TERSE THOUGHTS.

Capitalist parties may deny the class struggle, but they seldom fail to affirm it with an injunction when a strike is on.

If the great "public" has no interest in the contest between the capitalists and working class, why do they display so much anxiety about it?

This is a "government of, by and for the people," though Hanna was able to announce a day before the Ohion state convention the candidates the dear people would vote for.

The capitalist class and the working class are two souls with but a single thought. The thought: How to master the other. May the workers win.

It is to be hoped that the Philippinos are watching developments in the postal department investigation, otherwise they will not be able to appreciate the "blessings of a free government."

Was that Servian rumpus a case of 'benevolent assimilation" or of "criminal aggression?" Will some "statesman" relieve us of our auxiety?

The "labor leader" who accepts advice from the oppressing class will be a famous character to the future historian, just as Judas now is.

The capitalist press that is denouncing the Kishineff outrage never found it difficult to defend the massacres at Homestead and Lattimer. Do you know why? When labor seats its delegates in con-

The "best people" are making their way to the summer resorts, and, as usual, will rely on the workers to pay the bills and get along as best they can.

One thing for which the workers can be thankful is that their daughters will never be sought for by titled idiots looking for a bank roll. Only the "smart set" are eligible.

Those patriots who have been discharged from the postal department for working their grafts would doubtless all agree that "socialism is confiscation" if the matter was called to their attention.

BEDFORD STRIKE.

Nine Hundred Quarrymen Still Out-All Industry Stopped.

Mr. Julius Heitger; president of ti e Bedford Central Labor Union, was in the city Sunday and was a visitor at C. L. U. head quarters. He states that the 900 striking quarrymen are standing firm and not a wheel is being turned at any of the quarries in the Bedford district. The only question involved in the controvery is the right of the men to organize. Last spring the operators requested the unions to submit a uniform scale, which request was complied with, the proposed scale being but little higher than that in force and lewer than the wages received by some of the highest paid men. The operators re plied to this by submitting a scale which was much lower than that in force and flatly refusing to recognize the organization. The object of the operators was plainly to bring on a strike in the hopes of disrupting the organization. The strike began on May 1st, and the men still stand as firm as a rock. After promising the state labor commissioner, on three different occasions to meet with the committee of the strikers and arranging for such a meeting, the operators have changed their minds and flatly refused to mest such a

As an instance of the suddenness with which they can change their position Mr. Heitger cited the case of the planers which the press dispatches announced was settled some time ago. The planers had been receiving from 26 to 32 cents per hour, and when the scale was submitted demanded a uniform wage of 31 cents per hour. The operators met this with a proposition to pay 28 cents to all who were receiving less than than before the strike and to pay the same wages as before to all who received more than 28 cents. To the surprise of the other union, men involved, the planers accepted these terms, and on the same day notified the operators. Then the operators announced that they had never made such a proposition.

Financial assistance will be gladly re ceived by the strikers from sister labor unions. Contributions should be sent to Fred Byers, Bedford, Indiana.

My Nerves Strong.

"For many years I suffered from terrible headaches and pains at the base of the brain, and finally got so bad that I was overcome with nervous prostration. I had frequent dizzy spells and was so weak and exhausted that I could take but little food. The best physicians told me I could not live; that I would die of paralysis, as my father and grandfather had. I remained a helpless invalid for three years, when I heard of Dr. Miles' Restorative Nervine and began using it. That winter I felt better than I had before in many years, and I have not becautoubled with those dreadful headaches since I first used Dr. Miles' Restorative Nervine. My appetite is good and my nerves are strong."—Mrs. N. M. Bucknell, 2020 Oakland Ave, Minneapolis, Minn.

"For many ye rs I suffered from nervous prostration, and could not direct my household affairs, nor have any cares. My stomach was very weak headaches very severe, and I was so nervous that there was not a night in years that I slept over one hour at a time. We spent hundreds of dolars for doctors and medicine. I was taken to Chicago and treated by specialists, but received no benefit at all, Finally I heard of Dr. Miles' Nervine and began its use. I was surprised that it helped me so quickly, and great was my joy to find, after using seven bottles, that I had fully recovered my health."—Mrs. W. A. Thompson, Duluh, Minn.

