Should this increased price of ice keep up during the hot weather months thousands of workers will be face to face with a serious problem. Seventy cents a week is more than the average East Side workers can afford to spend on ice. Yet not to spend it means to invite sickness. The food eaten is generally bought in quantities for two or three meals, as it is cheaper to get it this way, and it must be kept on ice or it will get spoiled.

The ice famine affects the little children most. Ordinarily the youngsters manage to get a little piece of ice from the passing ice wagon or the nearby dealer. On these pieces of ice the youngsters feast and derive great fun and enjoyment out of it. Yesterday not a crumb of ice was to be had from an ice wagon or an ice dealer free. Even crumbs

The price of milk went up 1 cent a quart in Manhattan yesterday. The rise in the price of milk is directly attributed to the ice famine, though the heat wave has otherwise also had something to do with it.

During the hot weather milk has been deal more than it is in demand a great deal more than it is under normal conditions. As a result the

TAKES JEWELRY—IN TENDERLOIN LOCKUP

Alex Was Mixed Up With Fast Crowd and Gave Girl $25 Supper.

Two detectives walked into the store of Robert Acker, a diamond dealer in ket the Knickerbocker Trust Building at Fifth avenue and 34th street, yesterday afternoon, and going up to a young man who was leaning over a counter, told him that he was under arrest. The young man laughed easily. and asked what he was wanted for

They told him for the larceny of jewels value at $1,540.

At the Tenderloin police station the prisoner said that he was Alexander 8 Timpson, and that he lived at 330 West 85th street. In his pock-ets the police found two supphire and diamond pins valued at $150, a sap-phire scarf pin worth $40, and a ring of diamonds and imitation pearls val-ued at $60. The detectives say that Timpson admitted having taken them esterday afternoon from Acker's Timpson is 20 years old and said that for a while he was a student at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology. The young man said that after he left Acker's employ he fell in with a fast crowd that frequented poolrooms and gambling houses in Harlem, and that was one of the reasons that he began to take the jewels.

He was locked up in the Tenderio'n police station, charged with grand lac-

Oxford and Cambridge universitie defeated the Yale-Harvard picked team here today by a score of 5 firsts to 4. This was the fourth dual meet between the double university teams and the total score is a tie now, each First places only counted in the re sult, as has been the custom in all the games. In order to achieve victory the Oxford-Cambridge athleter had to capture the hammer throw. 100 and 440 yard runs and the mile and two mile runs. The Americans captured the 120-yard hurdle race, the half mile, high and broad jumps. The victory was really made possible by an American, Putinan, a Rhodes scholar from Kansas, who is at Oxford. It was his easy win in the ham-ford. It was his easy win in the hammer throw which gave the odd event to the English collegians.

Two of the international intercollegiate records were broken in the meet today. Chisholm, of Yale, in winning the 120-yard hurdle in 12 2-5 seconds cut one-fifth of a second from the time made by Fox and Converse, both of Harvard, in the 1322 and 1901. both of Harvard, in the 1899 and 1901 receis. The other record went to E. G. Taylor, of Oxford, who won the two-mile run in 9 minutes 29 1-5 seconds, beating by twenty seconds the record held jointly by Workman, of Cambridge, and Godby, of Oxford. The games, which were held at the Queen's Club, West Kensington, drew a large and enthusiastic crowd.

Today is midway day in the big league baseball season—the distance to the finish being the same as that covered since the start in April. The teams have all played about one-half of their games, and the National League race is the best in years. In the American eague the see-saw struggle between Detroit and Philadelphia is the feature.

MEXICAN POLITICS BADLY MIXED UP

Congressman and Legislators Arrested for Plotting Against Madero.

MEXICO CITY, July 11 .- Persisten rumors of dissensions and reports that Cabinet crisis is approaching, indicates that all is not working smo ly in the new Mexican Government.

An attempt, it is declared, is being made by the Maderiste group to oust the Cientifico element from the Cabinet, the charge being made that they are "reactionaries."

