwaukee has less of the hopelessly degenerated human beings known as the slum proletariat. And Milwaukee has more enlightened and thinking workingmen than any other city in the United States.

This Milwaukee campaign, is therefore, of vital importance to the

Some say that we could not bring about Socialism by carrying a

But it is also true that nowhere, not even in a national campaign, is there a greater necessity for intense Socialist agitation than in

The election of the Social-Democratic candidates will mean not the mere cleaning out of the foul brood of grafters who make bargains with corrupting corporations. It will mean not only the retirement of boodling and "divvying" contractors from our public life. It will mean the beginning of a new principle in home government. It will mean that for the first time in the history of Milwaukee

The press accounts accord the Labor party (Socialistic) 41 seats in the new parliament of England. They will have practically the same influence in that government as they did in the last parliament and will have to be relied on by the Liberal government to put through the decidedly Socialistic budget.

And the capture of the political power by the working class of Milwaukee will signify the beginning of a new chapter in American

Voters must remember that every vote cast for the Social-Democratic party is a knock at the present system of exploitation. They must remember that every vote for the Social-Democratic party vote against misery, crime, prostitution and woman and child labor,

They must remember that every vote for the Social-Democratic party is a vote for a decent standard of living, and a strike against the fearful rise of all the necessaries of life.

Workingmen will protest against the price of beef and pork and shoes and coats and rents and coal-by voting the Social-Democratic

Small business men will protest against the meat trust and the wool trust and the coal trust and the drug trust and the steel trust and the coffin trust—by voting the Social-Democratic ticket.

Workingmen and small business men, who want real improvements, and the best governed city they have ever had-and who want progress and a higher civilization and a new world for their children and children's children-who want to abolish this cut-throat capitalist system and establish a new social order of justice and general culture, will vote the Social-Democratic ticket.

And as for the organized Social-Democrats of Milwaukee-the Socialists of the entire country look to them to make good. It is expected that they will do their full duty in this election. That they will spread more literature, agitate more and work harder than they have ever worked before. Victor [Berger

"Is the Republican Party Breaking Up?" is the title of the leading feature in the February American Magnazine. Its author is Ray Stannard Baker, and he claims that there are no longer two parties except in name. In reality there are three parties which he defines as follows:

"I The Stand-patters or Conservatives, represented by such men as Aldrich and Cannon, among the Republicans, and McEnery of Louistana, among the Democrats. They stand essentially for the control of government by proferty and privileged interests. They have with them the considerable group of older and temperamentally conservative voters who still cling unthinkingly to party names.

KNOW WHY SOCIAL-ISM IS COMING

There is a reason for it—a scientific, logical reason—based on the history of the past. The signs are strung along the economic development of the past five thousand years like guide posts along ments, law and social movements unmistakably point the way to

V. L. BERGER SAYS:

Every Socialist should know something besides his Karl Marx. The mere knowledge of a few Socialist phrases is not sufficient to make a "scientific" Socialist.

In order to know why Socialism is coming, a Socialist should have some idea of the theory of evolution, and some knowledge of history; in order to know why it is coming; he must know something of economic development. We, as Socialists, are vitally interested in the development of civilization. History for us is not a collection of "shallow village tales," the story of the coronations, weddings and burials of kings. For us the true lesson of history is the story of the progress of mankind by gradual steps from brutal savagery to

Wall Street Journal says:

"An investigation under the aumade in New York this year, dealt with the household budgets of 318 representative families of working people, reporting incomes varying from $600 to $1,100. Less than half these families were supported by the income of the father. Above the $700 limit, in the majority of cases, mothers or children were contributors. It was the conclusion of the expert investigators that an income under $800 is not enough to permit the maintenance of a nor-mal standard of living for an average family of five. A "Jolly" for Railway Employes

The organization of a branch of the American Railroad Employes' and Investors' association in this city is the most artistic piece of labor skinning yet devised.

Ex-President Morrisey, of the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen, is president of the new venture on a salary of $15,000 a year. The following is taken from the "objects of the association:"

All day long the glittering dagger rose and fell, each time a hog died, and the rich red blood flowed and splashed over the man's arms and hands. He looked up at me and smiled—this, human brother of mine—and even as he smiled the glittering dagger unerringly hit the jugular vein. Two years after he went mad—but his hand never ceased its automatic action, even when the light of his brain went out, and he felled five men before they could wrench from him the terrible dagger—a dagger no more cold or unfeeling than those who crushed his life. The Common Good

An "Americanized" Adaptation of Robert Blatchford's Famous

This is gross tyranny and gross injustice, but it is only another example of the meanness, the selfishness, and the dishonesty of those whom we falsely call the refined and superior classes. It is amusing to hear that a man is "too much of a gentleman" to empty his own ashpit, when the truth is that he is not enough of a gentleman to refuse to allow his fellow-citizen to empty it for him. Under Socialism snobbery will perish. And when snobbery is dead, gentility will be ready for burial.

Another common question is

3. Under Socialism: Would the frugal workman lose his house and savings?

First, as to the savings. Mr. Richter, in his foolish pamphlet, "Pictures of the Future," which was used in vain to scare the workmen in Germany, makes the people revolt because a Socialistic government has nationalized their savings.