A STORMY SESSION.

A Lively Set-to Between Vice President Boyle and Island Locals.

The miners in the three mines of the Is land Coal Co. at Linton went on strike Tuesday because some men were discharged for loading dirty coal. Vice President Boyle was called to Linton and decided that the strike was in violation of contract for the reason that a proper investigation had not been made to deter mine whether or not the discharge was justifiable. According to the agreement with the operators work is not to be suspended during the settlement of disputes and all questions that cannot be adjusted by the mine committee are referred to the listrict officers, and if they fail to bring about a settlement a board of arbitration obey the orders of the district officers, and Mr. Boyle informed them that each of the locals was liable to a fine of $25 for have been recently buncoed by this means striking without authority, and that their charters could be revoked for not obeying the American Federation of Labor and instructions.

The charters were not revoked as stated in the press dispatches, and Mr. Boyle has gone to Indianaplis to secure a decision from the national officers on the dispute. District officers say the question is who is the higher authority-the Island locals or the district organization. They say there has been friction between these lo cals and the district for several years, and work has frequently been stopped without proper authority and in violation of con tract and agreement, and they propose to have the matter settled now definitely.

LABOR PICNICS.

'Mitchell Day" at Winslow-Fourth of July Picuics.

The United Mine Workers of the south ern part of District 11 will hold a big pic nic at Winslow tomorrow. National President Mitchell will be the principal attraction and the affair is known as crowd is expected.

Locals 941 and 1411, U. M. W. of A. will picnic at Burnett on July 4th, the proceeds of the affair to be given to the U. M. W. of A. Benevolent Association. A good programme is being arranged. There will be a number of speakers, musi by the Carbon band, balloon ascension dancing and games of all kinds. The fo lowing prizes are offered: Base ball, $40 and $20; foot race, $5 and $2.50; sack race, $1 and 50c; potato race, $1 and 50c; egg race, $1 and 50c.

At Hymera the United Mine Workers and the fraternal societies of the town will combine and give a monster picnic on the Fourth.

The mine workers of Fontanet will also have a picnic on the Fourth.

C. L. U. at Jasonville.

A charter has been received by Organize Evinger for a Central Labor Union at Jasonville. The new central body starts out with four offiliated unions-Miners, Clerks, Painters and Federal Union, but will have ten or more organizations in a few weeks Arrangements for the celebration of La bor Day and the day following are pro gressing nicely, and big attendance good time is anticipated. Just as the morning session was about to adjourn a messenger arrived from the inn to announce that the chef, when he had learned for whom the lunchon was intended, droppel all preparations and went on strike. He refused even to continue when promised extra pay, though the only explanation he had to was that he didn't "put much stock in ministers anyway.' disappeared, and all efforts to find a substitute in time failed.

THE TRADES UNIONS.

THEY ARE DOING A MIGHTY WORK FOR THE COUNTRY.

the Dwellers In the Tenement Disof New York-Opponents Should Do Some Serious Thinking.

The process by which the workers raise themselves in the world, transform themselves from mere hand to mouth, ambitionless drudges into civilized, hopeful men and useful citizens naturally creates friction, and friction is ever accompanied by heat.

It is quite likely that all the strikes which are disturbing the country are not wise and timely, but just the same these strikes, viewed in the mass, are the best possible proof of industrial and social health. They show that the workers want to better themselves and are determined to do it. The nation is prosperous and the wage earners are bound to have their share of the pros-

Individual employers may feel that they are the victims of injustice, but employers in the aggregate will profit by the success of the strikes. The more pay the workers get the more they are able to buy and the better prices they are willing to give for what they pur

Hard things are being said about trade unions by many persons who ought to know better. The trade union is what gives the workingmen power to enforce their demands. It is the trade unions that have elevated the condition of the wage earning millions and that will continue to elevate it. The higher the status of the workingman the surer will be the guarantee of

