Comment on Passing Events.

By Frederic Heath

Funny how many of the big land thieves get to Washington, sooner or later.

Milwaukee Social-Democrats expect to do some things in the coming primary election.

Cowardly editorials on the Spanish situation are now thicker than hops in the capitalist newspapers.

Don Jaime is finding that even powerful backing at a distance does not necessarily prevail before a people determined to be free.

Our modern prisons are for the most part breeders of tuberculosis. Society thinks it punishes the rogues, but it punishes itself far more.

Sherman has never had a very high reputation in Washington. But, of course, it would never do to even admit that a vice president could graft.

The capitalistic politician is a soldier of fortune. Where he cannot lead himself he joins the camp of the man who he thinks will lead him the safest to the political pie counter.

Victor L. Berger left last Monday for Copenhagen, where he will serve as international delegate to the International Socialist Congress. He will remain in Europe several weeks.

The capitalistic politician is never a righteous crusader. He is always a self-seeker, playing a good game or a bad game as conditions require. Reform that comes from capitalistic politicians is at best a tawdry, counterfeit article.

One of the queer contradictions of capitalism is its necessity to encourage the people to spend their money and enlarge their wants for the benefit of the tradesmen and business and yet its necessity as well to blame the people's semi-poverty to their "extravagance."

"Only one party now in evidence has any real comprehensive policy to offer," says Ray Stannard Baker in the American Magazine. "Whatever may be our hostility to its tenets, the fact remains that the Socialist party is the only one that makes any pretense to having reasoned out our present conditions to an ultimate conclusion."

Vice President Sherman now rests upon his dignity. It is the safest thing to do, considering that his pals in congress will look to it that no investigation is made of the revelations about his being one of the "men higher up" in prospective Indian land steals.

It becomes more and more apparent that the postal savings banks law was passed for political purposes only. Already the congressmen are returning to their constituents with appeals for re-election on the strength of the great law they have passed for the people. It is a foxy law, framed up to benefit the bankers primarily! but after the bankers come the politicians.

Emanuel Phillip, a Wisconsin Cannon-man, scolds the Socialists and talks about the great prosperity that the people enjoy. That there is prosperity for the Phillips and the exploiters class generally cannot be denied, but they only speak for themselves. How the other half (or two-thirds) lives is the least of their worries.

A wealthy young Racine manufacturer named Mitchell Lewis is trying to buy himself the Republican nomination for governor of Wisconsin. Money is no object. Unheard of before, he is now buying his name and face into the minds of the people. This is one of the baleful effects of the wonderful primary law reform. The primary law has made office getting in the old parties strictly a rich man's pursuit.

Gripe-nuts Post of Battle Creek, union-hater and chemical food artist, owns a newspaper in his home town. When that paper got into an argument over unionism with another paper and the other paper showed up the real reasons back of Post's anti-union antics, Post lost his temper and made a histic assault on the rival editor. Now Post has been arrested and the case will go to court. The last time Post was in court was when he and his wife were divorced, with a pretty typewriter mixed up in the testimony, it is said.

Milwaukee-old-party politicians are looking forward nervously to primary day. They fear a big Social-Democratic primary vote, for that would mean a whoop of triumph that would continue until election day. The primary vote in the city election was a staggerer and it presaged the victory that followed close on its heels. All sorts of means now will be resorted to to coax and frighten Social-Democratic voters from voting the primary ticket. Our party needs 20 per cent of its vote to get on the ballot, but oh, how they would jump if we got 50 or 60 per cent!

You never hear of men stealing water (except a big manufacturer secretly taps a city main occasionally). Prisons are not built for water thieves. Yet water is as necessary as food or clothing or shelter. There is usually an economic necessity back of crime. Or, to put it in another way, most crime has an economic justification,

The City Has a Great Deal of Power, Mr. Beggs!

By Victor L. Berger.

THE SHARES of the North American Company fell several points when the result of the last municipal election in Milwaukee was known. There would have been no reason for such a drop if Mr. John I. Beggs had more of the business man and less of the bull-dog in his make-up.

Of course, the capitalization of the Milwaukee Electric Railway and Light Company and of the Milwaukee Light, Heat and Traction Company is outrageous. It amounts to $117,500,000.

Mr. Beggs evidently believes that the interest and dividends on the outstanding stock can only be paid by exploiting the people of Milwaukee to the utmost limit of their endurance.

But Mr. Beggs is a mighty poor manager. However, the Social-Democratic administration wants peace even with the street car company.

We only insist on an adequate, clean, and safe car service for the streets of Milwaukee. But we will go as far as the law will permit (and take some chances at that) to force Mr. John I. Beggs and the street car company to comply with this demand, if the self-interest of the company should not be sufficient to induce the company to do so.