Now, we will assume that such a thing happened, and that the deposits in the banks were nationalized. Would the frugal workman lose by that? I say he would not.

It is true that at present the frugal workman only gets about one-half of his earnings. Under Socialism he would get all his earn-

But why does the frugal workman save? He saves against a "rainy day." Because if he fall ill, or live to be old and infirm, he will have to go to the workhouse unless he has saved.

But under Socialism he need have no fear. No man would be left destitute or helpless in his old age. The sick would be cared for, the widows and orphans would be cherished and defended.

You know that many men now pay high premiums to insurance companies. This is to provide for their widows and children. Under Socialism the state would provide for the widows and children. That is to say that Socialism is the finest scheme of life insurance

Suppose you had by dint of great care succeeded in saving five or six hundred dollars. Would you not cheerfully pay that for a state promise of support for yourself when old—of ample and honorable support-and of support and education for your children after your

But I don't think it is at all likely that a Socialist state would take the worker's savings.

And again I ask you to turn your attention to the present system, under which every worker is robbed of two-thirds of all he earns. Then as to the worker's cottage. Assuming that he has bought with his savings, and even assuming that the state nationalized it. AVhat then? A workman now buys a house that he and his children may be sure of a home.

Under Socialism every man would be sure of a home. One more consider our present system. A few men own their own houses. But the great bulk of the people cannot own a foot of land.

When I was in Ireland I visited some "estates" upon the Galtee Hills. I saw farms which had been made by the "tenants." places where the peasants had gone up into the bleak hills, where the limestone blocks lay thick and only a thin layer of sandy turf covered the rock, and had spent twenty years in making the land. They re-moved the boulders, they dug soil in the valleys, and carried it up the steeps in baskets; they bought manure and lime and they built their own hovels out of mud and stones.

And then the estate and houses were the property of the landlord, and he faised their rents from 200 to 500 per cent.

And we are asked whether Socialism would rob the frugal worker of his home!

It is strange that men should attach importance to such trivial points as these; but yet I believe that these small errors are a great hindrance to the spread of Socialism.

Here is another droll question:
4. Under Socialism: Who would get the salmon, and who would the smoked fish?

Let us follow the system I suggested and reverse the question. Who gets the salmon and who gets the smoked fish now?

Is it not true that the salmon and all other delicacies are monopolized by the idle, while the coarse food falls to the lot of the worker? Perhaps under Socialism the salmon might be eaten by those who catch it. At present it is not. Or perhaps the dainties would be reserved for invalids and old people, or for delicate women and children.

But certainly we should not see a lot of big, fat, strong aldermen gorging turtle and champagne while frail girls worked sixteen hours a on a diet of crusts and roffce.

It is quite possible that even under Socialism there might not be enough salmon and pineapple for all. But it is quite certain that there would be enough bread and beef and tea for all, which there certainly is not now.

A NEW BOOKLET ON

THE BIGGEST PROBLEM Written by SENATOR GAYLORD

Senator Gaylord introduced, at the last session of the Wisconsin legislature, a resolution, in the form of a petition to congress, asking for immediate action to relieve the unemployment problem in ing for immediate action to releve the unemployment problem in this country.

Of course, the resolution was killed. The Republicans didn't want to know anything about it, for fear they might "recognize Socialism"—and the Democrats followed suit.

In searching for data on the subject, so as to present the argument as fully as possible, Senator Gaylord found a surprising scarcity of material available on American conditions. He began to start inquiries in every direction, however, and replies began to come in Meanwhile the Senatos was invited to debate the subject of "Unemployment and Socialism as its Remedy" with Jehn Basil Barnhill. Mr. Barnhill did not know much about unemployment, or Socialism, either, but the debate gave Comrade Gaylord occasion to probe deeper into the question.

Finding such a scarcity of information on the subject, and no Socialist book or pamphlet bearing directly upon it in detail, he decided to give the American comrades the immediate use of what material he had already secured—meanwhile continuing his investigations.

The forty pages of this pamphlet are packed with informa-tion, gathered from state and national bureaus of labor, foreign reports, and such facts as could be secured from American labor

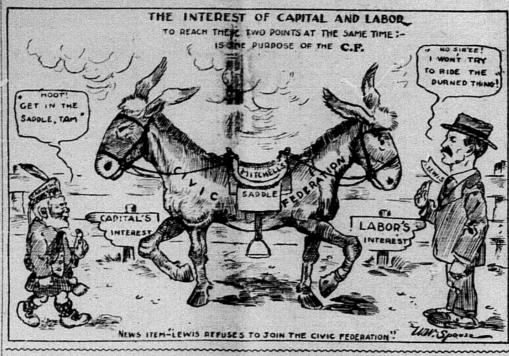

The pamphlet deals with Seasonal Unemployment, Industrial Displacement. The Chronic Unemployed. The Panic and The Industrial Reserve Army. The returns from Wisconsin are given with especial accuracy and completeness.

We have heard much of unemployment, and most of us know what it is to be "out of a job". But this little work sets forth the fact, and the Socialist argument based upon it, with startling clearness.