High wages make for good citizenship since they mean better homes more newspapers and books and longer schooling for the children. A' note worthy acknowledgment of the beneficent effects of organization among the workers is made in a recent number of the Metropolitan Magazine. In an article describing what has been done of late years to render life better worth living in New York's east side Leroy M. Scott, the author, tells of the labors of the college settlements and other agencies, volunteer and official, which aim at ameliorating the lot of the packed population of the tene-ments. Then he says:

"Quite different in character from the foregoing forces and exerting a greater influence than any of them for the betterment of east side conditions is the great force which proceeds from the organization of people in trade unions. Whatever he may think of cer-tain practices of trade unions, no fair man can deny that they more than any other single movement have been responsible for the improvenadit that has taken place in the condition of workingmen in recent years. On the east side, as elsewhere, conditions are better in consequence of the organization of labor; wages are higher, hours of work are shorter, the environment of work is better, and these improved conditions which immediately affect the breadwinner also immediately affect the family and the home."

The unreflecting and the class selfish who sneer at trade unions or rage at at them when they use their power have but to do a little real thinking in order to come into the knowledge that the labor organizations are doing a mighty work not only for their own members, but for the country. The workingman who does not belong to one of them is blind to his own interests, and all others who are hostile to them demonstrate by their hostility that they are too narrow to comprehend what is going on and what is best for this democratic republic. A "Living Wage."

Arthur Chamberlain, a brother of Joseph Chamberlain, as chairman of Messrs, Kynochs, limited, Birmingham, England, has introduced at the company's works and at four other places with which he is connected the system of the "living wage." Under this no workman unless in exceptional circumstances will receive less than 22 shillings a week. The number of men affected so far is between 200 and 300. Mr. Chamberlain explains that he has been led to fix on 22 shillings a week as the minimum by the figures given by Mr. S. Seebohm Rowntree in a recent lecture in Birmingham. Mr. Rowntree arrived at the conclusion that it was impossible for a workingman to maintain himself, a wife and three children in a state of bare physical efficiency on a wage of less than 21s. Sd. per week. Mr. Chamberlain confines the operation of the scheme to workmen of all classes between the ages of twenty-two and fifty-four. Bachelorhood has not been penalized by making increases apply only to family men.

Inviolability of Agreements. We would like to see the time when no employer could point a single instance of violation of agreement on the part of a local of the Iron Molders' union. It is already rated high for responsibility in the business world. but it should stand at 100 per cent; no less. Even if some of the terms of an agreement develop obnoxious features, stick to it faithfully until expiration; then demand a change in its terms.

A reputation for business honor and responsibility is worth as much to a trade union as it is to a merchant or manufacturer, and we should guard that reputation jealously. Let this thought sink deep into the minds of each one of our readers and prepare them to interpose objection should some irresponsible in their meeting room propose arything that would lead to the violation of a business agreement honorably entered into-Iron Molders' Journal.

SOCIALIST NEWS

FOR A STATE PAPER.

A Good Suggestion From Indianapolis Local.

Any body of men, combined into an or ganization for any purpose whatsoever, must have some regular means of communicating with each other. The most effective means is by meeting together at stated intervals, in some stated place. When they come together in the organization, each learns what has been accomplished during the interim of the meeting, by all the members, both individnally and collectively, and are encouraged to further action. The future actions of the organization are determined by the expressed will of the majority of the members and new ideas are brought out by the individual members to be acted upon or rejected. The whole course of events are often changed by collective action upon the thought of some individual, who by his own independent action would have been able to accomplish but very little. As with local organizations composed of individuals, so it is with large organiza tions composed of many small branches. In this case each branch occupies the position of the individual in the local. Each branch is encouraged to further action by the progress of the others and by knowing what is being accomplished in other sec. tions, and, as in the local, some idea ad vanced by some other local may be taken up and great good may be derived there-

When, however, the scope of territory covered by the larger organization is too great for the members to meet frequently, some other means of communication be tween the various locals must be devised. The most effective and cheapest means is a newspaper. Note the use of that means by all fraternal lodges.

The Socialist party of Indiana is a large organization composed of numerous small organizations, and what has been said above applies to it in every respect. In the state of Indiana are some seventy odd locals, each working practically independent of each other; the members of each county local know very little if anything of what their comrades in the other counization naturally suffers by lack of united effort.