That typical "Diaz methods" are still resorted to, was illustrated in the arrest at Puebla of Congressman Carlos Martinez and four State representatives of Puebla, by Abraham Martinez, chief of staff of General Martinez asserted he was acting under orders from Minister of the Interior Senor Vasquez Gomez, on the ground that they were plotting against Madero.

The prisoners were released yesterday upon orders from President De la Barra, but the incident has intenfled the Cabinet situation.

HEARST'S AMERICAN CRAWLS TO CREELMAN

William R. Hearst has crawled on his belly to James Creelman, president of the Municipal Civil Service Commission, and who is one of his ilk. Creelman threatmed to bring suit against the New York American on account of that sheet printing a story in its issue of Sunday morning to the effect that Creelman, with Murphy and Mayor Gaynor, had forced Thomas J. Ahearn, deputy fire chief, out of the city department, but who favored Ahearn's appropriate by Governor Dix of the city department, but who lavored.

Ahearn's appointment by Governor Dix to the position of State Fire Marshal at a salary of $7,000. Ahearn was retired several days ago on full pay because of his long service in the department and a deafness which he received while attending a fire many years ago.

Willie Hearst printed yesterday morning in the American a story praising ing in the American a story praising Creelman as a man "of the highest character, an independent Democrat in politics and who has never supported Tammany as an organization." All this of course to stall that suit of $100,000. As course to stail that suit of $100,000. As Hearst says, Creelman has long been a war correspondent and a magazine writer. But as Hearst did not say, Creelman has always sold his pen to the highest bid-der, as Hearst and Brisbane have done.

MASSES OF GRAPHITE NEAR BUTTE, MONT.

WASHINGTON, July 11 .- In a report on "Graphite near Dillon, Mont.," Alexander N. Winchell, of the United States Geological Survey, describes a deposit of high-grade flake graphite about sixty miles south of Butte. The graphite presents the remarkable conditions of occurring in several different ways in this curring in several different ways in this single area. One mode of occurrence ob-single area. One mode of occurrence observed is as seams in sedimentary rocks.

The seams are rather persistent, but ordinarily are not more than an inch or two in thickness. In another locality the graphite occurs chiefly in veins and faults not parallel with the bedding. An adit tunnel opening some of this ground discloses graphite in irregular bunches, pockets, stringers and seins baying no ets, stringers and veins having no re-lation to bedding. In such places the irregular masses may reach 6 to 8 inches in thickness and 2 to 4 feet in diameter. At another outcrop the graphite occurs in intimate association with garnet. Some of it completely surrounds large crystals of garnet, but more commonly a crystal of garnet is surrounded by quartz, which of garnet is surrounded by quartz, which in turn is largely surrounded by graphite. At still another outcrop graphite is intimately intergrown with quartz, feldsparand mica, making a sort of graphite gneiss. In places the mica disappears and the graphite becomes more abundant. Although development has not yet proceeded far enough to prove the existence of large deposits of graphite in this area, the prospecting done shows that it is presented to the prospecting done shows that it is presented.

CITY MAY SAVE MANY BABY LIVES

Pure Milk From Stations Will Keep Several Hundred Infants From Untimely Death.

That many babies die in hol veather because they are physically incapable of resisting the great heat is beyond doubt. But it is equally beyond doubt that a far greater num ber die as a direct result of the mill bought being impure, or of poo quality.

In the first week in July, 1910, 437 pables under one year died, of these 213 being from diarrheal diseases. The same week in 1911 only 347 babies died and of these but 124 from diar rheal diseases.

Last year the first week in July followed several weeks of sultry torrid weather. The heaviest toll for the excessive heat of the last two weeks would naturally come next week and the week after.

The Health Department's announce nents say that 3,318 babies died in 1910 who might have been saved with proper feeding. 'The relative gain to date," says Paul E. Taylor, of the New York Milk Committee, "can be made an actual gain and the Milk Committee will certainly be most disapointed if the unnecessary deaths are not at least cut in two, thus say ing 1,600 babies.