We are well aware that Mr. John I. Beggs is in possession of a blanket franchise gotten by illegal, illicit and contemptible means from a corrupt city administration in the year 1900.

But we feel sure that this franchise will not hold good in the courts because several of its provisions are unconstitutional.

Nevertheless, before we go to war with the street car company, we are willing to make peace and grant Mr. Beggs the extensions asked for, if he will grant a few concessions to cover the entire system.

We demand a transfer system on the Beggs lines that will enable a person to get from starting point to destination on one fare. We want Beggs to abolish the arbitrary and silly rule that transfers must be asked for when the fare is paid. In connection with this, I want to mention that in some states the people have far greater privileges. For instance, even in the capitalist-ridden state of Pennsylvania, the supreme court has decided that a transfer is good until used.

Furthermore, we will compel Beggs to remove the snow from the tracks next winter without piling it up on both sides of the tracks.

Moreover, I believe that the Common Council has the power to regulate the headway of cars for the whole system.

Of course, we can not make Beggs accept the model franchise because he has the city by the throat through the blanket franchise of 1900.

However, every new company should be made to accept the new conditions. That the city has been robbed once is no reason why it should be robbed on every new occasion.

The Milwaukee Northern has accepted a franchise infinitely more favorable to the city than any franchise ever given. And it is furnishing eight tickets for a quarter besides. And as yet no one has ever claimed that the Milwaukee Northern is going into bankruptcy.

Among other reasonable provisions, the model franchise will contain a clause providing that the entire property is to revert to the city at the end of a specified period, or whenever the city shall get ready to take over that part of the street railway trackage and rolling stock necessary for the municipal management of the lines within the city limits.

The city now has the power to buy, own and operate such lines and to issue the necessary bonds whenever a referendum of the voters so decides.

The model franchise, moreover, will demand a guarantee that the rolling stock, the trackage and the equipment be kept in good condition. As for the condition of the rolling stock of the Beggs company, please see the report of the railroad commission which marked it 54—on a 100 per cent basis—for the year 1909.

Since then it has become considerably worse.

The model franchise will also see to it that the city gets a certain yearly revenue from the company for the franchise while it is in operation. The city of St. Paul gets six per cent of the gross income from the street car company.

The model franchise will furthermore make sure that the eight-hour day shall be observed by the companies and that any organization of the street car employees shall not be interfered with.

In order to settle disputes and avoid strikes, the franchise should provide for a board of arbitration. This board should be made up of three representatives of the employees, three of the company and three of the city.

Such simple and reasonable provisions should be contained in every franchise.

Under the present law, an exclusive franchise can never again be granted. However, the conditions should be stipulated under which new suburban companies coming into the city could have the use of the tracks of the old companies.

Of course, the model franchise could not very well apply to the extensions granted to Mr. Beggs for the reason stated above.

But the time has passed when Mr. Beggs could laugh at the Common Council of Milwaukee.

His assertion that any further extensions granted to the company will detract from the value of his system is a bare-faced falsehood. He must have extensions and many of them in order to complete his system.

Besides, it matters nothing to us whether his stock will rise or fall in the market. And we know that the city administration will attack the street car company in such a manner that the stock of the North American Company which went up like a rocket will come down like a stick, and that the water will be squeezed out of its fictitious value of these securities—unless the officials will use a little common sense and grant the just demands of the people of Milwaukee.

Mr. Beggs, therefore, would better beware!

heaves and kindred other ailments. The printing of the Herald had to be done outside. But the movement grew, the papers increased in influence and circulation. And in the course of time historic 614 State street became too small. Two blocks away, at 344 Sixth street, a vacant store building, one floor could be had. We summoned up courage and branched out. From that time we have kept on expanding. Again the quarters became too small, and the owner of the Sixth street building was prevailed on to build an addition for us in the rear. In time the printers and bindery and our book business began to cry for more space. So the second floor of the building next door was rented and the editorial rooms, the organization departments and state secretary's de-

The Farmers' Problem and Co-Operatives

THE MOST important question discussed at the national convention of the Socialist party was undoubtedly the farmers' question.

The farmers constitute two-thirds of the population of the United States. The farmers of the United States are the most predominant element of the population of the United States.

Most of the socialist philosophers believed that the future farm was to be a large farm with many employed farm hands. The history of the farmers' movement during the last five years shows the contrary.

Beginning an End

Chicago Daily Socialist: Several years ago the newspapers carried flaming headlines announcing that the Northern Securities Company having been dissolved by the courts, trusts would now be disrupted and destroyed.