The local of Indianapolis seeing the numerous advantages and the extreme necessity of a paper as a means of communica tion between the locals of the state, issued a circular letter last fall to all the locals of the state, offering to start a state paper if enough support would be promised to maintain it. While the response was not sufficient to warrant the establishment of a new paper, yet there were enough locals that reported favorably and promised support to show that the comrades over the state realize the necessity of a paper. Sec retary Oneal, in a personal letter to the writer of this article, said that he realized the enormous aid such a means of communication would be to the organization an i promised his support.

At the last state convention the matter was broached, and a motion was passed requesting each local to elect a press agent to furnish the secretary regular accounts of the progress of the party in their localities, which would be made up in a bulletin and forwarded to such papers as would print same. It seems that Indianapolis and Terre Haute are the only locals so far to comply.

Comrade Evinger, editor of The Toiler, has a paper of an established circulation, and as he has practically promised to turn it into a state party paper if support enough is given him, I would recommend that each local elect a pressagent in compliance with the request of the state convention and subscribe for The foiler; then urge upon all members the advisability of subscribing individually. Further than being a means of communication between the various locals it would, if each local was receiving a copy, be a means whereby the state secretary could issue to each local any business matters at a great saving of Committee. National Socialist speaker John W. Slayton, spoke on the corner of Fourth and Washington streets Wednesday night, June 17th, to a large and orderly crowd. He explained the new military law to perfection. He goes from here to Bedford Unions and Socialists will do well when in need of a good lecturer on labor problems to secure him. WM. T. NOE.

Comrade Biegler has spoken the past and present week as follows: Bloomfield. June 12; Vincennes, 13; Washington, 14 Petersburg, 16; Oakland City 17; Winslow 18; Princeton 19 and Evansville 20.

A S. Edwards' dates for the coming week are as follows: Boonville, 21: Evans ville 22, 23 and 24; Mt. Vernon, 25; Vincennes 26 and 27; Washington 28 and Linton 29. Local Terre Haute will probably take the last date in this state.

The referendum vote on the actions of the state convention has been completed and the official vote has been sent to all locals. S. M. Reynolds has been elected national committeeman, Matthew Hollen barger, of Evansville, alternate, James Oncal state secretary and Terre Haute has been selected for headquarters.

Forty-three towns have been enrolled unden the circuit plan and Clinton Simonton, now speaking in Michigan, will start his work in the northern part of the state early in July. W. J. Cities and towns wishing to secure good speakers for this summer at very low terms should write the state secretary at

New Washington, in Clark county, has organized with eight member, metat of them being farmers, Waterloo, in Stue-bescounty and Wahash and in process of reorganization and will apply for a charteras soed as a meeting can be held.

Louis Gaziou, editor of the French Socialist paper at Charlerol, Pa., may devote some time to this state if meetings can be arranged for him where French workers live. Locals in the gas belt and mining towns where meetings can be arranged for him should take advantage of this opportunity and write the state secretary as the French are very receptive to Socialist propaganda.

Comrade Edwards had a strenuous time while in South Bend. After speaking for some the first night the police interfered and told him to hire a hall. Edwards thanked them for the generous advice but stated that he preferred the street corner. But the guardian of "law and order" persisted and endeavored to pull him off the box. Edwards told him that if he was locked up he would hold meetings there for a week. Next morning he went to the mayor and told him that he did not peti tion for the right to speak but claimed the right to do so. He showed the mayor that it was bad manners for the police to interrupt Socialist speakers and the mayor promised that he would not be molested again. The next meeting was held in peace.

SOCIALISTS GAIN IN GERMANY.

Socialist Representation in the Reichstag Increased By Fifteen Seats.

BERLIN, June 17 .- The leading feature in the Reichstag elections which were held Tuesday was the success of the Social Democrats, who have probably increased their representation in the Reichstag by fifteen seats and their total vote to upwards of 2.500,000, or 400,000 more than in 1898. The Socialists gained one seat in Berlin and 63,000 votes.

The Socialist gains in Saxony caused Herr Bebel tonight to call Saxony "The Red Kingdom."