WEDNESDA Y, JULY 12,

THE BEST WAY WITH THE STREETS

General Bingham, who did not make a startling success of his management of the Police Department, was probably not selected on that account for the position of Chief Engineer of the Bureau of Highways, though there is no telling. However, he was selected, and quite a lot of trumpeting proclaimed the fact. Now he is out, after having written a short, bitter letter to Borough President McAneny in which he charges that he cannot get street work done, that he was interfered with in every way, and that under present conditions the Highways Department is practically hopeless.

He is quite right. It is so in all the boroughs, and despite the enormous amount of money expended the streets of Greater New York are disgraceful.

There should be some way out of it, and at the present time when the city is busy forcing concessions on the transit companies one great, glorious, bright thought should have occurred to those who favor "private initiative."

Why not take the streets away from the foolish, incompetent, extravagant, corrupt city and turn them over to a private corporation? Private enterprise, spurred on by the hope of dividends, surely should be able to give to New York really good thoroughfares. Private enterprise would discontinue some of the streets now open, and use the space they occupy for office or tenement buildings. Private enterprise would cut down the wages demanded by the men who work on the highways. Private enterprise would remove from the shoulders of the "poor little taxpayer" all necessity of expending any money for highway maintenance.

Of course, private enterprise would expect a return for money invested. That is easily arranged. Each day there might be issued a neat little card which on payment of a cent would permit a person to walk north, on payment of another cent would permit a person to walk south, and on payment of still another cent would permit a person to walk both east and west. Thus on payment of three cents-a very small amount-anybody could walk in any direction in this city Editor of The Call: over roads that were kept in order by private enterprise.

Women, whose sphere is the home, might have a special concession made to them. They could purchase a ticket good for a week, say for 10 cents. This would permit them to walk in any direction within a well limited area, and they could thus do the family shopping. Such a ticket would have another advantage; it would prevent them from leaving this district and would be quite as good a system of restraint as though they were placed under strict police observation.

In return for this we could have a strict business administration of the highways. They would belong to a private corporation and any that he must be a parasite, for to my person stepping on the street without purchasing his or her ticket, mind if he hobnobs with parasites, he he would be a trespasser who could be seized, fined and possibly put to is a paresite or of a parasitic turn of work repairing the highways. Although women have never been sent to the rock-pile, in furtherance of this magnificent idea it would than such sent to the rock-pile, in furtherance of this magnificent idea it would be well if they were. The streets could be kept in magnificent order, and the money received from the use of the streets would go to make rich several good families.

Every way this idea is a splendid one. Think, for instance, of what could be gained if children were not permitted on the streets unless they paid a cent, a small amount, to play on the sidewalk or the working people, because the working people, because the profession should more than offset any deficiency in reasoning. Isn't it true that a man may be a class-conscious Socialist and still they seem so "to my mind" and "I cannot see" otherwise. This helps not not the seem of the working people to buy from certain merchants for the sake of getting a cheap premium free. (?)

But the most alluring part of this idea is the fact that all the labor on the highways could be had almost for nothing. Any moneyless person daring to treepass on private thoroughfares would be been the street would dut my job, according to your shall will be put to the work of keeping those private thoroughfares would be backed and in the streets except in the work of the part of the street would will be most alluring part of this idea is the fact that all the labor on the highways could be had almost for nothing. Any moneyless person daring to treepass on private thoroughfares would be been the street would with all these experiments with Binghams and others, and the most live and the street would be not on the highways could be the work of keeping those private thoroughfares in order. A summal problem to the street would be not on the work of keeping those private thoroughfares in order. A summal problem to the problem to the problem to the problem unless they paid a cent, a small amount, to play on the sidewalk or gutter in front of the house in which they live. Those families which could not pay a cent a day to permit their children on the street would then be forced to keep the children indoors, and many autos which are now injured by being run over children would be kept in a state of excellent repair. Societies which make a business of attending to the children of the street could turn their efforts in some other direction, because there would be no children in the streets except those whose parents could afford to pay to send them there.