Only a few days ago we received a report that a successful co-operative laundry had been started in Orléans City on the plan advocated by the American Wholesale Co-operative.

With great flourish of trumpets it was announced that the tobacco trust was crushed. But for months the supreme court of the United States has been reviewing this decision and the tobacco trust is growing stronger daily.

Shortly after this the headlines proclaimed that a New Jersey grand jury had indicted the heads of the beef trust. Once more we were assured by the editorial henchmen of capitalism that another proof of the equality of all before the law was to be furnished.

This week came the news that the indictment against James A. Patten for cornering cotton, that was hailed as an instance of impartial justice catching a great criminal, had been dropped.

The British Labor Movement

A Series of Articles by Walter Thomas Mills

Article No. 8.
The Parliamentary Labor Party.
(Written for The Herald.)

THE CULMINATION of the British Labor Movement is in the Parliamentary party. The political parties in Great Britain have been managed from the beginning of their history by acknowledged leaders. Programs are determined, measures introduced, policies established and supported in the cabinet meetings of the ruling party. Any measure which the party in power presents as a party measure, all members of that party are expected to vote for and to refuse to do so or to refuse to obey the commands of the party whip is held to be treason to the party.

The party in opposition has its leader and its group of acknowledged advisors, the leader being a prime minister, for the time being out of a job, and the members of the party of the opposition are expected to be as loyal to the party leadership and as obedient to the party whip when out of power as when holding office. "Members bills" is a term applied to bills which may be introduced without the support and without the opposition of the official leaders of the party. Such bills are understood to be presented on their merits and all members of parliament regardless of party membership are at liberty to support or oppose as their interest or convictions may require.

It frequently occurs that such "members bills" in the course of discussion are officially opposed and when such a change of policy is adopted by either party the parliamentary members are supposed to fall into line and play the game of "follow the leader."

Must Fall in Line.
When the labor party had secured parliamentary representation the members of the party attempted at once to organize a party caucus which should make the labor party in parliament not the less effective as a fighting machine but more democratic in its method of procedure.

Much of the complaint which has reached this country concerning the leadership of the labor party has been made because the leader of the labor party has not the power in the party organization to do things and to command the support of the labor members after the same manner as the leaders in the other parties are accustomed to do.

It has occurred that a semi-official utterance is of very great importance when a meeting of the caucus is not practical. Such utterances are understood by the members of the labor party to be subject always to the approval or disapproval of subsequent meetings of the party caucus, and the approval by the caucus of such an utterance or its disapproval, is manifestly not in the nature of a vote of confidence or of lack of confidence in the leader. It is only the official statement of the position which the caucus itself has determined to support and thereafter the leader is expected to be as obedient to the will of the caucus of the labor party as the members of the party are expected to be obedient to the will of the party leader among the liberals and conservatives.

The Parliamentary Caucus.
The final authority in determining the party policy on any question of current controversy, on behalf of the labor movement of Great Britain, is determined by this parliamentary caucus. In British politics there is always a dominant issue, the one which was the test question in securing control of the government by the ruling party. It is frequently true, as above indicated, that there are other issues deemed to be of sufficient importance so that all members of the party are expected to vote as a unit for the policy of the party which was supported in previous election or other measures which are to be defended as expressions of party policy in the succeeding elections. When the ruling party is defeated on such questions it resigns.

In establishing caucus rule, the place of personal leadership, the labor party has attempted to insist upon obedience to the decrees of the caucus on only those measures about which the working class of Great Britain are in substantial agreement. Concerning other matters, the members of the labor party are as free to introduce "members bills," and to take sides for or against other measures, as are the members of other parties. This liberty of individual judgment and this making of individual records, with regard to all matters of subordinate importance, is rather encouraged than discouraged and is a strong element in maintaining the personal strength and independence of the parliamentary representatives of the labor party.

In the organization of parliamentary work it is found that all of the different labor unions, the co-operative societies and the great municipal activities of the British cities, as related to the general government, are not only represented in this parliamentary group, but the most capable and most representative men, men with the longest years of experience, with the best records for achievement in the various interests represented by them, are the men who finally come to parliament.

of international congress, each member of which, in a most important manner, represents some country and in this way the international relationships of Great Britain, from a workingman's standpoint, are most carefully guarded.

When labor representatives were first elected to parliament—this was before the organization of the labor party—an effort was at once made by the opponents of the labor movement to involve the representatives of labor in scenes of drunkenness or disorder, and in that way, having disgraced a member, rob him of any influence which he might have had as the spokesman of the working class.

This parliamentary caucus has taken the matter very seriously. Total abstinence has been voluntarily adopted as the rule of the labor representatives while in London and to violate this voluntary pledge made for the purpose of protecting the highest interests of the workers against this loss of power through this loss of standing, would rob one entirely of his position and influence in the caucus of his party.

