SOUTHAMPTON, June 14 .- The international strike of seamen, which broke in the principal ports of Ens land and Scandinavia yesterday, has already resulted in several distinc victories for the British seamen.

Perhaps, fearful that the new giant iner Olympic would become a hoodo ship by failing to get away on her Star Company today surrendered t the strikers, and granted the demand

The Olympic is $82 feet long and displaces 60,000 tons. On her trip out today she carried a passenger list of ransportation to the men who have $13,000 persons, many of them being been deceived into being brought to persons who were booked to sail on the St. Paul last Saturday. The St Paul is still tied up by the strike, and may not get away for many days.

It is believed here that the Whit Star Company played a smart trick on the seamen, when it granted the demands of the Olympic strikers. It was vitally important to the company that the Olympic should get away or her maiden voyage as scheduled.

Acting on this knowledge the Seamen's Union might well have demanded that the company sign at agreement covering all of its ships Instead of doing this the union all officers of the union say that as fast as the big liners come in the men will quit work. All, however, will complete the trip for which they have signed so that none of the steamers whose home port this is, will be interfered with elsewhere.

Tom Mann, vice president of the Seaman's Union, is in personal charge of the strike here. He said today that not only will the seamen strike, but that the majority of the dock employees and longshoremen will take advantage of the opportunity to demand better wages and improved conditions of labor.

Officials at Liverpool are making preparations to ship strikebreaking crews. The union men say they will not oppose this, as the employers cannot get competent men, and passenters will not risk their lives stilling in vessels manned by incompetents.

The strike of the seamen later spread to the Union Castle Company and Royal Mail Steam Packet Company's vessels, tiefing up the Balmoral Castle, the Britton and the Aragon.

and Royal Mail Steam Packet Company's vessels, tieing up the Balmora Castle, the Briton and the Aragon.

Slaves of the Sea.

Local interest in the seamen's strike centers in the announcement that al British sailors who abandon their ships will be liable to be arrested for violation of the British Admirally laws, which compel the seamen to return to a ship's home port befor leaving her.

It is not likely that there will be many rigidations of this law, as the British union has advised all men to make the round trip before joining the strike.

The condition of seamen in the year 1911 is a deplorable one. On some of the bigger ships the men receive as much as $25 a month and treatment which they can manage to endure. On the smaller vessels, especially the tramp steamers, the wages paid are almost no wages at all and the treatment worse than that usually given beats of burden. Cattle have a money value, while a fresh supply of men costs nothing extra.

It has been shown on several occasions that capitalist newspapers were supplied with pictures and diagrams previous to arrests and "confessions." The public is wondering by what prescience these newspapers are able to get advance copy on spontaneous confessions and photographs of confessors who are suddenly arrested several hundred miles away.

"JEWEY" SMITH HERE.

"Jewey" Smith, the sturdy Englis heavyweight pugilist, who fought Sam McVey, Ian Hague, Jack Scales, don, arrived in this country yester-day. Smith is without exception the most formidable looking glove wellder that ever visited this country and as he is anxious to meet any white man in America, with a preference for Jim Maher, the Irish champion. he will probably be given the chance. Maher and "Jewey" Smith fought twice in England; the first fight was awarded to Smith, but the Irishman defeated his English rival in the sec-ond clash, which took place at Won-derland, London. The Irish cham-pion, however, will have his hands full with "Salior" Burke tomorrow night at the Twentieth Century A. C. where Smith will be in evidence at the ringside, to be introduced for the first time to an American sudience. "Porky" Flynn, of Boston, and Andy Morris, of Nova Scotia, are also likely to meet before the club.

"Take Cobb and Crawford out of the Detroit team and where would they finish?" This query 'frequently is heard where baseball is discussed. It might be asked regarding the Ath-letics without Collins and Baker; the Highlanders without Chase and Ford. or the Boston Red Sox without Speaker and Lewis.

But he is the King of Bavaria, and all must do him reverence.

On this side of the Atlantic we are good republicans, who hold kings in slight esteem. So we would never stand for a thing like We attend to our own affairs, and insane kings, incompetent kings, kings who are absentees, kings in general, get nothing from us. Or we pretend they do not. Yet in Matteawan is a young man named Harry Thaw. He was sent there for murder, after he lived several vicious, degrading years. He has a personal income, and since he has been behind the bars his wealth has been growing greater. He cannot squander money or throw it away, and so his command of money is constantly growing. Regularly we read that this or that lunatic, long forgotten by most people, has died, and during the period they were helpless in an asylum their "estate" has been growing greater. That means that these people, through the possession of capital, have because of that fact been automatically robbing the working class while they them selves contributed nothing to the general wealth of society.

Again, of the leading millionaire families in this city there are sage for Europe. only a few members who even pretend to work. Consuelo, Duchess only a few members who even pretend to work. Yet each of them receives yearly a sum equal to the average was the government of Diaz. They Sagan. Yet each of them receives yearly a sum equal to the average of 5,000 workingmen. William Waldorf Astor is playing at English politics, running English newspapers that cost him a great deal of money, and "entertaining" the "best people" in England so he can get a coronation honor. Thousands on thousands of good, intelligent, tion once a generation is needed to submissive Americans are toiling night and day to keep his income to the required mark. He is taking out of the country millions of dollars every year. He is doing nothing to add one cent of value to the wealth of this country.

