in Bitter Cold to Rebuke Authorities.

About 500 parents and friends of the 445 Triangle Waist Company's fire victims marched through the streets of the East Side yesterday in protest against the courts and the District Attorney's office, who have failed to bring the bosses of the Triangle Waist Company-Isaac Harris and Max Blanck-to trial on the charge of manslaughter, of which they were indicted seven months ago.

The parade was a sad affair from beginning to end. The day was cold, and most of the girls and women were thinly clad. Still, they walked with almost religious solemnity. Most of the women wore black and wept from the moment the parade started, 4 o'clock in the afternoon, until the close of a mass meeting, late in the evening, at Manhattan late in the evening, at Manhattan Lyceum, which wound up the demonstra-

The parade took in the principal East Side streets. The line of march was as follows: Clinton street to East Broadway, East Broadway to Forsyth, Forsyth to Broome, Broome to Ridge, Ridge to Rivington, Rivington to Eldridge up to Center, Avenue C and into 4th street. In 4th street the marchers proceeded to Manhattan Locsum.

Here the marchers were addressed by Jacob Panken, B. Feigenbaum and Ab Baroff, all of whom protested bitterly at the indifference of the city authorities for permitting Harris and Blanck to escape gian Government intends to send to the Chinese capital to look after the Baroff said that the parents of the victims are disconsolate. Since they have lost their children in the Asch fire many of them are simply afraid to let their remaining children go to work in the loft buildings. He censured the schools for sending out boys and girls "who think they are too well educated to work." Of course he paid a tribute to those who work with their hands, but he surprised some of his older auditors by proclaiming a shortage of "people who will work."

Los Angeles is the scene of the fiercest battle now raging in the class war. The capitalist foes of labor are determined upon breaking the will of the workers, assassinating their love of liberty and reducing them to abject servility.

Nobly have the working men and women of Los Angeles risen in their might. At the primary on October 31, Harriman received 20,157 votes for Mayor. This is 3,487 more than his leading opponent. And it comes within 2,533 votes of being a majority over ail.

POISONING THE CITY

The present city administration, through the viciousness born of capitalism, is poisoning the city by permitting garbage to ac-cumulate in the streets. It is doing more. It is destroying tens of thousands of dollars' worth of streets through imbecilic attempts to burn the garbage that has accumulated. On various thorough-fares, whether paved with wood or asphalt blocks or with granite, street sweepers have started fires to get rid of the accumulation. From that act of stupidity. New York streets, which are already a disgrace to civilization, will be a source of fat income to many contractors. New York streets, which are cut, gullied and torn, will exhibit still further defects.

For this Borough Presidents Miller of the Bronx and McAneny of Manhattan are responsible. If they knew even the rudiments of their business, they would prevent Edwards from trying to cover up his stupendous asininity by such an idiotic action as burning garbage in an insidiously smoldering heap on a paved street. Evidently they have permitted it. Evidently, also, the Department of Health and the Department of Police have permitted it. If a few foolish boys started a fire, they would be arrested. But city employes have been given permission to start fires that smother passersby and that destroy streets.

Seldom does a more glaring example of incompetent city government come before a people. Seldom, also, does the cause of it stand out more plainly. The city is looked upon as a private enterprise in the conduct of its business affairs, and not as an attempt to adjust affairs so that all will be benefited.

If ever there was a crying necessity for change, it is now. Burning piles of filth or festering, disease breeding piles of filth are poisoning the whole city.

In many of the piles are the offscourings of houses in which contagious diseases exist. Children running through the piles, or wagons spreading the dirt by driving over it, spread the disease germs. The Department of Health recognized it when the order ent forth that the dirt must be removed at once. But this was an order intended merely to help the Department of Streets. The Department of Health has extraordinary power, and it can use that power with effect. But as the order was given, it was evidently the intention rather to cover over the mistakes of the stricken, incompetent and vicious Department of Streets rather than save the city from pestilence. Since Edwards has been in, this is the second time such a consideration. And in making good his conclusion, as chief execu-five of the city, he would, if necessary, compel the whole Police Department to arrest itself in order that its members might not

What happens when the workers cease work is shown now But they would not have ceased work if the city officials were not so hopelessly incompetent. The city officials, laboring always to further capitalist enterprise or save measly capitalist dollars, have best meal from lamb chops. Why allaid the city open to inconvenience and covered it with filth. They low me to eat a brother of yours have not removed any of the filth in the past. Let them do it when you can save his life by sac-now, if they are so necessary to society. That at least would demonstrate something.