It is necessary to have these facts in mind in order to realize the great influence of the labor party. It would be well to remember, as a matter of interest, that a two-thirds vote recently secured for woman's suffrage in the house of commons was secured on a "members bill" introduced by a member of the labor party.

The position of this parliamentary caucus, its relations to all public measures, the obedience which it demands, the conditions on which its support can be secured, make it not only a strong factor in the very rapid growth of the labor movement of Great Britain, but it is a matter of first importance in the whole life of the British Isles, and in all their relations to all other countries.

Is Mr. Cummins Really Progressive?

(John M. Work, in Des Moines Daily Register and Leader.)

THINK NOT.
One of the saddest things in human life is the fact that so many people think they are headed frontwards when in reality they are headed backwards.

That is the case with Mr. Cummins. A recent writer makes the following most significant statement: "The most stirring times are those of transition, when it is the hardest to distinguish the trend of living forces from the notes of the passing age. Mistaken loyalties to causes of extinguished glory trail their mournful light across the pages of history, as the rays of dead stars wander forever through space. He is the strong man, the wise man, whose humility in the presence of facts has bestowed on him the gift to read the mind of his age aright and to co-operate with its true purpose."

Mr. Cummins has failed to distinguish the notes of the passing age from the trend of living forces. He is giving mistaken loyalty to a cause of extinguished glory.

He has not read the mind of the age aright and is not co-operating with its true purpose. In a recent speech Mr. Cummins is reported as saying: "It is the competitive against the Socialist theory of government. Competition in the individual or in industry are the only safeguards against avarice and greed."

Mr. Cummins is utterly mistaken. Co-operation is the only safeguard against avarice and greed.

Competition is gone forever, except in a few small industries. There is no use wishing that it might return. It is just as impossible for it to return as it is for the chick to go back into the egg. You can't turn industrial evolution backwards.

Competition is only possible with primitive machinery where a man can carry on an industry by his own labor or where a few men can carry on an industry by their own labor.

Modern machinery literally compels co-operative industry. It is an impossibility to carry on any great industry except by many people co-operating together. Competition is impossible.

The only trouble is that we allow a few men to own the great industries and thereby permit them to get nearly all the earnings of the rest of the people.

The remedy is the public or collective ownership and control of the great industries.

Then the benefit will go to all the people, instead of going to a few capitalist parasites, as it does now.

Would that Mr. Cummins might be able to see this fact and bend his great ability toward attaining that end.

Charles Edward Russell has seen it. Robert Hunter has seen it. Joseph Medill Patterson has seen it. J. G. Phelps Stokes has seen it. They have quit their foolishness and gone into the Socialist movement. They are headed frontwards.

Mexican Martyrs for Liberty

By J. Mahlon Barnes

HERE HAVE BEEN released from the penitentiary at Florence, Arizona, three Mexican political refugees, namely, Antonio I. Villarrel, R. Flores, Magon and Livrado Rivera. Their eighteen months' sentence imposed by a federal judge of the United States court, upon the charge of violating the neutrality laws, expired August 3.

From their prison cell they issued a call to the liberty loving citizens of America to protect them from the threat of further persecution, it being understood that they might be immediately rearrested. These men have been in jail continuously since August 23, 1907. They were held prior to the trial upon various charges brought by the Mexican government, ranging from petty larceny to that of murder. During this period, the several charges, in turn and of necessity, were abandoned when fully refuted by legal testimony, leaving the one and only charge, that of violating the neutrality laws, upon which conviction was secured.

These men were and are members of the Mexican Liberal party. The conduct of the recent election in Mexico shows that such affiliation is a sufficient crime in the eyes of the Mexican despot. The Mexican government tried to extradite these men, but though failing in this effort, the purpose of the persecution has been well served by the fact that the United States government has acted as their jailer during all these years, and apparently intends to continue occupying that shameful role.

The trivial charges previously made use of to deprive these men of their liberty in advance of trial is ample reason for the belief that their imprisonment may be continued indefinitely, with or without trial. Attitude of United States Government.

Attorney-General G. W. Wickersham was written to July 2, 1910, as follows: "A statement from these men shows that they anticipate being rearrested at the expiration of their term and they protest that there can be no just cause lodged against them. Therefore, any such action would only be a continuance of the persecution visited upon them as political refugees from Mexico, based upon their previous political activity only."

"They ask the assistance of American citizens and of the government in protecting them from further persecution."