Andrew Carnegie is trotting around recklessly endowing libraries, peace temples and schools. It is now nearly eleven years since he even pretended to be interested in the steel business, yet he since he even pretended to be interested in the new values sewing circle or prayer meeting than new generations of workingmen create. King Otto of Bavaria.

Of course, our kings of capital are not mad. But we certainly are. There is no more sense in paying them than there is in going through the tomfoolery incident to the twenty-fifth anniversary of the crowning of Mad King Otto. The Bavarian King has just as much claim to all this "honor" and adulation as the capitalist kings He, sitting there all these years without having had a sanc thought, is quite as much a social asset in industry and politics as many of the beneficiaries of capitalism. And he has as little right to all this parade as the capitalist lunatic has to the big income he or she receives. But what he gets is due to the divine right of kings. What they get is due to the divine right of property. Both rights are detrimental to society.

A GOOD PRESS AGENT

when the smoke of battle cleared (we can still quote this time worn phrase because the insurrectos used in part the old model Springfield), it was seen that it was not only Diaz who has left was no thing he has accomplished. But sometimes a judgment must be founded on appearances.

founded on appearances.

The other day a patrolman, attempting to make an arrest, was beset, as is often the case, by a street crowd, some of whom attempted a rescue. Usually the policeman is beaten up, the reserves are somewhat battered, and the whole thing receives a couple of lines of news. But this time it got columns. Commissioner Waldo, hearing the cry of alarm, sallied forth, unprotected except by every available man, dashed through the crowd, dealing blows right and left—for he is a nity, two-handed fighter—and the officers with him merely saw that he was not struck in return. As a result he gets many columns of the land are in the hands of the working class. Even so, politics is praise and the great City of New York is quite confident that it has at the struck in return. As a result he gets many columns of the land are in the hands of the working class. Even so, politics is but a means. The peaceful strike is but a means and the strict of a majority support. Such that large majority support. The crowd immediately split into two schools the peoples of Asia were quickly receives a couple of the large majority support. The bections, the peoples of Asia were quickly received in the prospection, the prospection of the possibility of a peoples of Nanshan. But the motion and only praise and the great City of New York is quite confident that it has at last a little protector who protects.

So much for having a press agent.

So much for having a press agent.

If Waldo didn't have one there would be still the same dreary old suspicion that the streets of the city were as dangerous as ever, that there was the customary amount of violence, and that crime was protected politically as it has been in the past. But when we contemplate the picture of Mr. Waldo rushing through the crowds knocking people down and rescuing a policeman then we know how well off we are.

But we never would have known it if it was not for the pres agert.

So this brings up a matter of great importance. Perhaps we should all be happy if we had a press agent to tell us how happy we are, just as we are all content and satisfied with the new Commissioner because he has a very clever, efficient press agent working overtime to tell us how thoroughly he has the situation in hand.

A BRIGHT THOUGHT FROM P. GROSSCUP

Judge Peter Grosscup, who has the important and unusual faculty of doing unusual legal things, now calmly comes forward with about the best and most unexpected he has done yet. His idea is that the big trusts, and the small trusts also, should be permitted to continue business, but their dividends should be regulated by the Federal Government. It is a consoling and beautiful thought. With Judge Peter it is not the fact of exploitation and robbery that counts, but the rate. He sees no harm in a mild, just and humane degree of robbery and murder, but he is not willing to stand for too much of it.

This idea that he so kindly advances is capable of infinite extension. Suppose, for instance, that the matter of weapons of assault was also made subject to Federal regulation. Then, instead of a neat bag of buckshot, a thug would use a light, carefully fashioned basswood club. He would get into trouble if he smote his victim more than thrice with it, and he would not be permitted to jump on his victim more than four times.

The burglar would be permitted to carry a twenty-two, with haif the usual kick of powder. This would prevent his shooting the customary holes into those who happened to have the temerity to

Brass knuckles would in all cases be barred. A simple spike, held firmly in the right hand, would be deemed sufficient for all assaults.

This would be perfectly in keeping with the ideas that Grosscup has advanced and would be a neat and entertaining twist in the law.

"Can you read writing?"

for Sinners, "said the editor.
"No, sir," replied the man; "nothing of the sort. That's my name—Samuel Bruner. I knew you couldn't read. I called to see about that poem of mine you printed the other day entitled. "The Surcease of Sorrow."
"I don't remember it," said the collector.

"Yes, sir; and that is what I am here to see you about. The way in which the poem was mutilated was simply scandalous. I haven't slept a night since. It exposed me to derision. People think me a fool. [The editor coughed.] Let me show you. This first line, when I wrote it, read in this way: 'Lying by a weeping willow, underneath a gentle slope.' That is beautiful and poetic. Now, how did your vile sheet represent it to the public? 'Lying to a weeping widow, I induced her to elope.' Weep-

"It's hard, sir—very hard," said the editor.

"Then take the fifth verse. In the original manuscript it said, plain as daylight, "Take away the jingling money; it is only glittering dross." In its printed form you make me say. Take away the tingling honey; put some flies in for the boss. By George! I feel like attacking somebody with your fire shove! But, oh, look at the sixth verse. I wrote, 'I'm weary of the tossing of the ocean as it heaves. When I opened your paper and saw the lines transformed into I'm wearing out my trousers till they are open at the knees. I thought that is was taking an inch too far. I fancy I have a right to murder that compositor. Where is he?"

"He is out just now," said the editor. "Come in tomorrow?"

"I will," said the poet, "and I will come armed."