But such a filthy, horrible condition of affairs as exists at terly the rapacious beast, and before present must be expected until we have the sense to elect to municipal the sheep could utter another syllable pal bodies men competent to handle municipal affairs. No man can do that unless he has a real grasp on social affairs, and the only persons who have done so are the Socialists. The others all look first to what the capitalist class can make out of a situation.

we have invested him, has declined to see a committee from the strikers. Though he has never lifted a garbage can or driven a horse, he knows best what is good for the men and the city. Though he is one citizen, though in a place of power, he comprises all good citizenship under his high hat.

According to the other New York papers, the Mayor acted in a dignified manner. What he did in reality is simple. He refused to recognize the problems of men who work for a living. His dignity would have been still greater if he had had them all arrested. What right have they to strike? The only justifiable strike is one in a legislative holdup.

The men who went to the Mayor and who were turned back from the doors of their OWN City Hall, possibly voted for him, and possibly voted for the other officials of the present absurd city government. They possibly still believe that either the Democratic or Republican party will do something for them.

If they have the sense to understand a kick downstairs, they have the sense to understand a kick downstairs, they have the sense to understand a kick downstairs, they have the sense to understand a kick downstairs, they have the sense to understand a kick downstairs, they have the sense to understand a kick downstairs, they have the sense to understand a kick downstairs, they have the sense to understand a kick downstairs, they have the sense to understand a kick downstairs, they have the sense to understand a kick downstairs, they have the sense to understand a kick downstairs, they have the sense to understand a kick downstairs, they have the sense to understand a kick downstairs, they have the sense to understand a kick downstairs, they have the sense to understand a kick downstairs, they have the sense to understand a kick downstairs, they have the sense of their the interests of those of that class which the parties represent. They must understand that Mayor Gaynor is not THEIR they have the sense for which the men voted, and it is one which they have have the problems of the i handed out. So, while the party wen inside of the polling place, a nimble-fingered politician thrust his hand under the seat of the auto and drew forth a box of cigars. As the candidate and his cohorts rode away the rowd had a hearty laugh. But this was nothing compared to hat was to follow. The box was what was to follow. The box was opened and smokes became plentiful. Everyone was supplied and most of many people who think that Socialists exaggerate when they talk jok ingly about those politician election day cigars. At first hearing it would appear that the talk about them be ing antiquated cabbages or discarded vegetables was just jealousy. But as oon as the crowd had one puff at these cigars, they all turned to the politician who stole them from the ed him out of the politing place and threw all the cigars at him. These were picked up by the street urchins afterwards, but what further damage was done is not known. Per-haps inquiry at some life insurance ordice will lead to information on the subject.

When votes are counted, they all When votes are counted, they all are anxious to know just how the Socialists stand. Like the capitalists, politicians are only watching to see how wise the working chass is getting. If the latter could only begin to realise what a majority of votes for Socialism would bring to them! It will be a happy day for all when they do.

SOME THOUGHTS ON THE TION RETURNS.

The weavers of rugs and gatherers of dates are fighting the builders of railroads and gatherers of olives. Mosques ring with Muezzins' prayerful requests that Allah strike to carth all Italians. Cathedrals belch forth volumes of supplication and the light of myriads of candles for the glory of God and extermination of the unspeakable Turk.

Thanks to the neutrality of England, the Cross is preity sure to prove more of a rabbit's, foot than the Crescent. England will not allow the Turkish army to march through Ezypt into Tripoli. The poor Turk is, therefore, double-crossed-crossed spiritually and crossed materially.

The Italian censor is equipped with a blue pencil, so there's no telling just how many Italians have gone on to comfortable berths in purantory, nor how many Musulmans have been gathered to the bosons of their houris. So far as future reward goes, the Musulman appears to have decidedly the better of the argument, and the mere matter of numbers may not be so overwhelmingly in favor of the Italian, when we consider that each Musulman killed goes straight to a happy future state, while each Italian killed goes to purgatory, and must be hailed goes to purgatory of the fact of the two countries, some account must be taken of the numbers of the cross who get stalled on their march to future glory.

The reward of the combatants is certainly not to be paid in this world. The workers in both countries will be fi