"However, kindly inform me if these men, or any of them, are to be rearrested by order of your department, and kindly state the charges." No reply was received to the above letter, but the disposition of the attorney-general is known. At a recent hearing granted by a committee of congress, Messrs. De Lara and Turner appeared in behalf of all Mexican political refugees. The cases of Villarrel, Magon and Rivera were definitely presented and Attorney General Wickersham, in response, to a question from Congressman Wilson of Pennsylvania, stated that it was the intention of the government to press further charges against them. These men, besides being members of the Liberal party of Mexico, are working men and have given years of effort to organizing the labor movement in that country.

The Mexican government put forth every effort to ruthlessly stamp out this movement of the workers and as is well known political liberty is a myth in that country which is a republic only in name.

Dear reader, this is your concern. Kindly write today a protest to the government at Washington against the infliction of further punishment upon these men and against that attitude of the government which denies political refugees an asylum in America.

Villarrel, Magon and Rivera have for a long time been separated from their families, friends and companions. Hounded by the Mexican government and are now about to finish a term of three years imprisonment in the United States penitentiary. They are without funds or means for legal defense, and they make their appeal of right to the working people of America to assist them in protecting their rights and defending them from further vengeance at the hands of Porfirio Diaz.

Send all contributions to John C. Chase, president Political Refugee Defense League, 180 Washington street, Chicago, Illinois. Again, dear reader, you can make this a public question by bringing it before every organization to which you belong, and having resolutions sent to Washington. But don't forget a contribution, regardless of its size. It is for freedom's cause.

The Ghost of Ferrer

Cleveland Citizen: Evidently it doesn't pay to murder schoolmasters—even in Spain. The answer to the butchery of Ferrer last October is seen in the establishment last month of an avowed anti-clerical government, whose first move has been to take steps against the religious orders, thus repeating the political situation in France. One open and avowed Socialist, Pablo Iglesias, has been elected to the Cortes, and many other candidates with strong socialistic leanings. The clerical vote in Barcelona, the scene of Ferrer's murder, was but one-sixth of the anti-clerical polls. The prime minister, Canalejas, is extremely anti-clerical and ignores all the protests of the church factions, his policy being stated as that of "Europeanizing Spain," and he has a big majority to help carry it out.

It is impossible to say how far we may blame the individual for doing that which his competitors and associates consider legitimate. At the same time, social changes can be inaugurated only by those that feel the unrighteousness of contemporary conditions. An expression of their scruples may be the one opportunity for pushing forward moral tests into that dubious area wherein wealth is accumulated and may afford the first suggestion for legislation embodying an advancing public opinion.—Jane Adams.

In Belgium the Socialists now have thirty-four Socialists in parliament.

"Third Degree" Exposed
Los Angeles is the latest city to have an exposure of the "third degree" as applied to a poor and helpless prisoner. The exposure has resulted from the re-arrest of Fred Horning, whom the authorities vainly tried to hold on a charge of murder.

In September, 1908, Police Captain Auble and Chief of Detectives Flannery arrested, on suspicion of their being about to commit a burglary, two young fellows named Sutherland and Horning. While the latter was being handcuffed and hurried into an adjoining house the former shot and killed Auble. Evidently a scuffle had taken place for the officer's dying words were: "I didn't do any shooting at all. My gun was knocked out of my hand." Sutherland, finding himself cornered, committed suicide.

There was great excitement, Captain Auble was buried with much pomp and highly eulogized, and the survivor of the two prisoners, Horning, was depicted as an archfiend. At the expiration of seven days he was brought to trial in one of the police courts, such trial being behind closed doors, and confessed to an assault to commit murder, alleged to have been committed two years previously. Thereupon he was given the heaviest sentence allowed by law, fourteen years, and sent to Folsom penitentiary the next day.

Recently Horning was released by order of a superior court judge, whereupon the Los Angeles district attorney procured his re-arrest on the charge of having been an accomplice in the murder of Auble—the charge they had not dared to make two years before.

A representative of The Herald and the Prison Reform League visited Horning in jail and obtained from him the story of how he had been "sweated" seven days and nights until as he himself said, "he would have confessed to the crucifixion of Christ." Thereupon the Herald and the Prison Reform League, acting in conjunction with attorneys retained by Horning's friends, went after the district attorney's office, forced it to confess it had no expectation of making the murder charge stick and procured a dismissal of the case. Meanwhile the authorities had spirited Horning back to Folsom penitentiary, without giving his lawyers the slightest notice, and there he lies, pending an appeal from the order releasing him.

A GREAT BOOK
"THE STRUGGLE FOR EXISTENCE" by Walter Thomas Mills, has had a larger sale than any other large American Socialist work. In its 640 pages it covers the entire field of the social, political and economic life of the human race in the simplest language and a lucid style that no one who can read the English language can help but comprehend. Mills is essentially the school teacher; he makes everything plain. He is the author of the articles on the British labor movement now running in The Social-Democratic Herald.