The most pronounced Socialist success was in Essen, Krupp's town, where the Socialists increased their vote from 4,400 to 22,507. The Centric party also increased its votes there from 20,103 to 35,864.

Woes of the Walking Delegate. Two hundred men, whose total income does not amount to $2,000 a week, control labor industries in New York. They are the walking delegates of the New York labor unions. The president of the United Board of Walking Delegates of the Building Trades of Greater New York is John J. Donovan, who represents the Plain and Ornamental Plasterers' union. walking delegate of a labor union has the meanest job on earth," said Mr. Donovan the other day. "He has to Donovan the other day. "He has to do all the dirty work for the organization, and he has to work morning, noon and night. There is no limit to his hours. He must be constantly on call. And no matter how hard he works he gets mighty few thanks; in fact, he is lucky if he escapes condemnation.

"A walking delegate must be a detective, an expert in his trade, a judge, a diplomat, an employment agent and an administrator. He must stand un-limited abuse without losing his temper, both in the union and outside of it, and do the best he can.

"The walking delegate is a necessary evil. Every organization man can recognize that fact. And there are very few men who want the job Every skilled mechanic who takes it does so at a personal sacrifice and because he thinks more of his organization and the principles of trades union ism than he does of himself."

For International Unionism.

Officials of the American Federation of Labor who have recently returned from an organizing tour through Canada report that the executive council meeting held in Toronto last month was productive of much good. There is an attempt being made to create a feeling among Canadian workmen international unionism, and some labor officials in Canada favor withdrawal from the American Federation of Labor and the formation of a distinctively Canadian labor federa-tion. This plan is being advocated by the Caradian manufacturers, and has gone so far that a bill has been introduced in the Provincial Legislature at Quebec on the subject. The bill is being fought by the labor unions, and the tour of the Executive Council of the A. F. of L. through Canada has done much to strengthen the idea of international unionism.

The American Federation of Labor has at the present time 1.050 commissioned organizers in the field, and from the reports being received all of them are being kept busy. There were 2,542 organizations affiliated with the federation on May 1, and 107 of that number are national and international unions, with from ten to 1,500 local unions each, it shows the immense growth of the trades union movement

The new child labor law went into effect in South Carolina May 1. It provides that after that date this year no child under eleven, and after May 1, 1905, no child under twelve. A Probable Murder.

John McNarry, a motorman of the street car company, shot and probably fatally wounded Elmer Fields, a Big Four brakeman, Monday afternoon, in the latter's room, where he caught his wife, whom he also shot in the hip. Fields had followed the woman from Mattoon and had been several-times by her husband to stay away but he persisted in his atten-tions which were terminated by McNarry's gun Monday. McNarry has been released on $1,000 band and has employed Lamb & dey to defend him. Fields is at the Clinton Labor News.

CLINTON, June 18 .- The Central Labor Union met in regular session last Sunday morning, but very little business was transacted. The plasterers reported that they wished to affiliate with the Central and would get credentials from their local at Terro Haute. I would suggest that the Plasterers' Union of Terre Haute look after their men in this city and keep them in line as there are not enough here to

The Bridge Scheme Works.

G. H. P.

The street car company and the bridge trust had its way with the county enuncil, and Thursday that body appropriated an additional $96,000 for a bridge across the Wabash. The county commissioners were present and made a great play to the galleries about what they would do in the way of making a contract with the street car company for the use of the bridge and then the councilmen all voted for the appropriation. Then the commissioners signed a contract with the Lafayette Bridge Co., a part of the trust, and the only concern that could possibly build a bridge. Of course no deal has been made with the street car company-at least so far as the public knows. But it will be all right-for the company-when it comes up. Switchman Crushed to Death. Charles R. Pauley, & Vandali a switch man, was crushed to death while making a coupling at the Union Depot train shed at 3 o'clock Thursday morning. No one saw the accident and it will never be known just how it occurred. Pauley was making a coupling of two passenger cars and Then he failed to signal after the cars had bumped, another switchman went to investigate. He found Pauley's body on the track beneath the coupling. His head had been caught between the bumpers. He was 28 years of age and married, leaving wife and two small children.

THE STRIKE BREAKERS.