Comrade Otto Maier:-The Social the unions.

In nearly every other country of the world this question has been settled, but with us it remains a bone of contention.

Nor is this all. Again and again with Edulus agreed with Laguard and the unions to abandon it some few countages of the Salle; he classed Robert Owen as a utopian; he did his utmost to desting a utopian; he did his utmost to destroy Proudhonizatism and he never sheathed his sword in his battle.

Nor is this all. Again and again with Bakunine.

Comrade Wm. Burmeister in send comrades have revived Robert Owen's utopian project for a national labor union comprising all classes and ranks of labor.

Even now a section of the movement is seeking to revive the Proudhonianism which Marx so bitterly fought and destroyed.

Well-known men in our ranks are today speaking contemptuously of the ballot and urging "direct action" as all sufficient.

Marx considered that the trade union, as every other movement in three new subscribers writes. "I besieve you are doing a great work, greater perhaps than you may ever have the satisfaction of knowing: but whenever you are tempted to be union must evolve out of its own Struggles—its defeats as well as its victories—the most potent form of united action.

He never believed that any one could bring down from the clouds some heaven-born and ideal form of organization of humanity."

A Milwankee teacher who desire to have her name withheld, writes in renewing her subscription:—"The cry of starving children, the sobs of women poisened in the lead works, women poisened in the lead works, driven to prostitution by starvation, made old and haggard by ceaseless work, the result of an evil system inseparable from private ownership of the instruments of wealth production, has made me a Socialist.

dustrial movement, each enjoying independent action, yet some of us still insist upon our party deciding in its national conventions the tactics to be pursued by the industrial movement. We all say we must convert the working class and some of us be-

Really refreshing reading make the reports coming from the convention of the United Mine Work ers, which is being held in Indianapolis, Ind., during the past two weeks. President Thomas L. Lewis at the opening of the convention in terms not to be misunderstood has told the delegates what he thought of the National Civic Federation. He presented that conglomeration of "harmonists" in their true light Carnegie, the steel king, the head of the steel trust, which, at the present time, is being fought by organized labor is there sitting peacefully next to the very "labor leaders" who are to conduct the fight "to the finish." Lewis referred to various big strikes which could have been settled, if not prevented, by the Civic Federation, where both the employers and the officers of the workers involved in these strikes are members. Mitchell, the former president of 'he mine workers is still one of the biggest "lights" in the Civic Federation; his successor in office is just as much opposed to that organization. It is to be seen the miners are realizing their position and they are to be congratulat ed upon this fact.—Bakers' Jour-nal.

A Religion of Love.

A Religion of Love.

A pamphlet has just left the press and is for sale, which the author believes will cause quite a sensation. The author demands nothing less than the abolishing of all the thousand existing traditional churches and the introducing of one universal church built on the principles that are common to all the leading religions of the world: Confucianism, Hindooism, Judaism, Christianity and Mohammedanism. medanism.

He holds that the one standard or criterion of truth and life, the one principle of theology and ethics is love. The title of his pamphlet is, "The Universal Religion of Love; the Religion that Blends All Religions into One."

In regard to ethics the author holds that love is the only test. "Every-thing that is in accordance with love is right, and if thousand law-givers, is right, and if thousand law-givers, priests, fanatics, tyrants, or anybody apitalistic inclinations, due to enforment—and possible other inducements.

MORE BEGGS BUTCHERY

Edgar Nyman, Jr., aged 9 years son of Dr. Edgar Nyman, 570 Frederick avenue, lost his left foot by slipping beneath a Farwell avenue car at Jackson and Martin streets, shortly after noon on

This is another accident due to Beggs' heaping of icy snow banks down by saying that forty cars be alongside his street car tracks. The blame rests with Butcher Beggs and the board of public works that permits him to defy the law.

It is noticeable that the men who are active in trying to make a deal between the two old parties in certain wards are all members of the time ago, and now comes word that Catholic church. It is easy to see who is behind the move, and why. And the grafters are ready enough for such an alliance!

What moral right has a man like FAVERSHAM

Tom. Neacy, who has been called a boodler and a grafter in an open meeting before 3,000 people, and who had to take it—a man who has figured in court proceedings as a briber of public officials — what moral right has a man of that stripe to ask an investigation of the State Agricultural Society's management!

> Thomas Neacy is butting in again. He wants to investigate the conditions in the State Agricultural society for the state. What if the state should turn around and in-vestigate conditions in Tom Neacy's shop! Conditions in the agricultur-al society only affect a few. But conditions in Neacy's establishment affect very vitally the lives of many

The interurban car will become a big problem to the city people as time goes on. Big, noisy, jarring. shricking, no home owner wants them rushing by his house at all hours of the day or night, and no

The feeling against the interurban car is not lack of progressive spirit. No one objects to interurban car lines connecting the city with the country villages and cities. That is in the interests of progress.

The city might as well come to it first as last. It should provide special trackways from the outskirts to the center of the city and bid them all enter. This would an noy on one, injure no residence street-it would solve the whole question.

Something along this line was at the High Prices Mass Meeting. Tuesday Evening, at the last week by Ald. Seidel.