SOCIAL-DEMOCRATIC HERALD Published by the MILWAUKEE SOCIAL-DEMOCRATIC PUBLISHING COMPANY 344 Sixth Street Milwaukee, Wis. FREDERIC HEATH VICTOR L. BERGER Editor Associate

Recent Herald Callers: A. M. Hanes, Amos, W. Va.; Ralph Wright, Galesburg, Ill.; Herman Kiechler, Dr. E. D. Neckerman, Pittsburg, Pa. Charles Moyer, president of the Western Federation of Miners, has declared for Socialism. The former president, Boyce, was also a Socialist.

Milwaukee Graft Here is a statement of the conditions as they have been found, and as they are now. The public works purchasing department, furnished by Purchasing Agent Campbell who fills the new position created by the Socialists.

On entering in the duties of this office, I found certain conditions existing which would be tolerated by no private corporation or company expecting to do business successfully. First, promiscuous buying. Probably hundreds of employees of the city of Milwaukee left authorized, and were authorized, either formally or informally, to make purchases whenever and wherever they in their judgment deemed proper.

Book Notes

"AND THIS IS WAR" (Written for The Herald.) A collection of short, concise stories of what war is and does has just been brought out by the Cochran Publishing Company, New York.

The Wilshire Speculations

To the Editor: I take pleasure in answering Comrade Upton Sinclair's defense of H. Gaylord Wilshire's mining methods. Comrade Sinclair asks if I am a member of the Socialist party.

The Wilshire Scandal

To the Editor: In a recent issue of The Herald I notice another exposure of Wilshire, the revolutionary gold bricker. I am asking myself the question: How long will Socialist dupes remain contented to be skinned by a big "comrade" skinner?

Mayor Seidel Writes Startling Message

Mayor Seidel's article for The Herald's Labor Day edition is already written and in the hands of the editor. The editor of the builders' column has read it and can truthfully announce that it is a startling, revolutionary message to the workers of all occupations and all nationalities gathered on the American continent in the mines, mills, factories, stores, forests and farms.

Iowa to Push the Herald

J. J. Jacobson, state secretary of the Socialist party of Iowa, has ordered 1,000 six months Social-Democratic Herald subscription cards to be sold and used as admission tickets to the Iowa campaign meetings.

Will Be Put in Book Form

To satisfy the demand from every point of the compass for this desirable information; and to preserve for posterity the true history of this far-reaching historical struggle, The Social-Democratic Herald has decided to publish it in book form.

Will Not Be For Sale

The book will not be for sale. It will be given only as a premium with subscriptions to The Social-Democratic Herald, Vorwärts (German), and Naprzód (Polish), the papers published by the Social-Democratic Publishing Company, which were the medium of carrying on the perpetual campaign during the last twelve years.

Do You Want One?

If you want the history of the spectacular and far-reaching campaign you may have it by putting forth a little effort in extending the circulation of The Social-Democratic Herald.

Are Chiefs Bigger Than the Commissioners?

Since the new appointment of Dr. F. A. Kraft, the Socialist representative, two meetings have been held by the commissioners. Efforts were made to elect a new president which resulted in the following standing. At the first ballot each member got one vote; at the last effort to break the deadlock it stood: Dr. F. A. Kraft, Socialist, two votes; E. Philipp and M. Carpenter, both standpat, each one vote. Chairman Wm. Schoen still holding over. The commissioners are getting their "customary" invitations for trials which are conducted by the respective chiefs, who constitute and represent the judge, jury and "everything." The commissioners have nothing to say, but sit like dummies and listen without having any voice at all at such trials. Attending trials is, in consequence, only a waste of time, and not required by law. The chiefs are "IT" and the autocratic machine works in its un-American form, which is "Modern Justice!" This trial question will be aired very thoroughly in the near future and The Herald will publish the details and facts in the matter, so as to enable all Socialists and sympathizers to judge for themselves and act when the proper time comes. Reforms are necessary!

Mr. Kleinstuber of the police alarm system submitted ten questions to the fire and police commissioners at their last meeting August 5. All ten questions were unanimously rejected, and substituted by more practical ones which will constitute the next examination for lieutenants now needed for the police department. We understand that the desired and resolute action of the board came as an unwelcome surprise to some "higher up" but the police and fire departments will soon have to learn that "customary methods" of autocratic individuals are matters of the past and the laws will be strictly enforced! A great deal was rumored for years about unfair examinations and "favoritism to pets," etc., and some very close investigations which are now in progress will soon show that rumors usually have good foundations, and facts are slowly coming to light due to the fearless searchings of Social-Democrats and the aroused courage of such men who had to suffer in the past under the old system of graft.