But the most alluring part of this idea is the fact that all the panies to monopolize means of transit. See how advantageous it is, and how comfortable. The B. R. T. and the Interborough both have only one thought in mind: the safety, comfort and convenience of their patrons. Profits are merely a minor consideration. It might be well, even, to divide Greater New York up among the present traction companies. Then private enterprise would be unhampered and we should not be degraded and debased by municipal paternalism.

FOR HIS FURTHER PROFIT

It seems to be decided that whichever company gets the new subway plums the house of Morgan will get the profits.

on the details of the International Steel Trust, regulating the conduct of kings and participating in the counsels of European financiers, the mere minor matter of new subways has been delegated to the younger Morgan.

Yesterday he took part in the deliberations, and he spoke angrily to Shonts of the Interborough. This does not of necessity mean that Morgan is for the Brooklyn Rapid Transit. He can pick and choose and whichever holds out the prospect of the biggest returns will get his moral support and financial backing.

New York will pay enormously, for any combination into which Morgan enters has the faculty of exacting a larger return than is gotten by any other combination. Such is the present might of the money he controls that it is doubtful if, against his wishes, any other combination of capitalists could get into this matter at all.

The people of New York will have nothing to say in this matter. ound by their city officials who are determined to give over one or the other of the private companies these new and highly valuable concessions

Absolutely nothing can be done while private companies remain Absolutely nothing can be done while private companies remain in the field. They must all be driven out, for all are of the same stripe. Whatever there will be of profit in construction will come to Morgan. Whatever of profit there will be in operation will go to the companies and to Morgan.

The only way is to fight for city-constructed, city-owned and city-operated traction lines. The new ones must be built by the city. The old ones must be taken over.

Well, there she is. Mr. Kipg. Word for word as you ask. And now what?
A. J. Hass is certainly indebted to you for your good intentions, but surely you haven't helped his case much.

"Jimmie" is "safe in his assumption that the man referred to must be a parasite," you say. Why? "To my mind if he hobnobs with parasites, he must be a parasite." The proof then is in your "mind." Same with "Jimmie." A man is whatever you or Jimmie may think fit to dub him—because you think he is that.

ment—if the majority of the people in that movement think he is. But not otherwise.

We once knew a man who exploited 600 girls in a knitting factory, and paid them no more than he had to. He associated to a great extent with other exploiters of labor, and belonged to organized labor. Yet he was declared by thousands of Socialists to be fit to represent a working class movement. His name was Frederick, Engels. Did you ever hear of him?

Jimmje is safe in his assumption that he must be a parasite, for to my mind if he hobnobs with parasites, he is a parasite or of a parasitic turn of mind, for as a class conscious Socialist I cannot see how he can be other than such.

As an example, in Ohio there is a so-called millionaire Socialist who is engaged in the trading stamp business, which is a scheme to force or induce the working people to buy from certain merchants for the sake in the sake of the parasite, and that the profession should from certain merchants for the sake in the sake of the parasite, and that may probably color his reasonable of the such as a class conscious Socialist who is engaged in the trading stamp business, which is a scheme to force or induce the working people to buy from certain merchants for the sake in that and still is a stock broker, a worker at the capitalist skin game for fair. Such an action would undoubtedly result in perfect streets, and we should not be troubled with all these experiments with Binghams and others, and there is no doubt that it would be one of the most perfect of all municipal monopolies.

There is nothing fantastic about this idea. Wo do it in other things, why not in streets? We have permitted private traction companies to monopolize means of transit. See how advantageous it is, and it makes no difference whether the extent of membership in this club, and it makes no difference whether the extent of membership in this club, and it makes no difference whether the extent of membership in this club, and it makes no difference whether the extent of membership in this club, and it makes no difference whether the extent of membership in this club, and it makes no difference whether the exploiters of the human race.