Confession of the Creature Heads and Com Where do the street car strike breakers come from? Investigation shows that one man in the country has almost a monopoly of the business of collecting the offscourings of the great cities in the main into a compact body for this purpose. James Farley is this man. He has his headquarters in New York city.

"Strike breaking is a business with me," said Farley recently in Waterbury. Conn. "It's a business with my men. That's all there is to it. I don't know how it came to be my business exactly. I just grew into it. You see, I got a start and passed from Brooklyn to Philadelphia, from Philadelphia to, say, Cleveland, Cleveland to St. Louis. then to Lockport, around to Providence, Erie, Scranton and a lot of small towns in the east and New England states, and there I was in business with a list of men who were ready to come out with me for the money or excitement of the thing."

"How about the strike breakers?" he

"You mean the nonunion men," he corrected quickly. "Well, they speak for themselves. How did I come to collect them? Well, that is easy. You see. after I had been in two or three strikes I began to meet old friends. They went everywhere I went, and I came to the conclusion I would learn something about them, and I did. Then when a company would say, 'Farley, can you get us some good men? I knew where a telegram would reach them. The list has kept growing until now I have about all I need for an emergency."

"Who are the men?" Farley bit on the end of his cigar. "That's hardly a fair question, for some of them aren't angels, and we shouldn't talk of the To size them up, I should say that some of my men are old union men who lost their jobs in some strike and at its end found themselves with a grievance for some reason against the very organization which had started to redress their wrongs. But the majority of my men are young fellows who really like it for the danger. Some even like it. I believe, for the beating they get. The pay is double that of an average trolley employee, the hours are not long, and there is not a dull moment.

"You'd be surprised at some of my men. Some of them are young fellows of good education and good families who chose this instead of the army for an unexplained cause. We have several former soldiers, we had a doctor once, a young lawyer, a couple of college graduates, one of them an old football player, and just the other day a banker of Pennsylvania wrote to me to ask if his nephew was not in Waterbury.

"It's surprising how many applications for jobs the companies get during a strike: But only a very small percentage of them are accepted. It takes an unusual man to work during a strike."-New York Herald.

JAPANESE UNIONS.

ganization of Japs and Chinese.

A union of Japanese laborers has recently been organized in the vicinity of Los Angeles, Cal., and it has been chartered by the American Federation of Labor. This has created much comment among the unions on the Pacific coast, and with few exceptions they condemn the experiment. It has been indorsed by the executive committee of the California State Federation of Labor and severely condemned by the San Francisco Labor council. In the recent issue of the Seamen's Journal there is a strong article against the policy of organizing the Mongolians. It is in part as follows: "The Caucasian and the Mongol, each strongly imbued with the spirit of race consciousnes will not mix, but are bound to conflict Peace between these races is impossi-ble. Peace can be made possible only by the extinction of one or other of them. Thus we are brought face to face with the question Which of the same transfer of the same tr face with the question. Which of the races shall survive Caucasian or Mongolian? In order that the former of these races shall have the best chance in this struggle we 'exclude' the latter so far as possible. In that policy lies our only chance of self preservation. Those who favor organizing the Japs are, of course, with us upon the ques-tion of exclusion. They differ with us only as to the best disposition of those who are already in the country. Even on that point there should be no differ ence, and, in fact, there is no difference to speak of. The Jap who is in the United States is an actual grievance, while the Jap in Japan is but a griev ance in the prospective. Practically we are more opposed to the former than to the latter. We would like to get rid of those Japs who are now here and in order to do so we ostracize them herever possible. To organize Japs is to deny ourselves the right of the boycott against Asiatic labor and the products thereof. The Jap union and the 'nonunion union' are tw lies, neither of which is likely to hum-bug any considerable number of well balanced minds."

No Earthly Power Can Stop It.
Samuel Gompers of the American Federation of Labor says: "The pendulum in the labor world is moving. We purpose to organize the tollers of America, and no power on earth can stop this movement. There is nothing that can forbid our attaining the absolute salvation of the people and the general betterment of their condition. "The working people are groused the fact that the worker is alike producer and the worker is alike any the producer and to produce and the man the produces and consumer and the man the producer and t