Manitowoc—The first annual picnic of the Manitowoc comrades will be held August 14 at Woods' park. The two Rivers local will attend in a body and comrades from Kiel will also be present. Comrades Carl Kleist and Carl Minkley will be the speakers. The picnic is being well advertised by the Manitowoc comrades.

Forest County—Comrade Frank Fosdick of Padus writes: "You hit it just right in sending Comrade Minkley up here. He got a good crowd of earnest listeners. I billed the town and distributed 150 papers telling all to come and hear the Milwaukee German Socialist. And they did come out good and plenty. The next night we went to Laona. The people came out by hundreds and we had a rousing good time." Thus the rural districts are waking up.

The Primaries—Comrades must not forget that this year, according to the primary law, we must secure 20 per cent of our vote in the primaries in order to get on the official ballot. Our members should begin at once to work for this and to bring out our full force in the primaries. It is not too soon to begin the distribution of literature.

(A. Ex-Ploter, Chief Grouch.) Health Commissioner Rucker still continues to refuse to admit that our lies are true. He has smirched—whatever that is—the fair name of our beautiful city, having smashed the typhoid epidemic, a thing useful and necessary to our continued peace and prosperity.

Comptroller Dietz is a fizzle. He's still spending the city's money for things the city needs.

Commissioner Briggs, one of the "Comrades," called Jack Vlach, secretary of the civil service commission, a lobster, the other day.

One disgruntled Charles E. Palmer resigned as superintendent of asphalt repair plants, has been giving out stories to the effect that he resigned because he couldn't stand it to work with the new crowd any longer. The public may as well know that Mr. Palmer was slated for the discard because he was not considered efficient. Being allowed to resign, he took advantage of the position that action gave him and exploded with a number of criticisms of his superior officers. Mr. Palmer, with others of his type, should not have been shown the consideration given in an opportunity to resign.

The police force was increased this week by twenty as stalwart and intelligent men as ever went on the "force." They took the oath in the office of a Social-Democratic city clerk and went on duty to draw two off days each month, given by a Social-Democratic city council that is not going to let its good work stop at that point.

The new administration isn't efficient. There was a dust spot on Grand avenue the other day. The administration admits it.

Purchasing Agent Campbell "put one over" in the way of buying motorcycles that probably does not meet with the approval of the police chief. The council authorized the purchase of two motorcycles and the chief indicated a preference for a certain make. But the purchasing agent wanted better satisfaction than the chief's recommendation. So, he has arranged for a speed and endurance contest for Wednesday afternoon. The competing machines will start at Thirtieth street and Grand avenue and run to Watertown and back. The distance is 100 miles. The machine favored by the chief has entered for the run with four others. More are expected to enter. Buying by chance and from favorites is a thing of the past in Milwaukee.

AT THE THEATERS

Crystal—Vaudeville. Rayfayette's wonderful acrobatic dogs will be at the Crystal, commencing Monday afternoon. Rayfayette's dogs have had the distinction of being the headline act at every high-class vaudeville theater in New York, Philadelphia, Boston and Chicago. This wonderful trained troupe of animals do everything that is unusual and do it in an unusual way. For instance, there is a bull dog in the troupe that weighs only 28 pounds, powerful enough in the fore limbs to bear the weight of a 175 pound man in a head to head balancing position.

New Star—Burlesque. "The California Girls" is the attraction at the New Star theater next week, a vaudeville contingent that has every appearance of being well above the average in point of merit. The comedy roles in the two burlesques are in capable hands. William McAvoy, Alf Bonner, William Mausey and Francis J. Chick are the fun-makers-in-chief with this organization, and Anna Meek Bonner, Gertrude Fiske and Lillie Stevens sustain the leading feminine roles.

Columbia—Vaudeville. The Arisato troupe of acrobats head next week's bill at the Columbia. Others are Kramer and Ross.

How Old Parties Robbed City!

Scandalous Contract Work Coming to Light. Evidence of Graft and Fraud in Every Direction. No Wonder Taxes Were High!

Work of the most shameful sort has been found by Commissioner Briggs and contractors are being treated to a rapid fire of orders to cease work. Here are the jobs found defective recently.

Bridge, First avenue over Kinnickinnic.

Macadam paving, Burleigh, Twentieth to Western.

Brick paving, First avenue, Seventh streets, near Market.

Brick on First avenue viaduct to be ordered replaced.

Crossing block on North avenue, imperfect filling, 27,500 yards.

Crossing blocks on Wells street, laid with grain wrong way.

Frank Brzezinski, contractor on the First avenue concrete and steel bridge, for which the contract price was $7,140, has been ordered to stop work. Specifications for the work called for sand in the concrete mixture. A poor gravel, containing, officials say, about 20 per cent of clay, was used. An inspector said it was taken from the river bed. Clay dust brushes from the piers easily and the gravel may be dislodged by slight pounding on the piers. Samples were taken for analyzing in the city hall.

In the Burleigh street job gravel was specified for use in the macadam. Sand was used, and one of the men on the job said it came from cellar excavations. Five of the fifteen blocks have been completed and the contractor, Arthur Froemming, has been notified that the work will not be accepted. After notification to that effect he continued work Thursday, hauling gravel instead of sand, although the gravel was not of a high grade.

The North avenue concrete block job has been found to be improperly laid, the tar filling between the blocks not being put in so as to completely fill the spaces. Superintendent of Street Construction C. A. Mullen, who has just taken office, said that the work should not be accepted until this defect is entirely remedied.

The First avenue and Sixth and Seventh street jobs have been corrected on orders from the commissioner. The filling between blocks and bricks was not properly done in those cases. In the case of the First avenue viaduct it is probable that the commissioner will ask the council to consider the case Monday. The bricks have been done two years and are now almost unserviceable. The firm which furnished them has agreed to replace them, but the people who laid them have refused to do their part. An investigation as to what extent poor laying is responsible for the present condition will be made.

The city has kept constant watch on sidewalk contractors who are laying walks for private citizens and numbers have been brought to time. This work is of moment to the public in the very nature of it.

In his first interview after taking office Comrade Mullen, the new superintendent, said, ELIMINATE THE CONTRACTOR! He knows the paving business from the contractor's side. "A city doing its own work can do from 50 to 100 per cent more for the same appropriation," he said. "It eliminates all the graft, the expense of supporting an organization of contractors, the contractors' pool, the enormous expense to the city of inspecting the work, and the city gets better work."

Town Topics by the Town Crier

"I have chosen my deputies irres-

spective of party affiliations," declares Sheriff Franke. A sly defense, that. But every one knows what kind of a campaign Franke put up. He didn't care which of the old parties the feller belonged to, so long as he was willing to go into the highways and the dives and spend Franke money, and judging from the class of men he gave jobs to, he must have pledged himself in all directions in order to get the hee-ho to work. His talk of choosing his men for fitness is the prize joke of the season. Heifers, decrepit coffee coolers, actual thieves and strike-breakers were all jumbled up together in his official family, with here and there a decent fellow who probably got in by mistake.

No sooner does Franke open his mouth than he puts his foot in it. He declares that there has been less crime committed in the county during his administration than during that of any former sheriff. Yet he says he cannot keep order in the county on Sundays, even with the fourteen men that he has more than Sheriff Cary.

Assistant Superintendent Warfield of the county hospital may be a good doctor, but he made no hit before the county board committee (that has been investigating a complaint of a former patient), when he expressed surprise that such complaints were not secretly considered. This, he said, would preserve the good name of the hospital. On the contrary, it would be just the thing to injure it. Poor people have the feeling that anything that is done there is covered up. They, therefore, lack confidence in the hospital. Doubtless this does the hospital an injustice. And it can be got out of their minds by showing them that complaints are openly taken up and that no handy circle of special trustees can serve as a muffler over such complaints.

The case under consideration was that of a Mr. Smith, a colored restaurant, who claimed that he had not been kept clean while an inmate of one of the wards after a minor surgical operation. Mr. Smith appeared to be a man of fair culture and used well chosen language, yet Dr. Warfield could not bring himself to address him as "Mr. Smith" and called him "Smith" throughout the session. The doctor, as we infer from his pronunciation as well as from reports, is from the south. Scarcely concealed contempt of a black man during such a hearing might lead one to feel that there was foundation for the complaints of neglect as charged, when the man was in the hospital.

Mullen Arrives

Charles A. Mullen has arrived from New York and is in charge of the department of street construction and repairs under Commissioner Briggs. Mr. Mullen is a party member, married, 28 years of age, with a clear cut face that carries the impression of ability and determination. His lower jaw has a squareness and a snap that looks as if there were back ter Manufacturing Company, to accept the city hall office. His qualifications as compared to those of the single "eligible" submitted by the civil service department are beyond comparison. City Clerk Thompson asked Secretary Vlach of the commission for a list of eligibles. Vlach said there were none and advised Thompson to send in a requisition, be formally notified that there was no eligible list and then make his appointment. The requisition was sent in and instead of the information that there was no eligible list, one Henry
